one's feet. But a few seconds later you hear that same shell explode in some distant valley or hill, the ponderous noise echoing and re-echoing from hill to hill. It is very inspiring, and very terrifying, but they are dangerous toys to play with. I have picked up several souvenirs of the war, and hope to be able to take them back to the States with me. I shall be ever so glad to see S. Clement's once more. I haven't seen an Episcopal church or one of our priests since I left the States, which was months ago. Even R. C. churches are scarce. Nothing delights the Germans more than to destroy churches.

The MAGAZINE will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

MY DEAR PEOPLE: We enter upon the Lenten Fast this year, a people charged with a great responsibility, and bearing a real burden of sorrow, anxiety and pain. Since last Ash Wednesday we have been swept into the maelstrom of contending nations. Of final issues we are ignorant; of coming trials we are sure. As never before we feel the imperative need of the help and guidance of our Divine LORD. No Lent has ever been like this one! It comes upon us with a vital message and sets before us an unparalleled opportunity. There is one supreme lesson for us all to learn. In the midst of all the suffering of the world the Love of GOD stands sure and the Cross of CHRIST is the Medicine of the World. It is for us during our Lententide to come to know this love and to be made conformable to that Cross. This must be our endeavour at S. Clement's.

May I beg of you not to enter upon this season lightly and casually, but with real earnestness of purpose and a determined resolution to keep Lent truly and sincerely.

We cannot add greatly to the number of services, but we can use those privileges that we have more faithfully and devoutly. Let every one make a real effort to attend the daily Mass; an effort that really costs something. Try to be present at the stated times for intercession and prayer. Let each one enter upon a period of real self-discipline and sacrifice, and let us not forget that momentous issues hang upon the faithful fulfilment of our duty toward GOD. Penitence, humility and sacrifice, these are the lessons that are set before us. Shall we not with one heart and soul try to learn them?

Affectionately in our Blessed LORD,

CHARLES S. HUTCHINSON.

Septuagesima, 1918.

❡ Plans change day by day. The Bishop will visit the Parish for Confirmation Sunday evening, February 3, instead of January 27, as announced in the January number of the MAGAZINE.

❡ Two hundred and sixty-eight names were added to our list of members of the Red Cross in the Christmas "drive."

❡ The Mission Study Classes under the leadership of Sister Lydia are meeting on Wednesday evenings, at 7.15, and Thursday mornings at 10 o'clock. The subject for the course this year is "The Gospel of the Kingdom."

❡ It will be of interest to the girls and young women of the Parish to know that the Junior Auxiliary has resumed its meetings on Thursday afternoons at 4, and Thursday evenings at 7. Sister Lydia is in charge, and will gladly receive the name of any girl who does not already belong.

❡ Members of the League of Intercession are requested not only to send in the intercessions each month, but to have them in by the 15th of the month.

❡ The Clergy will be in Church on Shrove Tuesday afternoon and evening for confessions.

❡ The Masses on Ash Wednesday will be at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30. Ashes will be blessed before the 6 o'clock Mass, and imposed before and after each Mass.

❡ The Lenten Sewing Society will meet Friday afternoons at half-past two, in the Parish Hall. It is hoped that as many women as possible will endeavour to come to these meetings, as the missionary boxes are needed this year more than ever.

❡ Please note the following intentions for the Masses. On Tuesday the 9.30 Mass will be said for the Sick and Wounded, the 7 o'clock Mass on Wednesdays for Peace, and the 9.30 Mass on Thursdays for our Soldiers and Sailors. On the first Monday of each month a Requiem will be said at 7.30 for those who have lost their lives in the war.

DURING Lent there will be three retreats, the Parish Retreat on Ash Wednesday, addresses at 10 and 12 A. M. and 3 P. M.; the Mid-Lent Retreat for Women; and the Retreat for S. Mary's Guild on Thursday in Passion Week. Each day the Church will be open until 9 P. M. in order to give our people the opportunity to come to our Blessed LORD in His Sacramental Presence and there to offer their petitions. There will be daily intercessions at 4.45 P. M.

In addition to the regular services, there will be an address after Evensong on Wednesdays (except Ash Wednesday), and the Stations of the Cross on Friday evenings at 8 o'clock, with an address. The Stations will be said with the intention for the war.

There will be a Children's Service on Ash Wednesday at 4 P. M., and each Friday afternoon at the same hour.

In Service.

A Catechism

The Faith of the Church, or "The Catholic Faith"

Q. Are not the truths of the Faith taught in other ways?

A. Yes; by the celebration of the Church's Ordinances, Rites and Ceremonies, her Traditions, her Practices and Usages, and by Oral Teaching. (2 Thess. ii, 15; 1 Cor. xi, 2.)

Q. Why do you not rather describe them as Truths, which have been ever taught out of Holy Scripture?

A. It would not be correct so to describe them, because the Church could not be said to teach the Faith out of Holy Scripture, when a large portion, and that the most important portion, the New Testament, was not as yet written, or when it was but partially written.

Q. Can you explain yourself further?

A. Yes; the Church itself was founded at Pentecost or Whitsunday, A. D. 33, and its teaching was in full operation from that time. But the first Book of the New Testament was only written about A. D. 53, and the last Book was not written earlier than A. D. 90.

Q. Was the Faith of CHRIST being taught during the whole of this period?

A. Yes; and the Sacraments were administered in accordance with its requirements.

Q. But could not Holy Scripture, at least from that time, have been the Rule of Faith out of which the Church may be said to have taught all Truths?

A. No. Because, though all the Books of the New Testament were written, yet were they not collected, so that each Church could possess them, until A. D. 170; and even then not every Book of the New Testament was received by all parts of the Church until a long time after this date (i. e., until the fourth century.)

Q. How do we come to know what is Scripture?

A. It is from the tradition of the Church and from that only, that we come to know what is Scripture, as S. Augustine says: "If I had not known the Catholic Church I should not have known the Sacred Scriptures."

A Letter from the Front

LIFE in the army is very monotonous, and days and weeks have no reckoning at all; they are just "another day." But I am getting along very well and should not complain. I believe I have done or had almost every job possible; worked in the kitchen; done all kinds of fatigue work; orderly in officers' barracks; in the admitting office, and lastly, I even became a grave digger. I had the distinction of helping to dig the grave of the first officer in the American army to die over here in France since we declared war.

Where I was in the Admitting Office I had charge of the discharging of the patients, and often got out in the ambulances and saw quite a little of the surrounding country. It is quite pretty, but desolate and neglected; no young men, naturally, and it is a common sight to see old women working like men in the fields.

I am now in the X-ray department, developing the plates, and I like the job very much. It certainly is interesting, and as we are right next to the operating room, I have a chance to see some of the most skilful surgeons over here at work, and we certainly have a wonderful bunch.

I have been to the little Roman Catholic Church here only once, but will try to go more often, as I was able to follow the Mass pretty well, and the Blessed Sacrament is the same everywhere.

It has been snowing all day, and everything looks very pretty around the Hospital, which is made up of wooden huts for wards.

In the centre of the grounds is a beautiful old French chateau, and our buildings have been put up upon what was once a fine estate.

I saw a very touching sight this evening. As I was coming down from the X-ray Department I passed through the Y. M. C. A. and noticed a crowd collected around one of the pianos we have in there. I saw one of our men, a very clever fellow, who plays wonderfully, at the piano; while standing alongside him was a tall, fine-looking young officer, a patient in the hospital. He had his hands stretched out on top of the piano, his head bowed and his eyes closed. The poor fellow, I learned, was stone deaf, and speaks only in the faintest whisper. He had been an officer in the Canadian Army, and is now in ours. In the recent engagement our troops had with the Germans a gun went off and utterly destroyed his hearing. He is himself a musician, and was able to enjoy through his finger tips the tunes that were being played. It was a very pitiful and touching sight.

I do not dare to say how much I shall miss being at home this Christmas and how I shall long for all the services at dear old S. Clement's, but I am thankful that I am a member of the Parish, and the instruction I received there has been a wonderful help to me over here so far from home and friends.

Persons desiring pews or sittings, or the Duplex Envelopes for the support of the Parish and Missions, are requested to apply to the Accounting Warden after the eleven o'clock Mass on Sundays; or to communicate with him at his office in the Clergy House.

The Magazine will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

¶ During the past year thirty-two persons have been added to our communicant list by transfer from other parishes.

¶ For several years it has been the custom of the parishes in New Haven, Connecticut, to unite for a common Lenten service on Wednesday evenings. This year the services are being held in Christ Church, and Father Hutchinson is preaching the sermons.

¶ We have added three stars to our service flag during the last month. Three of our young men have gone to France—Paul Hunter, Earle McClement and Robert Longacre. Robert Papy and Clinton Jenkins are on the high seas, doing transport duty, and Bertha Elliott, Margaret Killmaster, Katharine Robertson and Mary Barrow are in various hospitals on the other side.

¶ The work at the Eastern Penitentiary which has been entrusted to the Parish by the City Mission is going on quietly, and there seems to be reason for encouragement. Some thirty men are being prepared for Confirmation, and the attendance at the services has been excellent. Two Masses are said each month, for the men and women respectively, and three afternoon services are held, at which instructions on Church doctrine are given. Father Hutchinson is assisted in this work by Mr. Everton, and Father Weinman, of the City Mission Staff. The prayers of the Congregation are asked for this work at the prison.

¶ The members of Saint Anna's Home are "doing their bit" during the war. Over two hundred pairs of socks have been knit by the little community and sent directly to the front through a friend in New York.

¶ It is always a happiness to the Parish when our Bishop makes his visitation. On Sexagesima Sunday evening there were fourteen confirmed, and the Bishop preached a most helpful sermon. There was an unusually large congregation and the offering (which might have been more generous) was for the Bishop's Fund.

¶ The women of the Parish are meeting for the Lenten sewing on Wednesday afternoons instead of Friday as previously announced. Again we would urge a large attendanace at these meetings, as the need for boxes in the Domestic field is very great. Quite a number of contributions have been received for the purchase of materials, but further contributions are urgently requested for this purpose. The money may be sent to Mrs. Edward A. Casey, who is in charge of the Lenten sewing.

¶ Dr. Jefferys, the Superintendent of City Mission, made the address before Auxiliary No. 1 on Wednesday afternoon, February 6th. He gave a most interesting account of the work of the City Mission, and several enrolled themselves as members of the City Mission Prayer League.

The Retreat on Ash Wednesday was conducted by Father Lane, the Rector of the Church of S. John, Northern Liberties, Philadelphia.

A very good number made the Retreat, and the addresses were most helpful. The Retreat for women will be held as usual on Mid-Lent Sunday. Those desiring to attend are asked to send their names to Sister Lydia.

¶ The Guilds and Associations of the Parish that occupy the Parish building during the week are asked to make use of the hamper that has been provided for scraps and waste paper. By so doing they will co-operate with the Clergy in their endeavour to keep the building in order, and will materially lighten the burden of the Sexton. Parishioners are reminded as in former years that they should fill out their communion cards before Easter, that the Parish list may be corrected.

¶ Monday in Holy Week this year falls on March 25. The Feast of the Annunciation will, therefore, be transferred to the Monday after Low Sunday, April 8.

¶ Beginning with the present number of the MAGAZINE, only the names of the members of the Parish will be printed under the heading "In Service." All the other names which have been handed in will be printed, as usual, in the Intercession Leaflet. The Leaflet may be obtained each month from the Clergy, or will be sent to those furnishing the postage, 12 cents a year. The names are published, not to be looked at, but to be prayed for, and the least that one can do, after asking for the prayers of the League, is to join the League. The only obligation is to say the prayers once a week, and the only dues are the 12 cents for postage.

The weary ones had rest, the sick had joy that day
And wondered how.
The ploughman, singing at his work, had prayed,
"God help them now."
Alone in foreign lands they wondered how
Their feeble word had power.
At home the Christians, two or three, had met
To pray an hour.
So we are always wondering, wondering long,
Because we do not see
Some one, unknown perhaps, and far away,
On bended knee.

THE hours for confession during Holy Week are as follows: Fr. Hutchinson—Tuesday, 10.30-11.30 A. M.; Maundy Thursday, 10.30-11.30 A. M., 3-5 P. M.; Good Friday, 7-8 P. M.; Easter Even, 10-12 A. M., 3-5, 7-9 P. M. Fr. Quin and Fr. Caine—Wednesday and Maundy Thursday, 4-5 P. M.; Good Friday, 3-5, 7-8 P. M.; Easter Even, 3-5, 7-10 P. M.

The Cross and the Heart

At Sorento, Italy, is a curious poetical inscription engraved on a slab of marble in the outer wall of a church. It begins and ends alternately with the Italian words for Cross and Heart. The following is as near as possible to a literal translation:

CROSS, most adored! to thee I give my heart;
Heart I have not, except to love the cross.
Cross, thou hast won my wayward, alien heart;
Heart, thou hast owned the triumph of the cross.
Cross! tree of life! to thee I nail my heart;
Heart cannot live that lives not on the cross.
Cross, be thy blood the cleansing of my heart;
Heart, be thy blood an offering to the cross,
Cross, thou shalt have the homage of my heart;
Heart, thou shalt be the temple of the cross.
Cross, blest is he who yields to thee his heart;
Heart, rest secure who cleavest to the cross.
Cross, key of heaven, open every heart;
Heart, every heart, receive the holy cross.

From "Elim."

A Letter from Deaconess Whitaker

ISN'T it a beautiful day? Your letter and four boxes, from S. Clement's, brimming with good things, have arrived all in a heap. Well, we have a new baby, a brand-new, fifteen-months-old one. Her face is round and brown and solemn, and her eyes are round and black and owlish, and her whole small self is round and butterbally. With her came a round, brown, butterbally, ridiculous dog, aged four weeks, with blue eyes and a curly tail that would look magnificent on a pig, but that, on a dog, put the crowning touch to his absurdity. The baby's name is Norberta. Her mother died in our hospital at Nopala, her father was non-findable, and nobody wanted her, so the nurse brought her down to me. Also, she brought the puppy as a gift to the House of the Holy Name; though, where under the sun she expected me to find room for a dog in a city house with a cat and ten children, I don't know. Of course, the wretched little nuisance fell in love with us, and wobbles all over the house after us on his butter-scotch legs, so that now I haven't the heart to give him away, and here he is, though he has already chewed off a corner of the sitting-room rug, and hides my shoes where I can't find them.

The other Sunday I was godmother to a small baby who is exactly the color, yellow, that one sees in a muddy creek after a rainstorm, and cross-eyed. His mother assures me that his eyes were quite straight when he was born, but that he either caught the cross-eyedness from his elder sister or else was left in a room with two doors open, and the conflicting air currents did the mischief. They have some weird ideas here.

Did I tell you about Manuelito? Manuelito was five years old They brought him to me smeared over with something that looked and smelled like floor varnish, and bandaged up with newspaper, so stiff that he could hardly move. When I put him into the bathtub his mother wept and protested that he would surely die. He was very weak, and the doctor had expressly forbidden baths. He hadn't had one for nine months. I almost died myself, for it was my bathtub. They had been feeding him rat broth and rubbing his back and chest with smashed, live green lizards. (Both of these are favorite remedies for anemic children. I have heard rat broth recommended often.)

And they are terribly afraid of water. If you have a cold or a headache or a touch of fever you may wash your face with beer or pulque (the national beverage), with coffee or chocolate, or any liquid that comes handy, but never, never with water. We have daily examples with the kindergarten children. A man, by the way, must never shave immediately after dinner or his face will become paralyzed.

We have been celebrating Ally Day. On the 8th all stores belonging to English, French, Americans, etc., were closed, and there was a big kermesse at the Tivoli, the proceds of which went for Red Cross work among the Allies. You have seen, I suppose, that the Mexican Congress has voted to be neutrally benevolent to the Allies, though how one can be "neutrally benevolent" to one faction of a world war, only a Mexican Congress can explain. The pro-German feeling here has been very strong. There are many German officers in the Mexican army, and the soldiers here are trained according to German methods, and Mexicans hate Americans, but I expect it has come to be a question of knowing which side one's bread is buttered on now.

I love to wander through the city on festive days, and see the flags which fill the streets with all the colors of the rainbow. Every nation is represented here, from Egypt to the new Chinese Republic. Somehow, most people at home don't think of Mexico City as being cosmopolitan. I know I didn't. Yet we have good-sized French, English, American and German colonies; Austrians, Belgians, Italians, Spaniards, of course, by the bushel basket; a host of Arabs, Greeks, Turks, Syrians, Armenians, Chinese, Japanese, and recently we are getting an influx of Jews. And they don't get "Mexicanized" as foreigners in New York get "Americanized," but stay as they are, so that it makes a fascinating hodge-podge. You see ox carts and automobiles side by side; gorgeous ladies in the latest

Paris styles and Indian women with a piece of striped flannel around their bodies. I have seen potters' wheels that I am sure must be like the ones of Isaiah's day. The threshing floors, the market places, the wells, the women carrying their water jars on their heads, the beggars, the babies, the dirt—are like Bible times. It is the Old World and the New, the twentieth century and the first, all mixed up together—and there is an irresistible charm to it.

All Saints' and All Souls' Days are great days here, and the festivities last even beyond the octave. Everybody goes around eating candy skulls and jiggling little wire skeletons, and the venders sell toy funeral processions and toy coffins and sugar souls in purgatory on the street corners. In some of the R. C. churches they have soul raffles. One pays 25 cents, and whoever draws the prize is entitled to so many days' indulgence from Purgatory for any soul whom he chooses to favor. It is the custom—I suppose it began with the Indians—to cook the favorite dish of the deceased and take it to the grave on All Souls' Eve, and devout Roman Catholics will tell you that the spirit of the departed comes in the night and partakes of the viands.

I wish you would remember Mrs. Shults in your prayers. She is the nurse who came to us this summer, and a Catholic church woman. She is doing heroic work at the Nopala Hospital, in spite of being almost entirely short of both materials and funds. Nopala is the loneliest of lonely places, and the hospital is on a hilltop fifteen minutes' walk from the village, which is only a clump of adobe houses around two or three cobblestone streets. The whole countryside is infested with bandits, and Mrs. Shults is alone with three Indian servants. She is taking her life—and what is dearer to a woman than life, her honor—in her hands every day. There has been a frost which has killed the crops. It's as cold as Greenland. The nights are bitter.

By a change in the Canon law of the Church the fiscal year of all Parishes now runs with the Calendar year; hence this report covers the twelve months ending December 31, 1917.

It is therefore impossible to make any definite comparison item by item, with the figures given in the last Annual Report, which covered the twelve months ending March 24, 1917, our fiscal year having heretofore begun on the Feast of the Annunciation, March 25.

It became necessary during the past Summer, as has been the case in previous years, to borrow money with which to meet the current expenses of the Parish, and while the amount borrowed, $1500.00, is less than the amount borrowed in 1916 by $1000.000, hence being indicative of an improvement in the financial condition of the Parish, yet the loan has not yet been paid off.

The members of the Parish have already been informed through "S. Clement's Magazine" that the apportionment of the Parish for Foreign and Domestic Missions amounting, for the fiscal year of the Board of Missions ending October 31, to $3380.86, was more than met, evidencing an increase of interest on the part of members of the Parish in the Mission Work of the Church.

Of the amount received through the offertories for Foreign Missions, $1497.23, the sum of $10.00 was given for special work in China and Japan, while the balance, $1487.23, went towards the support of the work being carried on by Fr. Wood at Ichang, Hankow.

The sum of $1659.75 was received in the offertories for Domestic Missions, and of this amount $567.00 went towards the support of the work at Sagada, P. I.; $1072.75 for work in the District of Salina (Kansas), and $20.00 for several specially designated points in the Domestic field.

Of the offerings made for Missions by the Sunday School, $7.58 went for work in Salina, $79.76 for work at Sagada, and the Advent offerings, $10.46, for special work of the Bishop White Prayer Book Society in preparing and furnishing Prayer Books for enlisted men.

The total amount received for Foreign and Domestic Missions through the Parish offertories and forwarded by the Accounting Warden to the Treasurer of the Board of Missions was duly credited against the Parochial apportionment. As shown above, it was all used for work in which this Parish has a special interest.

In the past year the Church was enriched and beautified by a Memorial Font given by Miss Ellanor Longstreth, a full description of which has appeared in the Magazine.

All outside woodwork of the Clergy House and Parish House was painted during the past year, the roofs on the various buildings were repaired, and during the Summer it was found necessary to make very extensive repairs to the Church heating plant.

No actual improvements were made chargeable against Parish income, and none but necessary repairs were made to the properties, the cost of all repairs being paid for from the Yarnall Fund for repairs and improvements.

The total amount of insurance carried on the Church property is $209,800.00, divided as follows:

On buildings	$166,000.00
On Contents of Church and Parish House	27,800.00
On the Organ	16,000.00

of which amount $77,000.00 is perpetual insurance, and the remainder, $132,800.00, is under term policies.

In addition to the above the Parish is protected by policies of liability and compensation insurance, and the Accounting Warden is bonded, as is required.

Expenditures

For books, pamphlets and other items incident to the equipment of the Library	$942.27
Investment of unused income in Second Library Loan 4 per cent. bonds	2,500.00
	$3,442.27
Cash balance January 1, 1918	307.14
	$3,749.41

From the Education Account the Parish is now paying for the support and education of three students, two at Kent School, Kent, Connecticut, and one at Johns Hopkins University.

Owing to War Conditions and to the fact that a vast majority of books for the Library of Theology are imported, the additions to the Library in the past year have necessarily been much smaller than they otherwise would have been.

As shown in this report a portion of the unused income credited to the Library was invested in the Second Liberty Loan. The interest on the bonds will add to the available income, and the bonds themselves can be readily sold when it becomes feasible to make any extensive purchases of books.

Respectfully submitted,
S. McKEAN BAYARD,
Accounting Warden.

Persons desiring pews or sittings, or the Duplex Envelopes for the support of the Parish and Missions, are requested to apply to the Accounting Warden after the eleven o'clock Mass on Sundays; or to communicate with him at his office in the Clergy House.

The MAGAZINE will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

¶ In order to include the Eastertide Services this issue of the MAGAZINE has been somewhat delayed.

¶ On the 21st of March, Bishop Rhinelander visited the Eastern State Penitentiary to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation. Before the Confirmation Service proper, Father Hutchinson baptized eleven men. Thirty-two men were confirmed.

¶ The Clergy request that persons be good enough not to call up the Clergy House by telephone during the hours of 8-8.45 A. M., 1-1.30 and 6-6.30 P. M., except for important or urgent matters which require immediate attention.

Easter

THE stars wailed when the reed was born,
And heaven wept at the birth of the thorn:
Joy was pluckt like a flower and torn,
For Time foreshadowed Good-Friday Morn.

But the stars laughed like children free,
And heaven was hung with the rainbow's glee,
When at Easter Sunday, so fair to see,
Time bowed before Eternity.

FIONA MACLEOD.

EASTER was as bright and glorious a day as one could have have wished. There was a sense of an assured victory that made itself felt at all the Masses in the many Communions, and voiced itself in the splendid rendition of Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart, which was sung at the mid-day service. Three hundred and eighty-three received their Risen Lord at S. Clement's Altar. A number of the Communicants of the Parish found it more convenient to make their Communions at some other altar at an early hour, but came in to the Parish Church for the late Mass. The congregation at the eleven o'clock Mass and at Solemn Evensong were larger than for some time past.

At three o'clock, there was a carol service for the children, at which time the rewards for good attendance at the Lenten services were given out. Six children received the medals, Ontamenia Kline, George Day, Jonathan Derrick, Stanley Coulthard, Jack Taylor and William Boss.

The Annunciation

She is the ever-blooming paradise of incorruptibility, wherein is planted the tree of life that giveth life, and that bringeth forth, for all, the fruits of immortality—all who become lovers of her shall enjoy the grace of angels.—S. GREGORY THAUMATURGES. A. D. 200-270.

CHRIST, our song we lift to Thee,
For Thy Mother lowly;
Whom from sin Thou madest free,
Ever Virgin Holy.

Mary, Rose that hath perfumed,
All the desert lonely;
Bush that burning unconsumed,
Felt God's fires only.

Mary, Ark and fitting shrine,
Heavenly Manna holding;
Thee the Angel's Food divine,
In her womb enfolding.

Mary, Aaron's budding Rod,
In the temple resting;
Thee her Flower, Thee her God,
For us manifesting.

Mary, Thee whence hung the Fruit,
Hither brought in gladness;
Sweetest grapes from Jesse's root,
Wine that cheers our sadness.

Mary, Fleece which Gideon viewed,
Sign of power highest;
With the drops of heaven bedewed,
When the earth was driest.

Mary, Throne of Solomon,
Ivory, gold shining;
Ivory as purest one,
Gold, as God enshrining.

To the Garden which that Rose,
Sweetly is perfuming;
To the Shrine which only knows,
How that Rod is blooming;

To the Court where stands that Throne,
To the Ark's high station;
Christ in mercy bring Thine own,
Granting us salvation.

R. F. LITTLEDALE.

ST. CLEMENT'S Auxiliary of the American Red Cross, and when we speak officially we add No. 233, has undertaken to collect $700 for a bed in the American Hospital in Paris. The bed is to be known as S. Clement's Bed and the amount asked for will keep the bed for a year. Now with sixty names on our Honour Roll, this will be a matter which comes very close to us as a Parish, and to many as a personal thing, to see that the money is given. Contributions, no matter how small, will be gladly received. Offerings should be marked "For S. Clement's Bed," and sent or given to Mrs. Paul Mowry.

In Service

The following names are those of members of this Parish which have been added to the Honour Roll since February 18:

Michael C. Mullen
George D. Fulmer
Elsie M. Henderson
Frank Robinson

(Corrected to April 5.)

NEW packets of the duplex envelopes were mailed to all members of the Parish who were using them, prior to Easter Day. They will be found to contain envelopes enough for the remainder of 1918. The next sets will then contain envelopes for the whole of 1919. In other words the "envelope year" will hereafter coincide with the fiscal year of the Parish. Many more persons in the Parish should be using the envelopes, as they form the best, because the most systematic way of contributing to the support of the Parish, and of the Missionary work of the Church. Packets of envelopes may be obtained on application to the Accounting Warden.

AT THE Election of Vestrymen held Easter Monday, the following named gentlemen were re-elected to serve for a term of three years: Mr. S. McKean Bayard, Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, Mr. Caleb F. Wright and Mr. George Lewis Mayer. The terms of the other members of the Vestry held over. The full list of the Vestrymen is as follows: Mr. Francis D. Wetherill, Mr. George Theodore Roberts, Mr. Francis M. Berry, Mr. S. McKean Bayard, Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, Mr. Caleb F. Wright, Mr. George Lewis Mayer, Mr. William Weaver Lukens, Mr. Stevenson Hockley Walsh, Mr. Edward A. Casey, Mr. J. Lawrence Wetherill and Mr. Francis P. Adams.

The first meeting of the Vestry was held Tuesday evening, April 2. Mr. Francis D. Wetherill was re-appointed Rector's Warden; Mr. S. McKean Bayard was elected Accounting Warden and Mr. Caleb F. Wright was elected Secretary. The following Committees were chosen: The Committee on Finance, Mr. Walsh, Mr. Casey and Mr. J. L. Wetherill; the Property Committee, Mr. Mayer, Mr. Adams and Mr. Casey; the Committee on Music, Mr. Adams and Mr. Lukens; the Committee on Insurance, Mr. Walsh and Mr. Bayard. Messrs. Adams, Bayard and Woodruff were elected as Delegates to the Diocesan Convention.

THE total amount received through the offerings on Easter Day was $2463.45, an increase of over $400.00 as compared with Easter, 1917. Of the above amount the sum of $2159.60 was for Missions, of which $2124.13 was in undesignated offerings and $35.47 was received through the duplex envelopes.

For Parish expenses the sum of $165.00 was given in designated offerings, and $112.00 through the duplex envelopes.

Various special relief funds received $7.00, and the Sunday School offerings, given for Missions, amounted to $17.85.

¶ The United Offering of the S. Clement's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary was $143, which is nineteen dollars more than last year.

THE League of Intercession has been in existence for five years. Two years ago, it was reorganized, and has been growing by slow degrees ever since—by very slow degrees, one may say. Apparently the duty and obligation to pray rests very lightly upon the consciences of many in the Parish. Perhaps some of the Congregation feel that the work of prayer may be left safely in the hands of the Clergy, and that as long as the Priests stand at the Altar several times a day, nothing more is to be expected of any one.

At present we have over eight hundred Communicants. Of that number, eighty are interested enough in the work of the League to have the Leaflet sent to them each month. Twenty more prefer to ask the Clergy for a copy. Seven hundred and fifty members of the Parish pay no attention to the matter at all—a sad commentary on the reality of the religion of most of us.

Last month, aside from the other intercessions, the League remembered by name 357 men and women in the Service. We prayed for the eternal rest of 213 souls, the names being gathered from the casualty lists. Each month we are printing two hundred copies of the Leaflet, which is indeed a venture of faith, considering the fact that only one hundred copies are in circulation. May we urge S. Clement's people once more—this is the third or fourth time—to take the League seriously. We are convinced that it is of more value to the spiritual life of the Parish than any organization in its history, past or present. It is true that there is a real atmosphere of devotion in our services—a real spiritual life in the Parish. This is due however, to the faithful few. The vast majority are living by the faith and prayers of others. The Church is open daily from six-thirty in the morning until five-thirty in the afternoon. The congregations are large when Solemn High Mass is in progress; a handful come to the daily Mass. The SACRAMENTAL PRESENCE in the Tabernacle has few worshippers at other times. Yet the need of prayer is being brought home to us most vividly in these troublous times. The power of prayer is manifested in countless instances. The duty of prayer is laid upon us by JESUS CHRIST. Do S. Clement's people need further argument? If they are true Christians as well as Catholics they do not.

The Sacred Heart

O SACRED HEART! Our home lies deep in Thee.
On earth Thou art an exile's rest;
In Heaven, the glory of the blest.
O Sacred Heart! O Sacred Heart!

O Sacred Heart! Thou fount of contrite tears!
Where e'er those living waters flow,
New life to sinners they bestow.
O Sacred Heart! O Sacred Heart!

O Sacred Heart! Our trust is all in Thee.
For though earth's night be dark and drear,
Thou breathest rest when Thou art near.
O Sacred Heart! O Sacred Heart!

O Sacred Heart! When shades of death shall fall,
Receive us 'neath Thy gentle care,
And save us from the tempter's snare.
O Sacred Heart! O Sacred Heart!

O Sacred Heart! Lead exiled children home,
Where we may rest near Thee,
In peace and joy eternally.
O Sacred Heart! O Sacred Heart!

(Corrected to April 25)

DEAR Father Hutchinson: I must send to you and your people a written word of blessing and congratulation on the splendid showing which you made on Easter.

I cannot tell you how grateful and thankful I am for it. You have set an example which is much needed in the Diocese at this time. In many other cases the claims of the war, and of war work have distracted our people from their regular responsibilities in regard to this missionary work of the Church. Of course this is most disastrous. I am deeply anxious that our people generally should understand that the pressure of the war should make our missionary obligations as Christians and Churchmen seem more and not less imperative.

This is a splendid thing which you have done, and I want you to give my blessing to your people.

Faithfully yours,

PHILIP M. RHINELANDER.

April 16, 1918.

THE United States' Food Administration has requested the Clergy to publish the following letter:

"If we are to furnish the Allies with the necessary proportion of wheat to maintain their war bread from now until the next harvest, and this is a military necessity, we must reduce our monthly consumption to 21,000,000 bushels a month as against our normal consumption of about 42,000,000 bushels, or 50 per cent. of our normal consumption. Reserving a margin for distribution to the Army and for special cases, there remains for general consumption approximately 1½ pounds of wheat products weekly per person. Many of our consumers are dependent upon bakers' bread. Such bread must be durable, and therefore requires a larger proportion of wheat products than cereal breads baked in the household. Our Army and Navy require full allowance. The well-to-do in our population can make greater sacrifices in the consumption of wheat products than can the poor. In addition, our population in the agricultural districts, where the other cereals are abundant, are more skilled in the preparation of breads from these other cereals than the crowded city and industrial populations.

"With improved transportation conditions, we now have available a surplus of potatoes. We also have in the spring months a surplus of milk, and we have ample corn and oats for human consumption. The drain on rye and barley as substitutes has already greatly exhausted the supply of these grains.

"To effect the needed saving of wheat we are wholly dependent upon the voluntary assistance of the American people, and we ask, therefore, that all householders use no more than 1½ pounds per week of wheat products per person. This means not more than 1¾ pounds of Victory bread, containing the required percentage of substitutes, and one-half pound of cooking flour, macaroni, crackers, pastry, pies, wheat, breakfast cereals, all combined. There is no limit upon the use of other cereals, flours and meals, corn, barley, buckwheat, potato flour, etc.

"Many thousand families throughout the land are now using no wheat products whatever, except a very small amount for cooking purposes, and are doing so in perfect health and satisfaction. There is no reason why all of the American people who are able to cook in their own households cannot subsist perfectly well with the use of less wheat products than 1½ pounds a week, and we specially ask the well-to-do households in the country to follow this additional program in order that we may provide the necessary marginal supplies for those parts of the community less able to adapt themselves to so large a proportion of substitutes.

"In order that we shall be able to make the wheat exports that are absolutely demanded of us to maintain the civil populations and soldiers of the Allies and our own Army, we propose to supplement the voluntary co-operation of the public by a further limitation of distribution, and we shall place at once restrictions on distribution, which will be adjusted from time to time to secure as nearly equitable distribution as possible. With the arrival of harvest we should be able to relax such restrictions; until then, we ask for the necessary patience, sacrifice and co-operation of the distributing trades."

Q. What has been the office of Holy Scripture in respect to the Faith?

A. Its office has been, and is, to attest and confirm. "The Church teaches; Scripture proves."

Q. Does Holy Scripture lay down any rule by which we may judge what are the Essentials of Faith?

A. No; we must in this, too, "hear the Church."

Q. Is it possible that some points or articles of the Faith may be discoverable from time to time which were not known in the first ages of the Church?

A. It is not possible. The Faith is "One," and it was "once for all delivered to the Saints."

Q. Is it lawful for any particular Church, or any part of the Church, to teach as matter of faith that which is opposed to the whole Church?

A. It is not lawful. Particular Churches are subject to the Church Catholic.

Q. When differences arise concerning the Faith, how does the Church decide what is to be held and what not?

A. Such differences are settled by Councils.

Q. What Councils only bind the whole Church?

A. General Councils; or, as they are called, Œcumenical Councils.

Persons desiring pews or sittings, or the Duplex Envelopes for the support of the Parish and Missions, are requested to apply to the Accounting Warden after the eleven o'clock Mass on Sundays; or to communicate with him at his office in the Clergy House.

The Magazine will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

¶ Gifts of flowers for the Altars are asked for the summer months.

¶ More money is needed for the Summer Outing Fund, if the Parish is to care for the sickly and those who ought to have a breath of fresh air this summer.

¶ There will be a concert for the Choir Outing Fund, on Wednesday evening, June 12. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Choir.

¶ Up to the present only half the amount has been subscribed for the bed in the American Hospital, in Paris. It should be a matter of pride that the fund be raised promptly, so that "S. Clement's Bed" be ready as soon as possible.

¶ Members of S. Saviour's Ward of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament are requested to send their dues to the treasurer of the Ward, Mr. Paul F. Mowry, 844 North Sixty-third street, and not to the Secretary-General in New York.

¶ Since January 1, S. Clement's Auxiliary of the American Red Cross has sent in the following articles: 8583 surgical dressings, 45 property bags, 3 sweaters, 2 trench cloths, 17 substitute handkerchiefs, besides socks, sweaters, helmets and wristlets to some of our own boys. The Marine Corps was supplied with 135 pairs of socks, 104 sweaters, 106 pairs of wristlets, 10 helmets, 4 scarfs and 1 pair of bed socks.

¶ The following priests will be in residence during the summer to assist the regular staff: Fr. Franklin Joiner, for the months of June and July; Fr. Thomas Bingham, for August; and Fr. I. H. Webber-Thompson, for September. Fr. Quin will take his holiday in June and September, Fr. Caine, from the middle of July to the 1st of September, and Fr. Hutchinson will leave for his vacation July 1.

¶ The editors apologize for an apparent attempt to initiate a new custom as to the keeping of feasts. It is allowable to transfer a feast, but not to "anticipate." The Feast of the Sacred Heart falls on the Friday after the Octave of Corpus Christi. Last month's Kalendar would have us keeping the Feast a week too soon.

ON THE 13th of June the Right Reverend John Gardner Murray, D. D., Bishop of Maryland, will advance (D. V.) the Reverend Wallace R. Everton to the Priesthood, in Mount Calvary Church, Baltimore, where he has accepted a curacy. Mr. Everton will begin his priesthood in the parish in which he became a candidate for Orders, and has been assigned work at S. Mary's Chapel.

The congregation will regret the removal of his name from our clerical staff. They are asked to remember him on his ordination day. He carries with him our prayers and good wishes for his new work.

THE House of God is a place where true hospitality should prevail. One can well imagine the reception which would have been accorded to the "stranger in the midst" of one of the congregations of the Primitive Church. In those early days the fellowship between Christians was a vital thing. Those who received the Sacrament of the Body and Blood realized that they were bound together in one Life. It would be well indeed if this spirit could be revived among us.

There are too many individualistic Christians in the world, and too many self-absorbed parishes. Very often the newcomer is made to feel that he is intruding. If by an unhappy chance, trusting to the loving kindness of Christians, he happens to find a place in a rented pew, he is requested to change his seat. To the individualistic and self-absorbed Christian, one particular spot is sacroscanct, and God cannot be worshipped in any other. If a stranger accepts the invitation of the Rector to come to a guild or club meeting, and ventures upon the hallowed ground of a close corporation, the frigidity of the atmosphere precludes a repetition of the mistake. As a consequence many parishes are dying. The time-honored phrase, "Let the ancient customs prevail," is admirable in its application to Church order, but if it is taken to mean that no notice is to be given new things, simply because they are new, without thought of their possible value or their expression of the life about us, then it will mean a congregation of gray-headed men and women who are content to worship in solemn isolation, and a Church that never lays hold of any new opportunities.

Let us, then, according to the suggestion of the Bishop in his address at the last Convention, begin to consider the possibility of abolishing rented pews at some time in a future not too dim, and let us cordially welcome strangers who come to worship with us.

However, long residence in some parishes does not always lead to intimate acquaintances. We remember an amusing incident which occurred in a certain congregation not so many years ago. One of the "old members," moved by an hospitable impulse, greeted most warmly the occupant of a neighboring pew. "I am so glad to see you here this morning, and I hope you will come often!" "Thank you!" was the quiet reply, "I have been coming for twenty-five years!"

Are we realizing our fellowship one with another?

In Service

The following names are those of members of this Parish which have been added to the Honour Roll since April 25:

Joseph Welch	Singleton McElroy
Joseph S. Lilly	Alexander Hausam

(Corrected to May 22.)

FOR the third time the Clergy urge those who come to the services during the week, and to the 9.15 Mass on Sundays, to sit as near the Altar as possible. This request, which has been made so often by the Clergy, is persistently disregarded. As a consequence the Celebrant is obliged to raise his voice unnecessarily, and is able to hear only the faintest and most uncertain response from the Congregation. Is it too much to hope that this may be "the third and last time of asking?"

May we not suggest, also, in this connection that it would add to edification if all those present at the services would make responses audibly? We need to be reminded that ours is a Book of Common Prayer. This would seem to imply that the Congregation should take an active part in the worship of the Church. The maxim "to be seen and not heard" is applicable to children in the presence of their parents and elders, but it is not binding upon Catholics in the presence of GOD and His Holy Angels.

A Catechism

Q. Who are Ministers?

A. Certain persons set apart in the Church, GOD'S Kingdom, and having authority from CHRIST, its Head and its King, to minister about holy things.

Q. How are they spoken of in Holy Scripture?

A. They are spoken of in Holy Scripture as "Ambassadors of CHRIST." CHRIST is Himself invisible, but He is visibly present by His Ministers. They are said to be "in CHRIST'S stead." (II Cor. v, 20.)

Q. Is it necessary that this should be?

A. Yes. Every kingdom needs its authorized Rulers and Ministers, and without them all would be confusion and discord.

Q. Who were the first to be called the Ministers of CHRIST?

A. The Apostles.

Q. When did CHRIST give them commission and authority to act in His Name?

A. Immediately before His Ascension, when He said unto them, "As My Father hath sent Me, even so send I you." (S. John xx, 21.)

Q. Was it intended that this authority should be given to the Apostles only?

A. Certainly not. It was to be extended to them also who should be called to the same office. For when CHRIST gave the Apostles their commission He added, "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." (S. Matt. xxviii, 20.)

Q. Do you mean to say that the Ministers of the Church thus appointed have really the authority of CHRIST Himself, and that what they do in His Name, and according to His will, is in principle and effect the very same as if done by CHRIST Himself?

A. Yes. S. Paul distinctly speaks of himself as acting in the person of CHRIST." (II Cor. ii, 10.)

BRANCHES Number 1 and 2 of the Woman's Auxiliary have met on the first and second Wednesdays of each month from October to May, inclusive. There is now a membership of eighty-six, with an average attendance of twenty-five at the meetings. Eleven new members were added during the past year. The Auxiliary lost one member by death, Mrs. Florence Whiting Bernadou, who for many years gave her willing service to the organization as member and officer.

Two Mission Study Classes under the leadership of Sister Lydia, S. S. M., were formed to meet on Wednesday evenings and Thursday mornings, beginning with the first week in Epiphany. Each of the classes held six meetings.

During Lent the Sewing Class met weekly, and a great deal of work was accomplished.

At the annual meeting of S. Clement's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, Wednesday, May 1, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Charles Joline; Vice-President, Mrs. George H. Lea; Secretary, Miss Helen E. Sprecher; Treasurer, Miss Gladys Connelly.

A summary of the Treasurer's report follows:

The Magazine will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

¶ After July 1st, Evensong on Sundays will be said at 5 o'clock in S. John's Chapel, and the 8 o'clock service will be omitted until further notice. The weekday services will also be said in S. John's Chapel, commencing the 1st of July, with the exception of the Mass on Mondays, when a requiem will be said in the Lady Chapel at 7 A. M.

¶ On Wednesday evening, June 12, the choir boys gave a very creditable entertainment in the Parish Hall for the benefit of their Outing Fund. After several vocal and instrumental numbers, a minstrel show was presented, which easily rivaled Dumont's. Lander Moule was interlocutor, the endmen were Brand Wright and Bradford Tyre. All the members of the choir contributed their share of the program. Interested persons who were prevented from attending the performance may have the privilege of doing their bit for the boys by sending contributions for the Outing Fund to Mr. Fry.

¶ Our bed in the American Hospital in Paris is to bear this title, "S. Clement's Auxiliary 233, American Red Cross, S. Clement's Episcopal Church, Twentieth and Cherry streets, Philadelphia." The nurse in charge of the bed is supposed to write occasionally as to the number of patients cared for. The writing will necessarily be occasional, with the rush of work demanding almost every moment of the nurse's time.

¶ Beginning July 3, there will be a class for the children of the Parish and those of the neighborhod who may wish to come. The class will meet each Wednesday during the summer at 10 o'clock, under the charge of Sister Lydia. Some manual work will be done, and at each session there will be a short religious instruction.

THE war is bringing many changes to our churches throughout the country. The clergy in many instances have offered themselves for chaplaincies in the Army and Navy, and in consequence many parishes have been left without rectors. Grace Church, Mt. Airy, is among the number. At the outbreak of the war Fr. Cline obtained leave of absence from his vestry and left at once for France. The date of his return is uncertain, and the vestry has asked Fr. Caine to take charge of the work until the Rector's return. He will take up his residence on September 1st. His going will be a real trial to S. Clement's. During his four years' residence as Curate he has won the affection of the people, and his ministrations have been faithful and untiring. While we shall miss him from our Clergy Staff, we are glad to be able to make a contribution so real and so valuable to the present war needs. The Congregation will need no exhortation to remember Fr. Caine before the Altar.

This change in the Clergy Staff and the present difficulty of obtaining priests for parish work may involve some changes as to the number of services that may be possible next winter, but we shall be given an opportunity as a parish of offering our sacrifice in the present distress.

PROBABLY the majority of our parishioners have made their plans for the summer. We trust that due consideration has been given to the possibility of obtaining Church privileges in the communities where they may chance to be spending their holiday. Too often one finds that the question of the Church and Sacraments is apparently the thing of last and least importance in the minds of those who during the winter are most faithful in Church attendance. After the plans are all made and accommodations secured, then comes the belated question, "What can I do about Church services?" Oftentimes it is discovered that there must be an enforced vacation from religion.

It is discouraging to a parish priest to be told that the very people who have made the loudest protestations of "Catholicity" during the winter and who have been most insistent upon upholding "Catholic tradition and ceremonial," are, curiously enough, the most negligent during the holidays. There are even those who seem to have so little true realization of what the Mass and the Holy Communion mean that, distressed by the lack of the "six points" of ritual in some Low Church parish, they refuse to receive the Blessed Sacrament at their own Altar in the town which they have chosen for their summer abiding place, and persist in disloyally "'verting" to Rome for a few weeks, and pass by the door of the American Church, nose in the air. We know of people who have said they do not feel that the Sacrament is the same when it is received at another Altar than that of their own parish Church. Truly a strange commentary on the reality of their spiritual experience.

May we venture to offer what we believe to be a much-needed admonition, not only for S. Clement's people, but for American Churchmen generally? When you are making summer plans, let the Church come first, and not last.

FOR those who may wish to do some special reading during the summer we would suggest the following books: For spiritual reading, Ara Coeli, Chandler; The Riches of the House of God, MacLeod; Self-Training in Meditation, Self-Training in Prayer and After This Manner Pray Ye, McNeile, are all good. Bishop Chandler's book is rather hard to obtain now. Among the books of letters and sermons, The Letters of Father Benson and The Last Sermons of Father Stanton are most interesting. There is another splendid book by W. M. Clow, a Presbyterian, The Evangel of the Strait Gate. If one is looking for a war book, he or she could find no better than Phillipps' Europe Unbound, or The Cross at the Front, by Tiplady, or the recent book of Professor Mercer, Allied and American Peace Terms. Arthur Stanton, a Memoir, by Russell, A Theology for the Social Gospel, Rauschenbusch, The Church and the Hour, Vida Scudder, The Place of the Laity in the Church, by Sparrow-Simpson, and The Letters of Cardinal Mercier, will complete the list.

Q. Of how many Orders, or kinds, of Ministers does this Ministry consist, and by what titles are they distinguished?

A. There are three main Orders, and they are called Bishops, Priests and Deacons.

Q. Have these three Orders always been in the Church?

A. Yes; they have always been in every true part of the Church from the days of the Apostles. The Ministry of the Church, like the Faith of the Church, is One and the same always.

Q. How do you learn this?

A. It is gathered from Holy Scripture, from the writings of those who lived with the Apostles or near the time of the Apostles, and from the general practice of the Church.

Q. What is the office and work of a Deacon?

A. The office of a Deacon is the lowest of the three Orders of the Ministry, and the first to be entered on. His office is to "assist the Priest" in the performance of Divine Service and "to instruct the youth in the Catechism;" he may baptize infants "in the absence of the Priest;" he may preach "if he be admitted thereto by the Bishop;" and he is to "search for the sick and poor that they may be relieved."

Q. What is the office of a Priest?

A. The office of a Priest is to offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Altar, to give absolution from sin, to bless, and to perform other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church.

Q. What is the office of a Bishop?

A. It appertains to the office of a Bishop, in addition to what belongs to a Priest, to ordain other Ministers; to consecrate Churches, Holy Places and Holy Things, for the service of Almighty oversight of the Clergy and Laity.

Q. By what means is the Ministry of the Church perpetuated; in other words, how are Ministers made?

A. By Ordination, or, as it is called, The Sacrament of Holy Order.

A Letter from Deaconess Whittaker

ONE night last year, when there was still fighting around the city, I was asked to go and say my prayers for a young soldier who had been badly shot and was dying. The government had confiscated the wealthy estates of the "aristocratic" party who had been Diaz's supporters, and one of these handsome old mansions had been turned into a military hospital. The ward I entered had evidently been the ball-room. It was a huge room, with an exquisite mosaic floor and little gold cupids all around the ceiling. The walls had been upholstered with tapestry and had been hastily stripped, and there was still a shred of red damask curtain hanging at one of the windows. The room was filled with narrow, red-blanketed cots, with a man in every one of them. There were so many that the nurses had more than they could do. The young soldier died while we were with him, and the two women with me and I watched the body all night.

Several times during the typhus epidemic I went to the government la zareto for those who had black typhus—the most virulent form of the disease. There were cases of smallpox there, too. They had established the hospital at a big, rambling farmhouse, sufficiently far out of the city. It was among the hills, and there was a lake with many wild ducks. The house was filled to overflowing with patients, and they had isolated the worst cases in the chapel—for these ranches are almost like little villages in themselves, with houses for all the help, and a store, and always, as among devout Catholics, a chapel. The poor little chapel was crowded, the sick lying even on the floor and on the altar steps. I put on a doctor's gown to go in. The chapel had been plundered previously; the images and pictures and hangings had been taken away, and only the Crucifix remained.

I suppose many of the things that happened here through the bombardment of the city, when we had to stay in a cellar for a week behind a refuge of mattresses, and all the subsequent fighting; the days when we were without water; when one couldn't buy food; the memorable week when the government changed hands seven times in one day!—must have been a miniature, even though a tiny one, of what is going on abroad. But those two scenes—the ghastly incongruity of that ball-room, with its simpering, gilt cupids smiling and smiling on that hideous bed and the dead body and the closely packed rows of suffering men—and that little country chapel with its demolished altar—outside, the hills and the quiet lake with the wild ducks flying over it—and within, the black, swollen, tortured faces and writhing human forms at the foot of the tortured crucifix—have stayed in my mind as sharp-edged vignettes of war. There must be many scenes like that over there.

To-day is Viernes de Dolores (Friday of the Virgin's Sorrows), and there is always a flower carnival on the Viga canal, not far from here. All day automobiles and wagons have been going by in crowds, laden with flowers, and women with wreaths around their necks and flowers in their hair and men with flowers in their hats. There is singing and dancing and jollification—an odd way of commemorating the Blessed Virgin's sorrows, but the annual custom.

Just before Lent, Archdeacon Mellen, Miss Knight and I visited our Ameca mission. As it is necessary to make a day of it, for the train leaves early in the morning and returns to the city late in the afternoon, we took our lunch along—bread and cheese and ripe olives, and a roast chicken. (Miss McK. has a sort of make-believe farm out at the Hooker School, and keeps chickens, pigs, rabbits, a horse and two cows.) Ameca is a speck of a town at the very foot of the two volcanoes; it is beautiful! We climbed up the Sacro Monte to eat our lunch. That is a hill called the Sacred Mountain because there is a cemetery half-way up it, and a church on the summit. The winding road which leads to the top is marked all the way by the Stations of the Cross.

OUR dear old friend, Brother Maynard, of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, has entered into his rest. The end came at Cowley on the 24th of May in his 76th year. To the members of the Parish who have yet a vivid recollection of the days of the "Fathers" at S. Clement's this news will come with a real sense of personal loss. He had long been suffering from a stroke of paralysis and had been unable for some time to get about without assistance.

Coming to the Society from the office of a noted English architect, he brought with him a knowledge and taste that found expression in the erection and decoration of many of the Churches and buildings occupied by the Society. We copy the following from the English Church Times:

"He was professed in 1883, but as a novice he had been sent to the United States to the House of the Society, which then had charge of the parish of S. Clement's, Philadelphia. There he found a Church which had fallen into a great stage of neglect through lack of funds, previous to the Society's coming. His decoration of the Church on roof and walls lasted a full generation, till in these later days, under other auspices, larger works of renovation have been taken in hand and carried through.

"At Oxford a large work fell to his care in the building of the Society's Church on Iffley-road. This was built by Mr. Bodley, Brother Maynard being clerk of the works, and again doing the internal decoration of the roof. This Church was opened on June 12, 1896. Then followed the building of the new mission house at the back of the old brick buildings so familiar to generations of retreatants, and still in use as a guest-house, and fragrant with memories of Father Benson and Father Congreve."

May God grant to him rest in the Eternal House in Heaven.

LET us try to think straight.

We are all shocked and appalled as we hear or read of the Horrors of the War; the thousands of men killed or wounded, perhaps maimed for life; the families bereaved, the country desolated; the ships sunk with their precious cargoes as well as their sailors; the shrieking of the shells, the mud of the trenches; the cruel instruments of warfare, the gas and bombs and barbed wire. Terrible! terrible! we cry, and we can't listen or read any more.

On the other hand we hear of the self-sacrifice of the men who leave their families and business and the comfort of their homes at the call of duty, facing hardships and wounds and death in the service of their country; and of the willingness of mothers and wives and sweethearts to send their men, and the best of them; of the readiness of all to pay taxes and all sorts of subscriptions for the support of the army and navy; and of the devoted work done at home and abroad by women for the comfort of our boys, and the care of the suffering impoverished people in invaded countries. Splendid! fine! we say; there is the glory as well as the horror of war.

But very likely we have an uncomfortable feeling that all this self-sacrifice and devotion may be misdirected. War, the inflicting of hurt and death on others, is so ghastly that we would rather not have anything to do with it, even in what we believe to be a just cause. Why should not differences and quarrels between countries be settled in a Court, as are serious disputes between individuals and companies? Well, that is just what we are aiming at and working towards, the establishment of an International Court, accepted by all countries with authority to settle disputes that may arise between any of them. But then it would be necessary for that Court to have some soldiers to enforce its decision if any nation should resist, just as the city or State Courts have policemen and prisons for people who will not submit to law and right.

We see it is the presence of wrong and wrong-doing in the world which is the real trouble, not the use of force (or war) to put it down. We must set ourselves to put down wrong of whatever kind, in a family or school or city or nation. Falsehood, dishonesty, cruelty, uncleanness must be restrained.

But then perhaps we are reminded of the teaching and example of our Lord JESUS CHRIST. Ought not Christians to love their enemies, to submit to wrong, to overcome evil with good? Yes, so far as our own personal interests are concerned. But that does not mean that we are to stand by and see other people oppressed and injured, and allow wickedness (just because it won't listen to the pleadings of reason and kindness) to go on triumphant, trampling down everything in its path.

Suppose Vermont were to be invaded by some wanton enemy; our University burnt, our schools closed, our mills destroyed, our farms devastated, our women and children ill-treated, immense sums of money levied on our cities, our leading citizens seized as hostages, and men carried off and forced to work for the enemy. What would we think of neighboring States, like New Hampshire or Massachusetts, if they should say, we are very sorry; we have tried to dissuade the enemy from such conduct, but they won't listen; we should think it wrong to use violence to stop them, it is against our religion to fight?

I think we should say that they were selfish cowards, and that their turn would soon come; and that they had mistaken the teaching of the Christian religion.

Let us be clear.

War is really a conflict of Wills.—In God, in angels good and bad, in men. It will take on outward forms according to the conditions and circumstances of those engaged in it.

It is only against Wrong as such that we are to fight, and on that we must always make war, and use all means at our disposal, including force if reason fails.

Our Lord JESUS CHRIST describes Himself as the Good Shepherd who lays down his life for the sheep. How? in conflict with the wolf with whom he engages in a fight to defend his flock.

GOD in the end employs force of all kinds to fight against those who persistently disobey His laws,—storm and flood, earthquake and fire, and disease, and hostile nations.

We need not then hesitate about cheering our soldiers and sailors on. War has its true glory in the midst of all its incidental horrors. We will pray that they may show themselves Christian soldiers, brave and chivalrous, without malice; hating wrong and trying to rescue all, not only victims but also wrongdoers, from the wrong.

A Catechism

Q. What are the Sacraments of the Church?

A. The Sacraments of the Church are outward Signs or Forms instituted by CHRIST Himself or by CHRIST through His Apostles, by which GOD works invisibly in us.

Q. What have the Sacraments been called?

A. They have been called the "Extension of the Incarnation," because they are the means or channels through which flow to men the Grace and blessing that comes from JESUS CHRIST, our GOD Incarnate.

Q. For what reasons are the Sacraments accompanied by Forms, Signs or Ceremonies, either those instituted by CHRIST or those added by the Church?

A. For three reasons. (1) To give the more solemnity to their administration. (2) To serve as outward expressions of inward gifts and blessings. (3) To present the mysteries of religion in a plain and sensible manner before the eyes of the people.

Q. What is the end and object of all the Sacraments?

A. The Sanctification of Man.

Q. Does this Sanctification extend only to the Soul of Man?

A. It extends to the whole man. We are "to glory GOD in Body and Spirit." And again, "I pray GOD, your whole Spirit and Soul and Body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord JESUS CHRIST." (1 Cor. vi. 20; 1 Thess. v. 23.)

Q. What if we refuse or reject the Sacraments?

A. We are rejecting the very means which GOD Himself has appointed for conveying to us the benefits and blessings of the Incarnation of His SON.

1. Under "Forms" we include the Words required to be used in their administration.

2. It cannot be very material whether the Sacraments are spoken of in Scripture as instituted by Christ Himself or as practised by His Apostles. What the Apostles dI dthey did by Christ's authority. (Acts 1, 3.) They could not of themselves institute Sacraments, and make them binding forever on the Church.

The Assumption

THEY laid her down, all womanhood's crown,
With holy Mass and prayer,
And they carved the sign of the Cross divine
Above her with loving care;
They deemed she would lie till the trumpet-cry
Should awaken the dead from gloom,
But He Who in fight had quelled death's night,
Hath opened His Mother's tomb.

The holy fair hath passed away
From out that hallowed ground,
And roses bloom where Mary lay,
And lilies spring around;
The winding-sheet which wrapped her feet
No longer holds the dead,
And useless lies the wimple white
Which bound the Virgin's head.

Yet not for her a robe of gold,
With broidered art is meet;
CHRIST clothes her with the radiant sun,
The moon is at her feet;
A crown of beamy stars is set
Upon her maiden brow;
Her soul doth magnify the Lord,
High is the lowly now!

A Letter from a British Chaplain

IT IS very cheering to know that intercessions are being offered for us by friends who have never seen us. It gives such a comforting assurance of the "Communion of Saints."

I have not met many Americans, but there were some of the Medical Corps at Ruen when I was there. I think what strikes one most is that they are so serious. There is a grim determination about them that is certainly impressive. I hope to meet more of them when I go back to France, which I expect will be in a couple of months from now.

Acolytes in uniform must have brought the war very vividly to the minds of your congregation. I fear that there are many long days before we shall reach a satisfactory end of this war, and we who are face to face with the actual facts, know only too well how necessary it is that the end should be truly satisfactory.

I think the French are perhaps the most wonderful people in the war. It has hit them so hard and yet they are quite ready to go on. Their women are so cheerful, and it is a matter of incessant work for them at rates of pay that would mean strikes with our own people. I like them the best of our allies. This must sound very strange in your ears, but Americans are scarcely regarded as allies, they always seem to be ourselves.

Yes, it is hard to love our enemies, and yet I don't think that the prevailing feeling with our soldiers is hatred. When you can call a man Fritz or Fritzie, you certainly don't hate him. Yet they are none the less determined to kill Fritz when they get a chance, and when some nasty trick is discovered, I am afraid that hatred is stirred and vengeance is very swift. Sometimes I wonder if we are becoming indifferent to the value of human life, either our enemy's or our own.

Continue to pray for us.

IN the next issue we will be able to give a general survey of parochial activities for the coming winter. It will doubtless be found necessary to alter our schedule somewhat. We are living in troublous times and we would not, if we could, be relieved from our share of the burden of the war. The expenses of the parish have necessarily increased, and we must do all in our power to reduce them to as low a figure as possible. Our acolytes are in the service of their country, where we are proud to have them, and we believe that they are serving our Cause the better because they have gone out from our Altar. This winter will doubtless make yet further demands upon us in the way of sacrifices. Let us meet it cheerfully and without murmuring. At the present time the spirit of sacrifice glorifies God far more than elaborate music and solemn processions. These ceremonial adjuncts are desirable when possible, but they do not constitute the sum and substance of the Catholic Faith. We should be striving increasingly as a parish to spend ourselves and be glad to be spent in the service of our God and of our Nation. Whatever curtailment of ritual or traditional custom may seem necessary will be made for this object and for this alone.

May we not ask that every member of the parish will endeavor to accept with as little murmuring as possible changes that may involve some personal inconvenience, or the surrendering of some non-essentials external? We sincerely trust that the old comment, so often heard in the past, may not pass our lips this winter: "What! Another change?"

WE have not been able to locate all of our boys who are in the service. Many of them have been changed from camp to camp and some of them are overseas. It is the desire of the clergy to keep in touch with them all, and we would be grateful if their friends or families would inform us of any change of address as soon as it occurs. So far as we know, the following "Soldiers of St. Clement's" are in France or England. If by any chance we have omitted any name, we would be grateful for information.

The following acolytes are "with the colors," many of them now on the fighting line:

Lieut. Edward F. Nolan	Alfred Johnson
Sergt. Grover C. Welch	Paul Casey
Sergt. Herbert Casey	John Kuhns
Sergt. Henry Hagert	Robert Longacre
Sergt. Norman Ruark	Theodore Casey

Other young men of our parish who are at present in France are:

Capt. Thos. H. Winston	E. P. McClement
Lieut. Jos. N. DuBarry	Frank Robinson
Lieut. Walton Osborne	Geo. McLauchlan
Sergt. J. F. Joline	Chas. Clark

Chas. Linn	Paul Hunter
Wm. F. Dean	Bernard Belinfante

Herbert Walsh

In the navy and probably upon the high seas:

Knox MacIlwain	Ensign Leonard B. Austin
Samuel Wetherill	C. Randall Pennington
Clinton Jenkins	Leonard W. Richardson, Jr.
Paymaster Chas. L. Austin	Joseph S. Lillly

May God grant they may return to their homes in peace.

¶ The Saturday Classes have given $13.80 for the rebuilding of a French village.

¶ The winter schedule of services will not be resumed until October. During September the masses and services will continue as they have done during the summer.

¶ The Sunday School will reopen on the first Sunday in October. It is hoped that all the children will make an effort to be present.

¶ The Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese will visit St. Clement's in January to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation. Instructions for Confirmation and First Communion will commence the first Friday in November. The Rector will give Confirmation lectures for men and women every Friday night after the Service of Intercession. These are open for any who may desire to come, whether they have been confirmed or not.

¶ One of our boys at the front writes: "We long for S. Clement's and all that goes with it. There is something about it that rings so true and sincere that it fills a good space in the hearts of all that are so fortunate as to know it." Let us try this winter to live up to this estimate.

¶ Father Webber-Thompson, who was to have taken duty for September at S. Clement's, has received a commission as Chaplain in the U. S. Army and enters at once upon his duties. Father A. F. Bowles will come to us in his stead.

Holy Communion in Sickness

The following poem was written by Father Prescott when he was Rector of St. Clement's:

LORD, what am I, that not the Blessed Mother,
But Thou, Thyself, should come to be my Guest,
And seek me out, as if there were no other
Beneath whose roof to rest?

Not worthy I that to Thy heavenly Table
I should be called to sit and sup with Thee;
But who shall tell the worth which makes Thee able
To come and sup with me?

To be Thyself my Host—my Guest—my Feeding,
And find in me something whereon to feed,
Were Satisfaction meet for endless pleading;
O Help in time of need!

And a Communion, making one the song
Of Angels and Archangels, and the throng
Of men in earth, and Saints about the Throne,
O God made Flesh indeed.
To be a Man with men, and come unto Thine own,
And in "the Breaking of the Bread" to make Thy Presence known.

O. S. Prescott.

(The prayer that follows was found in the pocket of a British Colonel after he was killed in action in Flanders on October 11, 1917.)

FATHER of all, Helper of the free, we pray with anxious hearts for all who fight on sea and land and air to guard our homes and liberty. Make clear the vision of our leaders and their counsels wise.

Into Thy care our ships and seamen we commend; guard them from chance sown mines and all the dangers of this war at sea and as of old give them the victory. To men on watch give vigilance; to those below, calm sleep.

Make strong our soldier's hearts and brace their nerves against the bursting shrapnel and the unseen fire that lays the next man low. In pity blind them to the sight of fallen comrades left upon the field.

May CHRIST Himself in Paradise receive the souls of those who pass through death.

Let not our soldiers ever doubt that they shall overcome the forces of that King who "seeks to wade through slaughter to a throne and shut the gates of mercy on mankind."

O GOD of love and pity, have compassion on the wounded; make bearable their pains or send unconsciousness.

To surgeons and to dressers give strength that knows no failing and skill that suffers not from desperate haste.

To tired men give time to rest.

Pity the poor beasts of service who suffer for man's wrong.

For us at home, let not that open shame be ours that we forget to ease the suffering of the near and dear of brave men in the fighting line.

O Thou Who makest human hearts the channel of Thy answers to our prayers, let loose a flood of sympathy and help for children and their mothers who wander desolate and suffering, leaving wrecked homes and gardens trodden under ruthless feet.

With Thee Who sufferest more than all, may we with reverence Thy burden share, for all are Thine and in Thine image made; they, too, are Thine who caused the wrong.

O FATHER, may this war be mankind's last appeal to force. Grant from the stricken earth, sown with Thy dead, an everlasting flower of peace shall spring and all Thy world become a garden where the flower of CHRIST shall grow.

And this we beg for our dear Elder Brother's sake, Who gave Himself for those He loved, our Lord and Saviour JESUS CHRIST. Amen.

A Prayer for Every Day

ALMIGHTY GOD, Who hast given Thy Son Jesus Christ to be the Way, the Truth and the Life, grant us perfectly to know that without the Way there is no going; without the Truth there is no knowing; without the Life there is no living. Help us to know that Truth, to walk in that Way, to live by that Life; that at least we may come to the Life Everlasting, through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

We shall probably be in need of teachers for the Sunday School. Will those who are willing to volunteer for this duty kindly hand their names to the Rector?

The following story of the late Father Benson is told in the "Messenger":

WHEN he was a little boy, he used regularly to read a text every night in a little Testament his mother had given him, and one night he was found by his nurse lying on the floor in his night clothes. His nurse and governess both told him to get into bed, but he lay silently there, and at last they brought up his father, who called him to sit on his knee and tell him what was the matter. The little boy pointed to his text for the night, and his father read, 'Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of JESUS CHRIST' (II Tim. 2: 3). Then he said, 'The floor is hard, so I must sleep on it.' 'Yes, Richard,' said his father, 'but there is one thing harder than that, which the soldier has to learn, and that is obedience; so you go and get into bed.' It was this hardness and obedience to suffering which Father Benson tried to carry all his life."

As a nation we are learning again—in the hard school of war—the lesson of obedience to properly constituted authority.

As Catholic Christians we are pledged to obey the rules laid down for us in the Church's war against "Sin, the World and the Devil."

At our baptism (our enlistment) our sponsors were solemnly warned to see to it that we learned the rules, in these words: "Ye shall call upon him to hear sermons; and chiefly ye shall provide that he may learn the Creed, the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments, and all other things which a Christian ought to know and believe to his soul's health."—Prayer Book, p. 250.

On page 272 of the Prayer Book this rule is given as to the way the Christian child is to get this knowledge:

"The Minister of every Parish shall diligently, upon Sundays and Holy-days, or on some other convenient occasions, openly in the Church, instruct or examine so many children of his Parish, sent unto him, as he shall think convenient, in some part of this Catechism.

"And all fathers, mothers, masters and mistresses shall cause their children, servants and apprentices, who have not learned their Catechism, to come to the Church at the time appointed, and obediently to hear and to be ordered by the Minister, until such time as they have learned all that is here appointed for them to learn."

As obedient Catholics we may well refresh our memory as to certain points:

1. The children are to come on Sundays and Holy Days to Church.

2. "Fathers, mothers, masters and mistresses" shall see that "children, servants and apprentices" do come.

3. "The Minister of every Parish"—the "Parish Priest"—shall "openly in the Church" give the instruction.

4. The subject matter is provided in "this Catechism."

A painful commentary upon our sad neglect of obedience to rule is found in the fact that all too often, when persons come to be prepared for Confirmation, they have to be set to work to learn the simple text of the Catechism.

This year, instead of holding a "Sunday School" in the Parish House, and instead of vainly trying to "adapt" some elaborate "system" to our simple abilities, we intend to first endeavor to obey the Church's rules as laid down for us.

To this end there will be every Sunday, beginning October 6th:

1. The Divinely Commanded Service at 9.15 A. M.
2. Followed by the Catechism.

Will "fathers, mothers, masters and mistresses" help us?

P. S.—And, by the way, Do you know your Catechism?

¶ The Mothers' Meeting will be resumed on Thursday, October 3d, and S. Mary's Guild on Monday, October 7th.

¶ The 7.30 A. M. Mass on weekdays and the 8 A. M. Mass on Sundays will not be resumed until further notice.

¶ Owing to the pressure of parochial affairs and our somewhat depleted clergy staff, Fr. Hutchinson has been obliged to relinquish his work at the Eastern State Penitentiary.

¶ The names of Furman S. Wilde, George Stokes and William E. Rhoades should be added to the list of those members of the parish who are in service in France.

¶ The Rector's Bible Class will not be resumed this winter, but probably there will be special instructions during Advent and Lent.

¶ Every woman in the Parish should join our Red Cross Auxiliary, which will meet as usual this winter on Tuesdays, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M., and on Fridays from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. A very great deal of excellent work has been accomplished during the past year, but there is great need of more volunteers.

¶ The Rev Bayard H. Goodwin, a former acolyte of S. Clement's, who was ordained to the diaconate last Trinity Sunday, is at present curate at S. John's Church, Wilmington, Del.

AGAIN we would urge the congregation to take a more active part in the League of Intercession. A recent message from General Pershing tells us that although immediate response to material needs is urgent and essential, our men at the front are coming to depend more and more upon the spiritual forces that are set free by the prayers of those at home. This would seem to be a very real call to us to intensify the life of prayer. The number of requests for intercessions for particular objects is pitiably few for a parish the size of S. Clement's. Apparently the clergy are expected to be cognizant of the desires and interests of over 800 communicants, and from this knowledge to compile each month an intercession paper, which shall adequately express the needs of the people. Their task would be made much easier if suggestions were sent to them each month. It cannot be possible that the members of the parish have no desire for the benefit of the prayers of the faithful.

The attendance at the Friday night prayer meeting during the summer has been gratifying. We trust that during the coming winter more will avail themselves of the privilege and power of corporate intercession.

Of the Angels

"THE good Lord forgive me, that amongst my other offenses, I have suffered myself so much to forget not only His Divine Presence, but the presence of His Holy Angels also. It is I confess, my great sin that I have filled mine eyes with other objects, and have been slack in returning praises to my God for the continual assistance of those blessed and beneficent spirits which have ever graciously attended me, without intermission, from the first hour of my conception to this present moment; neither shall they ever, I hope, absent themselves from my tutelage and protection, till they have presented to my poor soul her final glory. Oh, that the dust and clay were so washed out of mine eyes that I might behold, together with the presence, the numbers, the beauties, the excellences of my ever-present Guardians.

"O ye blessed Spirits, ye are ever by me, ever with me, ever about me. I do as good as see you; for I know you to be here. I reverence your glorious persons. I bless God for you. I walk in fear because I am ever in your eyes. I walk confidently, because I am ever in your hands. Next to my God and Saviour, I shall ever place my greatest comfort and confidence in your superintendence and watchful care!"

RT. REV. J. HALL, D. D.,
Bishop of Norwich, 1641.

A Catechism

Q. By what means are we admitted into the Church or Kingdom of God?

A. By the Sacrament of Holy Baptism.

Q. Who is the proper Minister of this Sacrament?

A. A Priest, but no Priest being obtainable, a deacon, or a layman or lay woman may baptize.

Q. What is essential to be done in the administration of Holy Baptism that it may be true and valid?

A. The person that administers Baptism must either "dip in water" or "pour water" upon the person to be baptized, and he must do so in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost.

Q. Why in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost?

A. Because "the Lord hath commanded" it. We are thereby reminded, too, that each person of the Holy Trinity is assistant in this Mystery of our Salvation.

Q. And why with water?

A. Because "the Lord hath commanded" this also.

Q. Of what is the water, which, together with the words, is the outward part of the Sacrament, the sign?

A. Of that gift of grace of God which is given in Holy Baptism as the inward part of the Sacrament.

Q. How or in what way is water the sign of God's grace?

A. In two ways, (1) Water washes or cleanses things; (2) water gives new life to things ready to die; so the grace of God in Holy Baptism (1) washes or cleanses us, and (2) gives us a new life.

Q. From what does the grace of Holy Baptism cleanse us?

A. It cleanses us (1) from the guilt of Original Sin; that is, the sin in which as children of the first Adam we are born, which we inherit from our fathers, but which we have not ourselves committed; and (2) it cleanses us from the guilt of Actual Sin; that is, the sin which in the case of those baptized in riper years, the persons themselves have committed. Thus it is said, "Be baptized for the Remission of sins." (Acts ii, 38.)

O CHRIST our GOD, Light of Light, Splendour unspeakable, Wisdom, Might and Glory of the Father, Who didst appear in this world before the eyes of all, the Word made Flesh, and having overcome the powers of darkness, didst return to heaven, grant to us thy servants that, having appointed over us Guardian Angels as our defenders and protectors, they may defend our going out and our coming in, and bring us at last to Thy right hand to obtain from Thee the crown of everlasting life.

With thirteen thousand things to do,
I thought I'd never put 'em through Until—I saw it!
The way to win this blooming war
Is—Bite off more than you can chaw,
And then—Go chaw it!

Baptisms

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ."

DURING the past month we have been confronted by death and pestilence in a form almost unprecedented in modern annals. At the present writing the scourge is apparently abating in our own city, but in other parts of the country the epidemic seems still to be most virulent. The condition has been rendered the more distressing by the action of the Board of Health in ordering the closing of the Houses of God throughout the city. A letter from the Bishop of the Diocese bade us obey the law, and for a few days the doors of the church were closed, until by the personal effort of our Diocesan we were granted permission to hold services at which no more than twenty-five persons were permitted to be present at anyone time, and the building was allowed to remain open for private devotion. This provision we found quite ample for our needs. We did not find S. Clement's people thronging the aisles, and although on the first Sunday we made provision for those who might be excluded from the services on account of the number, this provision was found to be quite unnecessary and was not repeated. During the epidemic three masses have been said in the parish daily, as the Chapels of the Sisters were available, and the clergy offered the Holy Sacrifice for the cessation of the plague and the restoration of those who were ill.

It has been a trying time for us all. It has seemed needless to assure our people that we closed the church with regret. Surely no communicant of the parish would believe that the clergy acquiesced with any degree of complacency in the "closing order." We accepted the judgment of our chief pastor and felt that no protest other than actual defiance of the law would be either reasonable or effective. S. Clement's people, we are sure, realized that although their attendance at mass was forbidden the clergy were still doing their duty and that the Holy Sacrifice was being pleaded uninterruptedly for them and for their needs. We hope also that in this time of distress the prayers that were offered in our homes were fervent and constant. We have had an opportunity at least of testing the sincerity of our spiritual life and our zeal for intercession.

It seems probable that before the publication of this issue of the Magazine, normal conditions will have been restored. It remains to be seen how many of us have drawn any lesson whatever from the scourge, and how many of those who have been loudest in their protests will show their gratitude for God's mercy by a frequent and devout attendance at the services of the Church.

¶ A prayer desk has been placed at the head of the south aisle before the Altar of the Lady Chapel, for the use of those who may come for intercession on weekdays. A copy of the Honour Roll will be kept upon it and such other subjects for intercession as may be handed to the clergy from time to time. It is particularly and earnestly requested that no one will remove the books or papers that may be left there. They are intended for the use of the parish, and the removal of them will entail much inconvenience for many people.

¶ Father Bowles has been placed upon the regular clergy staff of the parish. We hope that he may continue with us a long time.

¶ Father McClenthen will preach the sermon on S. Clement's day this year. We are unable at this time to make any further announcements as to the services during our parochial festival. We shall be keeping the usual Novena, however, from November 13 to November 22 inclusive, and the congregation are urged to make this a time of special prayer for the parish.

¶ Vespers of the Blessed Sacrament will be sung on the second Friday in November, at 8 o'clock, in S. John's Chapel. Immediately after the service there will be an instruction for those who may be looking forward to Confirmation and any others who may be interested. These instructions will continue every Friday evening until further notice.

¶ During the month of November requiems will be said on allowable Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Bona Mors will be said as usual every Monday after Evensong, and Vespers of the dead will be said after Evensong on November 1st.

¶ On All Souls Day there will be a sung Requiem at 9 A. M. The six o'clock mass on the second Friday of the month has been resumed.

¶ The following offerings will be taken during November: All Saints' Day, for the Sisters of S. Margaret; S. Clement's Day for the current expenses of the parish; Thanksgiving Day for the Episcopal Hospital.

Sept. 19.

"I have had little opportunity for writing. We have been on the move most of the time. The Hun keeps us busy trying to catch up with him and just now we are again 'on the road,' after about a month on the firing line. You are right—it has been a wonderful experience; but one gets so used to it all that war comes to seem the normal and peace the abnormal condition. After being up there in the midst of it, it seemed queer to be out of the sound of the guns. We were under shell fire more days than not, and one gets used to that, too. Several times we were in pretty tight places, and narrow escapes were common, but our casualties have not been many. There is a deep feeling among the men that the angels have surely been with us, and that the prayers of our people have been answered. Personally I have never really understood the Twenty-third Psalm before. We went into one position in a ravine named by our men 'Death Valley,' and had been there scarcely an hour when the Boches opened up on us. We had almost no shelter, and he had the range exactly, but after about three hours of gas and high explosive shelling we had but two casualties, both gas, and not serious, though one gun was put out of action temporarily by a direct hit, which broke the sight. We moved away from there down a shell-swept road. Again, not a man hit. One high explosive hit between me and the wagon ahead. I was dismounted and about twenty yards behind, but was not touched. Next day we were indeed 'beside still waters,' camped on the edge of a little lake, and I slept in a 'green pasture' starred with pink and white crocuses. The contrasts that war makes in this fair land are almost unbelievable."

Aug. 13.

"We have been up the line since June 20th, and hear rumors that we are going back to rest. I believe our relief is coming now, and we are only awaiting them. I hope so, for we have been under a nervous strain since we came up, and I will be glad to get a chance to relax. The other evening I was up the line and got a little too much of the Boche gas, and have been feeling a little off for the last few days. This is one of our worst enemies, and very annoying at times. We are doing real soldiering now, and living and working under very miserable conditions. Raining most of the time. I think I will do justice to the first bath I come into contact with, as water is scarce. You certainly would laugh if you could see us living in caves or huts we build out of branches, and with regular Rip van Winkle beards. I have to laugh at myself when I think of the things I am doing now that would have been my last thought in civil life. We have plenty of time to think. It certainly wakes a fellow up and shows him how careless he has been in life, and how few responsibilities he has shouldered. Believe me, that is all we fellows talk about, and when we come home we won't come back the care-free boys we were when we left, but men with sense and appreciation for things we let slide before. We are coming back real men. The other night I had a novel experience. We were going up to work—we always work at night—and Jerry sent over a barrage that scattered us, and we all sought shelter wherever we could. Two other fellows and myself found a shell hole, which we managed to crowd into. We were safe for a few hours, but at last Jerry began to drop shells around us, and when the high explosives started to rock us we were pretty uncomfortable, and thought it was time to run. So we stuck our heads over to top to see if we could judge just how the shells were falling. This is easy to do sometimes, but this time we missed our guess, for first they dropped over our heads, then to the right and left, and then in front of us. Every minute they were coming closer, so we decided we had better make for the woods. We were off like scared rabbits, and as it was dark we had a hard time. With every whistle we flopped down, and then up again, to run a few yards more. At last we beat the Boches to it. I sure was excited when it was over, and mighty glad to get in a dug-out. It is funny how high-strung your nerves are during the excitement and how calm you become when it is all over. I know I never was much of a runner, but I think I beat all records that time. Don't worry about us boys. We are getting well taken care of, and are in the best of health and spirits, and only awaiting the time when peace reigns once more and we are all at home again. Unfortunately our Chaplain has been able to have Communion Services but once or twice since we landed.as he has the whole regiment to look after, and we are always separated. We can't get to any churches, as all the villages are in ruins and churches suffer more than the houses. I keep as close as I can to my prayers, and trust to God for His protection and guidance. My only thought is that mother may keep from worrying and that we may all be spared for her sake."

Aug. 27.

"It's a queer thing being over here. I have never been homesick, but I find that S. Clement's is just as large a part of those intimate associations which we term 'home' as anything else, so that a letter from you has a sort of double meaning. Bishop '——— is very fine, and the Roman Churches have fairly good services, but say I, the snob, 'they ain't S. Clement's.' I'd jolly well like to be back."

"This is being written on board ship in that very definite place, 'an Atlantic port.' The ship is extremely comfortable, and we are as well situated as if we were making the trip in times of peace. In fact, it is a very auspicious start on 'the Great Adventure.' The atmosphere has changed in the twinkling of an eye from the tantalizing and deadening monotony of life in camp. One sees in the eyes of every officer and enlisted man that something which is the outward expression of the spirit that is to win this war and win it gloriously. Each one of us is born anew. I am going to war, as I always hoped I would and wondered if I could, eagerly and calmly, with the consciousness of the Spirit of God in my soul and the glory of my country in my heart. But the elation that one feels at doing something difficult better than the next man is denied me, for two thousand men about me feel exactly as I do. Isn't it wonderful? And I know God's blessing is on our cause."

THE message of Christmas comes to us this year bringing a depth of meaning that it has never held for us before. It would seem that true peace is indeed dawning upon the earth for men of goodwill. During the last four years there has been an element of sadness in our keeping of the Feast of Christ's Nativity which even the wonderful revelation of the Word made Flesh could not dissipate. Indeed that revelation seemed only to bring judgment to an earth where violence and hatred reigned. At last the great guns are silent and the sun on Christmas Day will shine upon a world outwardly at peace. We shall all of us be sensible of this change. There should be such a realization of it as would fill us with a love and devotion for Jesus Christ, such as we have never known.

Our first thought should be of Him and of our Christmas Communion. Now, once again, in Bethlehem the "House of Bread," the Incarnate Son of God comes to dwell with His people. On Christmas morning He should find us all at His Altar ready and eager to receive Him. To Him who has given all for us, we should offer all that we have and all that we are. The only gift the Holy Child desires on His Birthday is the gift, the real gift, of ourselves. In a parish like St. Clement's, which outwardly proclaims its faith in the Presence of Jesus Christ in the Most Holy Sacrament, there should be such a spirit of love and true devotion that no single member of the congregation could possibly be absent when the Life-giving Sacrifice is offered and the Bread of Life distributed to faithful souls. The quality of the religion of St. Clement's people will be accurately and justly measured by their response to the invitation of the Christ Child from the manger in Bethlehem. If He finds us waiting He will know we love Him. If we are not there we can give no proof of our love which we can expect Him to accept, or that we shall dare to offer. There are many persons who cry, "Lord! Lord" whose hearts are far from God and whose religion is only a sentimental response to vestments, music and incense. Let us see to it that on Christmas Day we appear before Him wearing a wedding garment made clean in His Blood, and offering to Him the incense of our heart's devotion.

And because the Christmas spirit is one of self-forgetfulness, let us be sure that Christ's poor are not forgotten, but that through the willing gifts we make those who have little of this world's goods may have material cause for rejoicing. Let us make the coming Feast a true, blessed and happy Christmas.

A Peace Memorial

THE great war is over. At S. Clement's we have suffered less than others. God has been merciful in the protection He has given to our boys. Thus far no fatalities have been reported to us from the front. Herbert Walsh gave his life in the service of the Young Men's Christian Association at Queenstown, Ireland, where he contracted pneumonia. This is the one sacrifice that we have been asked to render. Captain DuBarry has been wounded and Sergeant Welsh has been gassed. At the present writing we have no accurate information as to the seriousness of either case. As a parish we have great cause for thanksgiving, both for these our brethren who have suffered in our stead, and for the ending of the European agony. It is the desire of the Rector to place in the Church yard a permanent memorial of our gratitude. He asks for contributions for the erection of a Crucifix, which shall speak, for all time, to those who pass by, of the Great Sacrifice, which alone gives meaning to the shedding of the blood of America upon the battlefields of France. This should be an expression of the heart of the parish. Each member of S. Clement's should contribute something, however small, towards the "Great Crucifix." Surely no further appeal is needed.

¶ Masses on Christmas day at 6, 7, 8, 9.15 and 11 o'clock.

¶ The clergy will be in church on Christmas Eve as usual to hear confessions.

¶ The National Headquarters of the American Red Cross has ordered a Christmas Roll Call for Universal Membership. All are asked to remit their membership dues during the week of December 16th, or if not already a member to become one at this time. Names with subscriptions may be handed to the clergy or sent to Mrs. Mowry, Chairman of S. Clement's Auxiliary.

¶ All Red Cross surgical work has been discontinued, but workers are needed for mending soldiers' clothing and for the Refugee work.

¶ Once more the congregation is reminded of the Visitation of the Bishop Suffragan on the evening of January 12. Confirmation instructions are given after the service of Intercession on Friday evenings. Special appointments can be made for those who are unable to come at this time.

¶ The members of the congregation are urged to join heartily in the singing of the hymns and in the various parts of the Church service. There is no reason why those in the pews should not sing as well as the choir. There are many musical settings for the mass that have been in use for a long time and must be quite familiar to the people. No one should hesitate to sing. The service is not intended to be a sacred concert.

¶ The Children's Christmas festival will take place on Thursday evening, December 26th, at eight o'clock.

¶ The Girls' Club has elected its officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Helen Mohn; Vice President, Evelyn Taft; secretary, Mary Montague, and Treasurer, Christobel Strachan. The meetings have been arranged as follows: First Tuesday, business meeting; second Tuesday, Red Cross; third Tuesday, French class; fourth Tuesday, Rector's class.

¶ The entire amount has been raised for the endowment of the bed in the American Hospital, near Paris, for the past year. As the Hospital is to be kept open for some time, it is desired to continue the endowment. Will those who have subscribed for the past year renew their subscriptions? And will those who have not yet contributed send their offerings for this purpose to Mrs. Mowry? It is an object which should appeal to us all.

¶ The offering on the second Sunday in Advent, December 8th, will be devoted to the Poor Fund of the parish. The offering on Christmas day will be applied to the parish apportionment for the Church Pension Fund for the Clergy.

¶ Our parish festival was celebrated with due solemnities. The cessation of hostilities in Europe struck a note of special thankfulness, which was manifest in all the services. Father McClenthen, at the Solemn Mass on S. Clement's day, delivered a powerful sermon on the Church's authority and opportunity in the present crisis. The choir was at its best in the rendition of Mozart's Seventh Mass, and Fr. Everton's presence with us, as one of the Sacred ministers, was an added happiness. On Sunday our old friend Fr. White, of S. Mark's, preached the sermon, and brought us a greeting from the sister parish. There was an unusually large gathering at the Parish reception on Monday evening. Musical numbers were given by members of the choir and the parish, and an orchestra played for the dancing. The amount of the offering for parish expenses was about $1200.

Christmas

LORD, we have builded an house for Thee,
And have named it with Thy name.
The air is sweet with the incense smoke
And litten with candle flame.
We have closed the door on the clamoring street,
We have reared it tall and fair,
As a palace of pillared majesty
For the Lord of the earth and air.
(Nay, houseless into the night I go
With the houseless folk, He said;
For the Son of Man, with the sons of men
Hath not to lay His head).

Lord, we have spread Thee a table fair,
And the silver vessels shine;
We have brought Thee bread of the white wheat flour
And poured out the fragrant wine;
We have wreathen Thy court with the spruce and fir
As a Kingly feasting hall,
And trumpets shall peal and viols sing
To honor Thy festival.
(Nay, hungry I watch with My hungry ones,
Athirst with their thirst, said He;
In the house ye have made, at the table spread,
There is no room for me).

Lord, we have wrought Thee a vestment fair,
All precious with gold and gem;
We give Thee a crown for the platted thorn
And a Throne for Bethlehem;
We will bend the knee for the Judas-kiss,
And kings and the great of earth
Shall crowd Thy courts for the shepherd folk
Who came to Thy stable birth.
(Nay, with mine own do I keep My feast
And your gifts are vain, said He;
For as ye have done it not to them
Ye have done it not to Me).

ARTHUR KETCHUM.

AGAIN we stand on the threshold of a New Year. It is with a unique and most hopeful outlook that the Rector and Clergy wish the people of S. Clement's Parish all joy and happiness in the ensuing twelve months.

The past five years, with their dark clouds of despair, their sad days and their many heartbreaks, have made indelible impressions on our souls, but as we now stand facing the dawn, with the dark past behind us, we feel that we are entering into not a new year only, but a new era, and a new world. It is indeed a wonderful age in which to live. An age of the reconstruction of national and industrial, yes, and of Christian life.

The Catholic Church has always been a leader in Renaissance periods. She must not fail in her leadership to-day. As the nation is made up of individuals and depends on the most humble citizen to make his contribution to its strength and welfare, so GOD is now calling the individual members of His Church to make their contribution to the hastening of the Kingdom of the Prince of Peace on earth.

This is not the time for sentimental resolutions to be made on the first of January, revised on the second day and broken on the third. It should be rather, a time for serious and earnest rededication of self to GOD. This can be maintained only by a regular and systematic life of prayer, and the use of the means of Grace, and chiefly by the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar.

Let each one then consider, first, the responsibilities of his baptismal vows, his Confirmation and all that is involved in it; his duties in the state of life to which GOD has called him, and then realize the fulness and bounty of GOD'S grace upon which we are free to draw as abundantly as we will.

If every man and woman in the Church were to rise up to a realization of the responsibility involved there would be such an outpouring of GOD'S Holy Spirit that the dawning of another New Year would find the earth "filled with the knowledge of GOD as the waters cover the sea."

Our Christmas tide was celebrated with a real note of joy. The communions were slightly in excess of last year, and there was an evident realization of the mercy of GOD in bringing to a conclusion the carnage across the seas. At the eleven o'clock mass there was a much larger attendance than usual. On Thursday night the children kept their festival. A mystery play was given under the direction of Fr. Bowles, which was most devotional and touching in its simplicity. As the Sacred narrative was intoned the various characters formed tableaux illustrating each event. The last scene represented was the Presentation in the Temple, when each character upon the stage lighted a candle from the lamp held by S. Mary, and the Nunc Dimittis was sung by all present. The little Mystery was one of the most effective and devotional that we have ever produced, and those who came to see it were most edified. It is a pity that more of the parish were not there. The mystery was followed by the distribution of gifts from the Christmas tree.

¶ The Bishop Suffragan will visit the parish and administer the Sacrament of Confirmation on Sunday evening, January 12th, at 8 o'clock.

¶ On the Sunday after Christmas the rector preached the sermon at the Ordination of Charles C. Carver at Christ Church, New Haven, Connecticut.

¶ On the Feast of the Circumcision, Bayard Heylin Goodwin, a former communicant and Acolyte, was advanced to the Priesthood in S. Clement's Church by Bishop Rhinelander. Fr. Hutchinson preached the sermon and the parish clergy assisted at the laying on of hands. All was very simple, consisting only of a low mass and the ordination, but the quiet service was exceedingly impressive and reverent. Fr. Goodwin will remain in his present work as curate at S. John's Church, Wilmington, Delaware.

¶ The prayers of the congregation are asked for William C. Rhoads and his family. Private Rhoads was baptized and confirmed at S. Clement's last Spring, just before his departure for Camp Meade. He was sent overseas with the 313th Regiment of Field Artillery. No news has been received of him since the early autumn. There is, of course, a natural anxiety on the part of his friends. The parish is asked to commend him whether living or dead to the protecting mercy of GOD.

¶ In our last issue a suggestion was made as to the part taken in the services of the Church by the congregation. May we not once more make this appeal? At the children's festival in the parish hall the singing of the carols was so perfunctory and timid as to be absurd. Although the carols sung were those that we have used for generations and the hall was fairly well filled, most of those present seemed only to whisper. Please do not be afraid to sing the praises of ALMIGHTY GOD even at the risk of a mistake in time and tune. "A joyful noise unto the Lord" is what is most earnestly desired.

¶ The Rector has given notice that the Bishop of the Diocese has initiated an "Every Member Campaign," which is to be carried on in March. Its object is to reach every communicant of the Church, about two-thirds of whom seem to be communicants in name only. Full information will be given later. In the meantime the Bishop asks the prayers of the people for GOD'S blessing upon the enterprise. The collects for The Sunday next before Advent and the Fifth Sunday after Easter are suggested for use. Mr. Jacob Fritz has consented to represent the parish on the Central Committee.

A picture entitled "The Great Sacrifice," has been hung at the end of the South aisle against the confessional. The original, said to be in the possession of Queen Alexandra, is by James Clark, an English artist. The conception is full of tender pathos, and should appeal to all who see it. Underneath has been placed the following inscription: "Of your Charity pray for the souls of George Herbert Walsh, who died at Queenstown, Ireland, October 18, 1918; Walter Roach, killed in action November 10, 1918, and for all those who laid down their lives for their friends in the Great War, 1914-1918." The alms box close by is to be used for offerings for the Great Crucifix. Already there have been many contributions for this object.

R. I. P.

Of your Charity pray for the repose of the souls of Frances Hazen, for forty years a devout communicant of this parish, and for Florence Roach.
Grant unto them O Lord eternal rest, and let light perpetual shine upon them.

A Letter from a Chaplain

"THEY are dead that sought the young Child's life" is a wonderful prophetic allegory of the present day also, is it not? And the same picture is repainted in the annals of history. The boys who are still recovering from their wounds are all thinking of old Christmases at home, so I thought it well to take hold of their fondest memories while they are with me here in this military hospital.

A boy from the West sent for me to-day before he died. He asked me if there was any danger. I told him absolutely and positively NO! I knew he was fast passing away. Others stood around in terror as they often do, holding their breath, but crying. They were more afraid, and there was more terror than if a thousand Boche 105's had let loose. But I knew there was no danger in JESUS' keeping. "Whoso eateth my Flesh hath everlasting life" was something you may have forgotten that you told me years ago when you were teaching me to say Mass.

Another fellow asked me to pray with him yesterday, and I told him that I would remember him in my prayers at night. He gave my hand such an eager grasp to-day and could say nothing, and never will again in this world. I passed a bright chap's bed this morning and said, "Well, how are you?" "Fine," he said. "I'm going up in half an hour to have my leg taken off, but the good GOD did not let the Boche get both legs this time, and I hear the war is all over any way."

Then there is another aspect of the work. You should see the boys eat Mary Elizabeth's cranberry pie. Every mother's son of them accepted my invitation to a Bible class after they had some of that. Our fellows are pretty well fed up on cigarettes, and they all live and look healthier than a bunch of boys of this age do at home.

You should have seen the real ecstasy of a colored boy I baptized this week. He took it all so earnestly. Several of the boys baptized have been at the point of death and have recovered. The temperament of the boy and his calm and peaceful disposition after receiving a Sacrament affects his whole character and his health.

This is a good work even in peace times. There are constant accidents, and the boys need cheering up just as much as ever and perhaps more than ever. Discipline is harder to maintain now, and a Chaplain has his hands full.

Epiphany

THEY leave their lands of gems and gold,
The shining portals of the East;
For Him "the Woman's Seed" foretold
They leave the revel and the feast.

To earth their sceptres they have cast,
And crowns by Kings ancestral worn;
They track the lonely Syrian waste;
They kneel before the Babe new-born.

O, happy eyes that saw Him first!
O, happy lips that kissed His feet!
Earth slakes at last her ancient thirst;
With Eden's joy her pulses beat.

True Kings are those who thus forsake
Their Kingdoms for the Eternal King—
Serpent! her foot is on thy neck!
Herod! thou writh'st, but canst not sting!

He, He is King, and He alone,
Who lifts that Infant hand to bless;
Who makes His Mother's knee His Throne,
Yet rules the starry wilderness.

The MAGAZINE will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

Everything written by the Bishop of Pennsylvania is valuable. We are reprinting an article which appeared some days ago in the "Public Ledger," which sounds a prophetic note. It is possible that it may have escaped the notice of many in the congregation.

ONE fact stands out prominently at this time. It is the awakening of the European peoples to the fact that all our tremendous material resources have been placed behind our American idealism. They have thought of us as commercialized, rolling in wealth, devoted to the dollar. Now they know that every man of us and our last unit of force is at the command of our ideals of freedom and righteousness. We threw our full weight in the scale without thought of material gain.

This fact is epochal. As the peoples abroad awake to its meaning, it means, even more than the crushing of hostile armies, that it must have immense force in establishing better forms of government and insuring a just peace.

I am also impressed by the opportunity now offered a unified Christian Church. It is the one unchanging spiritual power capable of being the permanent center of world unity in thought and social life. The war would not have occurred had the Church retained and expressed its vital unity. In that unity lies, so far as I can see, the only hope of the world for a normal and stable internationalism, such as would give the nations their proper liberty and self-determination and at the same time merge their antagonisms and competitions into zeal and concern for the common welfare of all.

It must be conceded that Chrstianity shows one unique and remarkable power. In spite of the fact that through the ages, often by its friends and followers, its teachings and practices have been falsely interpreted; in spite of all its divisions and internal conflicts, there is at the heart of it an immediate power of revival and of renewed mastery over men and women which no other spiritual force in the world's history has shown.

But until the Christian Church is definitely reunited, has wrought out a practical and vital unity, it cannot hope to secure or maintain the dominant influence to which it is entitled. As I have said, this is the true and permanent basis of internationalism. Upon this foundation of common spiritual ideals and faith, each nation can develop itself, working out its own destiny in perfect comity with all the rest. This is a distinctive fact in Christianity—its wonderful balancing of the whole and its parts. It saves the individual as one of a common brotherhood. Only as the Church is true to its ideal of unity can it provide the true basis for social readjustment.

Of course, we are much nearer the old world now than before; reactions will come more quickly. Professor Bryce used to say that it took twenty-five years after a social movement began in Europe for it to reach America. This is no longer true. The war has ended all that and wiped out many old barriers.

The return of our soldiers will show how many walls of prejudice and religious antagonism have been broken down. There is closer sympathy between divergent groups. Take, for instance, the attitude of our people toward the crucifix. Many of our boys before the war would have had almost a feeling of aversion or horror toward it. They have become so used to seeing it on the battlefield that they now regard it as a most natural and simple emblem of religious hope. It is by such reactions, interchanging points of view, that we are getting to understand one another.

This closer contact with Europe has points of danger, of course. We shall need to hold all the more firmly to our own ideals, as they are going to be tested sharply in the near future by European upheavals.

If we secure universal peace, this will mean universal justice only as it is a spiritual peace, bringing about true social adjustments. It would not profit much to stop the bloody conflicts on the battlefield if the nations at once resumed commercial war with one another or stirred up class struggles.

The only solution is a Christian brotherhood of nations. We must, in our own country make democracy safe for the world as well as the world safe for democracy—one truth is the converse of the other. The labor unions express this rightly in their motto, "Each for all and all for each." Under the surface today there are deep forces at work toward this consummation of spiritual and social unity. Our soldiers will not have died in vain if their generous sacrifice helps to win men away from selfishness. This is the root of the world's troubles. The true democracy will come when men cease to strive for themselves and grasp the brotherhood ideal.

¶ Last spring we had a word to say concerning "church hospitality." It may not be amiss to urge upon the congregation once more the duty of considering the needs of strangers at the services. Several times recently the clergy have observed persons who had not been supplied with hymnals, while devout members of the parish surrounded them, entirely occupied with their own worship. It requires some degree of initiation to be able to understand all the traditions of the parish, and if some one who comes to worship with us inadvertently gets past the last pew without procuring a copy of "Hymns, Ancient and Modern" from the rack, the members of the congregation should see that the need is supplied, even though it may mean something of an effort. On a recent occasion, two entire pews were occupied with guests who were expected apparently to share one hymnal.

¶ The War Commission has asked that Sunday, February 9th, be set aside for a special offering toward the support of its work. The demobilization of the army presents very grave problems that the Church must meet. The work done by the Commission during the war has been beyond praise. The appeal at this time ought to meet with a most generous response.

¶ During the past year, thirty-five persons have been received from other parishes, and seven persons transferred elsewhere.

¶ The fund for the Great Crucifix grows day by day. Mr. Sellers is preparing a design, which will be submitted shortly. As we are erecting it for all time and desire an adequate and worthy memorial, the cost may be considerable, but there is no doubt that the necessary amount will be raised if each member of the parish contributes according to his ability.

¶ The Bishop has prepared some booklets for distribution in the diocese, containing a personal message from himself and a number of suggested prayers for use during the Every-Member Campaign. The rector will do his utmost to distribute these in the parish, but it would be a help if some persons would volunteer for this work. If any person fails to receive a copy, will he please mention it to the clergy.

¶ The Woman's Auxiliary has changed the hour of its meetings from 3 o'clock to 2.30 P. M.

¶On the sixteenth of January the Society of the Companions of the Holy Cross held its annual retreat in St. John's Chapel. Bishop Rhinelander was the Conductor. About fifty made the retreat. The following account taken from the public Ledger is amusing:

"'RULE OF SILENCE' AT RETREAT FOR WOMEN

"The 'rule of silence' prevailed at the all-day retreat for women conducted by Bishop Rhinelander yesterday in St. Clement's Episcopal Church, Twentieth and Cherry Streets. Four hundred women participated in the services of meditation. A majority of women observed the rule, abstaining from conversation from early morning until evensong. There was no speaking at mealtime, as the Bishop read to them while they sat at the tables."

¶A very urgent plea has come to us from the City Mission, placing before us the great need of clothing for the poor at this time. The usual supply available has been diverted into overseas channels, and there is real necessity here in Philadelphia. The Woman's Auxiliary of the parish has determined to do its part in meeting this need, and will meet the first and third Tuesdays of each month, from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M., commencing Tuesday, February 4th, and continuing through Lent. Every woman of the parish is urged to do her share. Mrs. Casey will be in charge, and Miss Hutchinson is the treasurer. About five hundred dollars is needed for the purchase of materials.

¶The members of the parish frequently change their addresses and fail to notify the clergy. This leads to many unnecessary journeys, much misunderstanding, and loss of time. The parish priest cannot be omniscient, and if persons fail to give information as to their whereabouts they ought not to expect much attention. We are frequently having our parish letters returned to us with "moved" or "unknown" stamped on the envelope. A little thought on the part of the members of the congregation would obviate this.

¶We note with interest and approval that the Vestry of Trinity Church, New York, has voted to abolish the system of rented pews, in accordance with the earnest recommendation of Dr. Manning. We hope that it may not be long before the entire American Church may follow suit. We should make haste to do it in St. Clement's. The custom of fencing off a small portion of the house of God for the use of a few is both uncatholic and unchristian and undemocratic.

¶After many year of efficient service, Mrs. Edwards has resigned as Treasurer for the Women's United Offering. Contributions may be sent to Miss Laura Hutchinson, 2108 DeLancy Street.

¶A play, "Princess Merryheart," will be given in the Parish House, Monday evening, February 10, 1919, at 8 o'clock, by the Junior Auxiliary. Admisison, 15 cents.

¶We are welcoming Father Joiner to our regular clergy staff. At the same time we are bidding Father Bowles God speed. He is leaving us to take up other work in the Diocese, and we hope that he may be our frequent visitor.

Purification

THE garlands in God's house hang dull and sere,
Nor may they stay
Beyond the limits of their little day
In the unresting year.

Make clean, make clean, the walls of His abiding-place,
So, haply, He at last shall come to bless
Their waiting emptiness
With newer beauty and another grace.

O heart! Let no old dreams outlast their day!
No dusty hope, no outlived longings stay:
Desires denied—forbidden memories!
Not these, not these!

The living God would deal not with the dead;
He will have life instead.
He has stripped bare His world to flood with green
The spaces where the ebbing life has been:

First He must purge, that He at last may bring Beauty for ashes, and to barren bough
Forlorn and graceless now.
The resurrection of the Spring.

My Dear People:

The one word which I would say to you at the commencement of the Lenten season is an exhortation to prayer. This duty we have had frequently urged upon us during the last few years. Our response has not been all that it might have been. A certain faithful few of the parish, as always, are trying to fulfil their obligations, but by far the greater number of us have been woefully negligent. Sometimes one is led to wonder if we really believe in the efficacy of prayer at all, we make use of it so seldom and so perfunctorily. There is no doubt as to the need which confronts us. Last year we were praying for a speedy ending of the war. Now that our petitions have been answered there is no lessening of the need. The great work of reconstruction with which we are confronted, the many problems presented to us as a nation through the deliberations of the Peace Council, the moral and spiritual needs of the men of our army and navy, al demand our earnest prayers, for by prayer we believe we have gained much, by prayer we must believe we will gain more. I would most earnestly bid you to unite as a parish in a great act of supplication during the Lenten season. Make an honest endeavor to be present at the daily masses and increase the number of your communions. Come to the weekly intercessions before evensong; ask for yourselves a special quickening of the spirit of prayer and a deeper devotion to Jesus Christ in His Church. Especially ask that the attempt on the part of the Diocese to stir up the feeble wills of its members may be richly blessed by God and endeavor to share in that blessing yourselves. Let us make real use of the spiritual privileges that are offered us, that we may bring forth the fruit of good living to the Honor and Praise of God.

Affectionately in our Blessed Lord,

CHARLES S. HUTCHINSON.

Sexagesima, 1919.

¶During Lent the special service will be as follows: On Tuesday, after the 9.30 mass, there will be a Meditation in S. John's Chapel. On Wednesday an address after Evensong. On Friday a service for the children at 4 o'clock, and the usual Friday night Stations, with an address. As has been our custom for several years the congregation is asked to come to the church each day for intercessory prayer at 4.45.

¶There will be four Retreats in the parish. The parochial retreat on Ash Wednesday, a retreat for men on March 16th, with Father Powell, of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, as the conductor; a retreat for women on Passion Sunday, when the Meditations will be given by Father Tiedeman, of the Order of the Holy Cross, and the retreat for the Guild of S. Mary on Thursday in Passion week. Any who may desire to attend the men's retreat will please hand in their names to the clergy. Sister Lydia will be in charge of the retreat for women.

¶The congregation will be pleased to learn that Thomas Williams has once more taken the position of Sexton at S. Clement's.

¶On Wednesday evening the Manuscript Music Society of Philadelphia, founded in 1892, held a church recital at S. Clement's. Choral music was rendered by the combined choirs of S. Mark's, S. Peter's and S. Slement's, and there were instrumental numbers with organ, harp, violin and 'cello.

¶Earl McClement and Paul Casey have come home from overseas, and Lafayette Williams was with us for one Sunday, but his duties in the Ambulance Corps necessitated his return to France.

¶The service flag has been hung in the church as a permanent memorial. The whole number of stars is seventy-eight. We have three gold stars for those who died in the service of their country: Herbert Walsh, Walter Roach and John Stinson.

¶Father Kellogg, the Rector of S. John's Chruch, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, preached in S. Clement's on Sexagesima Sunday.

¶As the date for the next meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary falls upon Ash Wednesday there will be no meeting on that day, but the members will unite with other members of the parish in the parochial retreat. Auxiliary No. 2 has discontinued its meetings. The Auxiliary has received letters of appreciation from the Rev. H. C. McHenry, the General Secretary of the City Mission, for clothing that has been sent from this parish for distribution among the poor of the city. It will be remembered that the women of the parish are meeting on the first and third Tuesdays of each month for this special work. As yet there has been but little response to the appeal which was made recently. An average of six women have been present. We hope for better things during Lent.

¶On the 10th of February the Junior Auxiliary presented "Princess Merryheart," a little missionary play, before a very appreciative audience in the parish hall. All the members of the Branch were in the caste and between the acts there were musical selections and readings by members of the "troupe." The Auxiliary has been doing very good work this winter under the leadership of Miss Mildred Sheppard.

¶It would be a help to those in charge of the Intercession Leaflet if those who have entered names to be remembered would signify in writing the time when they wish them removed. The memory is treacherous at best and it is most difficult for the clergy to remember requests made to them in the corridor when many persons are claiming attention.

THE report of the Treasurer of the Board of Missions for the fiscal year of fourteen months ending December 31, 1918, shows that on reapportionment of $4255.56 this parish is credited with payments totaling $4239.31, thus coming within $16.25 of meeting its apportionment in full.

Three thousand eight hundred and ninety-six dollars and three cents was received from parish offerings, or offerings sent direct, but credited to the parish; $74.23 was received from Sunday School offerings, and $269.05 from the Woman's Auxiliary, while $158.00 out of the total was received through the one day's income plan.

THE Every Member Campaign, of which we have been hearing a good deal lately, will be inaugurated on Sunday, the 9th of March. It will continue for three weeks and, as has been stated before, is designed to reach every communicant of the Church in the Diocese. The week commencing March 9th has been set apart as "parish week." There will be two meetings at the parish house—on Monday evening, March 10th, for the general congregation, and on Thursday evening, March 19th, for the men of the parish. Parish needs and opportunities will be discussed, and it is hoped that the attendance may be large. Diocesan week will follow. This parish has been districted with S. James, Holy Trinity, S. Mark's and the Holy Apostles, to come together for joint meetings. On Tuesday, March 18th, there will be a meeting for the district in the parish house of the Church of the Holy Apostles; on Wednesday night a parochial meeting in S. Clement's Church, when Father White will deliver the address, and Thursday and Friday nights of that week we are asked to go to the Church of the Holy Trinity for instruction on diocesan matters. The last week will be given over to General Missions, and due announcement will be made of the services. On Sunday, March 30th, every communicant of the Diocese is to be called upon and an effort made to interest each one in some definite work in the church. It is hoped that there may be a very generous response to this effort which the Bishop is urging us to make. In other Dioceses where the plan has been tried there has been a resultant increase in zeal and interest and a quickening of life all along the line. A central committee has been appointed to take charge of the campaign in this parish and a number of persons have already consented to act as "canvassers," and the Committee would be grateful for volunteers who may be willing to act in this capacity.

ANNA FLORENCE WOODRUFF

EMMA R. DOWNEY

Give rest, O Christ, to Thy servants, iwth Thy Saints, where sorrow and pain are no more; neither sighing, but life everlasting. AMEN.

Mater Christi

MOTHER of God! O, not in vain
We learned of old thy lowly strain,
Fain in thy shadow would we rest,
And kneel with thee, and call thee blest;
With thee would "magnify the Lord,"
And if thou art not here adored,
Yet seek we, day by day, the love and fear
Which bring thee with all saints, near and more near.

What glory thou above hast won
By special grace of thy dear Son,
We see not yet, nor dare espy
Thy crowned form with open eye.
Rather beside the manger meek
Thee bending with veiled brow we seek,
Or where the angel in the thrice-great Name
Hailed thee, and Jesus to thy bosom came.

Thenceforth, Whom thousand worlds adore,
He calls thee Mother evermore;
Angel nor saint His face may see
Apart from what He took of thee.
How may we choose but name thy name
Echoing below in high acclaim
In holy Creed? Since earthly song and prayer
Must keep faint time to the dread anthem there.

How, but in love on thine own days,
Thou blissful one, upon thee gaze?
Nay, every day, each suppliant hour,
Whene'er we kneel in aisle or bower,
Thy glories we may greet unblamed,
Nor shun the lay by seraphs framed,
"Hail Mary, full of grace!" O, welcome sweet
Which daily in all lands all saints repeat!

Therefore, as kneeling day by day
We to our Father duteous pray;
So unforbidden may we speak
An Ave to Christ's Mother meek.
(As children with "good morrow" come
To elders in some happy home:)
Inviting so the saintly host above
With our unworthiness to pray in love.

—JOHN KEBLE.

ON Easter day every member of the parish should come to the Altar. The great Feast which proclaims to the world the truth of man's immortality and his conquest over death through the Resurrection of Jesus Christ should be triumphantly celebrated by every Christian. The Easter Communion is the actual imparting of the Power of the Resurrection to the soul and body of each faithful communicant. Surely we ought not to neglect so great a gift. May we not make an earnest effort to bring every one of the eight hundred and fifty of our people to receive the Bread of God during Eastertide? Is it too much to hope that the coming Feast may be more devoutly observed than has been the case for many years? Every opportunity is given. The Risen Lord bids us come, the Table is spread and the Heavenly Banquet waits. To refuse the invitation and to absent oneself willingly, is surely incurring a grave responsibility.

The Every Member Campaign will have passed into history by the time our magazine is issued. It is as yet too soon to estimate results. Parochial week was attended with a fair amount of success. Thirty-five men were present March 10th and the hall was well filled at the parochial meeting later in the week. Those who were present expressed interest and appreciation and there seems to have been a real quickening of life and interest. It is purposed to hold such gatherings in the future at intervals for the discussion of church matters. Diocesan week opened auspiciously with an illustrated lecture by Dr. Caley in the parish house of the Church of the Holy Apostles. A goodly number of our parishioners were present and were much interested in the lecturer's presentation of the work of the Diocese. The two services at Holy Trinity were not so well attended by S. Clement's people and Missionary week found them far in the minority. One could have wished that the excellent showing of the previous week might have continued.

It is to be hoped that as a parish we may profit by the Campaign. There should be a real stirring up of parochial and missionary activities and a whole-hearted desire to do one's utmost for the building up of the Kingdom of God on earth.

¶ On Wednesday night, March 26th, S. Vincent's Guild held its first meeting since the outbreak of the war. Five new members admitted, viz: Messrs. Everett Irwin, Stanley Coulthard, William Smith, Jack Taylor and Frederick Ritter. Plans were formed for the reorganization of the Guild and a Committee appointed to consider the possibility of taking up an interest in addition to the duties of serving. Mr. Richard Ashhurst was elected Secretary pro. tem., in the absence of Alfred Johnson, who has not yet returned from France.

¶ The women of the parish have finished about two hundred garments for the Clothing Department of the City Mission.

Eighteen men made the Retreat on the Second Sunday in Lent. Fr. Powell, the Provincial Superior of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, was the Conductor and also preached at the 11 o'clock Mass. It is always a pleasure to welcome one of the Society at S. Clement's. Fr. Powell brought us greetings from our old friends, Fr. Converse and Fr. Field, and news of their continued well being.

¶ During Passion Week Father Hutchinson will be preaching in the Church of the Transfiguration, New York City.

The hours for confession during Holy Week are as follows: Fr. Hutchinson, Tuesday and Wednesday, 10.30-11.30 A. M.; Maundy Thursday, 10.30-11.30 A. M., 3-5 P. M.; Good Friday, 7-8 P. M.; Easter Evenin, 10-12 A. M., 7-9 P. M. Fr. Quin and Fr. Joiner, Wednesday and Maundy Thursday, 4-5 P. M.; Good Friday, 3-5, 7-8 P. M.; Easter Evening, 3-5, 7-10 P. M. The congregation are asked to make their confession as early as possible in Holy Week.

¶ As last year, the offering on Easter day will be applied to the Missionary apportionment.

¶ The annual parish election will be held on Easter Monday in the parish house. Polls will be open from 12 until 2 o'clock.

¶ Masses on Easter day will be said at 6, 7, 8 and 9.15, and Solemn Mass at 11 o'clock.

¶ As S. Mark's day falls this year during the Easter Octave, it will be transferred to the Monay, after Low Sunday, April 28th.

¶ Donations of money for flowers for the Altar of the Blessed Sacrament on Maundy Thursdy Thursday are asked. Donations may be sent to Miss Arnold, the Monterey Apartments, Forty-third and Chester Avenue.

I SEE His Blood upon the rose
And in the stars the glory of his eyes,
His body gleams amid eternal snows,
His tears fall from the skies.

I see His face in every flower;
The thunder and the singing of the birds
Are but His voice—and carven by His power
Rocks are His written words.

All pathways by His feet are worn,
His strong heart stirs the ever-beating sea,
His crown of thorns is twined with every thorn,
His cross is every tree.

The clergy feel that they have sustained a real and personal loss in the death of Mrs. Mary J. White, which occurred on the twenty-fourth of March, after a brief illness. Mrs. White had been connected with the parish from its beginning, having been a member of its first Sunday School. Shortly after Fr. Moffett was called to his rest, she came to the Clergy House as housekeeper, which position she held for thirteen years, and which she relinquished only when failing strength rendered it imperative. She served the priests of the parish with singular loyalty and devotion, and as a member of S. Mary's Guild was most conscientious in the fulfillment of her religious duties. She won the affection and respect of the entire congregation and there will be many earnest and sincere prayers offered for her rest and peace in the Bosom of her Divine Lord.

Grant unto her, O Lord, eternal rest, and let light perpetual shine upon her. Amen.

Good Friday

ALL the winds of spring are out;
Skies are glad again:
(Hush, my heart—the Lamb of God
On the path of pain!)

April laughs from every bough
Winter left forlorn: (Hush, my heart—the Wounded Hands
And the Crown of Thorn.)

Tumult of the little leaves
When the wind sings by:
(Hush, my heart—the Holy Cross Raised against the sky.)

Up along the wakened hills
Lights beat like a tide:
(Hush, my heart—the Robe of Scorn
Love wore ere It died.)

The MAGAZINE will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

THERE was a note of deep and real joy in our Easter festival. A great number made their Communions at the early masses, and the congregation at the Solemn Mass was larger than it has been for some years. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Fry, rendered Gounod's S. Cecilia Mass most devotionally and there was a notable absence of the sightseers, who so often mar the reverence of our services. At the end of the service, Major Henry R. Sanborn, of the American Army, addressed the congregation. Major Sanborn entered the Canadian army before the United States declared war on Germany, and was later transferred to the forces of the United States. He has seen some of the fiercest fighting in Europe and has been twice wounded. Going overseas as an avowed agnostic, he accepted the Catholic Faith in the trenches and was instructed for Confirmation by an English Chaplain, who has since been killed. On his return to America some months ago he offered himself as a postulant for Holy Orders in the Diocese of Minnesota. He has an inspiring message for the Church, and those who listened to him on Easter day were profoundly impressed and moved.
The offering for Missions amounted to something over $1800 and will be applied to the parochial apportionment.

THE Every Member Campaign has accomplished much real good in the Diocese, and in our parish as well. Our own canvassers made 660 visits and 379 pledges were secured. As a result the Accounting Warden has distributed 125 sets of duplex envelopes, in addition to those that were already in use, and the Rector is gratified to have on hand a list of persons who are willing to help in the work of this parish as need shall arise. The visitation has resulted in the removal from our list of the names of a number persons who have been lost to sight for some time. Our canvassers found empty houses and an entire ignorance of the whereabouts of several people, who have left the parish and, in all probability, the city as well, without taking the trouble to inform the clergy. Fortunately, the number of disappearances has not proved large. We hope that some other parish is ministering to the spiritual needs of these persons, and until further information is received concerning them, they will be commended to the mercy of God and removed from the list of communicants.

The Saturday Class cordially invites the members of the Parish to its closing exercises and exhibition of work, in the Parish hall, Saturday, May 31st, at 3 P. M.

The members of the congregation are asked to make their offerings on Whitsunday for the current expenses of the Parish. The offering on Ascension Day will be applied to the Summer Outing Fund, as usual.

The Annual Parish Election was held as usual on Easter Monday. The following named gentlemen were elected to serve for three years: Messrs. Francis D. Wetherill, George Theodore Roberts, Francis M. Berry and Francis P. Adams.

At the Easter meeting of the Vestry, held on Easter Tuesday, Mr. F. D. Wetherill was appointed Rector's Warden, Mr. S. McKean Bayard was elected Accounting Warden, and Mr. Caleb F. Wright Secretary of the Vestry. The delegates to the Diocesan Convention were elected as follows: Messrs. S. McKean Bayard, Francis P. Adams and Clinton Rogers Woodruff.

The design for the Great Crucifix is being prepared by Mr. Sellers, and we hope that it may be placed in the corridor before long, so that all may see the memorial for which they are contributing. About $3000 will be needed to accomplish our purpose and to build a monument which shall endure for all time. The fund is growing slowly, and we have no doubt that the entire amount will soon be subscribed. The Crucifix should be set up as soon as possible, but, of course, it cannot be undertaken until the money is in hand.

S. Clement's Auxiliary, No. 233, of the American Red Cross, during eighteen months of active service made 24,000 surgical dressings, 896 garments, 1200 knitted garments and repaired 1000 worn garments. It also endowed a bed in the American Military Hospital, No. 1, in France, for which it raised $600. In addition to this, we sent 700 gifts, many of them being to our own boys in service.

¶ There is still on hand nearly 100 pounds of yarn to be knitted up. Mrs. Mowry will be at the church after the 9.30 mass on Thursdays to distribute yarn or to receive finished articles. She can be present at other times by appointment.

¶ The Services of Intercession on Friday nights have been discontinued until autumn. This does not mean that the congregation are to cease praying. Many should be coming to the daily mass who do not come, and this service should be made the great means of intercession for the Parish. During Lent the attendance at the weekday masses was not what it should have been and since Easter the congregations are diminishing. The Rector sometimes questions whether any more than the faithful few are making any effort to be present or have even a remote intention of trying? Of course, for many there is no real excuse. The small congregations are a sign of spiritual sloth and physical laziness. It is a sad commentary on the condition of the souls of the congregation. We ought to be sorely ashamed, and perchance we are, but, in the words of Jabe Slocum, many of us would "ruther be ashamed than try." Of course, at the 9.30 mass, which requires the minimum of effort, the attendance continues to be fair. And we have just been through two years of war!

A solemn Requiem will be celebrated on May 30th, at 10 o'clock, for the members of the parish who gave their lives in the service of their country. It is hoped that there may be a large attendance.

Over two hundred and fifty garments were made by the women of the parish during Lent and sent to the City Mission for distribution among the poor of the city.

April 24, 1919.

Dear Fr. Hutchinson:

I have received the splendid news of your Easter offering for Missions.

I wish you would tell your people, with my love and blessing, how deeply I appreciate this act of devotion and faith on their part and how earnestly I hope that other congregations may be led to follow your example.

With every best wish,

Faithfully yours,

PHILIP M. RHINELANDER.

Ascension

JESUS, Lord of life eternal,
Taking those He loved the best,
Stood upon the Mount of Olives,
And His own the last time blest;
Then, though He had never left it,
Sought again His Father's breast.

Knit is now our flesh to Godhead,
Knit in everlasting bands:
Call the world to highest festal:
Floods, and oceans, clap your hands:
Angels raise the song of triumph,
Make response, ye distant lands.

Loosing death with all its terrors,
Thou ascended'st up on high;
And to mortals, now immortal,
Gavest immortality:
As Thine own disciples saw Thee,
Mounting Victor to the sky.

PERIODICALLY there is a cry raised that the Church is passing through a crisis and that dark days are in store for Anglican Catholics. We remember troublous times in the past when various brethren whose faith was weak and courage failing deserted our Communion for the cold unity of an erring branch of the Church and who left with us the solemn warning that it were better to save ourselves from a hopelessly disabled and sinking ship while there was yet time. We watched them disappear beyond our horizon with mingled feelings of regret and pity, and then commending them to the mercy of a loving God, settled down once more to our accustomed life, and today find ourselves, in spite of dire forebodings, still afloat in the good ship which has borne us in safety over many tempestuous seas and weathered many furious gales. We propose to remain in her until we are brought "unto the Haven where we would be," and we are not disturbed by doubts as to the seaworthiness of the craft that has so valiantly braved all opposing elements. We ought not to be dismayed by the appearance of clouds on the horizon, nor should we fear when gales of unwonted violence threaten to engulf us. It will be time enough to take to the lifeboats when the rudder is disabled and the Helmsman deserts us. In which event we would not seek for help from the gaily painted transport which is fair to outward view, but whose hull is rotting and whose compass is defective. Recently we have heard rumors which vividly recall past experiences. Let us not be disturbed by the clamor of the weaker brethren. We are in no danger of drifting toward the rocks to which the sirens of Rome would entice us, nor will we find ourselves becalmed in the Dead Sea of Protestantism. We know that our Divine Lord does not slumber. We know that we possess the priceless heritage of the Catholic Faith, that our Priesthood is sure and our Sacraments convey to us the very Life of our Risen Lord. We know that "our testimony is true." It is for us to live in Sacramental Union with our Divine Head, that His life may be manifest in us, and that His Church may be strong to do His will. This is not a time for wavering faith, but for prayer and courage and a sound mind.

¶After Trinity Sunday the eight o'clock mass on Sunday will be discontinued for the summer and also Solemn Evensong on Sunday night. Evensong will be said in S. John's Chapel at five o'clock.

¶Father Quin and the Rector will be leaving for their holidays toward the end of June, and Father Joiner will be taking his vacation the first of August. The Rev. Louis H. Matheus will be in residence during the summer.

¶There will be the usual yearly meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament on Wednesday, June 18. Vespers will be said in S. John's Chapel after Evensong and the business meeting will follow in the parish hall.

¶Gifts of flowers for the Altar for the summer months will be gratefully received.

¶S. Clement's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary held its last meeting until autumn and its Annual Election of officers on May 7th. Mrs. W. W. Lukens was elected President, Mrs. Joline having been obliged to resign after two years of most efficient service. The other officers were re-elected. During the year addresses have been made by Bishop Rhinelander, the Rev. S. W. Creasey, of Fort Hall Indian Mission, Idaho; Archdeacon Phillips and Bishop Denby, in behalf of the work among the colored people; Mr. J. L. Zacker, who is working among the Jews in Philadelphia, and Mrs. Thomas C. Wetmore, of Christ School, Arden, N. C.

¶The Auxiliary has now a membership of 73. It should be larger. The Treasurer's report summarized is as follows: Receipts from all sources, $730; valuation of boxes sent, $386.10; united offering, $200; total, $1,316.10. Expenditures—Domestic Committee, $344.25; Indian Committtee, 147; Foreign Committee, $75; Diocesan Committee, $70.50; Colored Committee, $41; Bishop Rhinelander Discretionary Fund, $31; incidentals, $21.25; total expenditures, $730.

¶Commencing Friday, June 6th, and ending at Trinity we shall be holding a Novena for God's Blessing upon the parish that the Congregation may have a deeper realization of their responsibility for the right use of the many spiritual privileges which have been bestowed upon them.

¶The offering on Whitsunday will be devoted to the current expenses of the Parish.

¶ The Parish will be interested in the plans that are being formulated by the Sisterhood of S. Margaret for the establishment of a Central House for the Community in Philadelphia. A very desirable property has been secured, and it is hoped that it may be made ready for occupancy in the early autumn. The Community will then relinquish the separate houses which it now occupies and all the Sisters will be brought together under a common roof. They will still work in the two Parishes, S. Clement's and S. Mark's, but there will be a great saving of expense and of energy if one establishment can be made to serve for all. The Bishop is keenly interested in the project, and it will give a place in the Diocese where retreats can be held and other work carried on by the Sisters, which will not be purely parochial. We believe that it will prove a most valuable plan if properly carried out, and we bespeak the cordial support of the Congregation to make it possible.

¶ A Victory Jubilee Diocesan Festival will be held in the Academy of Music on the evenings of June 10th and 11th. A limited number of tickets have been allotted at S. Clement's Parish and may be obtained from Mr. Bayard for the sum of one dollar. The program is the same for both nights.

¶ The "Lenten Sewing Society," which commenced work early in February, made and sent to the City Mission 278 garments valued at $280 and 78 garments valued at $48.50. Contributions of money were received amounting to $132. The Mother's Meeting assisted in the work and made a large number of the garments.

¶ The Boy Scouts are planning for a camping trip of ten days during the summer. It is a matter of principle with the organization that so far as possible they shall be self-supporting. S. Clement's Troop asks that if any of the congregation have any work which could be done by the Scouts, notice may be sent to the Scoutmaster addressed to the Clergy House.

¶ Contributions are asked for the Choir Boys' outing fund. A goodly sum is required for this purpose and a generous response will be appreciated by the choirmaster. Contributions may be sent to the Clergy House.

R. I. P

On the twenty-ninth of April, 1919, Francis M. Berry, for thirty years a vestryman of S. Clement's Church, Philadelphia, entered into Life Eternal. Mr. Berry was singularly devoted to his parish, and for him the Catholic religion was a vital reality. Quiet, modest, and unassuming, he was the embodiment of simple Christian goodness.

The Rector, Church Wardens and Vestry of S. Clement's Church desire to record their deep appreciation of his many years of faithful and loving service, the sincerity of his life and the true excellence of his character.

May he rest in peace.

The Churchman's Alliance.

For the Defence of the Church

THE Churchman's Alliance has been formed, to include in its membership, clergy, laymen, and lay-women, among whom are already numbered Dr. Chauncey B. Tinker, the Rev. A. W. Jenks, D. D., Mr. Haley Fiske, the Rev. W. H. A. Hall, Mr. Samuel Ritchie, Mrs. Myles Standish, and many others who are willing to work together for the defense of the Church against movements and practices which tend to undermine the essential principles of the organization, doctrine, and worship of the Church as witnessed to in the Constitution and Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Specifically, the present aim is to defend this Church from such dangers as threaten it from violations of Canon 20, on the "Open Pulpit," the misinterpretation of the Confirmation Rubric which leads to indiscriminate admission to Holy Communion, the violation of the Canons on the Marriage of divorced persons, and the alteration of the methods of approach to receive Holy Orders by Episcopal ordination.

Membership in the Churchman's Alliance is open to all communicants who hold that loyalty to their Baptismal promises, renewed in Confirmation, solemnly binds them to keep inviolate the Creeds and the principles of the Sacramental System and Sacred Ministry as set forth in the Prayer Book and Constitution, historically and authoritatively interpreted.

For the carrying on of the work of the Churchman's Alliance a contribution annually of one dollar is asked from each member.

¶ On the 29th of May the last meeting of the "Mothers" was held in the parish hall. A very excellent rendition of the "Mikado" was given by the children from the House of the Holy Child. The choruses, some of them quite difficult, were exceptionally well done and several of the "principals" interpreted their parts with real dramatic understanding. After the entertainment the guests were refreshed with ice cream and cake and the evening was altogether enjoyable.

¶ On Memorial Day the Solemn Requiem for our men who have given their lives in the service of their country was very well attended. The Russian Contakion for the Departed was sung in place of the Gloria by a chorus of men's voices. The somewhat difficult setting was sung unaccompanied and gave additional solemnity to the service. The collection was devoted to the Crucifix Fund.

¶ With nearly every returning transport we have had cause for rejoicing as one or another of our boys has come back unharmed from the Great War. There remain at present overseas, so far as we can ascertain, only four of the young men from S. Clement's, viz.: Theodore Casey, Norman Ruark, Charles Linn and Robert Longacre. We are hoping that the next few weeks will bring them all home.

¶ Father Caine will enter upon his duties as the rector of S. Timothy's, Roxborough, on the first of July and is to be instituted on Sunday, July 13th. We wish him all success in his new work and welcome him back to Philadelphia as his permanent abiding place. During May and June he was supplying at the Church of the Advent, Boston.

¶ The acolytes are much in need of new cottas and cassocks. Any who may desire to contribute to this object are asked to send their cheques to the Accounting Warden.

¶ The total amount received through the special envelopes on Whitsun Day for the offering for Parish Expenses was just under $700.00. This is considerably less than the similar offering made last year, and it is hoped that further contributions will be made towards the current expenses of the Parish.

¶ Additional contributions are asked for the "Summer Outing Fund." They may be sent to the Accounting Warden.

TO ONE who has known for many years the "Boston Church" of the Cowley Fathers, a visit in these present days will bring a feeling of genuine gratitude to Almighty God for the very evident success and prosperity of the Society in America. The material edifice, which, although permeated with that atmosphere of piety and true religion which is a mark of the habitation of the fathers wherever they may be, was formerly one of the most austere and ugly ecclesiastical buildings in America. It has been wonderfully transformed under the direction of such real artists as dear Father Field and Father Powell, until the old Church has become truly beautiful. The reredos with its carved and painted statues, designed by Mr. Cram; the two side altars, one of the Blessed Sacrament, where the Sacred Presence is always to be found, the other dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary; the beautifully carved choir screen and its Calvary; the stoups for the holy water, and the stand where the votive candles, offered by the faithful, twinkle throughout the day before the holy picture in the Baptistery, make it clear to all who enter that here is indeed a shrine of American Catholicity.

Following the custom of many of the English churches, the Solemn Mass on Sunday, when no communions are expected, is sung with the omission of the Confession, Absolution and Comfortable Words, and on Sunday afternoon Vespers is solemnly rendered, followed by Benediction. On Sunday evenings there is a service at eight o'clock, consisting of Even-song said plain with hymns and a mission sermon. If any of our people happen to be present at the Solemn Mass on the Sunday in the Octave of Corpus Christi they will witness a most reverent procession of the Blessed Sacrament carried under an embroidered canopy.

A goodly number of novices are testing their vocation at S. Francis' House in Cambridge, and the Sisters of S. Anne, a community of Father Powell's foundation, has in charge S. John's House, Arlington.

If any of S. Clement's congregation chance to visit Boston they will find much edification and a warm welcome at "S. John's Bowdoin Street."

There will be no issue of the Magazine during August and September. There is little of importance to report during the summer months, and it is often difficult to find enough material to fill even two pages. We are therefore following the custom of many other parishes in discontinuing the publication until October.

TO MOST of us the summer time is a period of spiritual laziness. Because the activities of the Church are of necessity somewhat curtailed, we get the notion that we also may take a holiday from our prayers and religious exercises. This is entirely a wrong point of view. We should be trying to assimilate during the summer whatever lessons we may have learned during the more active period of the Church year. There could be no better time, for instance, to acquire the habit of a daily meditation, or to accomplish some spiritual reading than during the holiday time when we are "resting." Incidentally it is a good time to gain some familiarity with the Bible, which is sadly neglected by a good many "Catholic" Churchmen. "Summer reading" usually consists in devouring all the latest novels. "Light literature" is the cry of overtaxed brains. It does not occur to the majority of us that the things of the Spirit may prove more truly restful and stimulating.

THE season for holiday making and rest has come to a close. Let us trust that we are all refreshed both physically and spiritually and quite ready for a winter of renewed parochial activity. Just at the outset we doubtless feel encouraged and hopeful and have made many excellent resolutions for the coming year. There are one or two things that need to be dwelt upon in connection with our parish life, work and needs that should be accentuated if we are to accomplish anything worth while.

Let us speak first of our devotional life. All about us we find an awakened interest in things spiritual. Men and women, both Catholic and Protestant, Christian and non-Christian, are becoming concerned more and more about religion. It is hardly possible to pick up a magazine without being confronted by some article on the Church, its success or failure, or a discussion of some aspect of religion, Christian or other. Occasionally an accusing note strikes us as true and just. Doubtless we have all questioned ourselves as to our own spiritual growth and the sincerity and purity of our motives. Is the success or failure of the Church to meet human needs in any degree dependent upon ourselves? For Catholic Christians there can be only one answer. "If one member suffers, all the members suffer." What we are and do as individuals has a most far-reaching effect upon the whole Body of Christ.

Let us think first of our spiritual life. In such a parish as Saint Clement's, where the Holy Sacrifice has been for many years the Centre of Devotion, there ought to be a steadily increasing number of communions and a large attendance at the Masses both on Sundays and weekdays. We do not find this to be the case with us. We keep from year to year just about the same percentage of communions. Satisfied, yes, even gratified, if we hold our own. During this last summer the communions have been shockingly few in number and the attendance at the daily Mass has decreased. Here is something that must be remedied. It is a simple matter to find excuses, but the excuses are not genuine. The number of communions surely cannot and ought not to be dependent upon a friendly call from the clergy once a year! People who have been instructed as to the meaning and value of the sacramental life and express their belief in it most surely ought not to require rounding up incessantly in order to be persuaded of their privileges and duties. Neither will the familiar excuses of "lack of time," "distance" and "illness" prove to be valid. There appears to be no lack of time for social engagements, distance does not stand in the way of the acceptance of an invitation to an evening gathering or serve as a deterrent to theatre-going, and illness is forgotten when the sick person is considering a "good time." Let us at least be honest with ourselves. Let us not soothe our consciences with reasons that we cannot apply to other spheres of life. The real reason why we neglect our communions and do not go to church is this: We do not desire our communions and we do not want to go to church. Is it not possible to do something about it this winter? Remembering past days of religious fervor and spiritual growth and the happiness that ensued, may we not endeavor to rekindle our love and devotion for our Blessed Lord and start afresh in our spiritual journey?

It should be our endeavor this winter to bring new life and enthusiasm into the parish activities. Many signified their willingness last spring to place themselves at the "call" of the Rector for certain branches of parish work. He expects that these promises will be fulfilled. We should be learning to think of the parish as a family pledged to the service of God.

The matter of parish support is an ever-present anxiety. Many are now doing their utmost, some are giving little, others are not contributing at all. Every communicant should be using the envelopes regularly and generously. A parish such as ours ought never to be in need of funds.

If we all do our best along all these lines we shall find that when Easter dawns there will have been manifested a new spirit of devotion in the parish, made evident by increased communions, whole-hearted interest and generous support.

¶ The Sister will be in the Sisters' office in the Parish House on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays at 10 o'clock.

¶ The Sisters will be very glad to receive any partially worn clothing, also odds and ends of worsted, which may be sent at any time to the Parish House.

¶ Teachers are very much needed for the Saturday morning Guild and the manual training classes. Please apply to one of the Sisters.

¶ The Junior Auxiliary for the younger girls will meet every Thursday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock, and the evening branch will meet on Mondays from 8 to 9 o'clock.

¶ The undesignated offerings at the 9.15 Mass on Sundays, and at the Children's Catechism will be devoted to the work of St. Joseph's Trade School, Ichang, China. This work is in charge of Mr. Thatcher Souder, a member of this Parish and a former acolyte and scout master. As the work is purely philanthropic, the appropriation from the Board of Missions is limited. Twenty-five dollars will support a boy in this trade school for a whole year, and it is hoped that the children may be able to support six boys. Offerings from any who are interested will be welcomed.

¶ The Sunday School opened the first Sunday in October and it is hoped that the parents will co-operate with the clergy by sending their children to the Catechism.

¶ It will be of interest to the parish to know that Major Henry R. Sanborn, who addressed the congregation after the Solemn Mass on Easter day, was ordained to Diaconate on the 14th of September by the Bishop of Nevada. He is to be stationed at Sparks, Nevada, and asks the prayers of S. Clement's people in the commencement of his ministry.

¶ On Tuesday, October 21st, the Rector will resume his Bible Class after the 9.30 Mass.

¶ The League of Intercession will resume its meetings on Friday evening, October 24th. It is hoped that those who came to the Service of Intercession last winter will continue in this work. There never was more need for prayer than during this present period of reconstruction and unrest. There will be a short address at each service.

¶ The Bishop of the Diocese will make his annual visitation to the parish on the evening of January 11th. Names of persons looking forward to the Sacrament of Confirmation should be given to the clergy as early as possible.

¶ The General Convention of the Church will meet this month in Detroit. Many subjects will be discussed and probably but little will be accomplished. It is perhaps as well that the governing body of the Church should move very slowly. It saves us from hasty and ill-advised action, and if in some instances it seems that needed legislation or reform is hindered by over-cautious delegates, on the other hand, we have been preserved from making any very formidable mistakes. The question of Prayer Book revision is expected to provide an opportunity for much discussion, which we trust may be carried on in accordance with the law of charity. Some of the suggested changes are much to be desired, others seem entirely unnecessary and unwise. The result will probably be a tabling for the present of the whole matter, and we will go along for three years more administering the Sacraments and conducting public worship as we have done in time past. The proposed "Concordat," whereby it is suggested that under certain conditions the Bishops of the Church may give the priesthood to Congregational ministers, who have no conception of what priesthood means, has no chance of getting through the House of Bishops. It would result only in "confusion worse confounded," and we understand that the Congregationalists themselves show no desire to be patronized by the Episcopal Church. We cannot blame them. The Convention will be remembered during its session at every Mass and all the members of the congregation are urged to pray for the guidance of the delegates in their deliberations.

Michael the Archangel

NOT woman-faced and sweet, as look
The angels in the picture-book;
But terrible in majesty,
More than an army passing by.

His hair floats not upon the wind
Like theirs, but curled and closely twined;
Wrought with his aureole, so that none
Shall know the gold curls from the crown.

His wings he hath put away in steel,
He goes mail-clad from head to heel;
Never moon-silver hath outshone
His breast-plate and his morion.

His brows are like a battlement,
Beautiful, brave and innocent;
His eyes with fires of battle burn—
On his strong mouth the smile is stern.

His horse, the horse of Heaven, goes forth,
Bearing him to the South and North,
Neighing far off, as one that sees
The battle over distances.

His fiery sword is never at rest,
His foot is in the stirrup prest;
Through all the world where wrong is done
Michael the Soldier rideth on.

Michael, Commander! Angels are
That sound the trumpet, and that bear
The banners by the Throne, where is
The King one nameth on one's knees.

Angels there are of peace and prayers,
And they that go with wayfarers,
And they that watch the house of birth,
And they that bring the dead from earth.

And mine own Angel. Yet I see,
Heading God's army gloriously,
Michael Archangel, like a sun,
Splendid beyond comparison.

KATHARINE TYNAN.

Persons desiring pews or sittings, or the Duplex Envelopes for the support of the Parish and Missions, are requested to apply to the Accounting Warden after the eleven o'clock Mass on Sundays; or to communicate with him at his office in the Clergy House.

The MAGAZINE will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

AS our Parish Feast falls upon a Sunday this year, we are given a unique opportunity to celebrate it worthily. It ought to be unnecessary to urge each communicant to receive the Blessed Sacrament that day and to make a special preparation to that end. The sure measure of the devotion of the people and the true index of the reality of their spiritual life is their devotion to the Holy Communion. The altar rails should be crowded on S. Clement's Day; if each one does his duty they will be. We have no doubt that the Church will be filled at Solemn Mass and at Evensong. The ceremonies of a great feast are such that the emotional and sentimental worshipper is always in attendance. A huge congregation at these services, however, is no indication of the religious fervor or spiritual strength of the parish. The number of communions made at the early Masses will show us the truth. When a Holy Day falls during the week it is often impossible for many to be present at the offering of the Holy Sacrifice, but there can be no such excuse on the coming Festival. Much is being said in these days of the duty of the Church and the reality of her people's faith. We have now our chance to manifest our real love for Jesus Christ and the sincerity of our Christian life.

The special preachers for our parish feast will be the Rev. Bernard Iddings Bell, President of S. Stephen's College, in the morning and the Rev. Father Hughson, Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, at night. Dr. Bell was formerly Dean of the Cathedral of Saint Paul in Fond du Lac, and during the war was Chaplain to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. We shall all be glad to welcome Father Hughson who has not been in our pulpit for some time.

The annual parish reception will be held in the parish hall, on Monday evening, November 24th. The clergy are hoping that there may be a large attendance. It is the one occasion in the year when S. Clement's people come together socially and every member of the parish should make an effort to be present.

The offering on S. Clement's Day will be applied to the defraying of our present current indebtedness. Three thousand dollars is needed if we are to start the new year free from encumbrances. In this connection it may be as well to state that a number of persons who took the weekly envelopes last spring, during the Every Member campaign, have failed to use them. It would be a relief to the Accounting Warden if those who are delinquent would endeavor to make up the deficiency before the first of the year.

The usual Novena for the parish will be observed from November 14th to 22nd inclusive.

Masses during the Octave of the Feast will be said with the following intentions:

Sunday, November 23—S. Clement, Bishop and Martyr. General Communion of the parish. Masses at 7, 8, 9.15, and Solemn Mass at 11 A. M. (Thanksgiving for God's blessing upon the parish).

Monday, November 24—Feast of the Dedication. Mass at 7 A. M. (For the clergy). Tea at 8 P. M.

Tuesday, November 25—S. Katharine, Virgin and Martyr. Masses at 7 and 9.30 A. M. (For the Guild and Associations of the parish).

Wednesday, November 26—In the Octave. Mass at 7 A. M. (For the Sisters and their work).

Thursday, November 27—Thanksgiving Day. Masses at 7, 8, and 9.30 A. M. (For our Country).

Friday, November 28—In the Octave. Mass at 7 A. M. (Requiem for communicants and benefactors).

Saturday, November 29—In the Octave. Mass at 7 A. M. (For the children of the parish).

Sunday, November 30—First Sunday in Advent (For the deepening of the spiritual life of the parish).

¶ Bona Mors will be said after evensong every Monday during the month of November.

¶ Vespers of the Blessed Sacrament will be sung in S. John's Chapel, Friday evening, November 14th, at 8 o'clock.

¶ The following offerings will be taken this month:
All Saints' Day, for the Sisters of S. Margaret; S. Clement's Day, for the current expenses of the parish; Thanksgiving Day, for the Episcopal Hospital; First Sunday in Advent, for the Poor Fund.
During the summer flowers were supplied for the Altar from the garden of a member of the parish. We are in need of money at present for the flowers during the winter, especially for the Altar of the Blessed Sacrament. Contributions may be sent to Miss Arnold, The Monterey, 43rd Street and Chester Avenue.

¶ A letter has reached us within the last few days from our old friend Father Longridge whom many of our people remember with much affection. Father Longridge has just published the "Spiritual Exercises of Saint Ignatius," translated from the Spanish, with a commentary and a translation of the Directorium in Exercitia. He tells us that the well-known Jesuit, Fr. Rickaby, warmly praises the translation and commentary. The English Secretary of the Father General of the Society of Jesus has written in highest terms of the book. Should any of Father Longridge's old friends desire copies of his book it can be ordered direct from the publishers for 9s. 8d., sent by postoffice order to Robert Scott, Roxburghe House, Pater Noster Row, London, E.C.

¶ At present writing we are unable to give any very clear account of the General Convention. The newspaper reports have been unsatisfactory, and we must reserve comment until we receive official information. We hear on all sides that there was a wonderful spirit of unanimity and Christian fellowship, but we regret that the Convention refused the great opportunity to assert the much-needed principle of the absolute indissolubility of the marriage bond during the lifetime of either contracting party. No Nation-wide campaign can wipe this blot from the fair name of the Church.

¶ S. Clement's people will be amused to learn that the clergy of the parish are at present subjects for Roman "Propaganda." Recently the Rector received through the mails a collection of tracts and papers, evidently designed to draw him away from the True Faith into the errors of Rome. The communications are all anonymous which is, of course, to be expected from members of a religious body which seems never to be quite straightforward in its methods. The tracts deal with various topics. The titles include, "How to Become a Catholic," "The Immortality of the Soul" (apparently this doctrine is the exclusive possession of the "See of Peter"), "The Catholic Doctrine of Indulgences" (a curious treatise upon a very befogged subject), "Purgatory" and "Find the Church." We are unable to make any extended comment upon all these valuable documents, but in one of them, entitled "Which, the Church of Man or the Church of Jesus Christ" we find the following statement: "Christ promised to be with the Pope for all time: 'Lo, I am with you always, even to the consummation of the world.'" Of course, we who read our Bibles know that our Lord never said this to Saint Peter, but to the "Eleven" (S. Matt. 28: 20). Comment is unnecessary, but the tract has the "Imprimatur" of the Bishop of Trenton. We are constrained to add this morsel as well, culled from the same brilliant publication. Under the heading "Christian Art" we read, "The Catholic Church has been the Mother Promoter and Protector of Art. So Catholics spend a great deal of money to beautify their churches with statuary, marble altars, stained glass windows, altar vessels, sanctuary lamps, paintings, etc. Daprato Statuary Company, of Chicago, New York, and Pietrasanta, Italy, known as the Pontifical Institute of Christian Art, produces high class work in altars, statuary of marble and other materials (plaster?) as well as stained glass pictorial windows. The W. J. Feeley Company, of New York and Providence, are favorably known as Ecclesiastical Art Metal Workers." As we read we wondered if the Reverend Writer was duly rewarded for this advertising. Should any of our people desire to possess any of the ecclesiastical horrors which the infallible taste of the Vatican is pleased to call Christian Art, they could do no better, doubtless, than to patronize these highly recommended firms, and if they were to mention the little tract as the medium through which they had been led to the "Pontifical Institute" it is possible that a commission would be forthcoming for an obscure Roman priest in the Diocese of Trenton. The rector is grateful for this delicate attention on the part of his unknown Papist friend and especially for the amusement which the tracts afford him.

¶ We have been asked to bring to the notice of the congregation the case of a little French girl whose mother has been impoverished by the war. The child has great musical talent and before the disaster of 1914 was receiving a musical education from the foremost instructors in Paris. One of our boys became interested in the case and is trying to interest some charitably disposed persons to subscribe an amount sufficient to continue the small musician's education. Mr. Paul Hunter, 2222 Pine Street, will be glad to give any information on the subject or to receive donations for this object.

Martyr's Song

WE MEET in joy, though we part in sorrow;
We part tonight, but we meet tomorrow.
Be it flood or blood the path that's trod,
All the same it leads home to God;
Be it furnace-fire voluminous,
One like God's Son will walk with us.

What are these that glow from afar,
These that lean over the golden bar,
Strong as the lion, pure as the dove,
With open arms and hearts of love?
They the blessed ones gone before,
They the blessed forevermore.
Out of great tribulation they went
Home to their home of Heaven-content;
Through flood, or blood, or furnace-fire,
To the rest that fulfills desire.

What are these that fly like a cloud,
With flashing heads and faces bowed,
In their mouths a victorious psalm,
In their hands a robe and a palm,
Welcoming Angels, these that shine,
Your own Angel, yours and mine;
Who have hedged us both day and night
On the left hand and on the right,
Who have watched us both night and day
Because the devil keeps watch to slay.

Light above light, and bliss beyond bliss,
Whom words cannot utter, lo, who is this?
As a King with many crowns He stands,
And our names are graven upon His hands;
As a Priest with God-uplifted eyes,
He offers for us His Sacrifice;
As the Lamb of God for sinners slain,
As our Champion behold Him stand,
That we too may live He lives again;
Strong to save us at God's right hand.

God the Father give us grace,
To walk in the light of Jesus' face.
God the Son give us a part
In the hiding place of Jesus' Heart;
God the Spirit hold us up
That we may drink of Jesus' cup.

Death is short and life is long;
Satan is strong, but Christ more strong.
At His word, who hath led us hither,
The Red Sea must part hither and thither.
At His word who goes before us too,
Jordan must cleave to let us through.
Yet one pang, searching and sore,
And then Heaven forevermore;
Yet one moment awful and dark,
Then safety within the Veil and the Ark;
Yet one effort by Christ His Grace
Then Christ forever face to face.

God the Father we will adore,
In Jesus' name now and evermore;
God the Son we will love and thank
In this flood and on the farther bank
God the Holy Ghost we will praise,
In Jesus' name, through endless days:
God Almighty, God Three in One,
God Almighty, God alone.

CHRISTMAS will dawn this year upon a country disturbed and troubled by many problems. As always, the Blessed Feast brings its message of peace and good-will and the Holy Infant bids the world lay aside its selfishness and sin and adore the miracle of God's Love in the Incarnation of the Eternal Word. It is because men forget Bethlehem that there is no peace. It is because men reject sacrifice that there is misery and wretchedness and sin. The only medicine for a distracted world is the Gospel of Jesus Christ; the only life that is worthy of the name is that which follows Jesus in the Way. Our Christmas communion should be the beginning of a new life in Him. Let each one of us contribute his share at least solving of the puzzles of the present day by consecrating ourselves anew to a life of real self-forgetfulness and service of others for the Love of God.

S. Clement's Tide

WE LOOK back upon our parish festival with truly thankful hearts. For many years we have not known such real happiness as marked S. Clement's Day. In the first place, the number of communions made exceeded in number any previous patronal feast. Three hundred received the Body and Blood of Christ at the two early Masses, and so the day was begun with God. At eleven o'clock the Church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and Dean Bell preached an admirable sermon, bringing S. Clement and his times very near to us and making us realize our fellowship with the Saints. Although the choir had been for the last few weeks greatly reduced in numbers and a few extra voices were brought in at the last moment, the Mass was rendered with an unusual degree of devotion, and many of the congregation remarked upon the atmosphere of real religion that pervaded all the services. In the evening the church was filled again, and Father Hughson was quite at his best. We fell that our festival promises to us a renewing of spiritual life and energy in the parish.

The offering for the parish was larger than any in our history so far as we are able to discover. At all events, there has been no such response to an appeal in the last twenty years. The entire amount contributed through the special envelopes and in the scattered offering was $3,101, and enables us to start the year with a clean slate. This is truly a cause for rejoicing. Let us see to it that we never again fall behind in the support of our parish.

On Monday evening there was a gratifying attendance at the parish reception. The rector put before the congregation the opportunities that lie before us during the coming years. He particularly emphasized the need of a coffee house in the neighborhood to take the place of the saloons, and the urgent demand for a lodging house for working girls. Father White, of S. Mark's, spoke briefly on the subject of the Nation Wide Campaign, and several of the parish contributed toward the general discussion. Later in the evening the young people enjoyed a dance in the gymnasium.

¶ Hours for confession before Christmas:

Fr. Hutchinson—
Tuesday, 3.30 to 4.30.
Wednesday, 11.00 to 12.00, 3.00 to 5.00, 7.00 to 9.00.

Fr. Joiner and Fr. Quin—
Tuesday, 3.30 to 4.30.
Wednesday, 3.00 to 5.00, 7.00 to 9.00.

¶ Fr. Hutchinson will not be in church on Friday the 26th.

¶ The Christmas festival for the children of the parish will be held on Monday night, December 29th.

¶ The offering on Christmas day will be applied to the Clergy Pension Fund assessment.

¶ The Nation Wide Campaign has been brought before us constantly during the past few weeks. In many of the parishes an every member canvass was conducted on the second Sunday in Advent, and there have been many parochial meetings held. At S. Clement's we have determined not to have the canvass at this time. It would seem desirable first to prepare the parish in some degree, so that the best results may be assured. Last year seventy-five per cent of those who pledged themselves to parish support and to greater faithfulness to their religious duties failed to fulfill their obligation. This ought not to occur again. We are planning for a winter of real usefulness, and will endeavor to reach every parishioner. When we are clearly informed what is expected of us by the Diocese and the Church in a financial way, we shall then be prepared to do our best.

¶ The rector has appointed a parish committee, made up of representatives from the different organizations and others to assist in carrying out various plans that may be formulated during the winter.

¶ On Thursday evening, December 4th, a number of the men of the parish met at the clergy house and organized the Men's Association of S. Clement's Parish. The object of the Association is to assist the Rector in carrying out plans for the development of the parish and particularly to further the work among the men and boys. The Association will meet the second and fourth Mondays of each month in the parish building and the men of the congregation are urged to attend the meetings. Among other interests which the Association has in hand are the providing of ushers for the Sunday services, the advertising of the Church services in the neighborhood, and a monthly parochial dance in the parish hall, the first of which it is planned to hold on Tuesday evening, the 30th of December.

Free Pews

AT THE parish reception the rector brought before the congregation the subject of free pews. It is probable that some action will be taken at the January meeting of the vestry. The House of God should be free to all who may come to worship Him.

Already several persons have signified their willingness to relinquish their sittings and to add the amount of the pew rental to the weekly offering envelope. As the charter of the parish must be altered to meet the situation, it will not be possible to accomplish our object at once. The parish should be prepared to vote at the next Easter meeting, so that the matter can be brought before the Court and the Diocesan Convention. Already S. Mark's and S. James' parishes have set things in motion, and Father White told us at the parish reception that it was a question which one of the three parishes would be the first to abolish rented pews. At present nothing can be done in S. Clement's, as, according to the charter, only those holding sittings are entitled to a vote at the Easter meeting. The subject will be brought to the notice of the congregation from time to time, and it would be distinctly helpful if those who are holding sittings and are willing to relinquish them and pay the amount of the rental into the parish treasury should signify their willingness to the Accounting Warden, so that the matter may be intelligently discussed by the vestry.

Beside the Manger

THERE in the narrow manger, cold and bleak,
My Lord, Thou art;
And there within those Hands, so soft and weak,
I lay my heart.

Beneath those tiny Feet I bow my head,
O Blessed Child,
And kiss the straw that forms Thy chilly bed
In winter wild.

Show me thy wondrous Babe, O Mother-Maid,
Foretold of yore;
The treasure on thy Virgin-bosom laid
Let me adore.

That small Hand place upon my prostrate brow,
O Mother dear;
For crouching in His infant-presence now
I quake with fear.

Mother of God, commend me to thy Son
As here I bend;
And oh, commend me when my task is done,
And life shall end.

S. J.

A Breton Carol

HEALTH, peace and joy to you to-day.
Good Christians, put all care away;
Master and servants, every one,
Mistress and maidens, spin no more,
Hang on the wall your flaxen store,
The time of labor now is done.

Jesus is born! Jesus is born!
O fortunate and happy morn!
Hark to the good news that we bring;
No king nor beggar now is sad,
On this day grief itself is glad,
How loud in Paradise they sing!

We come from homes and hamlets mean.
Our shirts are hemp, our shoes are wood:
But Jesus went one day to choose,
Amid poor men with wooden shoes,
His twelve Apostles bold and good.

Good Christians, rise and help the poor,
For no great things we ask, be sure;
A little cheese, a little bread,
A pippin ripe with walnuts three,
And to bedeck our hawthorn tree,
An end of ribbon, green or red.

Jesus will give for your reward,
Because He leaves, our courteous Lord,
No gift unthanked in any wise,
Three lads to be your stay and hope;
One will be King, one will be Pope,
And one will have his father's eyes.

THE New Year is always a time for fresh resolutions. There is a feeling in one's heart that a new opportunity is being offered for a better and more useful life. Unfortunately, the resolutions are seldom kept and each vanishing year leaves its disappointing record of neglected duties and unfulfilled resolves. This is, perhaps, largely due to the fact that we make our resolutions lightly and that we are seldom deeply serious about them. Seldom are they brought to the Altar of God and offered at the time of the Holy Sacrifice for God's blessing and for His grace to carry them out. We can do no good thing without God, and only in His Strength. It is strange that many persons who accept, theoretically, the Catholic Faith and all that is involved in its acceptance, seem to have so little conception of its practical value as a means of acquiring virtue and of overcoming faults of character. There are many people who profess their faith in the Blessed Sacrament and in the Sacramental system of the Church, who make very infrequent communions and who rarely, if ever, use the Sacrament of Penance. Even in such a parish as S. Clement's there are a number of these theoretical Catholics. In consequence we do not find the altar thronged with devout communicants, and we do not seem to be rising to any very great heights of sanctity. Here is matter for thought and for serious "New Year resolutions." Let each member of the parish resolve to increase the number of his communions, making them, if possible, every Sunday; to be more earnest in prayer, particularly in intercession for others; to increase the weekly offering for the support of the parish; to endeavor daily to read some portion of the Bible and so grow in the knowledge of God, and to be actively engaged in some work of mercy or some service for others. If these resolutions are devoutly made we shall find that the coming year will be rich in spiritual fruit both in the parish and in our own souls.

¶ The Christmas Feast sounded for us a note of real joy. A large number of Communions were made at the early Masses, so that the day was well begun and the church was well filled for the Solemn Mass and Procession. Carols were sung this year in the place of the usual hymns, and lent a distinct atmosphere to the service. The Creche is in its usual place, at the head of the North Aisle, and the church has been very simply but tastefully trimmed with greens. On Monday night the children had their Christmas party and received their presents from the tree. On Tuesday night the Men's Association held a dance in the Parish Hall. This was the first in a series of five that are to be given during the winter. A committee from the Girls' Club assisted in decorating the hall with Christmas garlands, and the result was most pleasing. Some two hundred young people were present and thoroughly enjoyed the evening. On Saturday afternoon the Saturday classes had their festival. Among the chief attractions was a mysterious cave which yielded wonderful treasures to those who explored its depths. On the Sunday after Christmas the services of Christmas day were repeated and Evensong was solemnly sung at night with Procession and Te Deum.

¶ The Sisters of Saint Margaret have moved to their new home, at 1831 Pine Street, and the little Mission House, on Cherry Street, has passed into other hands. They will continue their work in the parish as usual. The last Mass was said in the Chapel, at the Mission House, on Monday, December 29th.

¶ In response to a letter received from the Bishop and which was read to the congregation the members of the parish have paid the Missionary Apportionment in full for the year 1919. In ten days over $750 was raised, and the last check was sent to the Treasurer, in New York, on the last day of the year. This enables us to start the New Year with a clean slate. It is hoped that we may not fall behind again in any portion of our expenses. If each person in the parish will use the weekly offering envelopes and give according to his means, there ought to be no difficulty in meeting all our expenses.

¶ The next parish dance, under the direction of the Men's Association, will be held on January 21st. A small subscription to meet expenses will be solicited in the future. It is hoped that all the young people of the parish and their friends will use this opportunity for coming together each month.

¶ Once more we would call the attention of the congregation to the Churchman's Alliance, an organization of communicants of the Church which has been formed recently to meet certain present needs. The purpose of the organization, as stated in the Constitution, is as follows: "To unite loyal churchmen in an endeavor to guard the faith of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, to witness to the efficacy of the Sacraments, to extend a clear knowledge of the truth and to encourage every advance toward unity consistent with the historic Faith. It is also the purpose of the Alliance to stimulate and encourage its members by bringing them into acquaintance with one another, by guiding their concerted action in national and local efforts and by arranging for meetings, sectional or national, as opportunity may afford." There are no dues. A communicant becomes a member on signing the application and agreement. The Alliance should be useful in bringing Church people in touch with one another and as a medium for disseminating Church teaching. Any one who desires to affiliate themselves with the Alliance may speak to the Rector for further information.

¶ About once in two years it seems necessary to remind the congregation that those who intend to communicate at the 9.15 Mass on Sunday, or the 9.30 Masses on weekdays, should invariably give notice to the celebrant before the service. Several times during the last year a large number of persons have communicated at these Masses and the Priest has been quite unprepared for them. This matter is brought once more to the attention of the parishioners with the request that they observe this very simple and sensible rule.

The Men's Association of S. Clement's Church

IN ORDER to increase the number of men of S. Clement's Church who are actively interested in the work of the church, to organize this interest on a sound business basis and to further certain plans for the benefit of S. Clement's and the parish, the Rector, late in November, appointed a Men's Committee. He placed Mr. Fritz as chairman of this committee, a man whose business experience and wide acquaintance throughout the parish made him particularly qualified for the position.

Mr. Fritz called the committee together for its first meeting on the evening of December 4th. About fifteen or twenty men of the parish were present. Mr. Fritz outlined the Rector's plans for the increased activity of the church as follows:

The establishment of a coffee house in the neighborhood, to be a recreation center and a healthy substitute for the saloon.

A series of dances to be given in the Parish Hall, at which the young people might meet each other and their friends.

The establishment of a Boys' Club.

The formation and execution of a plan or plans to bring S. Clement's Church before the neighborhood and to make it an active spiritual factor in its life.

In order to co-operate with the Rector and to put these plans into execution the committee decided to form the "Men's Association of S. Clement's Church." The following were elected officers:

Honorary President, The Rector; President, Jacob Fritz; Vice-President, Frank Homan; Secretary, Wilson Pile; Assistant Secretary, Henry S. Hagert; Treasurer, Henry Erhardt.

Mr. Fritz then appointed the following committees:

Boys' Club, Johnson Papy, Chairman; Coffee House, P. L. Mowary, Chairman; Dance, Frank Homan, Chairman; Entertainment, Harry Tyson, Chairman; Objects and Possibilities, J. M. Hancock, Chairman; Publicity, John McLauchlan, Chairman; Ushers, W. H. Pile, Chairman.

The Association made its debut as an active organization on December 30th when, with the co-operation of the Girls' Club, it gave its first of a series of dances. The affair was in every way a brilliant success. A four-piece orchestra, composed of the very best musicians in the city, played for two hundred or more couples. The room was decorated with shaded lights, wreaths and Christmas greens.

Plans for the Boys' Club are under way. The Coffee House Committee is working in conjunction with the various other organizations of the parish to make that great work an actuality.

Much has already been done to bring the Church in closer touch with the neighborhood by distributing printed cards showing the hours of service and by personal visits by members of the Association.

Meetings of the Association are held in the Parish Hall at 8 o'clock on the second and fourth Mondays of the month.

A short business meeting is followed by an address by some prominent man on a subject of universal interest.

The Men's Association of S. Clement's Church stands for a hearty and active co-operation with the Rector; it aims to make S. Clement's Church an ever-increasing power for good in the community, and it deserves the whole-hearted assistance and support of the people of the parish.

Out of the Shadow of the Night

OUT of the shadow of the night
With broken heart to bring to Thee
I come, led by the starshine bright,
The fruit of Thine Epiphany,
The gift my fellows send by me,
The myrrh to bed Thine agony,
I set it here beneath Thy Feet,
In token of Death's great defeat;
And hail Thee, Conqueror, in the strife;
And hail Thee, Lord of Light and Life.
All hail! All hail, the Virgin's Son!
All hail! Thou little helpless One!
All hail! Thou King upon the Tree!
All hail! The Babe on Mary's knee,
The centre of all mystery.

My Dear People:—

We stand in need of our Lenten fast and discipline. If we face the matter honestly and frankly, we must, each one of us, acknowledge that conditions in Church and Nation and Parish are far from satisfactory.

Two years ago we were persuading ourselves that the lesson of the Great War was sinking deeply into our hearts. We spoke in glowing terms of a coming spiritual regeneration for our Country and for our Church as the result of sacrifice for a righteous cause. We know now that we were false prophets. Whatever opportunity may have been ours has been neglected. We are worse, not better; indifferent, not zealous; luxurious, not disciplined. We have forgotten the past, we are neglectful of the present, we are destroying the hope of the future, and WE ARE ALL GUILTY!

It is but natural for us to place the blame elsewhere, on President, or bishop, or parish priest, on Senate, or convention, or vestry, but the real source of the evil is in our own hearts, and this coming Lenten season is our opportunity for facing the truth.

It is unnecessary for me to suggest methods and means. We all know quite well what we should do. We know the shameful neglect of the Blessed Sacrament, the coldness of our prayers, the indolence and selfishness of our lives. In proportion as we find these conditions in our souls, we may account ourselves guilty of the world's sin.

I have said we need our Lent. I repeat it. We need it as we have not needed it in many years. Let us keep it then, and strive whole-heartedly to be better men and women in the sight of God.

Affectionately in our Lord,

CHARLES S. HUTCHINSON,

Rector.

¶During Lent there will be the usual opportunity for intercessory prayer before Evensong on weekdays at 4.45, with the exception of Wednesday, when there will be an address in S. John's Chapel at 4.30, followed by Evensong. The rector's Bible class will continue on Tuesday mornings, and on Thursdays there will be Bible reading in S. John's Chapel at 10 o'clock. This is the first time that we have attempted the simple and devotional reading of Holy Scripture, and it is hoped that many of the congregation will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the Word of God. There will be the usual retreats during Lent—one on Ash Wednesday for the parish; for women on Mid-Lent Sunday, and for men on Passion Sunday. The retreat for S. Mary's Guild will be held on the Thursday in Passion Week. The Stations of the Cross will be said every Friday night at 8 o'clock, preceded by a sermon.

¶On the Sunday in the Octave of the Epiphany Bishop Webb, of the Diocese of Milwaukee, pontificated at the Solemn Mass and preached the sermon. In the evening the Bishop of the Diocese administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to fifteen persons, two of them from S. Timothy's, Roxborough. Father Caine was in the Chancel and presented his candidates.

¶It will be remembered that during the war S. Clement's was supporting a bed in the American Hospital in France. When the hospital was discontinued a sum of seventy-one and a half dollars was left in our hands which had not been used. This has been donated to the Episcopal Hospital toward its support. It seemed to be the best way of disposing of the surplus.

How about the Coffee House

No, S. Clement's people, we haven't forgotten about it, and just to show that we are still alive and that we have this project very much at heart, the Men's Association will give a big rally Monday evening, February 16th, at 8.30 o'clock, in the Parish House. Men only, and it won't be dry speeches with magic lantern slides or anything of the sort. It's going to be a real entertainment, singing, and, what's more—free eats! But what would a Coffee House Rally be without coffee? A high official in the association assures me that a large consignment of the very best Java has been procured at great expense for the occasion. The Parish Hall will be transformed on the evening of the sixteenth into "Ye Olde Coffee House." Small tables will be dotted about the room and smoking will be encouraged.

But now for the talent. Here's just a few of our select array of stars: Henry Erhardt in a dance specialty. H. Pile will play the 'cello and Wilson Pile the violin, accompanied by J. S. Lilly at the piano. Lilly, it is hoped, will also render some solos. Fred Ritter will give us a few selections on the banjo, and Frank Homan will sing some comic songs.

Although the January 26th meeting of the Association was given over almost entirely to the coming entertainment, the report of the Dance Committee must not be overlooked. Chairman Homan reported that the financial success of the series of dances was almost assured. Some of those who requested season tickets, however, have failed to purchase them, and it is hoped that they will do so before the next dance, on February 11th. As to the social success of the two dances that have been given the large number that attended them is sufficient proof.

The Association is looking forward to a large turnout at its meeting on February 9th. The final arrangements will then be made for the Valentine's dance on February 11th and the "Coffee House Entertainment" on the 16th.

Even if you can't come to the meeting, don't forget the Big Entertainment and bring a friend.

Committee.

WE DO not feel that the Holy Angels are being unduly stirred by the fervour with which the parish is keeping Lent. The attendance at the Masses has increased a little and of course the ever popular 9.30 mass on Tuesdays and Thursdays is largely attended. Most of the parishioners seem to have forgotten that an opportunity is given to join with the clergy in the work of intercession daily at 4.45. Two seems to be the normal attendance, although a few more drop in casually toward the end of the time as a sort of preparation for evensong. Of course it has been bad weather and there is much sickness and S. Clement's is not as easily accessible as some parishes in other districts and then, too, one cannot always count upon listening to the particular priest that one's fancy favours for the moment. All these things are deterrents but are not insuperable obstacles. Perhaps it might be possible to surprise the Holy Angels before Easter. It is not too late.

❡ Hereafter no notices will be given from the pulpit excepting those that need special comment. The universal clerical experience goes to prove that few people listen to them at all and nine-tenths of those who hear do not understand. An intelligent use of the Bulletin Board is suggested.

❡ Once again it becomes necessary to urge the members of the congregation to give due notice to the Celebrant if any intend to communicate at the 9.15 Mass on Sundays and the 9.30 Mass on weekdays. All that is required is a knock at the door of the Sacristy and the effort of uttering about five words. (Of course some persons are unable to cut down any message to fewer than twenty-five words.) Several times of late this request has been made, but requests seem to make no impression upon certain types of mind. May we dare to hope that at least one, if not more, of our people will read this notice with an understanding heart?

❡ The congregation is reminded that two retreats are to be held in the parish, one for women on Mid-Lent Sunday and one for men on Passion Sunday. Any who desire to make these retreats are asked to hand their names to those on charge, i. e., for Mid-Lent Sunday to Sister Deborah and for Passion Sunday to one of the clergy.

❡ The rector is scheduled to conduct a Quiet Day for the Altar Guild of New York on the sixteenth of March, to preach at Holy Innocents, Jersey City, on the evening of the seventeenth and to give a Quiet Day at Long Branch on the eighteenth of the month.

Men's Association Club Night

ON Monday evening, February 16th, the Men's Association held its Club Night, and the cold weather, slippery pavements and uncertain car service all combined could not prevent a large gathering in the parish hall. When the members and their guests arrived they found that the committee had transformed the rooms for the time being into a veritable S. Clement's Coffee House. The walls were hung with amusing signs drawn by Mr. Zimmerman, and from the kitchen the rattling of dishes and the odour of coffee gave promise of what was in store. There was a bewildering display of talent, vocal and instrumental, and while the members were regaled with the good things offered by the "bar ladies," they listened to a very amusing and excellent program.

Selections were rendered by the Rudolph Supplee Orchestra, and S. Clement's quartette and Messrs. James and Jarvis contributed their quota. Mr. Cornman, who was for several years our baritone soloist, very obligingly sang, and Mr. Frank Homan gave his famous rendering of the "Preacher and the B'ar." Mr. John Bradway did some excellent reading and William Knecht amused the company with "Aunt Melissy on Boys."

The success of the evening was crowned by the appearance of Mr. Smith's Sextette, who, after an amusing exhibition by a free-hand artist, rendered vocal numbers in their own inimitable way and won much applause.

The evening closed with community singing in which all joined and it was midnight before the festivities were over.

There can be no doubt that all present enjoyed the evening which did much to put the Men's Association on the map.

We are sure that the readers of the Magazine will be interested in this article by Father Bull, which we have taken from a recent number of the Cowley Evangelist.

The Enclosed Life

MANY of our readers will be aware that Father Hollings in the last years of his life began the foundation of the Convent of the Incarnation at Oxford, designing the foundation of a strictly enclosed community. He died before it could go far, and the establishment of such a community must ever be subject to many vicissitudes. First steps, however, are not in vain because afterwards they are found too narrowly conceived, or too venturesomely taken. They lead onward and open the path of progress. Characters are tested, methods are tried out, ideals are realized more vividly, and the means to attain them more surely understood.

The Community of the Love of God has lived, and has begun to grow with a settled character of life, and a steadily deepening promise of permanence. At the present moment it is not possible to add to the Novitiate, or to take in those who are waiting for admission, for lack of room. The Convent at Fairacres is but an adapted dwelling house, and the Chapel a small and slight brick building. But the grounds are extensive, and the time seems to have come for the building of the permanent Convent and Chapel. The community is in existence; its constitution is drawn up and approved; and the Bishop of Oxford is the Visitor. The makeshift buildings have done their work. The living community now needs its proper home.

The enclosed life, or as it is commonly called the contemplative life, has perhaps naturally and necessarily revived amongst us in the Church of England very slowly. The whole conception of Religious consecration and separation had passed away. But it only lay dormant in the winter of our history. Gradually the necessities of the Church called for consecrated lives of active service, while the growth of devotion and the recovered realization of sacramental grace supplied the necessary conditions for Religious vocations, and communities of Religious have multiplied wonderfully and happily.

But they are mostly active Religious orders. These will always have place in the Church, and in our Western world the predominant place. They fulfil the purposes of the ministerial life of our Lord in His Church.

But His ministerial activity was not the final expression, or the instrument, of His redeeming work. Behind it, and beneath it, and beyond it lay the sacrificial self-oblation which the Manger at Bethlehem illustrates as truly as the Cross of Calvary. The external ministry drew its power from the interior sacrifice even as the external ministry of the Church draws its efficacy from the hidden life of its Head in the glory of the Father. And that heavenly intercession, openly prevalent there, is only the outcome of the hidden struggle in Gethsemane. The Self that is triumphant for our redemption in heaven is the Self that was poured out to the utmost measure of sacrifice on earth.

So in the Church then there is the vocation of the hidden, sacrificial, intercessory life of a perfect self-oblation in love. It is unto God, and for the world. It is an intense activity, a real mortification of self, an increasing sympathy of love Godwards and manwards, a deepening penitence, a fervour of reparation, a passion of intercession, an absorption in the glory of God.

It is a real putting forth of the powers of our Lord's life in the Church, and we cannot measure its effects. That He lives, and suffers, and triumphs again in His members, that His sacrifice thus renews itself in them, that love of Him and of all that He loves or desires is thus made visible in them as "stronger than all," is the strength and encouragement and inspiration of countless souls. The world itself marvels even while it fears and turns away; but souls capable of faith are wondrously illuminated.

The enclosed life then has reappeared in our midst in our English Church life. Many efforts have been made, and many generous souls have been, and are being, stirred, and convents such as that of the Benedictines at Malling Abbey have long been in existence in their hidden activity. The particular form of it, which God has called us to foster here in Oxford, is the one which I desire to commend now most earnestly to those who read these words. It is no self-centred idle life, no dream of prayer, or following of self-will. It is a burning desire of love to die to self and to live to God, in great humility, and with an ever increasing intensity of worship and self-oblation.

A Reminiscence of Father Benson

Contributed to S. Peter's Magazine, Bombay, by Dr. Edgar Faulkner, Organist at Bombay Cathedral.

IT was in January, 1891, that I met Father Benson at Allahabad. The Clergy House there was built by the generous gift of an American, whose wife died of cholera at a hotel in the town. When I first went to the House it contained two Government Chaplains, the Rev. John Scobel and the Rev. Oscar Watkins, and also two probationary Chaplains. As my rooms were nearest to the main gate I had the post of general chucker out allotted to me. I may say the post was no sinecure, as several bogus Eastern missionaries had lately been found out, and I had the job of forcibly turning some out of the compound. Well, one day my butler came into my room and said, "Sahib, there is a Padre Sahib outside who wants to see you." So I replied, "What sort? Like the lot we had trouble with some days ago?" He at once said, "No, Sahib, this is a pucca Padre Sahib." So out I went to see. There, in the sun, with sandals on his feet, a very dirty cassock, and awful collar, and on top a battered topee, stood a quiet, kindly faced Priest, holding a small black bag in one hand. On my saying "Good morning, Sir," he turned to me and said in a hoarse, rasping voice, "Does Mr. Watkins live here?" I said, "Yes. Won't you come in and sit down, Sir?" He smiled and said "No, thank you, my boy, but if you will go and tell him a man named Benson would like to see him I shall be much obliged." So off I ran up the stairs to Watkins' room and said, "I say, Padre, there's a quaint old gentleman down below wants to see you, called Benson." Watkins jumped out of his chair and caught me by the arm, saying, "I say, Faulkner, I do hope you were polite to him." I replied, "Yes, I was, strange to say, for I addressed him as Sir, though why, I don't know." Watkins said, "Do you know that is the famous Father Benson of the Cowley Fathers?" and off he tore down the stairs. When I saw the affectionate greeting that took place between them I quite understood. On being told it was my duty to keep any objectionable strangers from the Clergy House, Father Benson quite enjoyed the humour of the situation.

Father Benson's influence in the house was extraordinary. When he had been living with us for a week or so my servants, who could not speak English at all, came to me and said,"What kind of Holy Man is this that has come to stay in the house? He never sleeps, but prays far into the hours of the night. He truly is a man of God." When he left the house all the servants, Moslem and Hindu, lined up and made a profound salutation to him.

It was indeed a privilege to have lived under the same roof with such a Saint.

EASTERTIDE we enter upon another Great Forty Days. During the Paschal season our Lord would teach us the meaning of His Cross and Passion. This was the initial lesson that He taught to those disciples who He met upon the road to Emmaus, and in His first appearance to the Apostles He showed them His Hands and His Side. Ever since that time He has been revealing Himself in like manner to His faithful followers in the Church. Eastertide, then, should not be a time for "letting down" after the Lenten Fast. Rather is it a God-given opportunity to assimilate our Lenten experiences and to learn some permanent lessons for our spiritual upbuilding.

Of course, to many of us Easter brings its reproach. Lent has been so indifferently kept by most of us. We have been so untrue to what we know to be our duty. It seems presumptuous for us to accept the glory of Easter, when we remember our past faithlessness. And yet it may be that this is our opportunity of redeeming the wasted days. To Saint Peter the first knowledge of the Resurrection must have brought bitterness as well as joy. And that discipline which he had to bear before his readmission to our Lord's confidence was a needful preparation before Peter the Denier of His Master could become Peter the Prince of the Apostles. The threefold questioning which wrung his heart was the healing ointment that restored his soul.

So must our Eastertide work in us. We must kneel in the Presence of the Risen Lord and in all penitence and humility hear Him ask us the old question, "Lovest thou Me more than these?" It is hard discipine, but salutary. And only as we face the questions can we see the Risen Christ.

How worldly we have been; how careless; how undisciplined! How much more, seemingly, we have loved the world than we have loved the world's Saviour! Let us during the Easter season learn to cry with a sincere heart, "Lord, Thou knowest all things! Thou knowest that I love Thee."

¶Mr. Edward Biddle Clay has been elected to fill the vacancy on the Vestry caused by the death of Mr. Francis Berry. At the last Vestry meeting Mr. Clay was elected Secretary of the Vestry, taking the place of Mr. Caleb Wright, who has resigned from the Corporation.

¶The Junior Auxiliary of the Parish will serve tea in the Parish hall, Wednesday, April 21st, from 3.30 to 5 and from 7.30 to 9 P. M. Candy will be for sale also. Admission, 15 cents. Proceeds are for Missionary purposes.

¶The purple chasuble, which was made a few years ago by the Altar Guild and which is used at the Masses on Palm Sunday, has been enriched by the addition of a most exquisitely embroidered head of our Lord, adapted from an "Ecce Homo," painted by Sister Catherine Ruth, formerly of All Saints Community. The work was executed by Miss Anna Prichett.

¶Holy Week and Easter brought to the parish real spiritual refreshment. The church was filled on Palm Sunday morning, and the Masses during the week were well attended. The service on Maundy Thursday was unsually beautiful and devotional. Father Smith sang the Mass, with Father Joiner as Deacon and Father Quin as Sub-Deacon. There were a large number of acolytes in the Sanctuary and the procession of the Blessed Sacrament was most reverent and dignified. On Good Friday Father Quin said the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, and Father Barnett, the Rector of Saint David's Church, Manayunk, conducted the Three Hours. The church was practically filled for this service and the addresses were most helpful. Easter Day about four hundred communions were made and the services, both morning and evening, were excellently rendered by the choir. The Easter offering amounted to a little over $2000. The money in the Poor Fund is very nearly exhausted. Once more we make a most earnest appeal for contributions.

¶The Paschal candle has been decorated by Miss Edna Hagert.

¶The Parish retreats have been well attended this year. On Mid-Lent Sunday about eighty women were present and some most helpful meditations were given by Father Joiner. Father Booth, from the Diocesan Church, conducted a retreat for about twenty men on Passion Sunday and the day proved successful, a time of real spiritual refreshment for those who came.

¶We have on hand two little pamphlets written and printed by Mr. Hickson, to be read as a preparation for his Healing Mission: "The Revival of the Gift of Healing," price 15 cents, and "Healing of Christ in His Church," 50 cents. These can be obtained from Miss Laura Hutchinson, who will be in the parish house every Tuesday and Thursday after the 9.30 Mass and before and after the 11 o'clock Mass on Sundays.

The Christian Healing Mission

SAINT CLEMENT'S people will be interested to know that Mr. James Moore Hickson will conduct a Healing Mission at the church from April 26th to 30th, inclusive. Mr. Hickson is at present touring America and is ministering to thousands of people who come to him for help. We consider that this is a real privilege for the Parish and trust that all will co-operate in making the mission a real help to the community. The members of the congregation are asked to remember the mission daily in their prayers during the weeks prior to Mr. Hickson's visit.

Prayer for Daily Use

(To be said at noon, if possible.)

O GOD, our Heavenly Father, we pray for Thy blessing upon the Christian Healing Mission. Bless, protect and guide those who have gone forth in the name of Thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ. May all that they do be directed and governed by Thee. May they be so filled with the Spirit of Christ that they may be bearers of His Light to those that sit in darkness, for the setting at liberty of souls whom Satan hath bound and for the healing of all who are sick and suffering in mind and body. And we ask that they and all who are linked with them in prayer may be ever united in Thy Love, and protected from every snare of the enemy; so that by Thy Grace Thy purposes may be fulfilled to the Glory of Thy Holy Name; for Jesus' Sake. Amen.

IT IS probably quite unnecessary to warn Catholic Christians against the superstitious and dangerous attempts on the part of many people nowadays to communicate with the spirits of the departed by having recourse to such inane toys as the ouija board or the unscrupulous mediums that are ever in our midst. Catholics who love the Saints well enough to speak to them and who know the comfort of prayer for the faithful departed ought not to stand in need of such doubtful assurances of life after death. Lately some distressing instances have been brought to our notice of grief-stricken persons who are fast losing their reason because having listened to the prevailing twaddle about "spirit return" they have tried themselves to "receive messages." Not being as "psychic" as some ignorant impostor, their endeavours have not been successful and the effect mentally has been appalling. We quote the last verse of a recent poem by Rudyard Kipling, on this subject which may well be laid to heart.

"Oh, the road to En-dor is the oldest road
And the craziest road of all!
Straight it runs to the Witches' abode,
As it did in the days of Saul,
And nothing has changed of the sorrow in store
For such as go down on the road to En-dor!"

The Gardner

"I am come into My Garden," Cant. v. 1.

WHY bows the lily's lustrous head?
Why burns the rose with deeper glow?
What lightens every flower bed?
He cometh, Whom thy heart doth know!

He cometh! Dews of herbs arise,
Sweet veils of wreathed fragrance float,
The lark, high hid in melting skies,
Wakes welcome from a blitheful throat.

He cometh! Wondrous brightness lies
About His path on either hand,
Whilst every chilling shadow flies
From Light that glads a Heavenly Land.

Beams from their gentle Gardener's sight
Search all those glowing roses through:
And light yon lily's lustrous white,
With opal gleams of rainbow hue.

Therefore yon lily bows her head;
Therefore the rose's deeper hue;
His sunshine o'er each flowret spread,
He cometh, Whom thy soul doth know!

THE CHRISTIAN HEALING MISSION conducted in the church last month by Mr. Hickson proved a wonderful spiritual experience for the parish. All who were present at the services in whatever capacity expressed themselves as deeply moved and benefited. Apart from the bodily relief which was given to many, there was marked evidence of a peculiar blessing coming to all who knelt at the altar rail. We believe that this is but the beginning of a genuine revival in the church of the "healing," which was a recognized gift in Apostolic and Post-Apostolic times, and that it will lead to a wider understanding of the mission of the Church in the world. If the Church is the Body of Christ, then the Life of Christ must be manifested in all its fullness.

Acting on this belief and that the "prayer of faith" will today as in the early days, be efficacious for the healing of the sick, we are to continue the work at S. Clement's. Every Friday morning at 10 o'clock, those who are willing to give themselves to this work are asked to come together in the Church to pray for the sick. At that time any who are afflicted in body or mind may present themselves at the Altar rail for special prayers and blessing.

We are forming a "Prayer Circle" in the parish, of which Miss Elizabeth Lea is the Secretary. Those who are willing to join are asked to send their names and addresses. Every month a number of names of sick persons will be distributed among the members of the Circle, and will be remembered daily.

The Healing Mission will continue also at the Diocesan Church of S. Mary and S. Timothy, Roxborough, on Friday mornings at 10 o'clock, and at S. Philip's, West Philadelphia, on Thursdays at the same hour.

Names of sick persons to be prayed for should be sent to Deaconess Carter, at the Church Training and Deaconess House, 708 Spruce Street, who is the Diocesan Secretary for the Prayer Circle.

¶ Whitsunday, the great Feast of the Holy Spirit, comes to us this year at a time when it may be celebrated worthily. Too often it is neglected by those who call themselves Catholic Christians because the early summer heat and activities are allowed to interfere. With a good many Church people Easter is the end of the Church year. All that comes after, the great Feast of the Ascension, Whitsunday and the Feast of the Most Holy Trinity, are regarded as afterthoughts, to be observed or disregarded according to the convenience of the individual. But such persons fail to realize that without Pentecost there would no Church, no Sacraments, no Holy Scripture, no union with Christ, no "Guide into all Truth." We hope that there may be a very real and devout observance of the Feast this year and that all Saint Clement's people will strive to realize its meaning and the blessing that it brings.

¶ The Poor Fund is in need of continual contributions. Do not neglect the needy who are at our own doors because of the multiplicity of appeals to our charity from other quarters of the world. In giving rightful aid to those who are suffering in foreign lands, do not deprive our own people of much-needed help. The Church generally is suffering from the many money "drives" that are being made for funds for Universities and "Y" interests. Whatever is given to these objects should as far as possible be duplicated by gifts to the Church. If not, let the Church come first! She has no printed list of benefactors, but she gives many blessings to those who do not forget her. In the meantime, our Poor Fund is practically exhausted! Will you remember this?

¶ At the Easter meeting of the Vestry, Mr. Horace Wells Sellers was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Caleb F. Wright. Mr. Francis D. Wetherill was appointed Rector's Warden; Mr. S. McKean Bayard was elected Accounting Warden, and Mr. Edward B. Clay was elected Secretary of the Vestry. The delegates to the Diocesan Convention were Messrs. Adams, Bayard and Woodruff.

¶ On the night of the 10th of April All Saints' Convent, Orange Grove, Maryland, was totally destroyed by fire. The flames were first discovered by Sister Mary Isabella about 8 o'clock and in three-quarters of an hour nothing was left. The Sisters escaped without injury, but saved nothing from the burning building. There will be many in the parish who will deeply sympathize with the community and will wish to make some contribution for the purchase of necessary clothing and necessities for the Sisters. Contributions may be sent to the Rector or directly to the Rev. Mother, at Orange Grove, Ilchester P. O., Maryland. We trust that the response to this appeal may be very generous, as the need is immediate, and pressing.

¶ After Trinity Sunday the 8 o'clock Mass will be discontinued for the summer and Evensong will be said in S. John's Chapel at 5 o'clock. There will be no 8 o'clock services on Sunday evenings, until October.

¶ Vespers of the Blessed Sacrament will be said in S. John's Chapel at 5.15 P. M. on the eve of Corpus Christi, followed by the Annual Meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament.

¶ On Memorial Day, Monday, May 31st, a Solemn Requiem will be sung at 10 o'clock for those who fell in the Great War. The collection will be for the War Memorial of the parish. It is hoped that many will be present and that the offerings may be generous.

S CLEMENT'S HOUSE will soon be open and ready for business!

After several months' search, a suitable property at 1825 Green Street has been leased and as soon after May 1st as it can be put in order and furnished it will open its doors. Its object will be to provide a safe, comfortable and home-like abiding place for business women at as low rates as possible. On account of existing conditions it seems best to start with rooms only, but eventually to serve meals as well.

Applications should be sent to S. Clement's House, 1825 Green Street.

The house will, it is hoped, be self-supporting, but a good deal of money is needed for furniture and other immediate necessities, and it is hoped that many of the congregation will send contributions, both small and large, to the Rector.

"IS the way long? Methinks not so,
No way is long where friends do go,
In converse low and sweet and deep,
And all the way I have with me
My Lord's dear companie.

"Is the way hard? But surely nay!
For 'Lean on Me,' His voice doth say;
And scarce I know the path grows steep
So wondrously it heartens me,
The Lord's dear companie."

The following letter from the Chairman of the Clothing Committee of the City Mission has been received by the President of S. Clement's Auxiliary:

"WHEN I got back from a visit in New England and found all those wonderful garments, heap after heap of them, on my City Mission closet shelves, I was really overcome.

"Such dear little dresses all feather-stitched and smocked like our own children's dresses. Genuine Christian love went into the making of those things and I thank you all from the bottom of my heart for conferring upon me the privilege of being the medium of putting such comfort and joy into sad, patient hearts.

"The mothers of the children who get these garments will be as proud and thrilled as the children who wear them and I know your Auxiliary will be the happier for having bestowed such a gift.

"It is a fine thing to give to charity, it is beautiful to give splendidly."

These garments were the result of the Lenten Sewing.

To the Older Parishioners:

By direction of the Provincial Superior, I am collecting materials for the history of the S. S. J. E. in the United States; and turn, naturally, to my old friends in S. Clement's for help. By the kindness of Rev. Fr. Quinn I have a complete series of S. Clement's magazines from 1882 to 1891; and from others many pamphlets, But I have not found two "meditations" in the "S. Clement's pulpit." If any have copies of these they will give to the Society, I shall be glad to receive them. Should any of you have pamphlets likely to be of use, will you kindly write me and give their titles, as I do not care to accumulate duplicates. It would be a help to make the archives of the Society as nearly complete as possible.

Father Hutchinson Resigns

Since the last issue of the magazine, Father Hutchinson has resigned as Rector of the Parish, after fifteen years of devoted and fruitful service. Early in June he was elected to the Deanship of All Saints' Cathedral in Milwaukee, and when he felt that it was God's will for him to assume this new and important work, the Vestry very reluctantly accepted his resignation. His going is so keen a loss to us both as individuals and as a parish that we do not venture to put any expression of it in words. We say to him what Halleck, in his poem, said of Sir Joseph Drake:

"None knew thee but to love thee,
Nor named thee but to praise."

He sends us the following letter:

My dear People:

It is very difficult for me, after fifteen years of happy ministry among you, to express adequately all that I feel in leaving Saint Clement's Parish for the new work, to which, I believe, God has called me.

I am carrying with me the most tender memories of the unfailing loyalty of a devoted people, and of countless kindnesses received through many years.

It has been impossible for me to reply individually to the very large number of letters that have been written to me during the last few weeks. I can take only this opportunity of assuring you that they have not been forgotten nor unappreciated.

The last concrete and generous expression of your affection has touched me more deeply than I can say.

You will not forget, I am sure, the lessons that we have learned together, of devotion to a Crucified Lord, and to His Sacramental Presence in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar. The Mass will continue to be the very heart of your spiritual life; the Tabernacle a centre of never-ending peace and comfort; and the Cross, your glory.

It is unnecessary for me to ask for my successor, who ever he may be, the same measure of affectionate confidence that has been accorded to myself.

May God's blessing rest upon Saint Clement's Parish and people.

With deep affection, I am always your friend,

(Signed) CHARLES S. HUTCHINSON.

September 26, 1920.

¶ At the meeting of the Vestry which acted on the resignation of the Rector, Father Joiner was appointed priest-in-charge, and will so act until such time as the new Rector comes into residence. Father Quin continues as senior assistant, and the Rev. Victor O. Anderson has been added to the clergy staff. Father Anderson has been Rector of Saint Mark's Church, Augusta, Maine, and served as a Red Cross chaplain with the A. E. F. in the recent war.

¶ With the first of October the winter schedule of services will be resumed. Please keep the following list before you for reference. On Sundays there are Masses for Communion at 7, 8 and 9.15 o'clock. At the latter the children's hymns are sung, and it is followed by the catechism and the children's instructions. At 11 o'clock there is a Sung Mass. On the greater feasts and in their octaves the Mass will be solemn. On ordinary Sundays Evensong will be sung at 8 o'clock, and when the High Mass is solemn, Evensong will be sung with the three Sacred Ministers.

¶ There is the daily Mass at 7 o'clock. On Tuesdays, Thursdays and all Holy Days there is a second Mass at 9.30 o'clock. Those who wish to communicate at the second Mass are asked to notify the Celebrant before the Mass begins. On the second Friday of each month there is a Mass at 6 o'clock. Morning Prayer is said at 7.30, and Evening Prayer at 5 o'clock in Saint John's Chapel.

¶ The Priest-in-charge will be in the Church for confessions Friday afternoons from 3 until 5 o'clock, Saturday mornings from 11 until 12 o'clock, and Saturday evenings from 7 until 9 o'clock. The assistants will be in the Church for confessions Saturday afternoons from 3 until 5 o'clock, and Saturday evenings from 7 until 9 o'clock.

¶ During the week the Girls' Club will meet as usual every Tuesday evening. This society is for the young women of the Parish, and they all should be members. On Thursday evenings the Mothers' Meeting is held in the Parish House. After an hour of work and social intercourse, the mothers go to the Chapel for some hymns and devotions and for the Chaplain's address. This organization for the older women of the Parish, now numbering about 85 members, should be enlarged. Any one who is interested will be welcomed at any of the meetings.

¶ Every Friday evening the Litany will be said in Saint John's Chapel, followed by a short service of intercession and a short instruction by one of the clergy. On the first Friday of the month this service will be supplanted by an hour's devotion before the Blessed Sacrament under the auspices of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament. There will be some hymns and a litany of devotion, with the address followed by the usual service of Adoration. An offering will be received at this monthly service which is to be applied to the Altar Flowers Fund.

¶ The Boy Scouts meet every Thursday evening in the Parish House gymnasium.

¶There is a class in kindergarten work, manual training, sewing and cooking for the children on Saturday mornings at 10 o'clock in the Parish House. These classes are in charge of the Sisters, who have capable helpers to assist them.

¶Saint Katharine's Guild, a devotional organization for the younger girls will have a service of special preparation for Communion on the last Wednesday evening of each month, and on the following Sunday will make a corporate Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass.

¶Saint Mary's Guild is a devotional guild for the older women. They have a simple rule of life and meet on the first Monday evening of each month to sing their office in Saint John's Chapel, followed by an address by the Chaplain.

¶Saint Vincent's Guild for Acolytes will meet the first Wednesday evening of each month at 8.15 o'clock for a devotional service in the Chapel, and for instructions and rehearsals afterwards with a little social time in the Clergy House.

¶Saint Clement's Branch of the Women's Auxiliary will resume its regular monthly meetings for the fall and winter's work on Wednesday, October 6th, at 3 o'clock in the Parish House. The meetings are always on the first Wednesday of the month. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

President, Miss Haffelfinger.
Vice-President, Mrs. W. W. Lukens.
Secretary, Miss Sprecher.
Treasurer, Miss Connelly.
United Offering Treasurer, Miss Hutchinson.
Junior Leader, The Sister Edna, S. S. M.
Educational Secretary, Mrs. Charles Joline.

It is earnestly hoped that every woman of the Parish will identify herself with this work. The special speakers for each meeting will be announced previously. Names for membership with the annual dues of twenty-five cents, may be left at the Clergy House.

¶Attention is again drawn to the League of Intercession. The leaflet is issued monthly, and will be sent to any one wishing to use the prayers, for the cost of the postage, which is twelve cents a year. Special intercessions will be inserted in the leaflets if they are sent to the Clergy House before the 15th of the month. The aim of the paper is to help intercessors in the subjects of their daily prayers, and to give others an opportunity to intercede for our needs and to return thanks for our many blessings. The leaflet enjoys a wide circulation, and is commended by those who have made a habit of using it.

¶The Men's Association of the Parish will meet as usual on the second and fourth Monday evenings of the month. The first meeting of the winter season will be on the 11th of October, and this meeting will be one for the discussion of plans for the winter's work. The second meeting in October, it is hoped, may be one for sociability and entertainment. Every man in the Parish should be active in this splendid organization. There is something for every one to do.

The monthly dances will be resumed under the auspices of the Association early in November, and be held monthly as last year. Help the Men's Committee to reach those who would be interested in such an evening spent in the Parish House. Every effort will be made to exceed the arrangements and the appointments of last winter's dances. Tell your friends.

There are prospects of several good speakers on timely topics appearing before the men this winter. No man will want to miss them.

Mr. J. A. Fritz is the most efficient President, and with his corps of faithful helpers is very hopeful for a season of good fellowship for the members of the Association and useful service to the Clergy and the Parish.

¶Monday, the first of November, is the Festival of All Saints. There will be Masses at 7 and 9.30 o'clock. Vespers of the Dead will be said in St. John's Chapel immediately after Evensong, at 5.15 o'clock. The following day, Tuesday, is All Souls' Day. There will be Low Masses of Requiem at 6.30 and 9.30 o'clock. The Solemn Requiem, for Communions, will be at 7 o'clock. People who wish to have the souls of their departed friends and relatives commemorated on All Souls' Day should make sure that their lists of names, clearly written with the full Christian name, are in the hands of the Clergy before the previous Sunday. Also mention if you wish the commemoration at any particular Mass. There is a list which is kept up to date, of all the departed members of the Parish, so it is not necessary to include them again. These names will be redistributed after All Souls' Day into smaller groups and remembered at the Masses throughout the month, there being Requiems on every allowable day. Bona Mors will be said after Evensong Monday evenings.

¶Breakfast will be served in the Parish House after the Solemn Requiem on All Souls' Day to the Acolytes and the Choir members. Person who wish to have their breakfast here after the Mass may notify the Sister, and can be accommodated at 35 cents the plate.

Father Joiner the New Rector

THE Vestry met at the Clergy House on Tuesday afternoon, October 5th, and Father Joiner was unanimously elected Rector of the Parish to succeed Father Hutchinson. Father Joiner has been Junior Curate on the Clergy Staff since his ordination to the Priesthood in June of 1918. He knows the work intimately and has the confidence of the entire congregation. On the following Sunday, October 10th, he announced his acceptance of the Vestry's election, and took his place in the Rector's stall in the Choir.

In the course of his sermon that morning he spoke of the "atmosphere" of S. Clement's, the indescribable something that every one feels the moment they enter the Church, or are present at one of the Church's services. He reminded us that this "atmosphere" was not man-made, but God-given, in answer to the prayers of the countless saints that have worshipped here, in response to the continual offerings of the Holy Sacrifice and the many communions that are made week by week at our Altars, and the presence of our Blessed Lord in the Tabernacle in the Sacrament of His ordaining. This "atmosphere" is not a medium in which we are to luxuriate, but an environment in which we are to grow and expand. This "atmosphere" which we find so evident in S. Clement's is a priceless heritage, and involves us all in great responsibilities. It must spur us on to work, to share with others those mysteries which our dear Lord has so generously made known unto us.

In closing his sermon Father Joiner said: "It is into this 'atmosphere,' created by God in answer to the devotion and work of others, that you call me to be your leader. It is a great honor, but it is a greater responsibility. When I consider the place this Church holds in the city, and the Diocese, and the Church-at-large, and what it means to be the Rector of S. Clement's and to stand in the place of such sainted men as those early Cowley Fathers, Father Maturin, Father Moffett and Father Hutchinson, I 'long for a lodge in some vast wilderness where I may flee away.' But on the other hand, when I think of my intimate knowledge of the Parish and the work that there is to be done, of my close association with Father Hutchinson during the past two years in the details of the Parish activities, and recall the countless letters and telephone calls I have had from both within and without the Parish, expressing confidence and pledging loyalty, when I consider these, I am emboldened to take up the work. Of course, we can do nothing without God's help. We must renew our allegiance and devotion to Him in every way we can. We must be more diligent in our communions, carefully prepared and followed with earnest thanksgivings; more faithful in our attendance at the public exercises of the Church's worship, more willing to sacrifice our own time and comfort for the work of the Church. Without such support from you, the members of the Parish, I can do nothing as your Rector. We must work together. I realize my great responsibility and you must realize yours. With your faithful help, and our united prayers to our Heavenly Father for the grace of His Dear Son and the guidance of the Holy Spirit, S. Clement's must go on to greater and bigger things. Pray for me."

NOVEMBER brings with it not only the great Feast of All Saints and All Souls' Day, when we have in special remembrance all the faithful departed, but it also brings our great Dedication Festival, the Feast of Saint Clement, Bishop and Martyr, on the 23rd of the month. The Dedication Feast falls on Tuesday this year.

Our preparation for the Feast will begin with the usual Novena for the Parish on the 14th. The prayers will be said at Evensong every day. After Evensong on Monday, the 22nd, First Vespers of S. Clement will be said in S. John's Chapel. The Clergy will be in the Church for Confessions on the eve of the Feast from 4 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

On the Feast Day there will be Masses for Communion at 6, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock. Every one in the Parish should make an earnest effort to receive the Blessed Sacrament on this day, with special intention for God's blessing on the Parish. The several hours for Masses should make it possible for everybody, who really tries, to be present at the Altar on S. Clement's Day.

There will be a Solemn High Mass with Procession at 11 o'clock. An augmented choir will sing Gounod's Mass of S. Cecelia. The special preacher will be the Reverend Joseph G. H. Barry, D.D., Rector of the Church of S. Mary the Virgin, New York City.

In addition to the Mass at 7 o'clock, there will be an additional Mass at 9.30 o'clock every day throughout the Octave.

The intentions of the Masses throughout the Octave will be as follows:

Wednesday. Commemoration of the Dedication. For the Clergy.

Thursday, Thanksgiving Day. For our Country. Masses at 7, 8 and 9.30. The last Mass will be Solemn.

Friday. S. Katharine, Virgin and Martyr. Transferred from Thursday. For the Guilds and Associations of the Parish.

Saturday. Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Transferred from Sunday. For the Sisters of S. Margaret and their work in the Parish.

Sunday. First Sunday in Advent. For a deepening of the Spiritual life of the Parish. Evensong will be Solemn, of the Octave of S. Clement, with Procession and Solemn TeDeum.

Monday. In the Octave. Requiem Masses for Communicants and Benefactors.

Tuesday. Octave Day. For the children of the Parish.

¶ The Vestry has allocated the offerings on the approaching special days, as follows:

All Saints' Day. The Sisters of S. Margaret.
All Souls' Day. The Guild of All Souls.
S. Clement's Day. Parish Expenses.
Thanksgiving Day. The Episcopal Hospital.
II Sunday in Advent. The Poor Fund.
Christmas Day. Pension Fund Premiums.

¶ The Rector is very anxious to establish a local ward of the Guild of All Souls. The principal objects are intercessory prayer for the Dying, for the Repose of the Souls of Deceased Members, and for all the Faithful Departed. To publish and distribute literature setting forth the Catholic Doctrines of the "Communion of Saints" and "the Resurrection of the Body." The Guild is also praying for the restoration of the Scriptural Rite of Anointing the sick with Holy Oil, commonly called Extreme Unction.
The members pledge themselves to be present at one Requiem Mass each month, and to make their Communions with the Intention for the Guild, and to say the weekly prayers. There is a yearly offering made at the discretion of the individual member. The Medals may be had for fifty cents, and the Manual for twenty-five cents. Will those who wish to become members please communciate with the Rector.

¶ On Wednesday evening, November 24th, we will he having the annual Parish Tea in the Parish House, at 8 o'clock. This is to be a Parish Tea, and not a Parish Meeting with reports and speeches. Instead, there will be some entertainment provided; music, both vocal and instrumental, and dancing in the gynasium, with some light refreshments during the evening. We hope to have a Parish Business Meeting at another time. Please everybody make a special effort to be at the Parish Tea. We see each other very seldom in a social way, and we all need to know each other better.

¶ Sometime during the month every member of the Parish will be visited by an authorized canvasser and asked to renew their envelope pledges, and to increase them where possible. With the increased cost of living, and heavy expenses in the repairs of both Church and Clergy House, we must ask you to be as generous as you can. Then, too, we want to give all we can towards the work of the Church in the world, through the Nation-Wide Campaign. There are many things in this Campaign of which we heartily disapprove, but some of the work included in the apportionment does appeal to us, and we have the privilege of designating our offerings for these special funds. The Bishops have worked out this system for amalgamating the Church's administrative policies, so let us do our part in helping them to put the Church's financial work on a sound business basis, so that overhead charges may be reduced to a minimum, and more funds may be available for the furtherance of the Church's work and the Gospel. Will those who are not regular subscribers, through the duplex envelope system, please consider the matter very carefully, and be ready to adopt them when the canvasser calls.

Men's Association News

THE Men's Association assembled for its first meeting after the summer vacation on Monday, October 11th. An election of officers for the coming year was held when Father Joiner was elected Honorary President, succeeding Father Hutchinson. The other officers of the Association were re-elected, with the exception of Mr. W. H. Pile, who resigned in order to devote more time to his other activities in the Association.

At this first meeting it was decided to hold a regular business meeting on the second Monday, and a social meeting on the fourth Monday of each month; committees were formed to look after the activities of the Association, and it was decided to continue the dances that were so successful last year.

Mr. Frank B. Homan is again serving as Chairman of the Dance Committee, and has already sent out notices with requests for subscriptions. The first dance will be given November 17th, and they will continue at intervals of three weeks until Lent. It is hoped there will be a prompt and hearty response to the requests for subscriptions, so that the expenses of the series will be assured from the start. Those who attended last season's dances are already assured of their success socially, and those who did not have that pleasure should take the first opportunity of joining us.

The first social evening of the Association was held Monday, October 25th. Mr. Tyson, of the Entertainment Committee, arranged to have Mr. L. H. Tobin give a talk on some of his experiences in reporting among the moonshiners of the Virginia mountains, and also with celebrities in the political line. Mr. William Morris, tenor from St. Peter's, sang for us, assisted by Mr. George Mall, and there was music by some of our own talent and an address by the Rector. About fifty men were present to enjoy the first social evening of the year.

On account of the fourth Monday in November falling on the eve of S. Clement's Day, Father Joiner suggests that we omit our social meeting and join in with the Parish Reception, to be held November 24th, and as the Christmas holidays will interfere with our social meeting in December, it will probably be decided to have it on December 13th instead of a business meeting.

S. Clement's Tide

WE have had a very happy Feast. The weather early in the morning of S. Clement's Day was bad, so the number of Communions was disappointing, being less than those on any Feast Day in the past six years. It is always sad to think that a little rain will deter Catholic Christians from keeping their tryst with their Blessed Lord at His Altar. At 11 o'clock, when "the loaves and the fishes" were distributed, there was what some one called "a Palm Sunday congregation." The Mass was Gounod's Mass of S. Cecelia, and was superbly sung by an augmented choir. Our old organist and Parishoner, S. Wesley Sears, was at the organ, much to our pleasure and delight. The work of the choir showed Mr. Fry's painstaking efforts, and he should feel most gratified with the results. There were a few additional voices added to our regular number, and they were further assisted by the harp and tympani from the Philadelphia Orchestra. While the music was so perfectly rendered, and the ceremonial executed without a flaw, the Mass lost none of the reverence and the devotion on the part both of participants and congregation, that always characterizes our Services. Fr. Barry gave us a most stirring sermon, calling us from a quiet defensive position in the Catholic Faith, out into an open offensive and an aggressive warfare for those great principles upon which the Church is builded, the Person of Jesus Christ, and His Real Presence in the Sacrament of the Altar. S. Clement's people have heard these great truths from the pulpit every Sunday for many years, but it seems to bring added weight when the same message is brought to us by a brother Priest from a neighboring city.

On the evening of the 26th, the annual Parish Tea and Reception was held in the Parish Hall. About two hundred and fifty people were in attendance and the most genial and warm-hearted spirit pervaded the whole gathering. A three--piece orchestra rendered music during the evening, and after some simple refreshments the Rector made a brief address, outlining the program of the winter's work. The floors were then cleared for dancing.

The Sunday in the Octave being the First Sunday in Advent, the Solemn Mass was of the Sunday. Advent Evensong was said in the Chapel at 5 o'clock and at 8 o'clock we had a Festival Service with Procession of Guilds and a Solemn Te Deum. Fr. Smith, who so kindly acted as Deacon of the Mass on S. Clement's Day, was Sub-Deacon at the Solemn Vespers. The Rector who preached the sermon took for his text the words addressed to Blessed Clement by the Roman Prefect who sentenced him to banishment in the Crimea, "God will not abandon you." In the Solemn Procession there were some twenty acolytes from S. Vincent's Guild, and fully eighty women and girls representing S. Mary's Guild, S. Katharine's Guild, the Girls' Club and the Mothers' Meeting. It is hoped that with the revival of the Procession of Guilds the interest and the zeal of their members may be quickened and intensified. It seems to be a good object lesson of the practice of Christian living in the Parish.

The offering on S. Clement's Day was about $1300.00, and will be used in defraying the regular expenses of the Parish.

Christmas

DEAR FRIEND, are you going to keep Christmas this year? Why, you say, what a foolish question. Of course I am. Everybody does. I can't give many presents, nor any of much value, but I shall do the best I can and the will must go for the deed. Yes, but you have not answered my question. Are you going to keep Christmas?

What can you mean? How am I going to spend the time? Oh, I am going to spend the day with my father and my mother, or else all the family are coming here. We are going to have a fine old-fashioned dinner, then in the afternoon we are going for a motor ride, or skating if there is any ice to be found, and in the evening we shall all go to the theatre. Maybe in the morning we will go to Church.

Ah, my friend, you have told me how one may keep the world's Christmas, but not that of the Church. Do you ever stop to consider the fine old English word the world degrades to name the pagan holiday it keeps on December 25th? Christ's Mass is its meaning. The Nativity-birthday of Jesus Christ, God and Man. How senseless to call the day by this name, and think so little of making the reason for observing it. What mockery in giving and receiving gifts when we have not consecrated the day by offering to God the Christ's Mass, and receiving into our hearts Him Whose delight it is to be with the sons of men.

That, and that only, is Christmas. Some cannot have your fine dinner because they have not the money with which to buy it. Some cannot share your pleasure and amusement because of hearts laden with sorrow and bodies filled with pain. Some cannot enjoy the happiness of family reunion by reason of distance or separation through death. But the Angels, and Heaven, and peace, and joy, and the Infant Jesus are for all men of good will.

So then, if you are pagan keep your holiday as you please on the 25th of December, but spare us the infamy of calling it Christmas.

And let those of us who bear His Holy Name think nothing of so much importance as our gift for Jesus and His unspeakable Gift for us in the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar. Because we cannot equal a friend's gift we do not refrain from bestowing anything in return, so when God offers Himself in our Christmas Communion let us present Him with such a gift as we are able; a heart cleansed by penitence, broken and contrite by confession of its sin, adorned with renewed habits of virtue, and warmed by the rekindled desire for a share in His love; with such gifts He is well pleased. Such a Christmas would be one long remembered, for God would not allow us to outdo him in generosity. Out then, my dear people, with these guests we have so long welcomed—the world, the flesh and the devil—let there be "room for Him in the Inn."

Confirmation

THE Bishop Suffagan of the Diocese will visit the Parish on Friday evening, January 28th, to administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation. Classes for instruction are now being formed. Will all those who have not as yet received this Sacrament please communicate with the Clergy. Instructions will be given publicly at the Mothers' Meeting on Thursday nights and at the Friday evening services. The children will have their instructions Friday afternoons immediately after school. Sister Isabel will instruct the girls and Fr. Anderson will take care of the boys. Where it is necessary to make special appointments, they should be arranged at once. The present prospects point to a large class.

Men's Association News

THE dances held under the direction of the Men's Association opened another season on Wednesday evening, November 17th. All those who were present enjoyed a good evening, and the only regret was that a greater number of persons did not avail themselves of this opportunity for an evening's entertainment. Another dance was held on December 8th, and the next one will be Wednesday evening, December 29th. The members of the Association and of the Parish, together with their friends, are urged to attend these dances, not only for their own enjoyment, but also to add their share in promoting good fellowship and creating a cordial Parish spirit.

The Association held a business meeting early in November when there was a full discussion of the Association's business, and methods were presented for the increase in membership and a quickening of the general interest in this feature of the Parish life. The first thing that must be done is to rouse the men of S. Clement's Church. We cannot hope to attract men from the outside and so draw them to our Church, if the men of the Parish do not come to the meetings. The Rector is looking for us to help in many ways and we must not fail him.

The next meeting of the Association will be on Monday evening, December 13th. A splendid meeting has been arranged which no man can afford to miss. Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, one of our Vestrymen, will be the principal speaker, and his name alone is sufficient to attract an enthusiastic gathering of the men and their friends. There will be several musical numbers and refreshments will be served.

During the month of December the Association will endeavor to meet after the Sunday evening service, when they will make a special point of inviting any strange men who may be in the congregation to join them for a little social period and smoker in the Parish Hall.

¶ The Masses on Christmas Day will be at 6, 7, 8 and 9.15 o'clock. The 9.15 Mass will be especially for the children, when the Christmas carols will be sung and the children will make their acts of adoration at the Creche. There will be a Solemn Procession at the Solemn High Mass at 11 o'clock. The choir will be assisted by the harp and tympani from the Philadelphia Orchestra, and while the Kyries and the Gloria in Excelsis will be less elaborate compositions by modern composers, the Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei will be from Gounod's Mass of S. Cecelia.

¶ The day following Christmas being the Sunday in the Octave and also S. Stephen's Day, the Masses will be at the usual Sunday hours, keeping the Feast of the Proto-Martyr.
The Christmas Day music will be repeated with the same accompaniments of harp and tympani, and with the Solemn Processions using hymns instead of the old carols as on Christmas Day. At the Festival Vespers in the evening there will be a Solemn Procession followed by the Te Deum.

¶ The hours for Confession before the Feast will be as follows: Fr. Joiner on Thursday, December 23d, 4 to 5 o'clock; Friday, the 24th, 11 to 12, 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 o'clock. Fr. Quin and Fr. Anderson, Thursday, 4 to 5 o'clock; Friday, 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 o'clock. There will be no Confessional hours kept on the Feast Day, and no appointments can be made with the Clergy for that day.

¶ On Tuesday evening, December 28th, the Feast of the Holy Innocents, the annual party for the children of the Parish will be held in the Parish Hall. Members of the Parish will be gladly welcomed to this party, when it is hoped to have some professional entertainment for the children.

¶ The Rector will be very grateful for contributions for the expenses of the Children's Christmas Festival. Whenever he makes such an appeal as this he hears from just a few people in the Parish. What would please him more than anything else would be to receive one hundred letters, each enclosing one dollar. This would be much more gratifying than to receive one letter giving the entire amount.

¶ Teachers are needed very much for the Saturday morning classes for children. Anyone who would care to take a class of children in elementary cooking, dressmaking or carpentry may communicate with the Sister in charge.

¶ At the annual meeting of the Girls' Club on Tuesday evening, November 2d, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Edna Smalley.
Vice-President, Lena Kubler.
Treasurer, Matilda Dybeck.
Secretary, Carolyn Jerome.

It was decided to spend Tuesday evening meetings in the following manner: First Tuesday, Business Meeting. Second Tuesday, Sewing Class. Third Tuesday, Lecture by some visitor and discussion. Fourth Tuesday, Conference and instruction by the Rector.

The Club cordially invites any young women who wish to join them to visit at any of their meetings, which are held every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Parish Hall.

¶ The Mothers' Meeting will hold a Christmas Bazaar and Sale of useful and fancy articles in the Parish House on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, the 16th of December. They would appreciate the gift of any salable article, and especially ask the liberal patronage of the members of the congregation.

¶ The Sisters will be grateful at all times of gifts of cast-off and worn clothing, and any articles suitable for a rummage sale. These sales are held from time to time for the members of the Mothers' meeting, and many of the articles are given to the poor and deserving.

Christmas Tide

OUR Christmas Feast this year was a very happy one and a very gratifying one. The measure of the spiritual life of the Parish is not in the attendance at any Church service, but in the number of Confessions made and the Communions at our Altars. There were three hundred and seven Communions made on Christmas Day, which is the largest number in seven years. Large numbers sought the Sacrament of Penance, and came to greet the Infant King with pure hearts and souls. What happier Christmas could any Christian soul have, than to come in such a state of grace, on the Feast of the Nativity to our Bethlehem, the House of Bread.

At the Solemn High Mass on Christmas Day, which was preceded by the Processions singing the old Christmas carols, parts of Gounod's Mass of S. Cecelia were sung, with harp and tympani from the Philadelphia Orchestra. The Christmas Day music was repeated on the Sunday in the Octave, the Feast of S. Stephen, and in the evening we had our Festival Service with a solemn Te Deum. The Altar looked very lovely with the white frontal in place, and with quantities of white lilies and pink roses and the usual lights. Small evergreen trees were placed in the windows, and flowers have been kept before the Roberts memorial painting of Our Lady and Her Divine Son.

At the High Mass on the second Sunday after Christmas, the special preacher was the Rev. Charles Herbert Young, D.D., for over twenty-five years the Rector of Christ Church, Woodlawn, Chicago, and now the Head-Master of Howe School in Indiana. It was a great privilege to have him with us, and to hear his message, urging Christian people to the re-establishment of active Christian life in the home.

The Rector and Clergy are most grateful for the many beautiful cards sent by members of the Parish at this Holy Season, and for the many other expressions of love and affection that have come to them individually or for their mutual enjoyment in the Clergy House.

The Rector wishes to thank all those who responded to his appeal for funds for the Children's Festival, and also those who have sent him gifts for his discretionary fund. He regrets that he is unable to write a note of thanks to each person who contributed to these funds.

A jolly and genial spirit has pervaded all the Guild parties during the Christmas Octave, and especially enjoyable was the one the night of Holy Innocents' Day for the children of the Parish. There were over a hundred children in attendance, with their parents and guardians, and after singing carols and receiving their presents from the tree, they were treated to ice cream and cake.

About twenty families of the Parish were supplied with their dinners for Christmas. The baskets were most completely and beautifully arranged by Sister Eleanor and delivered on Christmas Eve. The sick were remembered with baskets of fruit.

May the Life of Him, the anniversary of whose Birth into the world we have been keeping, abide with us always.

Mr. Fry is very anxious to have some more boys for the Choir. They should be at least twelve years of age. We are especially anxious to have all the boys of this age belonging to the Parish in the Choir. There are rehearsals on Monday and Wednesday afternoons and Friday evenings, and attendance twice on Sundays is required.

There are several desirable vacancies in S. Clement's Boarding House for girls at 1825 Green Street. Application should be made direct to the matron in charge. The rates are from three to six dollars a week.

On Tuesday evening, January 18th, the Girls' Club is giving a Pure Food Supper in the Parish House. Tickets for the supper are fifty cents apiece. The club gave one of these suppers last winter and it was a great success. The food was very delicious and well served. It is hoped that there will be a generous support from the members of the Parish and their friends.

The Mothers' Meeting cleared $119.06 at their Christmas Bazaar. This money will be used to buy supplies and sewing materials to be made up at the Thursday evening meetings.

Father Smith is now living at the Clergy House. He assists with Masses through the week and acts as Deacon at the Solemn Masses on Sundays. He will give a series of sermons on the Friday evenings in Lent.

The Bishop Suffragan will visit the Parish on Friday evening, January 28th, for the annual Administration of the Sacrament of Confirmation.

The members of the Parish are urged to keep the Clergy informed as to their correct addresses. Whenever literature is mailed to the members of the Parish, an inexcusable number of letters are returned to us because of wrong addresses. When you change your residence, please send a postal card to the Rector, giving your new address and your old one, so that we can keep our records correct and up to date.

The Diocesan Altar Guild has organized an Embroidery Class, which meets in the Parish House, in the Altar Guild Room, every Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. Any women of this Parish, or any other, who are interested in this work, will be cordially welcomed at these instructions.

Letters are being sent out from the Clergy House every day to members of the Parish, reminding them of the anniversaries of their Baptism, Confirmation, Marriage, and the Burials of the departed members of their families, and telling them that these anniversaries will be remembered at the Parish Masses on these days. It is hoped that the members of the Parish may come more and more to mark these anniversaries by attendance at Mass and by making their Communions.

The Rector hopes that the members of the congregation will ask more frequently for anniversary Requiem Masses. These can be arranged for at special hours in the Crypt Chapel, and the offerings that should always be made at these Masses will be devoted to the Burial Fund for the Poor.

The Rector expects to go to Atlantic City on the 12th of January for a ten days' holiday.

The Rector has received this letter from Atlantic City:

Dear Sir and Father:

I have read that you are having services for the recovery of the sick. Will you please pray for my little boy, John, who is 9 years old, and has had an abscess on the spine, discharging for 5 years, and now developed into tuberculosis.

I have heard that so many have been healed through prayer, and I believe that God is able to heal John, and will heal him. I need your help and your people's help. Will you please, for my sake and dear little boy's sake, help him to be healed. John loves God and knows that Christ's healing power is just the same as it was when He was here on earth. John cries so often and cannot understand why he does not get his healing. He says, "Mother, I pray often during the day and try to keep my thought on God and His love for little children."

I am sending you a handkerchief of John's, since I cannot bring him. The Apostles prayed over handkerchiefs and aprons that were brought to them, and the owners were healed.

I thank you so much for doing this great work, and know that you will pray for John. He has to go to the hospital tomorrow for a long time. He was in once before for seven months.

Very respectfully,
(Signed.)

The handkerchief was blessed in Mass and sent to John with a blessing. It is hoped that everyone who reads this letter, so full of faith and trust in God, will give John and his devoted mother a place in their daily intercessions.

AS a former appeal for certain writings of members of the Society of S. John the Evangelist in the pages of "The S. Clement's Magazine" was successful, I am encouraged to try again, with the consent of the Rector of the Parish.

In collecting materials for a history of S. S. J. E. (the Cowley Fathers) in this country, which can later be placed in their library, I still lack "Our Great Danger and Our Great Responsibility," by Dr. Robert C. Matlack; "True Meaning of True Words in the Prayer Book;" "The Presbyter's Reply to the Priest's Letter," by Dr. D. R. Goodwin; Mr. Henry Flander's lecture on the history of S. Clement's Church, printed in June and July issues of "The S. Clement's Magazine" for 1894.

The parody of the report of the Committee of Inquiry, which had no title, but describes the trials in "Smalltown," I should be glad to get any old numbers of "S. Chrysostom's Magazine" also.

Men's Association News

DURING the month of December the Dance Committee marked the holiday season by holding two dances, one on December 8th and the other on December 29th, the latter forming a feature of the holiday observance. There are still two dances to be given on the subscription series, on Wednesday, January 19th, and February 2d, and it is hoped they will be well attended.

During the month of December there was but one Monday evening meeting held and that was a most successful one. On December 13th about fifty men of the Parish gathered together for the privilege of listening to an address by Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, on the Work of the Civil Service Commission, of which he is a member. (Mr. Woodruff mentioned, by the way, that the other two members of the Commission are also Churchmen, being communicants of S. Stephen's and The Church of the Annunciation, respectively.)

It was a real privilege to hear Mr. Woodruff tell of the actual workings of the Civil Service Board and of its attempts to sift out the desirable from the undesirable applicants for positions under the city administration. It was also a real pleasure to pass an enjoyable evening with so many of the men of the Parish, particularly as some were present who had not attended our meetings before, but assured us that they would in the future.

The Sunday gatherings after the evening service have proved quite a success, attracting not only members of the Association but strangers as well.

During January two meetings are planned, a business meeting on Monday, January 10th, and another social gathering on January 24th. Those who are active in the Men's Association would like to assure the men of the Parish who are not interested, that whatever time they give to the meetings will be well spent, and we all hope that there will be an increase in interest and numbers as the season advances.

Mr. W. S. Miller, of the Personnel Department of the Naval Aircraft Factory, U. S. Navy Yard, Philadelphia, will speak on Monday evening, January 24, 1921, 8 P. M. All the men of the Parish are urged to be present.

Lent

ALL Church people are affected in some way or other by Lent. To some it appeals on what may be called its aesthetic side. They are caught by the restful tranquility that seems to brood over Lent. To others it comes as a time of extra devotions. They attend special services, they assiduously follow courses of sermons, meditations or instructions. Others have the mistaken idea that Lent is the time for self-examination and repentance in preparation for the Easter Communion. But tranquility and extra devotions and hearing of sermons, excellent as they may be, are mere accessories to the true keeping of Lent. Men are all too prone to rest in the accidental and accessory and to miss the point of the keeping of Lent. They catch at the shadow and miss the substance, because they have not begun by considering the end.

What is "the end" of Lent? What, that is to say, is its main purpose? The Church does not leave us in any doubt here. The "end" of Lent is the doing of penance. This the Church makes clear to us in two ways at least.

It gives the Septuagesima season in which to prepare for Lent, and that season culminates in the day commonly known as "Shrove Tuesday," the Tuesday, that is, of shriving or absolution. So far from its being the case that Lent is given for self-examination, contrition, confession, and forgiveness, it is the Septuagesima-tide that is the special time for these things. The keeping of Lent, in the mind of the Church, presupposes the forgiveness of sins already obtained before Lent begins at all.

Having called her children to repentance in Septuagesima-tide, and having presupposed that Shrove Tuesday, at any rate, finds them with all their sins forgiven, the Church starts us on our Lent with the keynote of Ash Wednesday. She puts us en rapport with Lent by reminding us of death as the universal penance for the sins of men, original and actual, and thus teaches us that the special work of Lent is intimately connected with, and works towards, the ultimate penance of death.

It is clear then that the Church insists on the forgiveness of sins as antecedent to the keeping of Lent. It (the forgiveness of sins) is not the "end" of Lent. It is the starting point, not the goal. We cannot begin to keep Lent until our sins are forgiven. In a word, Lent concerns the saints and not the sinners.

Let us then lay it down most emphatically that it is Penance that is the "end" or object of Lent. Its "end," in the sense of result, is to be that it will have helped to form in us the habit of penance, which is the true habit of the Christian life.

(Fr. Denison in "Thoughts on Penance.")

Lenten Notes

Shrove Tuesday. The Clergy will be in the Church for Confessions at the following hours: The Rector, in the morning from 11 to 1 o'clock, and in the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. Fr. Quin and Fr. Anderson in the afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, and with Fr. Smith in the evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Ash Wednesday. There will be Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30 o'clock, and ashes will be imposed before and after each Mass. Matins and the Litany will be said immediately after the 6 o'clock Mass. There will be a service for the children at 4 o'clock, and in the evening, at 8, in S. John's Chapel the Penitential Office will be read and Fr. Anderson will make the address.

Ash Wednesday, together with the other Wednesdays of Lent will be kept as days of special devotion before the Blessed Sacrament. There will be a meditation by the Rector in the Church after the 9.30 Mass. There will be a half-hour's service of intercession in the Church beginning at noon. There will be a second meditation in the Church at 4 o'clock, closing with a service of Adoration in the Lady Chapel. Evensong will be said in the Church at the usual hour.

On the other Wednesdays in Lent, the Day of Devotion will be kept from the early Mass until Evensong. There will be the service of Intercession at noon, and the address at 4 o'clock, followed by Adoration. The usual hymns will be sung at these Devotional Services.

On Fridays in Lent there will be a service for the children, when the Stations of the Cross will be said in the Church. In the evening at 8 o'clock, we will have a Sung Evensong in the Church, with the Choir. During the singing of the hymn at the close of the Evensong, the Choir will leave the Church, and then there will be a Sermon. These Friday night Sermons will be given by Fr. Smith, and will be in the form of a series. This is a great opportunity for us at S. Clement's, and it is hoped that none will neglect it. At the close of the Sermon, the Stations will be said for those who wish to make the Way of the Cross.

The daily Intercessions will be made in the Church every afternoon at a quarter before five o'clock, and Evensong will be said immediately afterwards in the Church. There will be no hynms at Evensong this year, and the offerings may be placed in the Alms Box at the end of the south aisle.

There will be no other extra services during Lent. It is the earnest prayer of the Rector and the Clergy that the people of S. Clement's will make an extra effort to come to some of the services that we already have. There is a daily Mass at 7 o'clock.

There will be the annual Parish Retreat for Women on Mid-Lent Sunday, one for Men on Passion Sunday, and the annual Retreat for S. Mary's Guild on the Thursday in Passion Week. The details of these Retreats, and the Conductors will be announced in the next issue of the Magazine.

There will be some change in the Sunday services during Lent. The Litany will be sung in procession before the High Mass, instead of a processional hymn. The first four Invocations with which the Litany opens, will be sung before entering the Church. Then the procession, with incense, will pass up the centre aisle and down the north aisle, and again up the centre aisle into the Choir. The shortened form of the Litany will be used, ending with the first collect. The Introit of the Mass will be sung at once, and the Mass will follow as usual.

Since the Litany will be sung Sunday mornings, it will no longer be used for the Sunday evening service in Lent. Instead Evensong will be sung with the Choir, with the Officiant in his place in the Clergy stalls. Familiar mission hymns will be used Sunday evenings, and there will be a Sermon as usual. At the close of the service, Miserere, Psalm 51, will be sung to a Plain-song setting, with the Choir and the congregation kneeling. The recessional will follow immediately after the Miserere.

There will be no separate slips printed giving the Lenten services, so the members of the congregation are asked to keep this copy of the Magazine before them for reference.

During February the Rector will give a Quiet Day at S. James' Church, Washington, preach at Grace Church, Allentown, and conduct the Retreat for the Philadelphia Associates of the Sisterhood of S. Margaret.

Parish Notes

On Friday evening, January 28th, the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese visited the Parish, to administer the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation. The Rector presented nineteen candidates for the Parish, and one by proxy for the City Mission. There was one received from the Roman Communion. Sickness detained several who were prepared from being presented at this time, and there were others whose instruction had not been completed. It is hoped that we may be able to present another class before Easter, so if any others are thinking about Confirmation, they may be prepared in time to make their First Communions during Easter-tide.

Bishop Webb, of the Diocese of Milwaukee, made us a brief visit during the past month, but because of his many engagements was unable to be with us for any service in the Church. He brought us many personal messages from Fr. Hutchinson, now Dean of his Cathedral, and assurances of the warm place the new Dean has already found in the hearts of his new parishoners.

Father Kellogg, now Rector of S. John's Church, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, has also been a visitor in the Parish, and has said Mass several times at our Altars. Some few years ago he was on the Clergy Staff, and his many friends in the Parish greeted him warmly.

Father McClenthen, Rector of Mt. Calvary Church, Baltimore, spent a day with the Clergy in the Clergy House, while giving the annual Retreat for the Philadelphia Branch of the Society of the Companions of the Holy Cross. There were over fifty women, members of the Society and others, who kept this day at S. Clement's. We have had the pleasure of having this Retreat here for several years, and we hope that it has become an institution.

The Men's Association was most delightfully entertained on Monday night, January 24th, in the Parish House, when the feature of the evening was an address by Mr. W. S. Miller, of the Naval Aircraft Factory at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. We hear so much of the theoretical side of aeronautics, that it was a real pleasure to know something of both the mechanical and the practical sides. The address, which was very informal, was illustrated with rare photographs made during the war. Light refreshments were served, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

In the future the Men's Association will meet but once each month, on the fourth Monday. At the next meeting, on February 28th, the special speaker will be Mr. Frank W. Melvin, Assistant City Solicitor, who will tell the men of his experience abroad during the war.

The Rector and the Clergy have recently entertained the members of the Acolyte's Guild, and some of their friends, at a "turkey supper" in the Clergy House. Supper was served to about thirty. Later in the evening some of the men attended the last dance in the series given by the Men's Association, in the Parish House, while others spent the balance of the evening in the Rector's Study, with music and games. Too much cannot be said for the faithful devotion to S. Clement's that is exhibited in the regular attendance and punctilious service that these young men give us Sunday after Sunday. One is conscious not only of their devotion to this particular Church, but chiefly to their personal devotion to our Blessed Lord, and that their service at the Altar is indeed a Service to Him. The Rector wishes to express here, publicly, his deep appreciation of their service and devotion.

S. Clement's Altar Guild is very much in need of workers. During the war many of the people who had helped in such organizations, left this work to do the more necessary work with the Red Cross. Now that the war is over, many of these people have not returned to their former affiliations. S. Clement's long established Altar Guild, which has always done such splendid work, has suffered because of lack of interest. The Guild is open to all the women and young girls of the Parish, and they will be instructed in ecclesiastical embroidery, as they may need it. The meetings are held in the embroidery room on the third floor of the Parish House, Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 10 o'clock until noon. Instructions in sewing and embroidery will be given Tuesday mornings.

Lent

THE magazine will be in your hands before Mid-Lent Sunday. This is a time for us to look back over the way we have already come, and examine ourselves as to the progress we have made. It is a time for us to make new resolutions, to redouble our efforts, to make a beginning if we have not already started, to follow on with our Lord in His most sacred Passion.

There is a text which we may well remember during this season, and try to answer the question which is asked: "What is it that God doth require of thee, O man, but to do justice, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God." We are to walk humbly with our Lord in the wilderness, in the way of temptation, and in the way of the Cross, doing our duty to God and to man, loving and exercising mercy. Is not this the fast that I have chosen saith the Lord, "to deal thy bread to the hungry and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house, and that thou hide not thyself from thy own flesh." Renew the efforts of your will to continue your Lenten fast so as to please God by your obedience, to follow His most holy example, to punish yourself for your sinful life, to unite yourself more closely to Him, and to save more money to give to others.

It has never been taught in this parish that Christianity is an easy thing, or that religion ought to be cheap. Religion is expensive. It demands that every penny shall be spent wisely and carefully. It demands that we shall give freely, cheerfully and lovingly to the service of the Lord. It is a religion of self-denial, or it is not the Christian religion. One of the most fatal doctrines of modern times is that Christ has done all for us and therefore we need do nothing. Many believe in a Christ working of old for them, but salvation is Christ working in us now, and this will show itself in us by a life of work, self-denial and sacrifice for Christ's sake.

What are you doing for the Church this Lent? What self-denial are you practicing? What sacrifice are you offering in union with the sacrifice of Christ, once offered but never ceasing, as He our High Priest, continually offers Himself in Heaven? His members, if they are true to His life, must respond to His example.

If your religion costs you nothing, it is worth nothing.

Easter

THE Queen of the Church Festivals is the great feature of this month. "The winter is past, the rain is over and gone, and the flowers appear on the earth," and very soon "the voice of the turtle dove will be heard in our land," as the season of Whitsuntide comes to us once more. There are few sentences which express so beautifully the desire which should be in our hearts at this season as the Collect for the Annunciation, in which we pray for grace, that as we have known the Incarnation of our Lord Jesus Christ, so by His Cross and Passion we may be brought to the Glory of His Resurrection. The fasts and festivals of the church, coming in their regular order, help to keep up in us that sense of the unity of the Christian life which springs from our Incarnate Lord. A little while ago we were keeping our Christmas festival with all its domestic joys, and now we have reached this festival, which more than any other calls us to rejoice in the existence of the Christian Church. Without the Incarnation the Resurrection is useless, but because our Lord is the Head of a new race and has triumphed over the grave, we know that "as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." All His members who live true to this life and bear their cross with Him, shall by His Cross and Passion be brought to their joyful Resurrection. Before we can wish one another a happy Easter, we must feel the touch of the Cross. We must stand by the Cross with Mary, His Mother; we must feel His love with S. John; we must confess our sins with Blessed Mary Magdalene, if we are to share with them on earth and in heaven the glories of His Resurrection. A happy Christmas without a good Advent is unreasonable, and a happy Easter without a good preparation for our Resurrection by penance for sin, and receiving the Bread of Life, is impossible. A real faith, a good hope, must be based on obedience to the teaching and discipline of Holy Church, and a humble reception of the Sacraments. To all who accept and practice these we may wish with confidence and joy a very happy Easter.

The Retreats

THE usual Retreat for women will be held on Mid-Lent Sunday. There will be a corporate Communion for the Retreatants at the eight o'clock Mass, and immediately after breakfast will be served in the Parish House. The first address will be in S. John's Chapel at ten o'clock. Dinner will follow immediately after the High Mass. The second address will be at two o'clock. The intercessions will be said in the Lady Chapel at three o'clock, and the third address will be given at four o'clock, followed at once by Evensong, with which the Retreat closes. The Retreat is open for any women who wish to keep the quiet day, and meals will be provided for all those who notify Sister Eleanor Margaret. A collection will be received at Evensong, which will be used towards defraying the expenses. The Rector will give the addresses.

There will be a Retreat for men on Passion Sunday. The Retreat will commence with the High Mass. The men who will make the Retreat are asked to make their Communions at one of the early Masses. Dinner will be served in the Parish House, and the addresses will be given at two and four o'clock. There will be a service of intercession in the Lady Chapel at three o'clock.

The Retreat will close with Evensong, following the last address, and at this time an offering will be taken and used towards paying for the meal. Please notify the Clergy if you wish to have your dinner with the Retreatants. These devotions are open to any men in the city who care to attend. The Rector will give the addresses.

The Annual Retreat for the Guild of S. Mary will be held in S. John's Chapel on Thursday in Passion Week, 17th of March. The addresses will be made at the usual hours, ten, two and four o'clock. Litanies and intercessions will be said at intervals during the day. The Retreat closes with Evensong at five o'clock. Both dinner and supper will be served, and those who expect to attend should give their names to the Sister Eleanor Margaret, as soon as possible. As is the custom, the monthly meeting of the Guild will be held in the evening instead of the first Monday, and at this time there will be several new members admitted. Any women, not members of the Guild, will be welcomed at the day's devotions. Fr. Anderson will give the addresses.

Lenten Notes

The same schedule of services as announced in the last issue of the magazine will continue through the balance of Lent. A Mass has been added for Wednesdays at half-past nine o'clock.

On the evenings of Passion Sunday and Palm Sunday, the choir will sing "The Story of the Cross," by Lacey Baker, immediately after the sermon.

On Palm Sunday, the ceremonial blessing of the palms will begin at half-past ten o'clock. This will be the usual choral service with the customary ritual, and by beginning at this hour will bring the palm procession at about eleven o'clock. Please bear this change of hour in mind.

During Holy Week, the Stations of the Cross will be said every evening at eight o'clock, Saturday excepted. On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday there will be a Mass at half-past nine o'clock. There will be an address at the Stations on Wednesday and Friday nights. The day of devotion before the Blessed Sacrament will not be kept on the Wednesday in Holy Week, but will be transferred to the following day, when the watches are kept before the Altar of Repose.

On Maundy Thursday there will be a Solemn High Mass at seven o'clock, with the Procession of the Blessed Sacrament immediately after to the Altar of Repose. There is but one Mass on this day, sung by the Rector, when the assisting Clergy and all the faithful should receive the Holy Communion at his hands. This act commemorates our Lord's institution of the Mass, when He fed His people with His own Hand. There should be a much larger congregation present for this Mass than has been the practice in recent years, and a great many more Communions. There will be a breakfast in the Parish House after the Mass for the choir, acolytes and any members of the congregation who notify Miss Newman, 2028 Cherry Street. The Altar of Repose will be accessible for devotions until nine o'clock in the evening.

On Good Friday, Matins and the Stations of the Cross will be said at seven o'clock. The Litany will be said at nine o'clock, and the Stations of the Cross will be made for the children. There will be the Mass of the pre-Sanctified at half-past ten o'clock. The Preaching of the Passion will begin at noon, and the Rector will be the preacher. In the evening, at eight o'clock, after the Stations of the Cross, Fr. Smith will give the last of his Lenten series of addresses.

On Holy Sabbath there will be a Mass at seven o'clock, followed by Matins. It is the custom in the Catholic Church for the faithful to abstain from their Communions from Maundy Thursday until they make their Easter Communion. The Paschal Candle will be blessed just before the First Vespers of Easter at five o'clock.

The following hours will be kept in the church for confessions during Holy Week. The Rector, Tuesday and Wednesday from ten until eleven o'clock, Maundy Thursday from ten until eleven and from three until five o'clock, Good Friday from seven until eight o'clock in the evening, and on Holy Sabbath from ten until twelve o'clock in the morning, and from seven until nine o'clock in the evening. Fr. Quin and Fr. Anderson will be in the church for confessions Wednesday and Maundy Thursday afternoons from three until five o'clock, on Good Friday from three until five, and from seven until eight o'clock, and on Holy Sabbath from three until five, and from seven until ten o'clock. Fr. Smith will be in the church for confessions on Holy Sabbath from three to five in the afternoon, and from seven until nine in the evening. It is hoped that as many as possible will come to their confessions very early in the week.

There will be Low Masses on Easter Day at six o'clock, eight, and a quarter past nine o'clock. This is a day of solemn obligation, and every communicant in the parish should present himself or herself at the Parish Altar on this day. There will be a Solemn High Mass at eleven o'clock, when the Mass will be Mozart's Twelth, and the choir will be augmented by a string quartette. There will be a festival procession before the High Mass. Solemn Evensong will be sung at eight o'clock, followed by the usual procession and a Solemn Te Deum. These services will be repeated on Low Sunday.

The offerings on Easter Day will be devoted to the missionary work of the church, and may be allocated by the givers to any particular work in which they are interested.

Parish Notes

The annual Parish Election of Vestrymen will be held in the Parish House on Easter Monday. The polls will be open from twelve until two o'clock.

On Easter Monday night the Men's Association will have a social evening and entertainment in the Parish House. All the men of the parish and their men friends are most cordially invited to attend.

President Bell of S. Stephen's College, Annandale-on-Hudson, was a guest at the Clergy House for a few days while filling his engagement as noon-day preacher at the Lenten services in the Garrick Theatre. He spoke one evening to about a dozen of the younger clergy of the city, gathered in the Rector's study, on recruiting men for the ministry. It is hoped that he may be able to speak to us some Sunday morning on the same subject, and especially about the work and the aims of S. Stephen's College.

At the last meeting of S. Vincent's Guild of Acolytes, the men voted to give ten dollars to the Near East Relief Fund. The Girls' Club have recently given the Rector twenty-five dollars for the Poor Fund, twenty-five dollars for his discretionary fund, and ten dollars for the purchase of china for the Parish House.

During the month of March the Rector is preaching at Grace Church, Haddonfield, S. Alban's Church, Olney, and at two of the noon-day services during Holy Week in Christ Church.

Fr. Odell, Rector of the Church of the Annunciation, made the address at the close of our Day of Devotion before the Blessed Sacrament on Wednesday, February 16th. It was a real pleasure to have him with us.

Fr. Quin is singing the Litany at the Church of the Annunciation on the Wednesday evenings in Lent.

The Altar Guild has just completed two very beautiful pieces of work for use in the parish. One is a violet stole to match the High Mass set and is an exact replica of the one that was stolen from the pulpit about a year ago. It is a very beautiful bit of embroidery, and we are most grateful to our Altar Guild for their painstaking work. The other piece is an unlined violet chasuble, to be used with the stole, maniple, burse and veil of the old High Mass set that was in use when the folded chasubles were worn by the deacon and sub-deacon. The color of the new chasuble is a royal purple with a crimson sheen. The orphreys are simply outlined with a gold and crimson braid, and the sacred monogram is done in crimson, gold and white. These unlined chasubles are most comfortable to the wearer, hang in soft, graceful folds, and are altogether pleasing to the eye. It will be used at the daily Masses. Again we are most grateful to our Altar Guild, and appreciative of their splendid work.

Easter-tide

AS a Parish we have much for which to be grateful in our Easter Feast. Beginning with Palm Sunday, when the congregation overflowed into the Church corridors, and continuing through Holy Week, the services were unusually well attended, and marked with the utmost devotion and real piety.

At the Solemn Mass on Maundy Thursday, ninety Communions were made, and throughout the day many people kept the watch before the Altar of Repose. The Rector preached the Passion on Good Friday, and officiated at the Blessing of the Paschal Candle on Easter Even.

There were four hundred and twenty-nine Communions made at our Altars on Easter Day, and an offering of over twenty-two hundred dollars, which has been given for the missionary work of the Church.

On Easter Day at the Solemn Mass, Mozart's Seventh Mass in B flat was sung, and the choir was augmented by Hahn's Stringed Quartette. There were solemn festival processions both morning and evening.

On Low Sunday the Easter music was repeated with the same accompaniments.

All the Guilds and Societies in the Parish have had suppers and parties during the Easter Octave, and a spirit of real Easter joy has prevailed.

The Rector and Clergy are most grateful for the many expressions of love and affection that have been sent to them at the Clergy House during the Easter Feast.

Three Bishops at S.Clement's

SINCE the last issue of the MAGAZINE we have had visits from three Bishops. On the Monday evening in Passion Week, Bishop Woodcock, of the Diocese of Kentucky, who was preaching at the noon-day Lenten services in the Garrick Theatre, spent the evening with a group of the young clergy of the city, in the Rector's study. The matter of interesting our young men in the Sacred Ministry was the subject under discussion, and it was most helpful to have the Bishop of Kentucky with us.

On the Monday in Holy Week, Bishop Rhinelander visited us very informally for Confirmation. The Rector presented fourteen persons for this Sacrament. The Bishop made a most helpful address on the words of S. Paul, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." S. John's Chapel was crowded for the service, and many lingered afterwards for a word or two with the Bishop. Thirty-three persons have been confirmed since the first of the year.

Bishop Webb, of Milwaukee, was a visitor over Low Sunday, and Pontificated at the Solemn High Mass. These yearly visits of the Bishop of Milwaukee have become an institution at S. Clement's, and the pleasure they afford is evidenced by the large congregations that always greet him. He took as his text the Gospel for the day, and made a most eloquent and urgent appeal for the increase of the Sacred Ministry. He brought us affectionate greetings from Dean Hutchinson and had many happy things to say of his devoted and effective work at the Cathedral in Milwaukee.

S. Clement's House

THE Girls' Boarding House, known as S. Clement's House, at 1825 Green Street, will be closed on the first of May. The property was rented on a year's lease, and the owners have asked for the house, as they wish to put it on the market for sale. The purchase price is fifteen thousand dollars, and there was no way in which the Corporation could, at the present time, acquire the property.

The House has been most capably run during the year of its existence, and a goodly number of young women have been in residence there all the time. When the work was suggested over two years ago, there was a pressing need for such a house, owing to the great numbers of young women coming to the city to engage in war works. About the time the house was opened, that need had begun to pass; so that at no time have all the rooms been occupied. As one walks through the rooming sections of the city, they are impressed with the number of houses bearing the signs: "Rooms to Rent" or "Vacancies." While rents have not yet taken a drop, we know that with so many places vacant it is but a short time until room rents will have to be decreased very materially. When that is done young women will be able to get in many places all that we have offered them at S. Clement's House for a lower figure perhaps than we would be able to offer.

The Rector and the Committee feel very strongly that a year is not a sufficient test of the need or of the practicability of the House. But we find ourselves confronted with the alternatives of buying the property or giving up the project. After careful consideration, and consulting with able authorities, the decision to give up the work has been decided upon.

Too much cannot be said in praise and appreciation of the work and the interest that Miss Connelly has given the House, and for the funds that she and her friends have so generously given.

The contents of the House will be disposed of to the best advantage and proceeds turned over to the Parish for such purposes as the S. Clement's House Committee may decide.

The War Memorial

AT a recent meeting of the Vestry, the matter of the War Memorial Crucifix was discussed. The time seems to have passed for the erection of such a memorial in the Church yard. It was always a question, even in the mind of Dean Hutchinson, as to the safety of such a shrine in a city church yard.

Several other memorials were discussed and the Vestry finally decided that the memorial should take the form of a Sacring Bell, to be hung in a bell cote erected for the purpose above the roof of the Church. Here would be a memorial bell to be rung at the most solemn and sacred time of our worship, to remind us of the great sacrifice that was made by our young soldier and sailor boys, at the very time when we plead before the Heavenly Throne the One Great Sacrifice made by the Son of God. It is a most fitting memorial, and the Vestry is to be most highly commended for its suggestion.

Some people have made contributions to this fund with the idea of a Memorial Crucifix in mind. Any persons who have made such gifts, and do not care to have them used in the erection of a Sacring Bell, may have them refunded if they apply in writing to the Accounting Warden.

The Churchmen's Alliance

IT IS the purpose of the The Churchmen's Alliance to unite loyal Churchmen in an endeavor to guard the Faith of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, to witness to the efficacy of the Sacraments, to extend a clear knowledge of the Truth, and to encourage every advance towards unity consistent with the historic faith.

This is an organization in which every loyal member of S. Clement's Parish should have a part. Here is a way in which we can join our prayers with those of the countless other loyal Catholics for the Guidance of the Holy Spirit in the advancing and the safeguarding of our Holy Faith.

The Alliance Bulletin, the official organ of the Alliance, which is published bi-monthly, will be found in the Church corridors. Annual membership costs one dollar, and such subscriptions may be handed to the Clergy.

The Cathedral League

AS YOU all know, the Diocese hopes to have a Cathedral some day. A plot of ground on the Parkway has been set aside in the city plans for such use. It will be a great many years before we can begin its erection, but plans are already under way, and the Bishop is very eager to arouse the interest of all Church people in this great project.

The Cathedral League has been formed for all those who are interested in the Cathedral movement, and committees have been appointed in every parish to secure subscriptions of fifty cents a year. If you would like to be identified in this way with the Cathedral plan, Mrs. George Henry Lea will be very happy to receive your subscription.

The Bishop's Bricks Fund

THE Bishop's Bricks Fund has been in existence since the first year of Bishop Rhinelander's Episcopate, and was begun in response to his appeal for "The Six Churches" in his address to the Diocesan Convention. It has now become a Diocesan institution and serves as a channel by which small sums are collected annually either to help in the building of new churches, parish houses, or whatsoever building project the Bishop may have on hand.

Miss Laura Hughes Hutchinson is Treasurer for S. Clement's Church, and will be glad to receive contributions for this fund.

The Women's United Offering for Missions

ALL the women of the Church are asked to make offerings for the Missionary work of the Church, through this annual subscription which is allowed to accumulate for three years, and then presented at the General Convention when the women of the Church meet for their great triennial Missionary Mass Meeting. Every woman in the Church should have a part in this great gift, and every contribution, be it five cents or five hundred dollars, will be most gratefully received. Miss Hutchinson is Treasurer of this fund, and contributions may be sent to her at 2108 DeLancey Place.

R. I. P.
G. Theodore Roberts

IT IS with profound sorrow at the loss of so kind and generous a friend that we mention the death of Mr. George Theodore Roberts, for forty-one years a Vestryman of this Parish. He died at his home in New York City, and on the day of burial a Requiem Mass was said in the presence of the body at the Church of the Transfiguration, New York City. The same morning a Requiem Mass was said in the Parish Church here. The Rector met the body at Laurel Hill Cemetery and said the Committal Service.

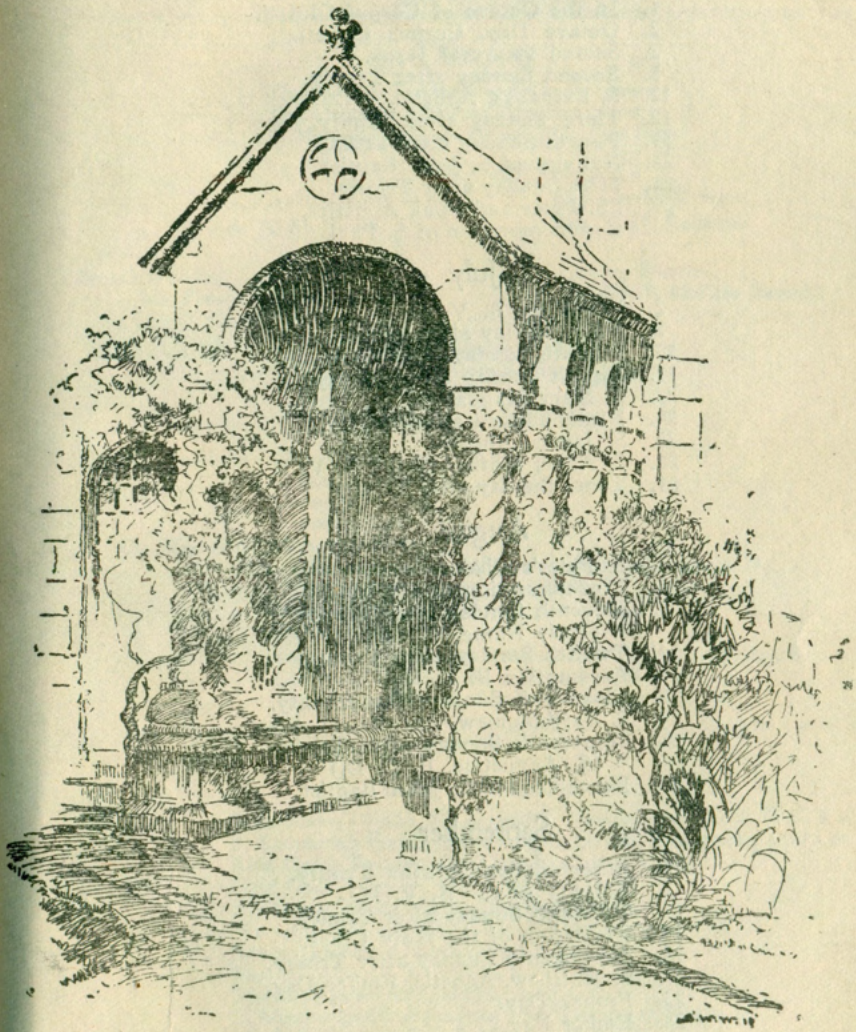
The Vestry passed a minute on the death of their fellow Vestryman, and copies of the same have been forwarded to the family and also spread upon the records of their meetings.

May he rest in peace, and may light perpetual shine upon him.

Parish Notes

DURING Holy Week the Rector sent out seven hundred and thirty-six Easter letters, inclosing eight hundred and sixty-two Communion cards. There were four hundred and twenty-nine Communions made at S. Clement's Church on Easter Day, but barely over two hundred of the Communion cards were returned. This is very disappointing. The cards are sent out for a purpose. We want to know who are making their Communions, and where they live. Of the two hundred cards that were returned, there were over thirty changes in addresses. Twenty-four letters were returned by the post office authorities because they were unable to locate the addressees. No doubt, some of these people think it strange that they have not received an Easter letter, but when we are not notified of new addresses, we lose all touch with the people. In addition to these last ones, there are nine on the Parish lists for whom we have no address. Next month we will publish these names in the hope that some of our friends can help us in locating them.

Entertainment



The members of the Junior Branch of the Women's Auxiliary will give a Japanese Missionary play in the Parish House on the evening of Wednesday the 20th of April. The parts will be taken by the children under the direction of Sister Isabel Margaret, and it is asked that a goodly number of people avail themselves of the opportunity to see the children in this little pantomime and to learn something of the Church's missionary work in Japan.

A Lecture

On Monday evening, April 25th, Mr. F. B. Paist, of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, will give an illustrated lecture in the Parish Hall. While this lecture is given under the auspices of the Men's Association, all the members of the congregation and their friends are most cordially invited. There will be no charge for admission.

Mr. Paist went abroad immediately after the signing of the Armistice, and spent some time in Korea, Japan, China and Siberia, studying conditions in these countries. The lantern slides are made from photographs which Mr. Paist himself took, and so have this added interest. This will be an evening of rare interest, and it is hoped that our people and their friends will take advantage of it.

Father Quin

1896-----1921

A QUARTER of a century is a long period of time, and especially when it represents the length of service for a priest in one particular parish. Such is the anniversary that Fr. Quin will be keeping on the Feast of the Visitation of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

He is loved by all for his devotion to the priestly life, and by us in addition, for his intense devotion to S. Clement's, which he has served so faithfully and so well.

The Rector wishes to express here his sincere appreciation of Fr. Quin's friendly help and fatherly counsel, and the spirit of real co-operation with which he enters into all the parish activities. The Rector knows he is voicing the mind of the congregation when he prays that Fr. Quin may be spared to S. Clement's for many more years of loving service.

The Vestry have prepared the following minute:

Charles Carroll Quin, Priest, was born in New York City, March 10th, 1856, ordained Deacon in 1883, and Priest in 1887. He served as an assistant at S. Peter's Church, Charlotte, North Carolina, and as Rector of Calvary Church, Wadesboro, North Carolina, from 1883 to 1895, acting as Chaplain to the late Bishop Lyman during much of this time.

On July 2nd, 1896, he said his first Mass as a Curate at S. Clement's Church under Father Moffett, and has uninterruptedly served in that capacity since. Loyal and faithful to every duty, he has endeared himself to priests and people alike. His simplicity, his friendliness, his devotion to S. Clement's and the Catholic faith and practice for which it stands, have made him in an essential way part and parcel of this historic parish, and on the conclusion of a quarter of a century of service the Vestry desire to place on record, for themselves and for the parish, their deep and abiding appreciation of his loving and faithful service.

The Bishop of the Diocese writes:—

In view of the approaching twenty-fifth anniversary of Fr. Quin as a Priest in S. Clement's Parish, I am very glad to take this opportunity of expressing my own appreciation of his faithful and devoted service.

He is one of the few men who have grown into the Diocese and seem really a part of it, so that one would hardly recognize the Diocese without them.

His simplicity and good humor and kindly spirit and lack of self-assertion or self-seeking and intense interest in his priestly duties, have endeared him to all who know him and will keep a warm place for him always in their memories.

Parish Notes

The Lord Bishop of Honduras

It was our great privilege and pleasure during the past month to have as our guest the Lord Bishop of British Honduras. He had been spending some time in this country visiting some of our large cities, interesting people in his splendid work. He pontificated at the Solemn High Mass on the Sunday in the Octave of the Ascension and preached. In the evening he told us about his work at a Missionary Mass Meeting. A substantial offering was received, and many friends were made by the Bishop for his work. It is hoped that we may be able to help him more next winter.

Choir Outing

Funds are solicited for the Choir Outing Fund. We have a most excellent group of boys in the choir at the present time, and the music during the past two months has made us most hopeful for the future work of the choir. The small amount of money we give the boys for each service is almost nil, so that the summer outing is the material inducement that holds the boys. They will go off in August to one of the large choir camps, under the direction of Mr. Fry. We need about three hundred dollars for this year's outing. Please send your offerings to the Rector or to Mr. Fry.

Mothers' Meeting

The Mothers' Meeting will continue their weekly meetings during the summer months. They will meet at a quarter past eight o'clock for a service in S. John's Chapel, and after the service they will have some refreshments and little social time in the Parish House. The service in the Chapel on Thursday evenings will be open to any who may care to attend.

Refugee Sewing

The American Red Cross is continuing its splendid work in taking up sewing for the innumerable refugee children abroad. The Philadelphia Branch has received their allotment, and Mrs. Mowry is distributing work among the members of S. Clement's Branch. There is a very pressing need for these garments, and it is hoped that many will apply for this work, which can be taken home or away for the summer. Surely one will have a much happier vacation if they are spending a part of their time doing such work as this.

Clergy Vacations

Fr. Quin and Fr. Anderson left for their vacations on the first of June. Fr. Quin is at Chelsea, Atlantic City, and Fr. Anderson is at Mt. McGregor, New York. They will return the middle of July. Fr. Smith expects then to go to Jenkintown for the balance of the summer, and will return in the fall to live at the Clergy House: The Rector will leave about the eighteenth of July for his holiday, and will be back for Michaelmas.

Vestry Notes

At the last meeting of the Vestry, the Clergy appropriation was substantially increased, and the Rector hopes to add another priest to the Clerical Staff in the autumn. The new Curate will specialize in the work among the children, and in the spiritual direction and discipline of the choir.

The Vestry at its last meeting elected Mr. Sheldon Potter Ritter to the vacancy in the Vestry caused by the death of Mr. G. Theodore Roberts. Mr. Ritter was a member of the Vestry some years ago, but resigned when he left the city to live in Whitemarsh. He has now returned to the Parish, and we are very happy to welcome him again to membership in the Vestry.

C. B. S.

On Corpus Christi afternoon, after Evensong, the annual meeting of S. Saviour's Ward of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament was held in the Parish House. Mr. Mowry was elected Secretary-Treasurer for the ensuing year. The Ward has at present seventy-eight members. The total receipts for the year were $89.75. Of this amount $39.00 was for dues, $28.15 was an offering to the Confraternity, and the balance of $22.60 was expended for postage.

Altar Flowers

Garden flowers of all varieties will be welcomed for the altars during the summer. Those for the Lady Chapel may be sent at any time to the Clergy House, and those intended for the High Altar on Sundays should be at the Church on Saturday afternoons, not later than four o'clock.

The New Pulpit

Rapid progress is being made in the execution of the Lea Memorial pulpit. The carving is being done by Mr. Main, who did the work on the Reredos. It should be ready to be placed in the Church within a few months, and may be ready for the Blessing at S. Clement's-tide. It will be a great addition to the growing beauty of the Church.

Our Visitors

Fr. Barton, of S. Mary's Convent, Peekskill; Fr. Phillips, of S. Peter's Church, Spotswood, N. J.; Fr. Underhill, of Hammonton, N. J.; Fr. Sabin, of the Cathedral, Chicago, and Fr. Allen, O. H. C., have been entertained at the Clergy House during the past month.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:

By the time this magazine is in your hands I hope to be back at my place in the parish. One of the joys of a vacation is the coming home again. After the rest of a holiday one is fired with new zeal and earnestness. I hope all of you are feeling this way and that you are ready to enter in, with me, wholeheartedly in the winter's work. There is much for us to do in "lengthening the cords and strengthening the stakes" of the kingdom of God.

First of all is our prayer life, which has its center in the Mass and on communions. The supreme moment for intercession is the time of the offering of the Holy Sacrifice. Our spiritual development depends on our assistance at Mass, and especially on our communions. As a parish we have been growing lukewarm in this most essential part of our Christian living. Our parish life depends on it. The whole church depends on it.

There is the daily Mass at seven o'clock. Will you not select one day, or two, in each week when you will meet your Blessed Lord in the Sacrament of His ordaining at this early hour? Make it a rule to be present at a definite time each week. Too much of our spiritual exercising is careless and haphazard. That you may have more opportunities to be present at Mass, I am adding another Mass each day at half-past nine. You have had this second Mass on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Holy Days for some years, but beginning with Monday, October 3, there will be two Masses every day, one at seven and the second at half-past nine.

Then there must be our service. You must take the blessings and the gifts that God gives you and share them with your fellowmen. You must "let your light shine." There are many ways in which you can serve. Teachers are needed for the Mothers' Meeting, which meets every Thursday evening. Regular attendance and willingness to do a little parish visiting are the only requirements. Teachers are needed for the Saturday morning classes for the children—two hours each week helping the children in work and play. Workers are needed for the Altar Guild Tuesday and Thursday mornings. The Guild has several orders and helpers are wanted in sewing and embroidery. If you do not know how to do the work you will be taught by experienced workers.

Women are wanted to interest themselves in the missionary work of the church through the Women's Auxiliary. The women meet in the Parish House on first Wednesdays at three o'clock. Men are wanted to join the Men's Association to promote good fellowship and to assist me in welcoming newcomers to the parish life. The monthly meetings are full of interest and sociability, and the men should be members of the Association.

Boys and girls are wanted in the Catechism, the Guilds and the manual training classes on Saturdays. They are wanted, above all, to be missionaries, to bring other boys and girls to the church and into the parish life.

So there is a work for all day and a place for every talent, no matter how individual or peculiar it may be. Tell me how much time you have to give, what gift you will exercise for your Lord, and I will give you a place and a work to do.

Remember me and the other clergy in your daily prayers. Without God's help we can do nothing. As we pray for His richest blessing on you all and for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the winter's work.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

FRANKLIN JOINER.

The Angels

October is the Month of the Angels. The Feast of Michaelmas coming at the very end of September, and the Feast of the Holy Guardian Angels on the second day of October, gives this character to the whole month.

We need to keep the Angels before us in this materialistic and uncredulous age to reassure us and reaffirm the reality of the unseen world.

The Angels are inseparately associated with the Bible story from the creation of the world and the fall of man in the Garden of Eden to the redemption by our Lord and His glorious resurrection on Easter Day. The Acts of the Holy Apostles and the history of the early church introduce them again and again, while the revelation of St. John the Divine is given us by the word and conduct of an Angel. How the Gospel narrative of our Lord's incarnate life would lose if we were to subtract the Angels from His experience. The Angel Gabriel visits Blessed Mary and greets her as the highly favored mother of God. The Angel hosts announce the Nativity with their Alleluias and silently guard the Holy Family in their flight into Egypt. They comfort and console Jesus in the hour of His temptation by the devil. They witness the Father's words, "This is My beloved Son," in the transfiguration. They hover near with encouragement and hope in the dark and lonely hours of Gethsemane. They triumphantly roll away the stone of the sepulchre and are first to see the Resurrected Lord. They escort the Victor in His glorious ascension into heaven.

The Angels being heavenly creatures are on earth best known and least known. Perhaps it is better so. Like the winds that envelop the earth and the stars that sweep across the night, we perceive but do not understand. Whatever thoughts we cherish concerning Angels, three are paramount: Strength, holiness, service. Human records that recognize unseen agents represent Angels as guardians, deliverers and defenders; all-glorious, free from want and suffering, at home in heaven; waiting upon the lowly, speeding on divine errands, present in time of struggle. They do God's will; they are ministering spirits; they dwell in God's presence. A guilty conscience cowers before an Angel's flaming sword; beneath Angelic wings the defenceless find protection; the hungry are fed by the hands of Angels; waters troubled by an Angel's touch are transformed into streams of healing; prison doors open to Angels; they build a ladder on which a dreamer climbs heavenward; and celestial cavalry on a mountainside turn the forlorn hope of a battle.

Some mortals the Angels seem ever ready to defend—soldiers, prisoners, the dying, and little children. Is there a challenge in this charge of Angelic ministration, and in the solemn warning to despise not those whose Angels always behold the face of the Father?

One of the strange, also one of the beautiful things about our well-nigh lost belief in Angels is that it belonged to our childhood. Among other simple beliefs, we indistinctly—perhaps clearly—conceived a world inhabited by holy Angels, an order surpassing in strength and purity, beautiful beyond the most extravagant imagining. The verse, Four Angels guard my head, had a meaning; it was a childish fancy, but it supported the spirit in loneliness and darkness. Could that pristine faith persist, could that sense of guardianship survive, we might walk amid a world of evil unstained and unharmed.

As the Angels excel in ghostly strength, and as they are unafraid in their life about the throne of God, as they are ordained "in a wonderful order" to serve, may we not by purity of heart and mind approach Angelic strength, by worship and contemplation see the King in His beauty, and in the consciousness of their succor serve God in our place as they serve Him in theirs?

"Still let them succor us; still let them fight,
Lord of Angelic hosts, battling for right!
Angels of Jesus, Angels of light!

(Adapted in part from The American Church Monthly.)

Parish Notes

The Rector has been unable to secure another priest for the staff. Fr. Smith will return to us for the winter and hopes to take a larger part in the work. The details of parish administration will be slightly rearranged, and it is hoped that this will give more time for expansive work.

With the first Sunday in October the winter schedule of services begins, and the following week opens the Guilds and other organizations. The eight o'clock Mass is restored to the Sunday services and the sung Evensong with sermon at eight o'clock in the evening.

St. Mary's Guild meets on the first Monday evening of each month and on the first Friday the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament keeps the Holy Hour. These services are open to any who may care to come. You are practically urged to come for the latter service. It is held in St. John's Chapel. It consists of some devotional hymns and an address by the Rector, followed by Adoration and Benediction of the Sacrament.

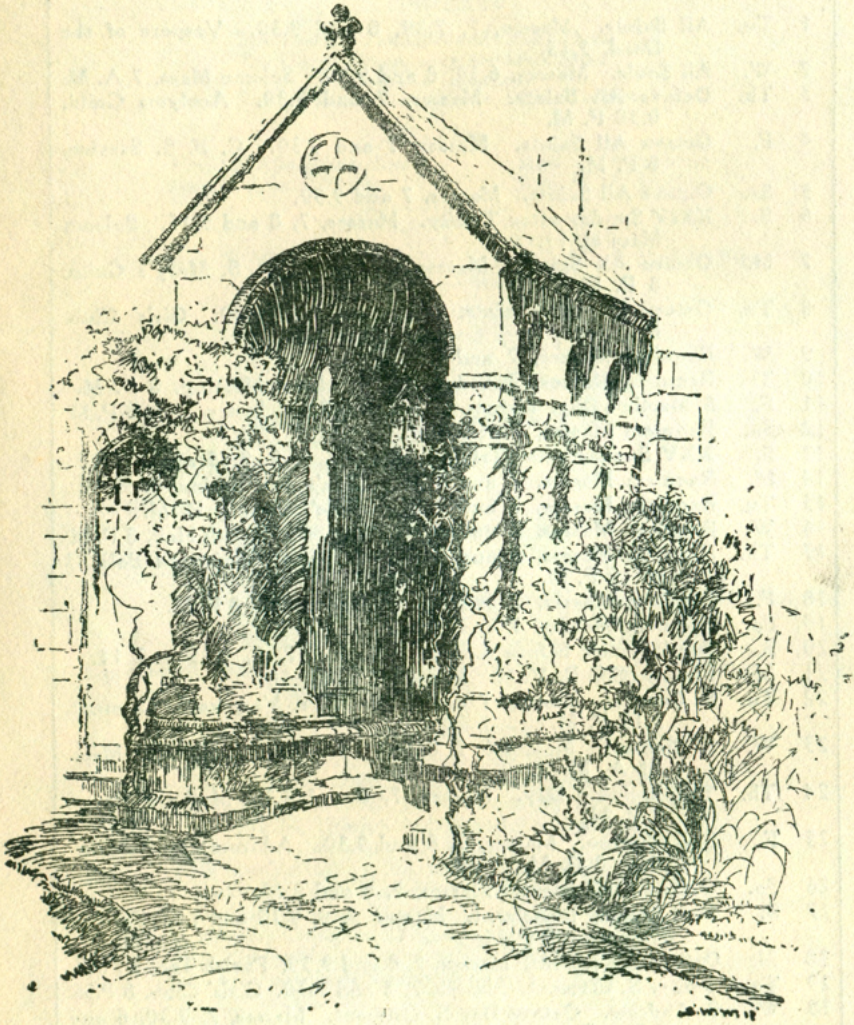
There is a service every Friday evening in St. John's Chapel. On all Friday evenings but the first in the month the Litany is said, some hymns sung and a short instruction is given. The Rector would be glad to have questions given to him to be answered at this time.

Attention is again drawn to the League of Intercession. The leaflet is issued monthly and will be sent to any one wishing to use the prayers for the cost of postage, which is twelve cents a year. Special intercessions will be inserted in the leaflets if they are sent to the Clergy House before the fifteenth of the month. The aim of the paper is to help intercessors in the subjects of their daily prayers and to give others an opportunity to intercede for our needs and to return thanks for our many blessings. The leaflet enjoys a wide circulation, and is commended by those who have made a habit of its use.

During October the semi-annual meeting of the Convocation of Northern Philadelphia will be held in St. Clement's Church. Supper will be served in the Parish House to the members and delegates. Will those who are so disposed please send gifts of money to the Rector to be used for the expenses?

Tuesday, the first day of November, is the Festival of All Saints. There will be the usual Masses at 7 and 9.30 o'clock. Vespers of the Dead will be said in St. John's Chapel immediately after Evensong at 5.15 o'clock. The following day, Wednesday, is All Souls' Day. There will be low Masses of Requiem at 6 and 9.30. The Solemn Requiem, with communions, will be sung at 7 o'clock.



Those who wish to have the souls of their departed friends and relatives commemorated on All Souls' Day should make certain that their lists of names, clearly written with the full Christian name, are in the Rector's hands before the previous Sunday. Also mention if you wish the commemoration at any particular Mass. There is a list of all the departed members of the parish, which is kept up to date, so it is not necessary to include any of these in the individual lists.

The names commemorated on All Souls' Day will be redistributed into smaller groups and remembered at the Masses throughout November, there being Requiems on every allowable day. Bona Mass will be said after Evensong Monday evenings.

Breakfast will be served in the Parish House after the Solemn Requiem on All Souls' Day for the Acolytes and the Choir. Persons who wish to have their breakfast here after the Mass may notify the sister, and can be accommodated at thirty-five cents the plate.

On every allowable Monday in the year the parish Masses are Requiems. The Litany of the Departed is said after the 9.30 Mass.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

When we see November written on the cover of the Magazine, and begin to plan for the Patronal Feast, we realize that the winter's work has begun. The Mothers' Meeting, the Guilds and the work among the children have all started off with a great deal of enthusiasm and earnestness on the part of the members. We are badly in need of more helpers. Again I urge all those who can give any time to such work in the Parish to speak with me, so that I can fill the waiting places.

November 23, the Feast of S. Clement, Bishop and Martyr, and our Blessed Patron, falls on Wednesday this year, the day before Thanksgiving. These anniversary days are mile-stones in our Parish life. They are points at which we rest to check up the year that is past, to correct its mistakes, to seek pardon for our sins, and to make fresh resolutions for the coming year, a rededication of ourselves to God's service and the service of our fellowmen. There is but one place where we can do this, and that is at the Parish Altar. There will be more opportunities for you this year than ever before, because of the greatly increased number of Masses on the Feast Day itself and throughout the Octave. There is no legitimate excuse for any member of the Parish not receiving Holy Communion at this solemn season.

The offerings at the Feast will, as usual, be devoted to the expenses of the Parish. With the increased cost of commodities, the cost of running the Parish has greatly increased. Still, clerical salaries and the appropriation for the Clergy House have remained the same. So all the additional running expenses have gone into the Church itself and the maintenance of the services. We are four thousand dollars in arrears. I hope we may be able to reduce this indebtedness one-half during the Feast. For many years we have run behind about a thousand dollars in the summer months. The four thousand dollars is made up of last summer's and this summer's shortage, together with the amount of the improvements to the heating plant made early last year. Let us all pull together to wipe out this sum.

The Mothers' Meeting and several of the Guilds, under the direction of the Sister, have volunteered to work during the winter to help in reducing this arrearage. So whenever you are solicited to subscribe to a bazaar or an entertainment, I hope you will give your bit towards their fund.

But how much we have for which to be thankful! The full blessings and privileges of the Catholic Faith, a united and unanimous Parish, and a big field for work!

May God bless you richly, and fill you with all spiritual joys in the coming Feast.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner.

S. Clement's-Tide

The preparation for our Patronal Feast will begin as usual with a Novena for the Parish on the 14th. The prayer will be said at Evensong every day. It will be found elsewhere in the Magazine, and it is hoped that every member of the congregation will add the prayer to their own daily devotions.

First Vespers of S. Clement will be said in S. John's Chapel immediately after Evensong on Tuesday, November 22. The Clergy will be in the Church for Confessions on the eve of the Feast from four to five in the afternoon and from seven to eight in the evening.

On the Feast Day there will be Masses for Communion at 6, 7, 8, 8.30, 9 and 9.30 o'clock. There will be a Solemn High Mass with Procession at 11 o'clock. An augmented choir will sing Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart, accompanied with strings, harp and tympani. The special preacher will be the Reverend Frederick S. Penfold, D.D., Rector of S. Stephen's Church, Providence, R. I.

In addition to the usual daily Masses at 7 and 9.30 o'clock, there will be a Mass at 8 o'clock through the Octave.

The Mass intentions during the Feast will be as follows:

Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, for our country.

Friday, S. Katherine, Virgin and Martyr, for the Guilds and Sodalities of the Parish.

Saturday. Commemoration of the Dedication. For the Rector and Clergy.

Sunday. First Sunday in Advent. For a deepening of the Spiritual life of the Parish. Masses of the Sunday. Evensong will be Solemn, of the Octave of S. Clement, with Procession of Guilds and Solemn Te Deum.

Monday. Requiem Masses for Communicants and Benefactors.

Tuesday. For the Sisters of S. Margaret and their work in the Parish and for the children of the congregation.

Wednesday. S. Andrew, Apostle, and Octave Day S. Clement. For the spread of the Catholic Faith and for our part in the missionary work in the Church.

On Thanksgiving Day evening, the Mothers' Meeting will have their annual S. Clement's-tide party.

On Friday evening, in S. John's Chapel, there will be an hour of special devotion before the Blessed Sacrament, with an address and Benediction.

There will be an entertainment and party for the children on Saturday.

The annual Parish Tea and Reception will be held in the Parish House on Monday evening, November 28, at 8 o'clock. Reports of the past year's work and a prospectus of the work for the ensuing year will be read by representatives from the several Guilds and organizations. There will be some entertainment provided, with vocal and instrumental music, dancing in the gymnasium, and some light refreshments during the evening. This evening is especially designed to bring the members of the Parish and the congregation together. If we are really to be a family, we must know each other better.

Tuesday evening in the Octave, the Girls' Club will have their usual party.

Wednesday evening, of the Octave Day, the two branches of S. Katherine's Guild will have a joint meeting, with the reception of new members, and a party in the Parish House immediately afterwards.

Prayer for the Novena

ANT. I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and My Blessing on thine offspring.

V. Turn Thee again, O Lord God of hosts.

R. Look down from Heaven, behold and visit this vine.

Collect

Almighty God, Who dost govern all things in Heaven and earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and grant to this Parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare: schools in which to educate the young in Thy faith and fear; Ministers to labor in this portion of Thy vineyard; the Church, preserved in all the beauty of holiness. Strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances and hurtful things; and make all to be of one heart and one mind in the Fold of Thy Holy Church, to the honor and glory of Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Special Offerings

The Vestry has allocated the offerings on the approaching special days to the following objects:

All Saints' Day—The Sisters of S. Margaret.
All Souls' Day—The Guild of All Souls.
S. Clement's Day—Parish Expenses.
Thanksgiving Day—The Episcopal Hospital.
Second Sunday in Advent—The Poor Fund.
Christmas Day—Clergy Pension Fund Premiums.

Christmas Bazaar and Sale

The Mothers' Meeting, under the direction of Sister Eleanor, is making elaborate preparations for a big Christmas Bazaar and Sale in the Parish House on the afternoon and evening of November 17. Remember, Thursday, November 17.

There will be innumerable fancy and useful articles suitable for Christmas gifts. There will be such things as aprons and towels that you need every day in your home. There will be plenty of good things to eat. There will be Christmas cards, and a choice collection of cards you will have from which to choose, for most of them are cards that have been brought this season from England. Everything will be reasonably priced, and the proceeds of the day will be devoted to the Mothers' share in the reduction of the Parish debt.

The Men's Association

The next meeting of the Association will be held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, November 14, at eight o'clock. Special speakers have been secured for each of these monthly meetings, and the Rector begs the men of the Parish to get into the spirit of this organization. Every man in the congregation belongs here. There is no business to transact. It is an evening of entertainment and social intercourse. The Entertainment Committee has secured for the November meeting the Hon. Eugene C. Bonniwell, Judge of the Municipal Court, and Chancellor of the Sons of the American Revolution, to address the men of the Association. Come and bring a friend that you would like to introduce to the Parish.

The Winter Dances

The Men's Association, working in conjunction with the Girls' Club, has arranged for a series of nine dances, to be given during the winter in the Parish House. Single admissions will be twenty-five cents, or two dollars for the entire number. The dates for these dances are Wednesday, November 16 and 30; Tuesday, December 13 and 27; Wednesday, January 18 and February 8; Monday, February 27, and Wednesday, April 19. The first dance of the series was given on Hallowe'en, and by its success gives promise of a very happy series. The Committee will be glad to receive contributions of money from any who are interested in this feature of our social life.

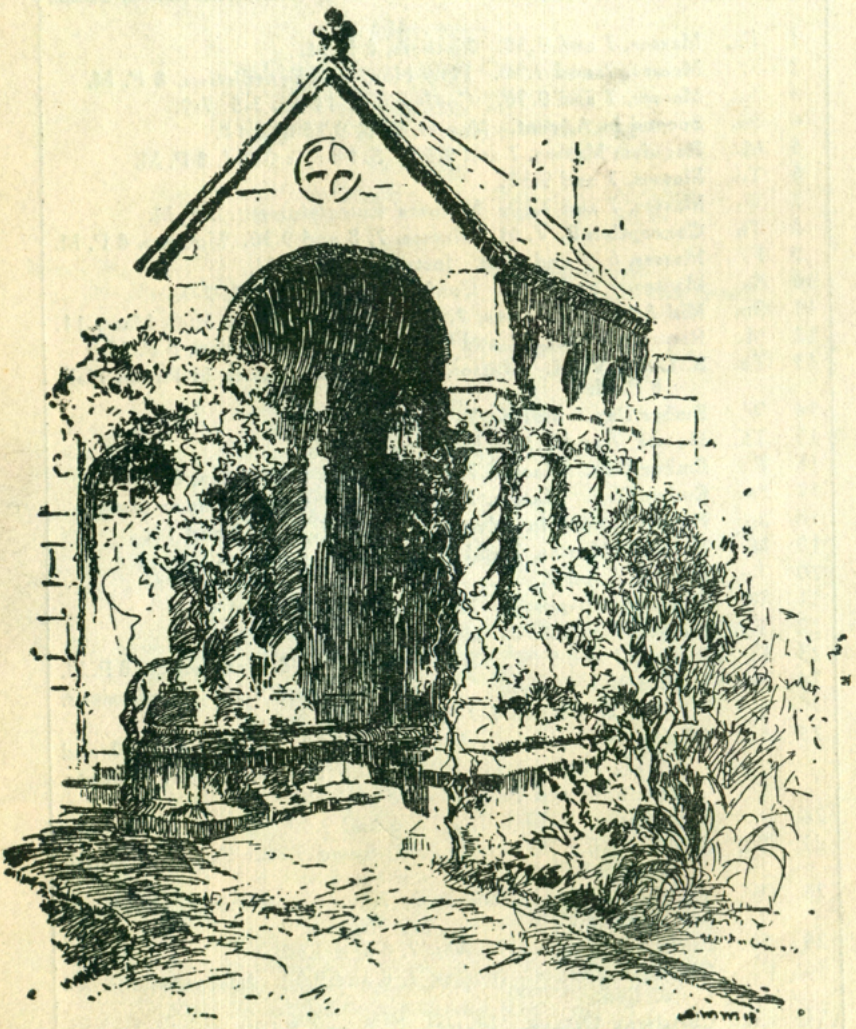
Carol for S. Clement's Day



It was about November tide,
A long, long time ago,
When good St. Clement testified
The faith that now we know.
Right boldly then he said his say
Before a furious King;
And therefore on St. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

Work in the mines they gave him then
To try the brave old saint;
And there two thousand Xtian men
With thirst were like to faint.
He prayed a prayer, and out of clay
He made the waters spring;
And therefore on S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

An anchor round his neck they tied,
And cast him in the sea;
And bravely as he lived he died,
And gallantly went free.
He rests a many miles away,
Yet here his name we sing,
As all upon S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

Our fathers kept it long ago,
And their request we make,
Good Christians, one small mite bestow,
For sweet S. Clement's sake;
And make his feast as glad and gay
As if it came in spring,
When all upon S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

I want to thank you most warmly for your very hearty response to my call for S. Clement's-tide. While many would be inclined to measure the Feast by the numbers present at the High Mass or the amount of the offering made, the Pastor will make his estimate by the numbers that present themselves at the Altar for Holy Communion, and that prepare themselves through the Sacrament of Penance. There was an increase of twenty in the number of Communions over last year, and that pleases me more than any other aspect of our Festival.

The High Mass on the Feast Day was a most worthy offering of the Holy Sacrifice. The choir was augmented by a few extra voices, and they were assisted by eight stringed instruments, the harp and the tympani. Mr. Mitchell, of the Church of S. Martin's-in-the-Fields, presided at the organ, and Mr. Fry conducted the music. Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart was perfectly sung, without an apparent flaw, and the whole service was characterized with quiet dignity and reverence. A great congregation joined with us in our celebration and in our offering of thanksgiving to Almighty God.

The Rev. Frederick Spies Penfold, Rector of S. Stephen's Church, Providence, brought us a most helpful and inspiring message, and we are most grateful to him for his visit. On the Sunday evening in the Octave there was a Festival Evensong, with a Procession of the Guilds, and ending with a Solemn Te Deum. The Vicar of S. Mary's Pro-Cathedral, the Rev. George Lynde Richardson, was the preacher.

The offering on the Feast Day was about fifteen hundred dollars, exceeding last year's by over two hundred dollars.

The winter's work seems to be moving along very well, and a spirit of real interest and desire to help prevails. We are still in need of workers for the Altar Guild, both to do embroidery and work on linen, and also to mend torn vestments. Will any who can give two hours a week to such work please speak to me about it?

Our attention is now drawn ahead to the Solemn and also glorious Feast of the Nativity of our Saviour, Jesus Christ. The Feast this year falls on Sunday. It is most fitting that we should be keeping the Feast of His Holy Nativity on His own day. This should enable greater numbers than usual to make their Communions on the Day itself, so I am arranging for more Low Masses than is usual. Let no one be absent from the Altar, which is our Bethlehem, our "House of Bread," on that gladsome day.

Let us spend this Advent-tide in real preparation for the Christmas Feast. In preparing our souls by a thorough self-examination, an earnest effort to rid ourselves of our besetting sins, and in a sincere purpose of amendment of life. Then shall we have a real

Merrie Christ-masse, and with new sight see "the King in His beauty."

God bless you all, and give you every spiritual joy in the happy Christmas Feast.

Faithfully your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Contributions for Christmas

The Rector is needing funds for the Christmas Festival. There is the expense of greens with which to decorate the Church. Then there is the expense of the Christmas parties, and also the materials to use in filling the Christmas baskets. There will be more of these baskets this year than usual, so he will need more money. Last year he asked that as many as possible send him one dollar, and a great many reponded. He makes the same suggestion this year. Then everybody has a share in this work, and in spreading Christmas cheer.

Confessions for Christmas

The Clergy will be in the Church for Confessions on the Friday before Christmas from three to five o'clock in the afternoon and from seven to eight o'clock in the evening, and on Saturday from eleven to twelve o'clock in the morning, three to five o'clock in the afternoon, and from seven to nine o'clock in the evening. Any of the Clergy may be seen by appointment during the week, immediately after the half-past nine o'clock Mass.

Masses for the Christmas Feast

On Christmas Day there will be Low Masses for Communion at 6.00 6.30, 7.00, 7.30, 8.00, 8.30 and the usual 9.15 Mass with Carols. The Masses on the even hour, together with the Children's Mass, will be at the High Altar in the Church. The Masses on the half-hour will be in St. John's Chapel. There will be a Solemn Procession at the Solemn High Mass at eleven o'clock, and the choir will sing Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart, with some instrumental accompaniment. There will be a Solemn Festival Evensong at eight o'clock with Solemn Procession and Te Deum. The Christmas Carols will be sung in the Processions, both morning and evening. Let us pack old St. Clement's Church to the very doors, crowding her Altars and making her swell with our prayers and ring with our hymns of praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the gift of His Dear Son.

The Parish Dances

The dances that are being given this winter under the auspices of the Men's Association and the Girls' Club have started off with wonderful attendances and a fine fellowship. They are a great contribution to the social life of the parish, and bring a good number of young people in contact with the Church who would not otherwise come to know it. Not a few have become members of the congregation through knowing us in this way. It is a disappointment that there is so small a number of St. Clement's people present. The majority of those who come are from without the parish. There should be more of our own people there. Here is a way in which many who are not actively engaged in parish work can really help. Come to the dances, get to know these strangers, answer their questions, show them about the Church and the Parish buildings, and give them some of your enthusiasm for the Catholic Faith and for St. Clement's Church. There will be two dances during December, the first one on Tuesday evening, the thirteenth, and the second on Tuesday evening, the twenty-seventh.

The Men's Association

The next meeting of the Association will be held in the Parish House on Monday evening, December 12. The committee has secured two speakers for this occasion. Mr. Charles H. Grakelow, Exalted Ruler of the Elks, will be the first speaker of the evening, and he will be followed by Mr. Robert J. McKenty, Warden of the Eastern State Penitentiary. Both of these men are in demand as speakers at public meetings, and should be greeted at St. Clement's by a large gathering of the men. The organization is presenting a good program each month, and very few men are availing themselves of the opportunity that is before them. The only way to put enthusiasm into these meetings is to come and bring somebody with you. You will never make them what you think they ought to be by staying at home. There will be smokes and refreshments.

The Girls' Club

At the annual election of officers in November, the Girls' Club elected the following members to serve as their officers for the ensuing year: President, Carolyn Jerome; Vice-President, Laura Collier; Treasurer, Rebecca Taylor; Secretary, Mabel W. Eddy.

While this organization is known as "The Girls' Club," it welcomes to membership the young married women of the Parish as well.

New Photographs of the Church

On St. Clement's Day afternoon, while all the Festival decorations were still in place, The Rau Art Studios, Incorporated, with which two of our own young men are associated, took several very fine interior views of the Church, and one very excellent exterior view. The interior views include one of the High Altar and the Sanctuary, one of the entire front of the Church, including the new Pulpit and the Lady Chapel. There is a picture of the Lady Chapel alone, and also one of the Pulpit. These pictures are about eight by ten inches in size and mounted on gray cards about twelve by fourteen inches. They may be secured at one dollar each, of which twenty-five cents will go towards the fund being raised by the Mothers' Meeting for the Parish debt. The pictures will be on exhibition after every service in the Cope Room, and there will be someone there to take your orders, and if they are placed promptly the pictures will be ready for delivery before Christmas. If the demand warrants it, some postal card views will be printed later on.

The Lea Memorial Pulpit

On the Sunday befort the Patronal Festival, the Lea Memorial Pulpit was used for the first time. It is a wonderfully beautiful piece of work, carved by the same hands that did the Reredos behind the High Altar, and all the work in the Lady Chapel. The same features have been strictly adhered to in the carving of the Pulpit, so no matter where one might have seen it, they would know at once that it belonged to St. Clement's Church. Because of its absolute harmony with all its surroundings, it has fitted into the Church so remarkably that one is not conscious of a new thing. We already feel that we have always had it, and this has almost entirely mitigated our sorrow at seeing the old Pulpit disappear with its many sacred memories.

The Pulpit is the gift of the family of the late George Henry Lea, for many years a Vestryman of the Parish. The greatest interest was taken in its design and every detail by Mrs. Lea, who died in October without ever seeing the finished work. So, in a way, this gift becomes a memorial to her as well as to her husband. May they rest in peace.

The Pulpit has been placed in the same position as the old one, the platform standing about four inches higher, which many people seem to think has improved the conditions for hearing the preacher more distinctly. The case of the Pulpit is somewhat higher than the old one, which preserves a better balance and gives the preacher a sense of greater security. The carving is very delicate and very beautiful, showing carved panels in five of the eight sides. These panels show Saints in bold relief, carved out of the background, and standing out with fine effect. They are St. George, with the dragon, and showing the rose in suggestion in the border; St. Clement with the anchor and his Church, with fishes carved in the border, his companions in the sea; St. Paul with his scroll and pen, with the palms of martyrdom in the border, and St. Denys, with the devil gargoyle from Notre Dame at his feet and the fleur-de-lis suggested in the border. The fifth panel holds an allegorical figure, symbolizing the Old Dispensation, the figure blindfolded, holding in the arms the broken table of the covenant, and supporting a broken cross.

On the base of the Pulpit is carved the memorial inscription, and on the pedestal, facing the south side, is the Lea coat of arms, with the text, "I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith."

The Rector and the entire congregation wish to thank most warmly this family for their generous and acceptable gift towards the greater beautifying of our already beautiful Church.

A Prayer for your Parish Priests

Keep them, I pray Thee, dearest Lord
Keep them for they are Thine—
Thy priests whose lives burn out before
Thy Consecrated Shrine.
Keep them—Thou knowest, dearest Lord—
The world—the flesh are strong
And Satan spreads a thousand snares
To lead them into wrong.
Keep them for they are in the world
Though from the world apart,
When earthly pleasures tempt, allure
Shelter them in Thy heart.
Keep them, and comfort them in hours
Of loneliness and pain
When all their life of sacrifice
For souls seems but in vain.
Keep them, and O remember, Lord,
They have no one but Thee
Yet they have only human hearts,
With human frailty.
Keep them as spotless as the Host—
That daily they caress—
Their every thought and word and deed,
Deign, dearest Lord, to bless.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:

First, let me wish you all joy and happiness in the new year. The outlook on the world in the realm of social and industrial conditions is not very cheerful, but I hope you will carry into your life in the world the lessons that you have learned at the Manger of Bethlehem, that in the Christ-Masse Feast you have seen "the Desire of the Nations" has indeed come. Live His life among your fellow men. The Christian Religion is a life to live. You cannot estimate your personal influence, especially when your life is lived in the Spirit of Christ, and under His guidance. Do come more frequently during the new year to your Communions, to have that Life strengthened and intensified within yourselves, not only for your own joy in the Lord, but that you may have something Real to share with your friends and associates.

Second, I want to thank you all, both for myself and for the Assistant Clergy, for the many expressions of your affection and confidence that have been sent to us personally or collectively in the Clergy House during Christmas-tide. We are more than pleased with these gifts, and we love you for the spirit of loyalty that prompts them. Our one regret is that we cannot write to each one individually and tell you how much real happiness you have given us.

You have noticed before this how fond I am of statistics. Some people say they mean nothing, and that you can juggle them to mean anything! Aside from that possibility, they are interesting. I have completed a table of the Communions made on all the great Feasts for the past twenty-one years, and on the Christmas Day just past, there were more Communions made than in any other year, with the single exception of the Christmas following the death of Fr. Moffett. Is this not a matter for great thanksgiving to God!

I feel the time has come when I must make a very thorough revision of the Parish lists. We are carrying a large number of names of people in our files who have not made their Communions at our Altars in many years. There are a great many names without any addresses. Then there are many others who have moved from the city and are established in other Parishes, who for purely "sentimental" reasons want their names on our records. These conditions make for a very unfair showing for S. Clement's Church. Those who are regularly attached to another Parish should be transferred. Those who are regularly worshipping here should be transferred to us. The only fair list is one composed of active members.

May I ask once more that you keep me informed of new addresses. A great many Christmas cards were returned to me because of wrong addresses, where even the Post Office authorities could not trace the people addressed. Will you please be more careful about this?

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Blessing of the New Pulpit

On the Ember Wednesday in Advent, the Right Reverend William Thomas Manning, D.D., Bishop of New York, visited S. Clement's Church and, assisted by the Rector, blessed the Lea Memorial Pulpit. The service of blessing was private and without ceremony. The Bishop read the prayers of blessing, and also those for the faithful departed, remembering especially those in whose memory the Pulpit is erected. The Bishop of the Diocese was present in the congregation.

Retreat for the Society of the Companions of the Holy Cross

The Annual Retreat of the Society of the Companions of the Holy Cross will be held as usual in S. Clement's Church, on Thursday, January 26. The Conductor of the Retreat will be the Reverend Bernard Iddings Bell, President of S. Stephen's College. The Retreat will begin with a Mass for Communions at 8 o'clock, and close with Evensong at 5 o'clock. Any women of the Parish or of the city, and their friends, will be warmly welcomed at any or all of the addresses, which will be given in the Church. Breakfast and luncheon will be served, and any who notify the Secretary, S.C.H.C., 2222 Spruce Street, will be accommodated. Will you please pass this notice and invitation on to your friends.

The Intercession Paper

The little prayer leaflet that the Rector has been editing for several years for S. Clement's League of Intercession has been costing a great deal of money. You may be surprised to learn that five hundred dollars a year does not quite cover the cost of printing and mailing the monthly issues. I want to know what your pleasure about continuing its publication may be. The personal thanksgivings and intercessions could be printed on a small slip of paper and inserted in the magazine, if you wish especially for that feature. The Intercession paper itself is not in any sense parochial, but its circulation beyond the city has been very small. The Rector has exhausted his originality in composing it, so that now it must become more or less a repetition of the issues of the previous years. If you have saved your back numbers, you can easily use them again. We must curtail Parish expenses, and it seems to the Rector that the Intercession paper might be discontinued without any spiritual loss to the Parish. Less than twenty-five dollars was given towards its support last year.

The Men's Association

The next meeting of the Men's Association will be on Monday night, January 9th. The speaker of the evening will be the Reverend Charles W. Shreiner, who is in charge of the Church Farm School at Glen Loch, Pennsylvania. He will tell us of the work of the School, and what it hopes to accomplish in the education of young men. The School is one of our Diocesan organizations, and we ought to know more about it.

This meeting of the Association will be open to women of the Parish and their friends as well as the men. There will be several musical numbers given by the men of the Association, and it is hoped that a large audience will avail themselves of the privilege of hearing of the work of the Farm School.

Photographs and Post Cards

The photographs and post cards of the Church, and several of the interior views are completed, are very satisfactory. They are being sold by the Mothers' Meeting, and the small profit derived from them will be added to their offering towards the parish debt. The photographs are in three styles, at one dollar, two dollars and three dollars apiece. The post cards are five cents each. They may be obtained at any time from the Clergy House, or before and after any service, in the Cope Room.

Confirmation

The Bishop of the Diocese will visit the Parish for the Sacrament of Confirmation on Sunday evening, January 29th, at eight o'clock. Quite a number of persons are under instruction, and there is still time to prepare others for this visitation. All candidates are prepared individually, so convenient times can be easily arranged. Communicate at once with the Clergy, if you are thinking of Confirmation, or if you know of anyone who is thinking about it, and would be helped to a decision if they were approached by the Clergy.

The Duplex Envelopes

There is a large group of people in the Parish who do not contribute systematically to the support of the Church and its work. Any organization with definite expenses should have some definite idea as to its income. Your giving would mean much more to you, and to the Church, if it were regularly given. When you pledge to give a certain amount each Sunday, it does not mean that you will be served with papers by a sheriff if you fail in your pledge. The Church must know how much money it can depend upon, in order to adjust its expenditures accordingly. The Accounting Warden will be ready after any service to supply people with envelopes for this purpose.

The Vestry hope in the coming year to send out quarterly statements of the envelope accounts, so to remind givers if there are envelopes unpaid, and to give the subscribers through the envelopes an opportunity to approve the Church's record.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

This year the month of February stands apart in an unusual way between the Christmas and Epiphany Seasons and the beginning of Lent. This does not mean that it is like a "between season," of little interest, but rather that it is an unique opportunity for us to gather up the lessons of the previous weeks, and looking ahead to our Lent and our Easter, see just what we are going to keep and use to our benefit and the benefit of the Church during our weeks of penance. That having known the Incarnation of Jesus Christ our Lord, we may be brought, by His Cross and Passion, to His Glorious Resurrection. This is the month for us to arrange our Lenten rules, so as to be ready to begin on the first day of March, which is Ash Wednesday.

I am not prepared to give you the full details of our Lenten devotions, but they will be about the same as last year's, which seemed helpful, and most convenient for the members of the congregation. One thing I am prepared to announce now—there will be three Masses every day. I hope very many of you will head your Lenten Rule with Daily Mass. These Masses will be said at seven, eight and nine-thirty o'clock, and this variety of hours should enable a great many people to make daily Mass a rule during Lent. The keeping of such a rule cannot help being of infinite value to you in your spiritual experience.

During the past few weeks I have given a Retreat for the Associates of the Sisters of S. Margaret at the Sisters' Mission House on Pine Street. I have also conducted a Quiet Day for the Church Service League in the Church of the Advent, Boston, and preached at the High Mass there on S. Vincent's Day. I also preached at All Saints' Church, Ashmont, where Dean Hutchinson spent the early days of his Priesthood. While in Boston I visited with the Fathers of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, and they sent their most affectionate good wishes to all the members of the congregation. They follow us closely with their prayers, and take the deepest interest in our life.

Father Harrison, O. H. C., Father Allen, O. H. C., Father Bothe, of the Church of S. Mary the Virgin, New York City, and the President of S. Stephen's College, have been guests at the Clergy House during the month.

February will be a busy month in entertainments, dances, lectures and such things, and I commend all of them to your most sympathetic interest and support.

Franklin Joiner—

Shrove Tuesday and Ash Wednesday

On Shrove Tuesday, the Clergy will be in the Church for Confessions after ten o'clock in the morning, from three to five o'clock in the afternoon, and from seven to nine o'clock in the evening. One cannot do penance in Lent, and it is purely and essentially a penitential season, unless they have confessed their sins before Ash Wednesday.

On Ash Wednesday there will be four Masses, at six, seven, eight and half-past nine o'clock. The Ashes will be blessed before the first Mass, and imposed before and after every Mass and also before and after every other devotional exercise during the day. There will be an address after the last Mass.

The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed from the last Mass until Benediction after the address at four o'clock, on this and all other Wednesdays in Lent. There will be a service of intercession at noon and other devotional exercises during the day. The boys from the choir will sing at Benediction on Wednesdays. The Litany and the Penitential Office will be said in the evening at eight o'clock, when there will be an address. There will be sung evensong, sermon, and the Stations of the Cross on Friday evenings.

The Men's Association

The next meeting of the Men's Association will be on Monday night, February 13th, at eight o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Lieutenant Harry Gordon Milsom, R. O. C. E. F., survivor of the famous First Canadian Division, who has spoken throughout the United States and Canada to over a million and a half people since his return from the front.

Lieut. Milsom's audiences have ranged from Senators to shipbuilders, and among those with whom he has appeared are the late Colonel Roosevelt, ex-President Taft, Secretary Daniels, Mr. Charles M. Schwab, Ambassador Gerard and Gypsy Smith. He has devoted much of his time since his discharge to speaking to employers and groups of working people, and has something of value to say in regard to welfare work in industrial relations.

He is the author of "Sunset, Night and Dawn," and his lectures are given under the auspices of the University Extension Society.

The lecture will be followed by "community singing," smokes, and some refreshments.

The February Dances

Under the auspices of the Men's Association and the Girls' Club, two more dances in the winter's series will be given this month. There will be a Valentine Dance on Wednesday evening, February 8th, and a Patriotic Dance on Monday night, February 27th. These will be the last dances until after Easter. These dances are greatly appreciated and enjoyed by some two hundred or more young people who come to them regularly. One has to use a pretty powerful microscope to discover a member of S. Clement's Church among the crowd. This is a great pity. Why is it so?

A Parish Supper

The ever-ready-to-help and energetic Mothers' Meeting will give a Parish Supper on Thursday evening, February 9th. The proceeds of the Supper will be devoted to the sum of money the Mothers' Meeting is raising towards the Parish Debt. They have already raised about four hundred dollars. Supper will be served after six o'clock and the tickets are fifty cents apiece. After eight o'clock the floor will be cleared for dancing. This should be a wonderful opportunity for the members of the parish to come together for a social evening. The menu for the supper will include cold baked ham, potato salad, pickles and olives, rolls and butter, tea and coffee, ice cream and cake. Tickets may be secured from members of the Mothers' Meeting or from the Sister-in-charge.

The Girls' Club Minstrel Show

The Members of the Girls' Club will make their contribution to reducing the Parish Debt by presenting a Minstrel Show on Tuesday evening, February 21st, at eight o'clock. The Parish Hall should be packed on this night, and your most liberal patronage is requested. Rehearsals have been under way for some weeks, and an original entertainment is guaranteed. Tickets may be obtained from members of the club at thirty-five cents apiece. There will be a dance after the entertainment. Come and bring your friends.

The Lenten Sewing

A number of the women of the parish, under the direction of the Women's Auxiliary, have for some years been meeting on Wednesdays and sewing for the yearly missionary box that the Auxiliary prepares during Lent. $125.00 is needed for the purchase of materials and wool to be made up into garments for this box. Many who are unable to help on Wednesdays with the sewing are glad to give some sum of money towards this initial expense and so do their bit. The Rector or Mrs. Paul F. Mowry will gladly accept for this purpose any contribution, no matter how small.

The Rector's Discretionary Fund

The money that is given during the year by members of the Parish for the "Poor Fund" is distributed by the Sisters in their work. The Rector's Discretionary Fund is his poor fund, and he has a steady stream of demands on it, demands which cannot be turned over to the Sisters. He has an allowance of ten dollars a month from the Vestry in lieu of the Communion Alms, the offerings that are placed in the alms box at the rear of the south aisle in the Church, and a regular offering of ten dollars each month from a member of the Parish. This totals each month from twenty-five to thirty dollars. To this is added an occasional fee or thank-offering. The Rector gives ten dollars a month to two needy persons who are quite dependent on his gift. Another family, consisting of father and mother and six children, have been receiving a dollar a day from him for over four months. The father is unable to get to work. The mother must stay at home to care for the small children. The oldest girl of fifteen years earns six dollars a week. The family must be helped.

The Rector's Discretionary Fund is not only used for these necessary parish charities, but must also be used for stationery and postage, which is no small item in such a parish, for office supplies such as filing cases and cards for indexes, telegrams, taxi-cabs for sick Communions and urgent calls, and for the countless other items of expense that come up from time to time during the day, and all of them incident to the work.

It simply reduces itself to this: The Rector's Discretionary Fund, as it now stands, is spent before he receives it. These other expenses he is bearing himself. His pocket is very short and very lean. He calls for help!

S. Stephen's College

Here is a noble work that should be liberally supported by S. Clement's Church. The great work that the College is doing in maintaining its uncompromising Catholic atmosphere, and the healthy and virile way in which our Faith is being presented to the students, should make us proud to help in the Endowment Fund that is just being launched.

The College receives nothing from the Nation-Wide Campaign, which commends its needs the more forcibly to us. Its scholastic standing is of the highest, and its intimate living between students, President and faculty make for strong character.

President Hibben, of Princeton University, has written the following to President Bell, of S. Stephen's College:

"I have been greatly interested in your campaign to raise a half a million dollars for the endowment of S. Stephen's College. You are doing an excellent work there, which is greatly needed in our educational world and I hope that you will be abundantly successful in raising the sum which you have as your objective. A college such as S. Stephen's, with a small number of students and moderate cost of living and personal contact of the members of the faculty with the undergraduates, does a splendid work in fitting men for useful careers in life and deserves the recognition of all who are generously inclined and are willing to help in a time both of need and of opportunity."

The Rector will gladly supply any member of the congregation with special envelopes in which they may make monthly offerings for this worthy cause. One student is now being supported at S. Stephen's College by the Yarnall Fund.

The Pledge

"To pledge or not to pledge—that is the question:
Whether 'tis nobler in a man to gather
The Church's blessings free, and leave the others
To foot the bills and spread the gospel tidings
Or to take pen, to sign a pledge that's duplex
And share the cost. To write—to sign—to pledge—
To pledge—perchance to pay! Ay, there's the rub;
For in six months I may have lowered salary.
Stocks may have sunk, or bad investments swat me,
And then, besides, the increased cost of living
Must give me pause; then too, there's the respect
I owe myself to run a costly motor;
The dues of clubs, the children off at college!
Why not content myself with casual giving
On pleasant Sundays when I journey churchward
And not commit myself to certain moneys?
WHY NOT? BECAUSE I DO NOT PROPOSE TO BE A SLACKER!"

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

This letter will reach you on the First Sunday in Lent. I hope that each one of you has made a good Lenten Rule, and that already you have begun to feel helped and strengthened by your Lenten discipline.

As we enter into each new season we want to make it better than any that have gone before it. If we do not put much into it, we cannot expect to get very much out of it, but if we do put much into it, we will receive large returns in spiritual benefits. Let us realize the value of co-operation, striving to realize that we are members one of another, and the more deeply we appreciate this spiritual union, the greater will be the fruit of our Lenten devotion. Try to enter into the parish life of worship, prayer and praise as earnestly and whole-heartedly as possible.

Prayer. The daily Masses, and there will be three each day, should be largely attended. The daily intercession offered at the Altar is a most blessed method of "working together with God." There will be fifteen minutes of public intercession every day, before the Tabernacle, preceding Evensong. Wednesdays will be kept as days of intercession in the Lady Chapel, where the Blessed Sacrament will be Exposed, ending with Benediction at four o'clock. Try to make your prayers this Lent a power with God.

Abstinence. Put away all worldly pleasures. It is not at all consonant with your Religious Profession to indulge in worldly pleasures. Do not be found at places of public amusement. Do not be found at parties. Do not discredit your Faith, your Rector, your Parish, your Church, your Lord. Abstain from flesh meat on all Wednesdays and Fridays and on Ember Saturday.

Alms. Try to lay aside a definite amount for your Easter offering. We are still very much behind in our parish expenses, so a part of the Easter offering this year may have to be used here. Perhaps you can earn some extra money for a special offering. The offering will mean more to you and to God if it is the fruit of some self-sacrifice. If you are not a regular contributor to the parish, ask for envelopes, and begin your systematic giving at once.

Communions. Increase the number of your Communions, and prepare most carefully for them. You should receive the Blessed Sacrament every Sunday. If that is your habit, add a mid-week Communion to that. This is your great source of strength, the great means of the building up of your spiritual life.

These are some definite practical ways in which you can make Lent a power in your life. Do not let the opportunity slip by. There are few, if any, Churches where there are so many opportunities for Mass, and praise and prayer, as there are at S. Clement's. The addresses and sermons are all plain, simple, helpful instructions.

If you enter into Lent with your sins forgiven and in the true spirit of penitence and humility, you may look confidently for God's blessing upon the parish and upon your own souls.

The Women's Annual Retreat

The annual retreat for women will be held as usual on Mid-Lent Sunday. The conductor will be the Rev. Granville Williams, of the Society of S. John the Evangelist. The retreat will open with the eight o'clock Mass, and there will be addresses at ten o'clock, half-past two and four o'clock. A service of intercession will follow the Solemn High Mass. The retreat will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament immediately after the last address. Breakfast and dinner will be served in the Parish House. Notices are sent out to those who have attended previous retreats, but these are not to be construed in any sense as invitations. All women of this, or any parish, will be most cordially welcomed.

The Men's Retreat

The annual retreat for the men of the parish and their men friends will be held as usual on Passion Sunday, the first Sunday in April, the 2d. It will open with the eight o'clock Mass and end with Evensong at five o'clock. The addresses will be at ten, half-past two and four o'clock. Breakfast and dinner will be served in the Parish House.

The Retreat for S. Mary's Guild

The annual retreat for the members and associates of S. Mary's Guild will be held as usual on the Thursday in Passion Week, April 6. The retreat will open with the half-past nine Mass, and the addresses will be at ten, half-past two and four o'clock. Dinner and supper will be served in the Parish House. The day will close with the recitation of the Guild Office in S. John's Chapel immediately after supper. The Rev. Sidney Atmore Caine, Rector of S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, and a former assistant in the parish, will be the conductor.

Retreat at S. Margaret's Mission House

The Rev. Father Huntington, Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, will conduct a retreat for young churchwomen at S. Margaret's Mission House, 1831 Pine Street, on Wednesday, March 8, beginning with Mass at eight o'clock. Any one wishing to attend is asked to notify the Sister-in-charge.

Lenten Services for Children

The Stations of the Cross will be said in S. John's Chapel Friday afternoons at four o'clock for the children. A new set of the Stations will be used, set up on an easel in the front of the Chapel, so the children will not have to move, but the Stations will be changed with each devotion. This is a great improvement on the old method for the children, since the Stations in the Church are small and indistinct, and too far away on the wall for the children to see from the aisles.

The Saturday Morning Classes are now under the Children's Church School Service League, and they will be working during Lent for a Missionary Box. Will parents please see that the children are sent to the Church Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings?

Lectures in Church History

The Very Rev. William Palmer Ladd, D.D., Dean of the Berkeley Divinity School, of Middletown, Connecticut, will give a series of lectures on early English Church History, in S. James' Church, on the Saturday afternoons in Lent, at five o'clock. The Rector commends them most highly to your patronage.

March 4.—The Celtic Churches.
11.—Beginnings of the Church of England.
18.—Saints, Popes and Kings.
25.—Was the Thirteenth the Greatest of Centuries?
April 1.—The End of the Middle Ages.
8.—The Reformation—What and Why?

Diocesan Mission Study Class

Many good Church people are grossly ignorant of the missionary work of the Church. Of what she has done in the past, what she is doing now, and what she ought to be preparing to do in the future. The Educational Department of the Church's Executive Council has inaugurated a course of lectures, that changes each year, on various fields of the Church's missionary endeavors.

Dr. William C. Sturgis, Secretary of the Educational Division, of New York City, will conduct a Mission Study Class in the Church House on Tuesday evenings in Lent, at eight o'clock. The class will be conducted on the lecture method, so those who attend will not have to make special preparation for each class, although this, of course, helps the individual very much.

The subject of the course is "The Church in the Nations."

Lecture 1.—Philosophy and Program of the Church's Missionary Work.
2.—The Church and the Negroes.
3.—The Church in the Southern Highlands.
4.—The Church in Japan.
5.—The Church in China.
6.—The Church in Liberia.
7.—The Whole Church, in All the World.

The Men's Association

The February meeting of the Men's Association reached the high-water mark in attendance and in interest. The speaker of the evening, Lieutenant Milsom, of the Princess Pat Regiment, won all his hearers by the force and power of his message, and by the charm of his personality. He came to us from a bed of sickness, but in spite of his indisposition, made a most telling address. We hope to have him with us again.

The March meeting will be held in the Parish House on Monday evening, the 13th, at half-past eight o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be the famous "Baseball Parson," the Rev. T. W. Davis, ex-Chaplain of the Pennsylvania State Senate. His subject will be, "The Baseball Game of Life." Mr. Davis was himself a professional baseball player before he entered the Methodist ministry. All the men of the parish are cordially invited, and are asked to invite and bring with them any of their friends.

The Girls' Club

On Tuesday evenings in Lent, Miss Elizabeth Wilson Fisher, of S. James' Church, and a frequent visitor at S. Clement's, will conduct a course in the Study of Missions for the Girls' Club, beginning at half-past eight, and lasting for one hour. She will follow the same program as used by Dr. Sturgis at the Church House. Any other women of the parish who would like the benefit of this course from Miss Fisher, will be welcomed by the members of the Girls' Club.

The Boy Scouts

An effort is being made to revive S. Clement's Troop of Boy Scouts, which has been inactive for several years. Two meetings have been held, and about eight boys have been enrolled. There are a great many boys in the parish who should be in the Scouts. Their meetings will be in the Scout Room on the top floor of the Parish House, Tuesday evenings, at half-past seven o'clock. The Scoutmaster will be Mr. Harold Jerome, who, while not a member of the parish, is here frequently, and whose wife is the President of the Girls' Club. There is no more admirable organization for boys over twelve years of age than the Scout Troop. Parents, send along your boys.

The United Offering

As this is the year of the meeting of the General Convention of the Church, when the Women's Auxiliary makes its triennial offering for Missions, it is the last year for the parish to make up its offering for that purpose. It is earnestly hoped that S. Clement's part in that great fund may amount to three hundred dollars. Offerings for this purpose may be given to the Clergy, or to Miss Hutchinson, 2108 DeLancey Street, who is the Treasurer of the Parish Offering.

The Intercession Paper

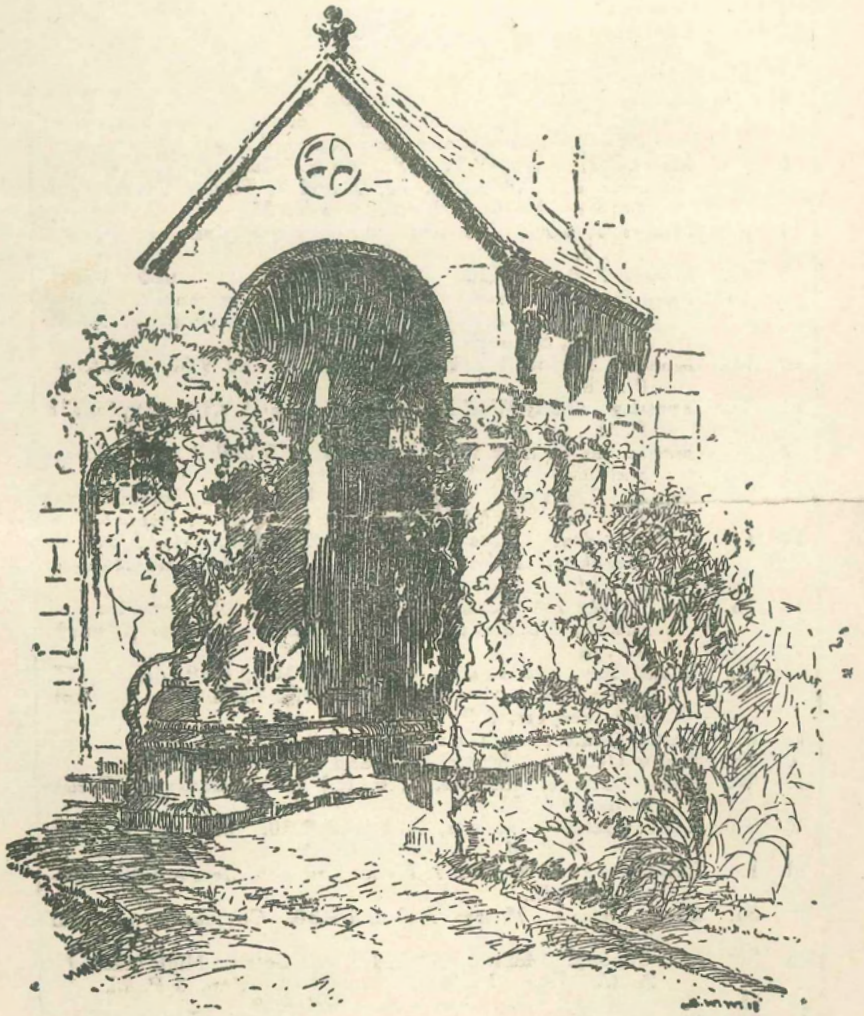
It seems best to discontinue the monthly Intercession Paper. As was pointed out in the January MAGAZINE, the cost of publication is so great, and the circulation so small, that it seems to be one of the ways in which we can curb expense. The Rector is grateful for several small gifts of money which helped in reducing the deficit in postage, and also for the many expressions of appreciation that came from many of its users. Perhaps some day we may be able to take it up again.

The Choir

The boys of the choir will sing at Benediction on the Wednesday afternoons in Lent. The full choir will sing Evensong before the Sermon and Stations Friday nights.

On Passion Sunday night and Palm Sunday night, instead of the usual Sung Evensong, the choir will sing Stainer's Crucifixion.

A new setting for the Tantum Ergo from one of Silas' Masses will be used at the High Mass on Sundays, alternating with the familiar O Salutaris.



The Children's Missionary Play

The children of the parish, under the direction of Sister Isabel and Miss Hexamer, will give a Missionary Play and Pageant at Mid-Lent. The day set is the Monday following Mid-Lent Sunday, March 27, at eight o'clock, in the Parish House. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the children's Lenten Missionary Offering.

New Jersey Diocesan Altar Guild

The Bishop of New Jersey has appointed Mrs. Charles Van Dyke Joline, of Merchantville, to the presidency of the New Jersey Diocesan Altar Guild. While Mrs. Joline resides in the Diocese of New Jersey, she is a very active and valued member of S. Clement's. We are proud to lend her to the Bishop of New Jersey for so conspicuous a post. We congratulate the Altar Guild in having so worthy and capable a President, and Mrs. Joline for the honor with which the Bishop has marked her.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

Lent is more than half over. Where do you stand? Have you made any progress in your spiritual life? Has the penance you have been doing helped you to conquer your besetting sins? Have your extra acts of devotion strengthened you in your amendment of life?

As we pass into Passiontide and veil the sacred images and pictures in the Church, so you must veil yourselves within the Love of the Sacred Heart, shutting out the world more completely during these closing days of Lent. And as you thus find yourselves alone with Jesus, ask Him to show you what you must do to come to Him worthily in the Easter Feast. You cannot come to Him with sin in your souls. You cannot come to Him with sins simply forgiven and no effort made towards a new life.

The season of the Church Year into which we are just entering can help you more, perhaps, than any other to repent of your sins and to strive more earnestly for a permanent conquering of them. How can you gaze on the Passion of your Saviour, and enter into His pain and suffering without thinking seriously of your own sins, which caused Him thus to suffer. "Is it nothing to you, all ye who pass by?" Can you resist His call?

You cannot enter into the Easter joy without first passing the Way of Sorrows. It is only by His Cross and Passion that you can be brought to the Glory of His Resurrection.

Many of you are striving to this end. I know that our Blessed Lord will bring you new life in the Queen of Feasts. But there are so many of you who, by your actions, do not seem to have heard of this Solemn Season. Our Lord is speaking to you! He is calling you! There is still time. No longer, then, delay.

May each of you in your Easter Communion realize, in unity of Love, the joy of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, as He confirms in you the fruit of His Passion, and exalts you in the power of His Risen Life.

Franklin Joiner

Holy Week

The Ceremonial Blessing of the Palms will begin on Palm Sunday at half past ten o'clock. This will bring the Palm Procession at about the usual hour for the High Mass. Please remember this change of hour.

On Palm Sunday evening, as well as on Passion Sunday evening, the choir will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion." Fr. Smith will conclude his course of sermons on the Beatitudes.

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday there will be the usual three Masses each day. The Stations of the Cross will be said every evening at eight o'clock, Saturday excepted. There will be an address at the Stations on Wednesday and Friday nights. The Day of Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament will not be kept on Wednesday in Holy Week, but the day of devotion will be kept on the following day, when the watches are kept before the Altar of Repose.

On Maundy Thursday there will be a Solemn High Mass at seven o'clock, with the Procession of the Blessed Sacrament immediately after to the Altar of Repose. There is but one Mass on this day, sung by the Rector, when the Assisting Clergy and all the Faithful should receive the Holy Communion from him. This is in commemoration of our Blessed Lord's Institution of the Mass, when He fed His people with His own Hand. There should be a large congregation for this Mass, and many more Communions than have been made in recent years. There will be a breakfast in the Parish House after the Mass for the choir, acolytes and any members of the congregation who notify Miss Newman at 2028 Cherry street. The Altar of Repose will be accessible for devotions until nine o'clock in the evening.

On Good Friday, Matins and the Stations of the Cross will be said at seven o'clock. The Litany will be said at nine, followed at once by the Stations for the children. There will be the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, with the Reproaches, at half past ten o'clock. The Preaching of the Passion will begin at noon, and the Rector will be the preacher. In the evening at eight o'clock, after the Stations of the Cross, Fr. Anderson will give the last of his Lenten series of addresses, which have been most helpful, being devotional studies of the Stations themselves.

On Holy Sabbath there will be a Mass at seven o'clock, followed by Matins. It is the custom of the Church for the Faithful to abstain from their Communions from Maundy Thursday until they come to the Altar on Easter Day.

First Vespers of Easter will be sung by the full choir on Saturday afternoon at five o'clock. Vespers will be preceded by the Blessing of the New Fire and the Paschal Candle.

There will be Low Masses on Easter Day at six, half past six, seven, half past seven, eight, half past eight and a quarter past nine o'clock, the last being the Children's Mass with hymns. The Masses on the even hour, together with the Children's Mass, will be at the High Altar in the Church. The other Masses will be in St. John's Chapel. This is a day of Solemn Obligation and every member of the Parish should come to the Parish Altar on this day.

At the Solemn High Mass and Festival Procession the choir will sing one of Gounod's Masses, "Troisieme Messe Solennelle" (de Paques). Solemn Evensong will be sung at eight o'clock, followed by the usual procession and Solemn Te Deum. These festival services will be repeated on Low Sunday.

Confessions

The following hours will be kept in the Church for Confession during Holy Week:

The Rector:	Tuesday, 10 to 11 A. M.
	Wednesday, 10 to 11 A. M.
	Thursday, 10 to 11 A. M., 3 to 5 P. M.
	Friday, 7 to 8 P. M.
	Saturday, 10 to 12 M.; 7 to 9 P. M.
Fr. Quin:	Wednesday, 3 to 5 P. M.
	Thursday, 3 to 5 P. M.
	Friday, 3 to 5; 7 to 8 P. M.
	Saturday, 3 to 5; 7 to 10 P. M.
Fr. Anderson:	Wednesday, 3 to 5 P. M.
	Thursday, 3 to 5 P. M.
	Friday, 3 to 5; 7 to 8 P. M.
	Saturday, 3 to 5; 7 to 10 P. M.
Fr. Smith:	Friday, 7 to 8 P. M.
	Saturday, 3 to 5; 7 to 9 P. M.

It is hoped that as many as possible will come to their Confessions very early in the week. It is suggested that penitents say their preliminary prayers and the Confiteor before they enter the Confessional, so that they may be ready at once to begin with the matter for confession.

The Easter Offering

At the last meeting of the Vestry a resolution was passed to apply the offering of Easter Day towards the reduction of the deficit in the Parish expenses. This deficit still amounts to four thousand dollars. We have not increased it during the past year. It is earnestly hoped that Easter may see us free from debt. Unless the offering is otherwise marked, it will be used for this purpose.

If the Easter Day offering is sufficient to cover the deficit, the offering on Whitsunday will be given to missions.

During February the Girls' Club gave a very successful minstrel show, the proceeds of which amounted to almost two hundred dollars. The Mothers' Meeting will have an offering of at least five hundred dollars to present on Easter Day for this purpose. This is a splendid example for the Parish. Let everyone try to meet it.

After-Easter Festivities

On the evening of Wednesday in Easter week, April 19, the Men's Association and Girl's Club will give another of the dances they have been conducting through the winter.

On Thursday evening of this week the Mothers' Meeting will have its Easter Party.

On the following Thursday night, April 27, the Philadelphia Electric Company will give one of their picture entertainments in the Parish House, under the auspices of the Mothers' Meeting. Admission will be fifteen cents, and the proceeds will be added to their fund.

The Vestry

The Annual Parish Election of Vestrymen will be held in the Parish House on Easter Monday. The polls will be open from twelve until two o'clock.

The Men's Association

The next meeting of the Men's Association will be held in the Parish House on Monday evening, April 24. Two very able and interesting speakers have been engaged for this evening. The first will be Mr. Edwin M. Abbott, the great criminal lawyer. He will give the men his experience of twenty-six years at the bar, and the results of that experience that he believes to be of help to others. The second speaker will be Mr. Henry J. A. Newton, in charge of the Maintenance Department of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company, and his subject will be "The Joy of Spending Other People's Money."

No effort is being spared by the Entertainment Committee of this Association in providing interesting and entertaining programs for these monthly meetings. The best advertisement of them is in the fact that when a man comes once, he never misses another meeting. There are still a great many men in the Parish who have never tried that "once." A hearty welcome awaits all the men of the Parish and their friends.

The Episcopal Hospital

This Diocesan and City Institution is in serious financial need. They are facing a deficit of over fifty thousand dollars. It is hoped that S. Clement's may be able to make an offering towards relieving this need.

The hospital staff includes sixty physicians, surgeons and officials, one hundred and twenty nurses, and one hundred and fifty other employees. During the past year there have been over five thousand patients in the hospital; twenty-three thousand have been treated through the dispensary and over eighty-five thousand visits have been made outside the hospital.

The Clergy will be glad to forward any gifts that my be handed to them.

The Clergy House

Recent guests at the Clergy House have included Fr. Campbell and Fr. Tiedeman, both of the Order of the Holy Cross; Fr. Williams, S. S. J. E., who gave the Annual Retreat for Women on Mid-Lent Sunday, and Mr. Otto Crause, of Princeton University, a member of Fr. Smith's former Parish in California.

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:

The Easter Festival has been a season of real rejoicing in the Parish, and this because you had kept so good a Lent. I ventured to arrange a great many more services than has been the custom in the past, and the response was most gratifying. The Mass attendance was large every day, and the number of Communions as well. You have used the Church, too, for your prayers, and especially on the Days of Exposition and at Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. These moments in the Presence of our Blessed Lord are never lost. He has rewarded you in the Easter Feast and His visible blessing to the Parish.

There were four hundred and sixty Communions at the seven Low Masses on Easter Day. An unusual number for S. Clement's Church. Many who had lapsed returned to their Confessions before the Feast, and many came to the Sacrament of Penance for the first time. These two things are the cause of the greatest rejoicing.

Then you must join with me in thanksgiving for the generous offering made at the Feast. Thirty-four hundred dollars! The largest single offering in the history of the Parish! With the income received early in March from the Endowment Fund, this offering wipes out completely the deficit in Parish expenses which we have been carrying for some time, and also gives us a substantial balance ahead!

After the Feast of Easter there is apt to be a great drop in Mass attendance and in the number of Communions. The Lenten season should have established in us regular habits of Church attendance, and they should have been sealed in our Easter Communions. Please do not allow yourself to feel that because Easter is over, your attendance at the daily Mass is no longer necessary. It is more necessary after a great feast than at any other time. It is in the moments when we feel most secure that we are in the greatest danger.

And this may also be true of your gifts to the support of the Parish. Because the deficit is met, and we have a substantial sum ahead in the expense account is no reason for you to curtail in any of your giving. If the present standard of giving is maintained, we can meet all the current expenses, and the reserve fund can be kept for extraordinary and unexpected costs. A Parish like ours should always have a good sum ahead, and you can keep it so by being regular and systematic in your offerings.

I want to thank you for myself, as well as for the other Clergy, for the many expressions of your affection and good wishes that came to us in the Clergy House during the Feast.

We love these marks of your good favor. May GOD keep us, the happy family that we are, and bring us to our Eternal Home in Heaven.

Affectionately in our Blessed Lord,

Franklin Joiner

The Vestry

The annual election of Vestrymen was held on Easter Monday, and the following men were elected to serve in that capacity for the ensuing three years:

Francis Dring Wetherill,
Francis Peters Adams,
Edward Biddle Clay,
Sheldon Potter Ritter.

The Easter meeting of the Vestry was held the following afternoon (Tuesday) in the Clergy House.

After receiving the report of the election, the meeting was called to order and the Vestry proceeded to the election of officers. Mr. Sheldon Potter Ritter was elected Accounting Warden.

Mr. S. McKean Bayard, who has been Accounting Warden for over twenty years, had presented his resignation at the last meeting of the Vestry. Mr. Bayard has given the Parish most efficient and distinguished service during his years of service, and the Rector and the Vestry cannot say enough in appreciation of his faithful work. The pressure of outside business forced Mr. Bayard to this resignation, and the Vestry, recognizing the situation, reluctantly released him.

The Rector then appointed Mr. Francis Dring Wetherill as his Warden.

The following elections were then made: Mr. Edward Biddle Clay to be Secretary of the Vestry, Messrs. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, Horace Wells Sellers and J. Lawrence Wetherill to be delegates to the Annual Diocesan Convention; Messrs. S. McKean Bayard, Edward Biddle Clay and J. Lawrence Wetherill to comprise the Finance Committee, with Mr. Bayard as the Chairman.

The Rector appointed the following committees:

Music Committee:	Mr. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, Mr. Sheldon Potter Ritter, Mr. Francis Peters Adams.
Property Committee:	Mr. George Lewis Mayer, Mr. Horace Wells Sellers, Mr. Edward A. Casey.
Insurance Committee:	Mr. S. McKean Bayard, Mr. Sheldon Potter Ritter.

The resignation of Mr. Stevenson Hockley Walsh was presented at the March meeting of the Vestry, but the Vestry deferred action, hoping that Mr. Walsh might reconsider the matter. He replied to the Easter meeting that he was retiring from active participation in committees and boards, and begged that his resignation be accepted. Mr. Walsh had been a member of the Vestry for many years, and in that time rendered most valuable service to the Parish. As Chairman of the Finance Committee he was most dependable in his counsel and help, and as Chairman of the Insurance Committee, most indefatigable in arranging and placing the insurance of the Parish on a sound and most satisfactory plane. His resignation is a great loss to the Vestry.

His place was filled by the election of Mr. Theodore Garfield Homan, who has long been identified with the Parish as a Chorister and an Acolyte. He is the Assistant Treasurer of The Philadelphia Company for Guaranteeing Mortgages. We welcome him most warmly to membership in the Vestry.

The Men's Association

The May meeting of the Men's Association will be later in the month than is usual. Monday evening, May 22d, is the time for the next meeting. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. Andrew Wright Crawford, Recording Secretary of the City Parks Association of Philadelphia. His subject will be "The Standards Set for World Fairs." He will endeavor to show what was done in the great fairs at Chicago, San Diego and San Francisco, and to show what Philadelphia must do in order to make the Sesqui-Centennial go beyond these former affairs. It is hoped that the members of the Association will pass this invitation on to their friends, and then bring their friends with them to this May meeting of the Assocation.

Organ Recital

The first week in May is to be observed by the city as Philadelphia's First Music Week. On Monday evening, May first, at a quarter past eight o'clock, there will be an organ recital in the Church, given by our organist, Mr. Henry S. Fry, President of the American Guild, and by Mr. Rollo F. Maitland. There will be no cards of admission, and the recital is open for all who may care to come.

Mothers' Meeting Easter Sale

On Saturday, May twentieth, the Mothers' Meeting will hold an Easter Sale in the Parish House. There will be many useful and fancy articles for sale, with candy and home-made food. At this time the mothers will offer for sale a large number of very beautiful hand-made rag rugs. The colors are all carefully selected, and the rugs are woven in sets, so that they are very suitable for summer rooms and bungalows. The members of the meeting have prepared the rags during the winter. The sale will open at three o'clock in the afternoon and close at nine in the evening.

The May Dance

On Wednesday evening, May tenth, the Men's Association will give a large dance in the Parish House at half-past eight o'clock. The series which the Association have given through the winter closed with the dance in Easter week. That series was not put through with any idea of making money, but simply to promote sociability among our own young people, and to bring others into our acquaintance. The proceeds of the May dance will be given by the Association to one of the Parish funds. The tickets are fifty cents apiece, and the Association most earnestly invites your patronage.

Exhibition of Vestments

On Ascension Day afternoon, May twenty-fifth, from four until six o'clock, there will be an exhibition of all the Vestments, Copes, Chasubles, Altar Frontals and Laces belonging to the Parish, as well as all the Silver and Gold Plate, and the precious jewels. The exhibition will be in the Parish House. There will be no charge for admission, but a silver offering may be left at the door to be used in the maintenance of the Church Garden. Tea will be served. Friends of the Parish, as well as the members of the congregation will be welcome.

The Rector's Letter

My dear people:—

With Easter coming so late in the Kalendar year, the Feasts following the Great Forty Days fall well into the early summer, after many of you have left the city, and the parish is scattered before the close of the Church year. This is, of course, to be regretted, but when the humid sultry weather settles down on the city, I can well understand why everyone who is able to leave it, does so.

This early breaking up of the parish for the summer, and the hot weather, has made me feel it is a wise thing to simplify the Festival services that fall this year in the month of June. The first Sunday in June is the Feast of Pentecost, and while, of course, there will be a Solemn High Mass, we will sing a less elaborate Mass than usual. The Festival Vespers in the evening, without procession, will be the last evening service until the first of October. On Trinity Sunday, the 11th of June, S. Patrick's Breastplate will be sung in Procession before the Mass, and as on Pentecost a simple Mass will be sung. On the following Sunday we will be keeping the Octave of Corpus Christi.

The Mothers' Meeting will be continued on Thursday evenings throughout the summer. There will be the Chapel Service at eight o'clock, followed by a social hour and refreshments in the Parish House. There will be a short instruction for the children immediately after their Mass on Sunday mornings, and a record of attendance will be taken, but this will not count for the prizes which are awarded for regularity in attendance from the first of October to the first of June.

You will all be delighted to know that Fr. Underhill is expected to spend the summer at the Clergy House and assist with the Parish work as the members of the staff take their vacations, so there will be three Priests in residence during the larger part of the summer. There will be TWO MASSES EVERY DAY, and others as they are announced from time to time on the bulletin board. The hours of the Masses will be seven and half past nine o'clock, and Matins and Vespers will be said at the usual hours daily. The eight o'clock Mass on Sundays will be discontinued after Trinity Sunday.

And here I must urge on you all the necessity of looking into the matter of opportunity for Mass when you are planning your summer holiday. Again and again I hear of members of the Parish who are spending the entire summer in resorts where there is no Church. This is absolutely beyond my comprehension! How people who are faithful and devout during the winter, can take a vacation from Church I do not understand! And then, too, I must caution those who have the opportunity for Church while they are away! Your presence at Mass on Sunday is your minimum obligation. You have always been taught that at S. Clement's, and I would reiterate that precept of the Church with all the vehemence of which I am capable. The Mass is the Mass, even though the Altar be unlighted, and the Priest wears a surplice and a stole. "Because it isn't like S. Clement's," is no excuse! I blush for myself and the former Rectors of the Parish if any Communicant of the Parish does not know better than that. When you deliberately absent yourself from Mass on Sunday, you not only leave a blight on your soul which can be forgiven, but which cannot be made up, but you bring great discredit on the Catholic Faith, on your Parish, and on your Spiritual Teachers.

May I remind you of the two summer funds, and solicit your gifts for both of them. There is the Summer Outing Fund, which provides vacations for many of the mothers and children of the Parish. The offering on Ascension Day was for this, but more money will be needed. Then there is the Choir Outing Fund, which provides a week in camp during August for all the boys in the Choir. They have done splendid work this year, and many of you have spoken to me most highly of it. I am sure you will be glad to put your appreciation into material form, and help them to their vacation.

Then I must plead once more for my Discretionery Fund. All the offerings that are made on special occasions for the "Poor Fund" are handed over to the Sisters for their distribution. I have many more calls for help than do the Sisters, and I have no money, except my own personal income, to meet the demands. I have had to give up the charities that I have been interested in for many years, so as to use the money here for the poor. I think this helping the poor in the Parish is your obligation, and not mine. It is extremely embarrassing for me thus to plead with you for money to meet these pressing needs, and I hope this present importunity may be more fruitful than my former appeals.

As we look back over the past year, we have much for which we are devoutly thankful. I cannot help feeling pleased and gratified with the results of the year's work. This spirit of thankfulness and gratification must spur us on to bigger and better things, and if we are faithful and prayerful, GOD will give them to us.

Affectionately in our Blessed Lord,

Franklin Joiner

The Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

The object of this Confraternity, established many years ago in England, is to promote the honor and reverence due our Blessed Lord in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar. By our prayers and influence to restore the Mass to its proper place as the chief service on Sundays and Holy Days, and by our alms to provide the proper vessels and vestments for the Celebration of the Divine Mysteries. And, thirdly, to bind ourselves together in corporate acts of prayer through the use of the monthly intercession paper, making the prayers and intercessions either at the time of Mass, or in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament.

S. Clement's Church has the largest and most generous ward in the American Church, but we want MORE members, and LARGER gifts for this great work. When we give through this means we know that the money is going for the furthering of Catholic Faith and Practice, and that none of it is being held back for "overhead expenses."

The annual meeting of the Associates of the Confraternity will be held in the Parish House on Corpus Christi afternoon, June 15th, immediately after an address and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the Church, at four o'clock.

The Men's Association

On Wednesday evening, June 14th, the Men's Association will close a year of most successful work with their annual banquet in the Parish House. This will be the most ambitious affair yet attempted by the Association. Among the guests and speakers of the evening will be Mayor Moore; The Hon. Roland S. Morris, ex-Ambassador to Japan; Charles Lyon Chandler, Manager of the Foreign Trade Department and Special Representative of the Corn Exchange Bank; and Fletcher W. Stites, Counsel for the Borough of Narberth. The Association will also have as their guests all those who have been speakers at the monthly meetings.

Both the Rector and the Officers of the Association earnestly hope that all the men of the Parish will avail themselves of this evening's entertainment, and at the same time welcome the noted speakers and the special guests whose unselfish contribution in time and talents has placed the Association in the enviable position it occupies today.

Official notices are now in the mail and the committee-in-charge asks that acceptances be sent in promptly, so that adequate provision may be made well in advance.

A Letter From the Lord Bishop of Honduras

My dear Fr. Joiner:—

I have received by this mail (May 13th), a letter from Mr. Bonsall, of Philadelphia, giving me the joyful news that you had sent through your Church wardens $500 for the work of my Diocese. Even though you had intimated to me that you hoped to be able to do this, yet my gratitude at receiving the gift from you and your people is as great as if it were an absolute surprise. Please give to your congregation a very warm message of love from me and tell them that we are trying to build the Church in this Diocese on Catholic ideals similar to your own, and that my prayers and those of others in my diocese will be regularly offered that God's richest blessings may be poured out on the Priest and people of S. Clement's, Philadelphia.

I have determined to dedicate the recently completed chapel at Bishopthorpe (the Bishop's private residence) to S. Clement, and I expect that it will receive its proper dedication at the time of my Priest's Ordination, on June 18th. Thus there will be formed between your Parish and our Diocese a strong spiritual bond which should be fruitful in blessing both for you and for us.

With kind regards and most grateful thanks, believe me,

Yours very sincerely,

(Signed) X. ARTHUR, HONDURAS.

The Rector's Letter

My dear people:—

Owing to the sudden need of securing a new printer to do the parish work, and the calling for bids from several before the work was given out, the publication of the October magazine was brought so late in the month that it seemed better to abandon it and bring out the November issue earlier than usual.

We shall be having a very full program before us for the coming year, and I want to call upon you first of all for your more earnest prayers for the Parish and for the Clergy. I want to urge you to come with greater regularity to your confessions, and more frequently to receive the Holy Communion. The only way in which we are strengthened for God's Glory and the service of His Church is by keeping our souls free from sin, and regularly fed by our Lord s Blessed Body and Blood.

I hope you will read over the Kalendar on the inside cover of the Magazine very carefully. I think you will agree with me that this is a very active parish. You will see that there are a great many opportunities for Communion, for worship and for instruction. The mid-week services are the times when instruction in the Faith is given. There is small opportunity for any such teaching at the High Mass Sunday mornings. Many need to learn more about the Faith, others need to hear the old truths rehearsed. I want you to act as missionaries, making these services and these opportunities known to others, and bringing them with you to the Church. We must do more than tell people; we must go after them and bring them in. It does not do simply to tell others of these services, and then have them come and not find you here. I know the Parish Church is "off the beaten track" and that the trolley service to this side of the city is poor, but if you really want to come, these things will not hinder you.

Periodically we are forced to make changes in the Clergy and administrative staff. This autumn there are several such changes. Fr. Anderson has accepted a Curacy at the Church of the Advent, Boston. It is his old home Church, where he has served both as a choir boy and acolyte, and our prayers follow him as he goes to serve as Priest among his friends. Sister Eleanor has been transferred to S. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark, and Sister Isabel has gone to work in Boston. Fr. Noel, who has been at Mt. Calvary Church, Baltimore, for several years, has already taken up the work as Junior Curate, and we have also welcomed to the Parish Sisters Helen and Ruth.

Once again we are nearing our Patronal Festival. I hope you will all arrange your engagements so that you will be free to take a generous share in its celebration. It should be a season of obligation for every member of the Parish to come to the Sacrament of Penance and to receive the Holy Communion. The Clergy will be in the Church on each of the three days preceding the Feast for Confessions at the usual morning, afternoon and evening hours. The Festival First Vespers is a new departure, as it seems to be a fitting preparation not only for the Feast, but for the Communions the following morning, and gives many an opportunity for a Festival Service, especially those who are not able to come to the High Mass on the Feast Day.

I have had one great disappointment in planning for the Feast, and that was in the inability of Fr. Staunton, of Sagada, to be with us on the Sunday in the Octave. His engagements are in the hands of the Church House in New York, but he hopes to come to us before he returns to the Philippine Islands. The music of the Feast Day will be repeated on the Sunday in the Octave, and while I am unable at this writing to announce the special preachers for Sunday, you may be assured that they will be the very best Priests that I can secure at this late date.

I hope you will read carefully what I have written elsewhere in the Magazine about the Parochial Mission, which is to open, God willing, on Septuagesima Sunday. Please pray hard about it, especially at Mass, and say the special prayer every day. The Parish certainly needs this Mission, and much more so does the city and the diocese.

Beginning with the first Sunday in November, in the Octave of All Saints, the children's Mass at quarter past nine o'clock Sunday mornings will be a Sung Mass with incense. I would be very glad if some one in the Parish who wishes to give a memorial in the Church would give a portable Altar to use at this Mass. This Mass is primarily for the children, and while they are all in the front pews of the Church, they are unable to see the Altar, and so unable to follow the Mass intelligently. The portable Altar could be moved in Sunday mornings after the eight o'clock Mass to the head of the center aisle, and so be in the midst of the children, and there would be plenty of time to remove it before the High Mass. I heard some one recently speak about the Rector's "English notions." I may have some, but this is not one of them. I first saw a portable Altar used in this way for the children at the Church of the Advent in Boston.

On all the Saints' Days and the greater feasts that fall between Sundays the Mass at half-past nine will be a Sung Mass with incense. In lieu of the usual choir we shall use two Cantors in Copes. This is an "English notion." The offerings on these days will be given to the Choir Fund.

May I call your attention to the special collections that will be received during the balance of the year. At the Patronal Feast the offerings will be for the general Parish expenses, and I beg your most generous response. On Thanksgiving Day, for the Episcopal Hospital; on All Souls' Day, for the Guild of All Souls; on the Second Sunday in Advent, for the Poor Fund, and on Christmas Day, for the Clergy Pension Fund. Then there is the ever-present need in my "Discretionary Fund," or "Indiscretion Fund," if you prefer to call it that. With discretion and with indiscretion, this fund is always in need of replenishing.

May God bless us richly in our service for Him.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

A Parochial Mission

It is a great many years since we have had a Mission at S. Clement's, and almost as many years since there has been a large Mission in the city.

The Rector has felt for a long time that there should be such a Mission in the Parish. Many new people have come into the Congregation in recent years, and while they are practicing most carefully the Catholic Faith, many of them have not a clear understanding of all it can mean to them. Many others have grown weary and lukewarm, and need badly to be aroused. Then there are the countless hosts of men and women outside the Church who are seeking for the Truth. We want to reach all these people, in the Parish, in the City, in the Diocese.

While the Rector was in England this summer he was able to arrange for such a Mission, which will, God willing, be held in the Parish beginning on Septuagesima Sunday, January 29th, 1923. The Mission will be in charge of the Reverend Frederic King, of the Community of the Resurrection, Mirfield, England, and he will be assisted by the Reverend Bruce Reddish, a Priest of the American Church who has been closely identified with the Community in England. The late Fr. Figgis was a member of this Community, and Fr. Frere and Fr. Bickersteth are conspicuous members today, and their writings are familiar to many of you.

The exact details of the Mission have not as yet been completed, but in the next Magazine I shall be ready to lay the whole scheme before you and give a complete roster of the exercises of the Mission.

Begin now to pray about it. The Rector and the Clergy of the Parish can take care of the details of the Church end and the arrangement of the service, but the extent of its influence throughout the City and the Diocese will depend largely on the people of the Parish. Not only pray about it, but talk about it. Impress your friends and your acquaintances with the aim and power of such an undertaking for God's Holy Church.

Prayer for the Parochial Mission
To Be Used Daily

Ant. We have sinned with our fathers: we have done amiss and dealt wickedly.

R. Wilt Thou not turn again and quicken us:

V. That Thy people may rejoice in Thee.

O Lord Jesus Christ, the great Shepherd of the sheep, Who seekest those that are gone astray, bindest up those that are broken, and healest those that are sick; bless, we beseech Thee, the efforts which Thy servants are about to make to convert souls unto Thee. Loosen the tongues of those who shall speak in Thy Name; open the deaf ears of the wanderers, that they may hear the words which belong unto salvation, and grant that those whom Thou dost raise to newness of life may, through Thy grace, persevere unto the end; of Thy mercy, O our God, Who art blessed, and livest and reignest for ever and ever. Amen.

Novena Prayer for the Parish
November 14th to 22nd

Ant. I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and My blessing on thine offspring.

V. Turn Thee again, O Lord God of hosts.

R. Look down from heaven, behold and visit this vine.

Let us pray.

Collect

Almighty God, Who does govern all things in Heaven and earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and grant to this parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare: Strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances and hurtful things; and make all to be of one heart and one mind in the Fold of Thy Holy Church, to the honor and glory of Thy Son, our Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen.

Note from the Accounting Warden

I wonder if our people realize that S. Clement's is practically a "free" Church. For several years past our income from pew rents has decreased, and last year the Rector and Vestry decided to discontinue the renting of any more pews, and that as the present rented ones are given up, they will be declared free. Thus you see that in a few years we will not only lose $2500.00 income from this source, but as well the sum paid by pew holders towards the Convention Fund Assessment.

I think it might be helpful to the congregation to understand some of our difficulties. During the summer we have had to borrow $3500.00 to meet the ordinary Parish expenses. Our fixed charges are $1000.00 a month, and during the summer months the Sunday offerings are scarcely over $50.00 each, unless some generous person sends a cheque.

It is true that the Yarnall Fund helps us greatly, but only one-quarter of the income is available for general expenses. So you see we are not as well off as some of you may have thought. Help us on S. Clement's Day.

Pictures and Cards for Christmas

Do not forget that we have some very good photographs of the Church for sale. There is one exterior view and two very fine views of the interior. These would make splendid Christmas gifts for the former members of the Parish who now live out of town. They may be purchased before and after any service, in the Cope Room.

The Sisters have a very fine assortment of choice Christmas cards for sale. The Sisters will be found in their office in the Parish House every morning from ten until twelve o'clock. These cards were personally selected in various London and Paris shops and form an excellent selection to those who come early. They are reasonably priced. The proceeds will go towards the Mothers' Meeting annual gift towards Parish Expenses.

Clergy Retreats

A need is constantly felt by the Clergy for times of quiet meditation and retreat. It is often impossible for the Parish Priest to leave his work for several days for the annual Retreats that are given.

The Rector has arranged a series of such Quiet Days for the Clergy, to be given at S. Clement's on the first Monday of each month. They will begin with the half-past nine o'clock Mass and end with Evensong at five. There will be addresses at eleven, two and four. Terce, Sext and None will be said and Intercessions made between the addresses. A refection, to cost fifty cents apiece, will be served in the Parish House.

No further notices of these days will be given, nor will any personal invitation be issued. They are open for any Deacon or Priest who wishes to keep the day, or any part of it. The Rector would be glad to know beforehand, by telephone, those who wish to remain for luncheon, but failure to do this must not keep any one away.

The Reverend Samuel Booth, of the Wrightstown Mission, has consented to give the Addresses on November 6th, and the Reverend D. I. Odell, D.D., Rector of the Church of the Annunciation, has been invited to give them on December 4th.

A New Chalice for S. Clement's

A very handsome Chalice and Paten, wrought from an original design by Messrs. J. E. Caldwell & Company and made from old family pieces of silver and gold belonging to the Dodson family, has just been presented to S. Clement's Church by the last surviving member of the family, Miss Roxanna Dodson, of "The Margrave."

The Chalice stands about eight inches in height and is entirely plain except for a chased design about the knop and the border about the base. On one of the base panels is a raised Cross and Corpus of silver. The inside of the bowl of the Chalice and the entire Paten are of solid gold.

The Chalice is engraved on the under side as follows: "To the Glory of God and in Loving Memory of Elisha Bennett and Cornelia Cooper Gaskill Dodson and Their Children. Blessed All Saints' Day, 1922, S. Clement's Church."

The American Red Cross

Every bit of help that S. Clement's Branch of the American Red Cross can give is needed this year at the Annual Roll Call. The success of the Pennsylvania Chapter's work during the hard winter months to come is dependent entirely upon the size of the 1922 enrollment. Since the late war the income of the Chapter has been falling away, year by year, while demands upon it have proportionately increased. And never since the Armistice have their services been so urgently needed as now.

Mrs. Paul Franklin Mowry, the Secretary of our Auxiliary, will be in the Cope Room before and after the High Mass on Sunday, November 12th, to receive new and renew old subscriptions.

The Men's Association

The Men's Association extends a cordial invitation to the women and girls of the Parish to meet with them at their November meeting, Monday evening, November 13th, at half-past eight o'clock.

The evening's entertainment will be instructive as well as of an entertaining character. The Bell Telephone Company will give a practical demonstration of its central office. Many of us have often wondered what really happens at the central office when we lift the receivers from the telephone hooks. This demonstration will show you. Switchboards such as are used at the centrals will be set up and there will be six operators in attendance. There will also be lantern slides illustrating other features of the mechanism and there will be some diverting moving pictures. It is hoped that the Parish House may be well filled for this evening. There is no charge for admission.

The Women's Auxiliary

Missionary Meetings, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, are held in the Parish Hall on the first Wednesday afternoon of each month at three o'clock. Every member of the Church is, by virtue of her Baptism, a member of the Auxiliary. A larger attendance at these monthly meetings is urged. If you are not interested in Missions it is because you do not know enough about them, and this is the place for you to learn. There are always good reports from the various Mission fields and very often Missionaries themselves are present to tell of their work.

The officers have arranged a particularly good meeting for Wednesday, November 1st. Mrs. J. Allison Scott, President of the Auxiliary in the Diocese, will speak of the women s meeting at the last General Convention and the triennial offering. The Reverend W. M. M. Thomas, of Porto Alegre, Brazil, will tell of his work and the Church's work in South America.

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

From the glorious thrill of the Patronal Festival, from the haunting strains of Gounod's Mass so superbly sung, from the stirring messages of the visiting preachers, I must call you to the more sober and serious season of Advent.

Advent is a time of preparation, not alone of preparation for our Lord's coming to us, but quite as much a preparation of our coming to Him, when at the moment of death, we shall meet Him as our Judge. A worthy preparation for the former would include the latter, and you must keep both Advents before your mind during these weeks immediately preceeding Christmas.

You know that the time must come when you shall look into the face of Jesus, no longer "through a glass darkly," just as really as Blessed Mary and Saint Joseph looked into His Face on the first Christmas morning. You do not know when that moment of your coming to Him may be, but you must be ready. So really your whole life must be such a preparation. But Holy Church gives you this special season, when in her teaching, she keeps this thought before you. You must use it.

Instruction has already begun for the Sacrament of Confirmation. The Bishop Suffragan is to visit us for this Sacrament late in January. I prefer to prepare people individually, and this will be done, except in the case of the younger children, where many of them are of the same age and receptivity.

Of course, Confession and Absolution will be plainly taught as part of the Church's ordinary teaching and practice. I want you to be quite clear about this from the start, then there can be no sort of hesitation, misgiving or misunderstanding of any kind about the preparation for the Sacraments of Grace. Confession is private, but it is not secret, nor in any way underhand. It is sacred and sealed, but there is nothing hidden about it. You have sinned, and the Sacrament of Absolution applied to your contrition is God's pardon for your sins and the confirmation of that pardon in Heaven.

Will any of you who are thinking about Confirmation please speak to one of the Clergy or to the Sisters, so that an hour for instruction may be arranged? You are not obligated to come to the Sacrament simply because you have received instruction. You may withdraw at any time if you wish. Just come and hear for yourself, and God will show you His Will.

I have accepted an invitation to conduct a five-days Conference at S. James' Church, Washington, beginning Sunday evening, December 10th, and continuing through the following Friday, and I ask your prayers for God's sanction and blessing on this work undertaken for Him. The addresses that I have prepared for this Conference, I shall hope to repeat in the Parish during Lent.

I trust you are all praying very hard for the Parochial Mission that the Fathers from the Community of the Resurrection are to give, beginning on Septuagesima Sunday. You will find elsewhere in the Magazine some further details concerning it, and also a short account of the Community and their work. I am also printing some additional devotions that you may find helpful when you are saying your prayers.

Mr. Francis Dring Wetherill, my Warden, and for many years a member of the Vestry, died suddenly at his summer home, in Jamestown, R. I., on S. Clement's Eve. He had been in failing health for the past year, but had recovered much of his former strength, and had spent a comfortable summer. A Requiem Mass was said in the Church on Tuesday in the Octave of S. Clement, and interment was in the Church yard of S. James the Less. May he rest in peace.

With increasing rapidity this older generation in the Parish, those who were here when the Cowley Fathers came, are laying down the implements of their warfare, and entering into the Church Expectant. Many, many of them, I know, have already attained to the Beatific Vision. The battle is not over, there is still fighting to be done. They who have gone before are watching you, praying for you, depending on you. Surely you will not fail them. I know you will not. You must step up bravely to the front and fill in these gaps in the Church Militant, remembering that you have the same Church and the same Sacraments and the same opportunities for approaching God as they had, and that God calls you, each one, to be His saints. They have made of S. Clement's a rich treasure house, and that heritage is yours. Are you ready to take their places? God can and will make you their worthy successors.

Your responsibilities are great, as communicants of S. Clement's Church. May God the Holy Ghost aid you in a profitable Advent, and in the Feast of Christmas, may the Divine Child give you every joy and happiness, and "the peace which passeth all knowledge."

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

The Advent Antiphons—the Great O's

On the eight days immediately preceeding Christmas, the antiphons used before and after the Magnificat at Vespers begin with the letter "O," and so have been known from ancient times as the "Great O's."

If you will look in a copy of the English Book of Common Prayer, you will see the first one listed under date of the 16th of December, showing us that their use should be continued. They have been used at S. Clement's in recent years, and they are listed here for your interest and edification.

December 16th. O SAPIENTIA. O Wisdom, Which camest forth out of the mouth of the Most High, and reachest from one end to the other: mightily and sweetly ordering all things; Come, and teach us the way of prudence.

December 17th. O ADONAI. O Lord and Ruler of the House of Israel, Who appearedst unto Moses in a flame of fire in the bush, and gavest unto him the Law in Sinai: Come and redeem us with a stretched-out arm.

December 18th. O RADIX JESSE. O Root of Jesus, Who standest for an ensign of the people, at Whom kings shall shut their mouths, unto Whom the Gentiles shall pray: Come, and deliver us, and tarry not.

December 19th. O CLAVIS DAVID. O Key of David, and Sceptre of the House of Israel, Thou that openest, and no man shuttest, and shuttest and no man openeth: Come, and loose the prisoner from the prison-house, and him that sitteth in darkness, from the shadow of death.

December 20th. O ORIENS. O Orient, Brightness of the Eternal Light, and Sun of Righteousness: Come and lighten them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death.

December 21st. O REX GENTIUM. O King of the Gentiles, and their Desire, the Cornerstone, Who madest both one: Come, and save man, Whom Thou made out of the dust of the earth.

December 22nd. O EMMANUEL. O Emmanuel, our King and Law-giver, the Desire of all nations, and their Saviour: Come, and save us, O Lord our God.

December 23rd. O VIRGO VIRGINUM. O Virgin of Virgins, how shall this be? For neither before thee was any like thee, nor shall there be after: Daughters of Jerusalem, why marvel ye at me? The thing which ye behold is a Divine Mystery.

The December Quiet Day for Priests

Twelve Priests kept the Quiet Day on November 6th, which was the first of the monthly Quiet Days that the Rector of the Parish has arranged for the winter. Fr. Booth, of Wrightstown, gave the meditations, and they were most helpful. One can hardly speak of such a day as being successful, but it was very satisfying.

The second of these Quiet Days will be Monday, December 4th, and the addresses will be given by our own Fr. Smith. The addresses will be at 11, 2 and 4 o'clock. The Day begins with the Mass at 9.30, and closes with Evensong at 5. Luncheon, to cost fifty cents apiece, is served at 1 o'clock.

The Bible Classes

People are quite frequently asking the Clergy about Bible Classes. Sister Helen has such a class in S. John's Chapel every Sunday morning at ten o'clock, and she is always happy to welcome new members. It is held at this time, so that mothers who bring their children for the Catechism, can be attending the Class while the children are receiving their instruction.

Sister Ruth has a Bible Class for the girls and young women at the same hour, in the Guild Room on the second floor of the Parish House. The numbers in this class are small, and the Sister is very anxious that those who wish to join this class should do so at once, before the course of study for the winter is any further advanced.

If any one wishes to know more about these classes, it would be well for them to attend one. I am sure one visit would convince them of their great value and benefit.

Fr. Staunton of Sagada

It was a great disappointment that we were not able to have Fr. Staunton with us during the Patronal Festival, as he was on his former visit to this country. We are delighted, though, that he is to be with us on Sunday evening, December 17th, and at Solemn Vespers will tell us of his great work at Sagada, in the Philippine Islands. This is to be a Missionary Mass Meeting, to which all men and women who are interested in Missions, and especially in this outstanding Catholic Missionary enterprise in our Eastern possession, are most cordially invited.

The offering at this service will be given through the Board of Missions for Fr. Staunton's work in the Philippines.

The Women's Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held in the Parish House on Wednesday afternoon, December 6th, at three o'clock. The speaker at this meeting will be Miss Harriet M. Bedell, an United Thank-offering worker from S. Stephen's Village, Alaska. It is hoped that all the members of the Auxiliary will be present to greet Miss Bedell, who comes from New York City expressly to address this meeting.

The Auxiliary has just completed the packing of a Missionary Box, through the Diocesan Supply Bureau, which is to be sent in time for Christmas, to the Rev'd George Griffith, who is stationed in the Virgin Islands at S. Thomas. Fr. Griffith has written a very interesting letter about his work, and this will be read at the December meeting.

The Men's Association

The men of the Parish who are not devoting the second Monday evening of each month to the meetings of the Men's Association are missing great treats and opportunities of mingling in this social way with the men of the congregation.

The entertainment committee of the Association has secured Dr. Thomas Lynch Montgomery for their meeting on Monday evening, December 11th. Dr. Montgomery, who for many years was State Librarian at the Capitol, in Harrisburg, and is now Librarian of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, will have for his subject "Colonial Pennsylvania." Dr. Montgomery is an authority on this matter, and is in constant demand by historical clubs and societies. His lecture includes much interesting information about the early post roads, means of travel, colonial houses and architecture, and will be amply illustrated with lantern slides.

This evening should prove one of the most attractive that the Men's Association have arranged, and all the men of the Parish and the congregation are urged to be present. A social hour and smoker will follow the lecture.

A Day of Prayer at S. Mark's Church

S. Mark's League of Intercession will have their annual day of corporate prayer at the Locust Street Church on Thursday, December 7th. Intercessions have been arranged for the various organizations and institutions of the Church, beginning at half past ten and continuing until five in the afternoon. Fr. Vernon will give the Meditation, and lead the Intercessions from twelve until one o'clock. It is hoped that the members of S. Clement will join with the sister Parish in this Day of Devotion.

The Christmas Appeal

There are many expenses incident to the Festival of Christmas, for which an extra appeal of money must be made at this time.

The Rector would like offerings towards the Christmas greens and trees for the Church.

Miss Arnold would like offerings for flowers for the Altars during the Festival season.

The Sister would like offerings for the Christmas dinner baskets, for the presents for the children of the Catechism, and for the treats at the Christmas parties.

The past few years there have been a great many gifts of one dollar for these funds, and it is hoped that there will be as many of these small gifts this year. It means so much more to have a hundred persons give a dollar apiece than to have one person give the hundred.

These gifts may be handed direct to the Rector or the Sisters, or carefully marked, may be placed in the Offering at one of the Church services.

The Girls' Club

On Tuesday evening, November 7th, the members of the Girl's Club held their annual business meeting, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Laura Collier,
Vice-President—Janet Rothwell,
Secretary—Ethel Coen,
Treasurer—Helen Davis.

A great number of younger girls have come into the Club this winter, and they have been organized in a Junior Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ellett, who with Miss Sprecher, have been appointed Associates of the Club by the Rector.

The Girls' Club Annual Entertainment

On Tuesday evening, December 5th, at eight o'clock, the members of the Girls' Club will give a Minstrel Show in the Parish House. Many will remember with pleasure the splendid entertainment that the girls gave last year, and they may be assured that this year's performance will be even better than that.

The Minstrel will be followed by a short one-act comedy, to be given also by members of the Club. Tickets are now on sale at fifty cents apiece, and the proceeds of the evening will be added to the Club's annual gift to the Parish for the Maintenance Fund.

The Community of the Resurrection

This Community is one of the largest and most influential in the English Church. Founded by Bishop Gore, in 1892, its first home was in Pusey House, Oxford.

At the end of a year, the Community took up its residence in Radley Vicarage, a few miles from Oxford, whence the Brethren removed in 1898 to Mirfield, in the heart of a great industrial district in Yorkshire, where the Mother House is still situated. The members of the Community are commonly called "Mirfield Fathers" in England.

There is also at Mirfield a Theological College or Seminary where about seventy-five young men are being trained for Holy Orders. Connected with the College is a Hostel in Leeds, where the men reside while in attendance at the University. There is also a Priory in London, and three branch Houses in South Africa. One of these is a College for young men of European ancestry, another a Mission House and training school for native Clergy, while the third is a mission among the heathen in Rhodesia.

The Community has been especially conspicuous for its high standard of scholarship, many men of international reputation having been among its members. Besides its founder, such men as Fr. Frere, Fr. Figgis, Fr. Rackam, Fr. Bull and Fr. Bickersteth are known through their books in every part of the Anglican Communion.

The Parochial Mission

Fr. King of the Community of the Resurrection will be in charge of the Mission that will open at S. Clement's on Septuagesima Sunday, January 29, 1923. He will be assisted by Fr. Reddish, an Associate of the Community.

The Mission will continue through Quinquagesima Sunday, closing that evening with the renewal of Baptismal vows, and a Solemn Te Deum. The Missioners will preach at Solemn Mass and Solemn Vespers on each of these three Sundays.

There will be two Mission Services on the week-days, except Saturday, which will be free. One of these will be in the morning at half past ten o'clock, and the other in the evening, at eight.

There will be detailed printed cards for distribution by the first of January, and larger posters which the members of the congregation will be asked to put up in the front windows of their houses.

Remember the dates—January 29th to February 11th.

Prayers in Preparation for the Parochial Mission, Septuagesima-Tide, 1923

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.

Act of Adoration. Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts, Heaven and earth are full of Thy Glory. Blessed be the Holy and Undivided Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, now and forever more. Amen.

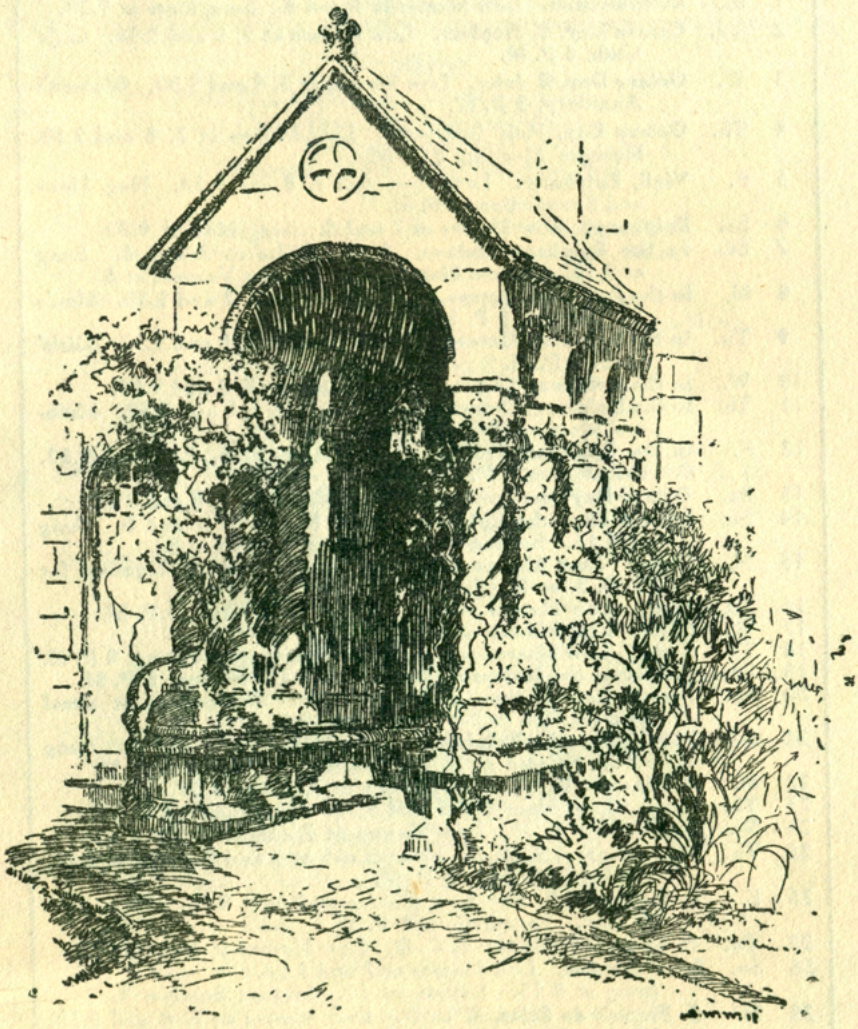
Prayer. O God, forasmuch as without Thee we are not able to please Thee, mercifully grant that Thy Holy Spirit may in all things direct and rule our hearts, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

O Almighty God, Who dost pour the gift of Charity into the hearts of Thy faithful people by the Grace of the Holy Spirit, hear our prayer for our Church and Parish, and grant unto Thy servants and handmaids safety of mind, body and soul, and Grace to work for Thee, and Serve Thee with all their powers: through Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour. Amen.

Holy Spirit of Light, illuminate us.
Holy Spirit of Wisdom, counsel us.

Holy Spirit of Truth, teach us.
Holy Spirit of Grace, quicken us.
Holy Spirit of Fire, bless us.
Very and Eternal God, bless us.
Our Father. Hail Mary. Glory be.

✠ May the Divine Grace assist us, and may the souls of the faithful, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.



The Franck Anniversary Organ Recital

The Centenary of Cesar Auguste Franck will be celebrated by the American Organ Players' Club by a Recital in S. Clement's Church, Thursday evening, December 28th, at a quarter-past eight o'clock. The program, consisting entirely of Franck's compositions, will include such eminent organists as Mons. Charles M. Courboin, formerly of the Cathedral in Antwerp; Mons. Marcel Dupre, of Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris; our own organist, Henry S. Fry; Rollo F. Maitland and S. Wesley Sears. There will be no charge for admission.

Cesar Auguste Franck, although born in Belgium in 1822, has been spoken of as "the saint of French music" and "the Bach of France." He became a naturalized Frenchman and was an organist for thirty-two years at Ste. Clotilde, Paris. Franck lived a deeply religious life with a lofty purpose and high ideals. Saint-Saens once described his music as "Cathedralesque" and "in listening to it one can almost see the pillars and arches, and candle-light and the bowed devotees at prayer."

S. Clement's Church, with its "atmosphere" and fine organ, creates an ideal surrounding for the hearing of the lofty music of this great composer.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

What a beautiful Christmas Feast we have had, and how very thankful we should be to Almighty God for His many blessings to us all, both as individuals and as a Parish. So many strangers say to me as they leave the Church after one of the Festival services, "What a privilege to worship God in the fulness of the Catholic Faith, and where the very atmosphere of the Church breathes devotion!" This Church of yours, with the unrestricted practice of the Catholic Religion is a priceless heritage, and you are conscious, I know, of the great value of that heritage.

I want to thank you most heartily for your generous responses to the several Christmas appeals. The Sister received sufficient money for all the Christmas dinner baskets, for the presents for the children's tree and for the Mothers' Meeting party, and for the refreshments at the several entertainments, with a balance left over, which she has placed in the "Poor Fund." Miss Arnold received well over a hundred dollars for the flowers, and I had much more than was needed for the expenses that come under my direction. This balance I have also added to the "Poor Fund." The Christmas Day collection was more than enough to cover the Clergy Pension Premiums, and this balance, together with the offering of the Sunday in the Octave, which was larger than Christmas Day, enabled the Accounting Warden to pay several bills that he had expected to carry over into the new year. I do not like to mention money, and by mentioning it here I do not want to over-emphasize it, but it is one of the ways, even if not the highest, to test the pulse of a Parish.

The Accounting Warden is sending out the Duplex envelopes for the coming year. He hopes that everyone will sign their pledge cards and put them on the plates as soon as possible. He asks this especially because it is his first year with the work, and he wants to tabulate his records. These pledge cards are for his exclusive information. There are many people in the Parish who should be subscribing through this system for the support of the Parish, who have never asked for the envelopes. It would help me tremendously if all would use this system, for it gives the Vestry an idea of the amount of money they can depend upon, and it does enable you to be regular in your giving.

This is the month in which our Mission begins. Remember, Septuagesima Sunday, January 28. I am depending on you to make this known throughout the city. I am printing in this magazine a small poster which I hope every member of the Parish, and all our friends as well, will put in the front windows of their homes. Full page display advertisements are appearing in the Diocesan paper. There will be conspicuous advertisements in the daily papers. I hope no one will be offended with the great display sign that is to be put up in the Church yard. This is a great venture for Christ and the Catholic Faith. I am leaving no stone unturned, no "worldly methods" untouched to put this great matter before the public.

But all these printed notices and signs will count for much less than a personal word from you. Not only tell your friends, but promise to call for them and bring them to the services.

The Mission will open with the High Mass Septuagesima Sunday, and close Quinquagesima Sunday evening, January 28th to February 11th, inclusive. There will be daily Masses at 7, 8 and 9.30. Matins at 7.30 and Evensong at 5. On each of the weekdays, except Saturday, there will be Mission preaching at 10.30 and at 8. On Sundays, the Missioners will preach both at Solemn Mass and at the evening service. I hope you are all saying your prayers very hard for God's blessing and direction on this work, and that you will have it in mind always when you are assisting at Mass, and the intentions of some of your Communions. The Altars must be crowded at the Masses during the Mission.

Friday, January 26, will be kept as a day of special devotion and intercession before the Blessed Sacrament for the Parish, the Mission and the Missioners. The Sacrament will be exposed on the High Altar after the last Mass, and continuous intercessions will be offered until evening, when the day will close with devotions and Benediction at eight o'clock. I hope everyone of you will try to spend a part of this day in Church, abasing yourselves before our Blessed Lord for your own sins and the sins of the whole world, and entreating Him to further and to bless our efforts for the spreading of His Kingdom.

Thursday, February 1, is the day set for the annual Retreat of the Society of the Companions of the Holy Cross. The Retreat will be conducted by the Missioners, with the usual address at 10.30, and others at 2.30 and 4 P. M. Any women of the Parish will be welcomed at this day of Retreat, and if they signify their intention of attending to the Secretary, S. C. H. C., 2222 Spruce Street, a place will be reserved for them at breakfast and luncheon. The Corporate Communion for the Retreat will be at the 8 o'clock Mass.

I am hoping to arrange another Retreat during the Mission for the Clergy of the City and the Diocese on Monday, February 5. Further notice, and the details, will be given in the February magazine.

The Annual Requiem, for the Departed Members of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, will be sung at S. Clement's on Monday, January 15, at 11.15 o'clock. This is the Annual Service for the National Society, and Clergy and guests are expected from many of the nearby cities. The Preacher at the Mass will be the Rev. Frank L. Vernon, Rector of S. Mark's Church, and our Provincial Chaplain. I hope that as many of you as can possibly arrange it will assist at this Requiem Mass.

The following Sunday evening, January 21, we shall be keeping the First Vespers of S. Vincent, Deacon and Martyr, and the Patron of all Acolytes.

Now let me sum up this letter. Pray hard for the Mission. Rembember it at Mass. Remember the Day of Exposition and special intercession, January 26. Remember the other services of the month. Open up this magazine to the middle pages, and put it in your front window for a poster.

Father White, the former Rector of S. Mark's Church, and Dean of the Cathedral at Fond-du-Lac, who has just returned to Philadelphia to be Archdeacon of the work among the foreign-born in the Diocese, is preaching for us at High Mass on the Sunday in the Octave of the Epiphany.

May GOD bless us all richly in the New Year, keeping us Christ-Child-like in trusting simplicity to follow the leading of His Holy Spirit.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

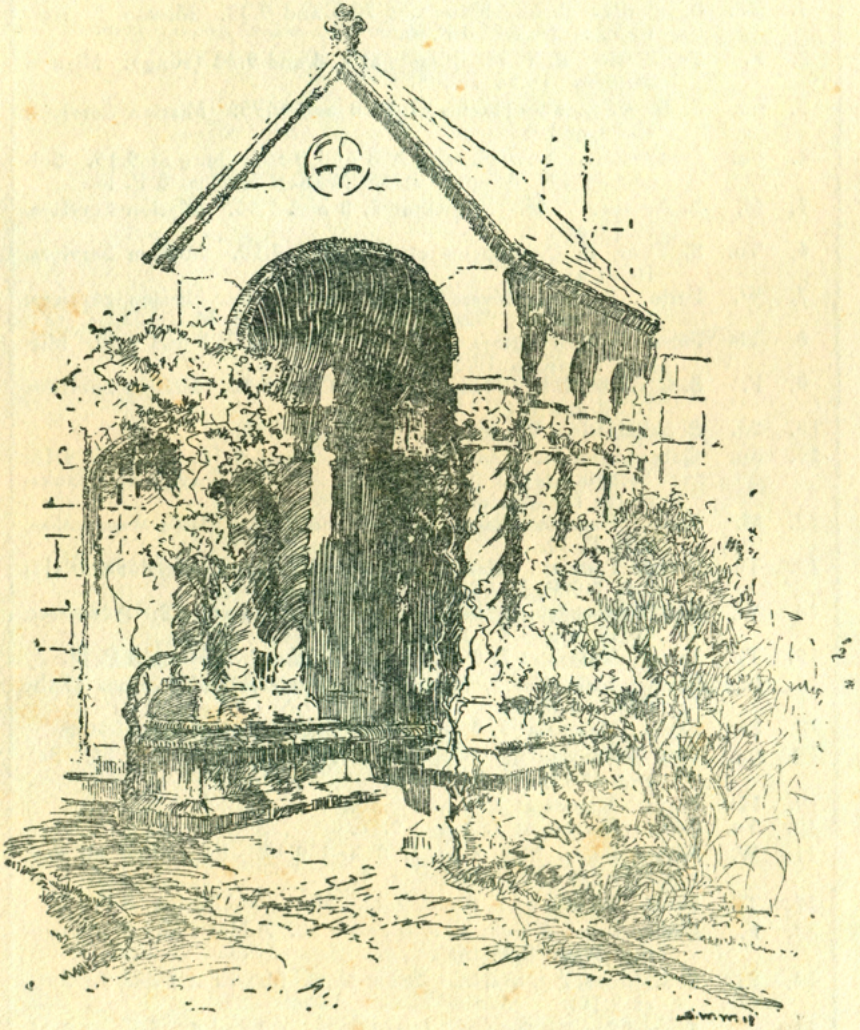
THE CHILD JESUS SERVES MASS

Come children all whose joy it is
To serve at Holy Mass,
And hear what once in days of Faith
In England came to pass.

It chanced a Priest was journeying
Through wildering ways of woods,
And there, where few came passing by,
A lonely Chapel stood.

He stayed his feet, that Pilgrim Priest,
His morning Mass to say,
And put the sacred vestments on
That near the altar lay.

But who shall serve the Holy Mass?—
For all is silent there:
He kneels him down, and patient waits
The peasants' hour of prayer—



When lo, a child of wondrous grace
Before the altar steals,
And down beside that lonely Priest
An Infant beauty kneels.

He serves the Mass; His voice is sweet
Like music soft and low,
With downcast eye, and ready hand
And footsteps hushed and slow.

"Et Verbum caro factum est,"
He lingers till he hears,—
Then turning to the Virgin Shrine
In glory disappears.

So, round the altar children dear
Press gladly in God's Name,
For once to serve at Holy Mass
The Infant Jesus came.—Selected.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

We have all suffered a great shock in the sudden passing from this life of our dear Father Quin. But what a beautiful end it was! And as we think more about it, the more there is for each of us to be thankful for in it! No pain and no suffering, but kneeling quietly at his usual duties, his Lord called, and then took him! May our last end be like his!

The Father had been unusually quiet for several days, but busy about his accustomed duties, and had been out of doors perhaps more than usual during the week. Thursday he had spent with his niece in South Philadelphia, and that same evening had gone out for a walk with one of the Acolytes. He was about, as was his custom, the next morning, and after his breakfast went with me into the Church to prepare the High Altar for the Day of Exposition we were to have with intercessions for the preaching mission. After the late Mass we went again into the Church for the devotions incident to the Exposition. We had guests for luncheon that day in the Clergy House and while he ate little at the time, he did not speak of feeling ill. He left the table to go into the Church to keep his time in intercessions before the Blessed Sacrament, and when he came back into the house I had gone into the Church for my Confessional hours. During my absence in the Church he spoke to the other Clergy of an oppressed feeling on his chest, and a rather heavy cold perspiration broke out on his forehead, and he began to feel so overcome with discomfort that he rested for about two hours on the couch in my study. He answered the telephone several times during the afternoon, and spoke to the Clergy as they passed my study door. A few minutes before five o'clock I left the Church and went into S. John's Chapel Sacristy to prepare for Vespers, and found Father Quin sitting there in the dark. I sat down by his side, and he told me of a telephone message that he had taken for me, and then spoke of this oppressed feeling, and told me about his afternoon in my study. I noticed then the heavy beads of perspiration on his forehead. I then put on the surplice, and we entered the Chapel together. He stopped opposite the entrance and knelt down at his usual place by the steps, and rested his elbows on a chair at the side. I went to my place and had said the opening sentence, when the Father fell over slowly towards the Altar, and his head rested on the kneeling cushion. I ran to him at once, and with Fr. Noel's help lifted him to the chairs. Fr. Noel telephoned for the doctor and to S. Anna's Home for a nurse. I dismissed the few people that were in the Chapel, and when the sexton brought the aromatic spirits of ammonia and gave the Father a strong dose he seemed to respond. He was breathing heavily, but with no sign of consciousness and no sign of pain. And while we just stood waiting these few minutes, he just stopped breathing before any of us realized what was happening. We knelt at once there in the Chapel, Fr. Noel and I, by the Father's side, while I said the Absolutions and the Commendatory prayers.

The news of Fr. Quin's death soon spread through the Parish, and many came that same evening and Vespers of the Dead was said in S. John's Chapel. After the service the Clergy in the house helped me in preparing his body for burial; we vested him in the Vestments that he had had for many years for this purpose, and put in his hands the Chalice and Paten that had been given to him in 1917 on the occasion of the thirtieth anniversary of his ordination to the Priesthood.

After the High Mass on Sunday, the body was brought into S. John's Chapel, where Acolytes, his boys, kept a perpetual watch until the Solemn Requiem, Monday morning. After the evening Mission Service, the casket was closed and borne through the crowded Church to the High Altar, where the night watch was kept. There were Low Masses of Requiem the next morning every half hour, said by various Priests of the city. At half-past ten, Bishop Garland said the Burial Office in the Church.

The Church was crowded for the Solemn Mass, and several hundred standing at the rear. The Mass was most beautiful and impressive, and was a worthy offering for so worthy a Priest of the Church.

Rest eternal grant unto him, O Lord, and let light perpetual shine upon him. May he rest in peace. Amen.

I am writing this letter in the midst of the Mission, which is meeting with a most royal response on your part. We are in the greatest debt to the Missioners who are spending themselves so unreservedly for our spiritual benefit. The congregations have been admirable in size, and most intent in interest. Great numbers have renewed their Baptismal vows, and those who have signed the resolution cards and received their Mission Crosses are quite conspicuous in numbers. I am most thankful for all this.

Fr. Quin really opened the Mission for us. I am sure that GOD took him at this time to stir our hearts, and to make them sensitive to the words of his Missioners.

The Mission will close on Quinquagesima Sunday, and the following Wednesday is the beginning of Lent. I need not call you to the season with special warning, for the Mission is preparing you for these forty days. The Lenten services will be as in recent years, with the single exception that Vespers will not be sung Friday evenings. I think this has prolonged the service unduly. We will use the organ and have some hymns, with sermon and Stations of the Cross. There will be the usual days of Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament on Wednesdays with continuous intercessions until the address and Benediction at four o'clock. There will be three Masses each day, and fifteen minutes of intercessions each afternoon before Vespers.

The Clergy will be in the Church at the usual afternoon and evening hours on Shrove Tuesday for Confessions, and also after the last Mass in the morning. The half-past nine Mass on Ash Wednesday will be sung, and I hope to preach at the end of the Mass, and also each Wednesday afternoon in Lent at four. Fr. Noel will preach Ash Wednesday evening, and will alternate with Fr. Smith for the Friday night sermons in Lent. I hope to preach at both Solemn Mass and Solemn Vespers on Sundays. On the Tuesday evenings in Lent I shall be giving half-hour illustrated talks on the English Cathedrals, for the Girls' Club, beginning promptly at half-past eight. I think the girls would be glad to have any others who might be interested to attend these little talks, and immediately after the girls will hold their regular weekly meeting.

I want to thank you all most warmly for the many expressions of affection and sympathy which have come to me during the past few days. The assurance of your prayers and the generous gifts of your devotion, with that Blessed Faith in which we live, and in which, GOD grant, we may die, have been my staying props during these sad days. May GOD sanctify this experience and these days to our great spiritual gain and blessing.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Accounting Warden's
Annual Report

The Accounting Warden presents herewith a summarized report of the Parish finances for the year ending December 31, 1922. The books are being audited as heretofore by a public accountant, and full details of receipts and expenses have been presented to the Vestry. We owed on January 1 on various accounts $1798.55, and after the payment of the salaries due the first of the month our balance in bank was $613. Of these bills which we owed, nearly $1300 represented our diocesan charges and bills for insurance. The latter item is much increased this year, due to the expiration of some of our large policies, which have to be renewed every five years.

We paid a loan at bank of $3952, part of which was carried over from the previous fiscal year, and during the summer we were obliged to borrow $3500, this being, as you will see, a reduction of $450 in that item of debt. It is hoped that the entire indebtedness at bank may be paid by Easter, but under the present conditions we cannot hope to avoid borrowing over the summer period.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

The month of March this year has, compressed within itself, the most solemn part of the Church Kalendar. May I urge you all once more to give yourselves up entirely this month to the following in prayer and devotion "The Man of Sorrows."

"There is much self-will in all of us, and denial and mortification of this is no easy task. Perhaps we might refrain from any grumbling or murmuring throughout Lent, and learn more truly the spirit of contentment, or at least the courage to endure with fortitude the ills which cannot be avoided. Or there are disagreeable duties to be done, or cantankerous, unattractive persons to be dealt with, and in these things we could show self-denial, restraint and patience. But whatever it may be, let it cost us something, and let us be able to offer the effort honestly to our Lord, Who endured so much for us and for our Example. Yet all the while we must consider beyond this, that the effort made is to increase and further our growth in grace, positively to augment the virtues, and not just merely to deny faults or correct ways of sin.

Therefore it means that there must be no relapse after Easter, when the stricter discipline is relaxed or removed, so we must be mindful of this in making our Lenten rule.

How badly the world at home and abroad needs discipline and restraint and to learn to live not for self but for God and fellowmen, is manifest by the unrest and evils still so evident on every side. The terrible deeds reported in our newspapers of today do but emphasize the shameful and disgraceful depths of sin and woe and utter disregard of life, of God and His Commandments, into which so many professing Christians have fallen.

The observance of such a season as Lent may appear futile and old-fashioned and feeble to some, but never was it more needed than now, and the friends of Christ should make their Lent in part vicarious, if haply GOD will accept it, on behalf of those living in sin and in danger of eternal ill. For though the world has grown so unmindful and so indifferent, GOD has made no fresh revelation, and therefore sin is still sin, and His wrath against sin still abides.

Do let us try to assert again the nobility of life and its dignity, and the splendid responsibilities it involves upon every reasonable creature. This we hope will tend to check the capricious suicides among the young, the ghastly crimes for lust, the horrible murders, and the desperate evils which have whacked the world since the warfare which seemed to let loose the very powers of hell, and which certainly has been responsible for much of the prevailing crime and wickedness.

The Saviour of the World is the only Hope and Remedy, and those who by Fasting, Prayer and Almsgiving try to keep a good Lent, are following Him."

So writes the Vicar of S. Alban's Church, Holborn, and I felt that I must pass on his wise counsel to you.

The services for the balance of Lent are very much as they have been in recent years. We shall be keeping the Festival of S. Joseph on the 19th with a Song Mass, and the 9.30 Mass will be sung on the first three days in Holy Week. The Watch before the Altar of Repose will be kept through the night until the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Good Friday. A chart will be posted in the Church porch, where volunteers for the Watch may sign their names. Two persons are needed all the time. Acolytes will be in the Church during the night hours.

Notices for the Women's Retreat on Mid-Lent Sunday and for the Men's Retreat on Passion Sunday are already in the mail. I hope to give the addresses on both Sundays. On Thursdays in Passion-Week, the Retreat for S. Mary's Guild will be given by Fr. Noel.

On Passion Sunday evening and Palm Sunday evening, the Choir will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion." On Palm Sunday morning, the Ceremonial Blessing of the palms and the Palm Procession will begin at half-past ten o'clock. This will bring the beginning of the Solemn Mass at about a quarter-past eleven o'clock.

The Choir will assist at Vespers on Easter Even, when the new fire will be blessed and the Paschal Candle will be lighted. There will be Low Masses on Easter Day at six, seven and eight o'clock. The Mass at a quarter-past nine o'clock will be sung. At eleven o'clock, the Mass will be Gounod's "Sacred Heart," with an accompaniment of harp, tympani, and a quintet of strings. In the evening at Solemn Vespers there will be an accompaniment of cornets, trombones, and tympani. There will be Solemn Processions both morning and evening.

The full joys of the Ressurrection Feast cannot be yours unless you share now with your Lord in His Cross and Passion. Have for your watchwords during this holy month the admonition of Blessed Paul, "Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus, Who, being in the Form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God, but made Himself of no reputation and took upon Him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men, and being found in fashion as a man, He humbled Himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross. Wherefore God hath also highly exalted Him, and given Him a Name which is above every name, that at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth, and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the Glory of God the Father."

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Meaning of the Ceremonies at Mass

The Priest	Christ
Goes to the Altar	Goes to Mount Olivet.
Commences Mass	Begins to pray.
Says the Confiteor	Falls down in agony.
Kisses the Altar	Is betrayed by Judas with a kiss.
Goes to the Epistle side	Is bound and taken to Annas.
Goes to the middle of the Altar and says the Kyrie eleison	Is brought to Caiphas and there denied three times by Peter.
Says Dominus vobiscum	Looks at Peter and converts him.
Reads the Epistle	Is brought to Pilate.
Prays at the middle of the Altar	Is taken to Herod and mocked.
Reads the Gospel	Taken back to Pilate; again mocked.
Uncovers the chalice	Is stripped of His garments.
Offers bread and wine	Is scourged at the pillar.
Covers the chalice	Is crowned with thorns.
Washes his hands	Is declared innocent by Pilate.
Says, "Let us pray for the Church"	Is shown by Pilate to the people with the words, Ecce Homo.
Prays in low voice	Is mocked and spit upon.
Says the Preface and the Sanctus	Is kept instead of Barabbas and condemned to death.
Makes the memento for the living	Carries the Cross to Mount Calvary.
Continues to pray in low voice	Meets His mother and other pious women.
Blesses the bread and wine with the sign of the Cross	Is nailed to the cross.
Elevates the Sacred Host	Is raised on the cross.
Elevates the chalice	Sheds His blood from the five wounds.
Prays in a low voice	Sees His afflicted mother at the cross.
Says: "And although we are unworthy"	Prays on the cross for all men.
Says the Pater Noster	Says the seven words of the cross.
Breaks and separates the Host	Gives up His spirit and dies.
Lets a small part of the Sacred Host fall into the chalice	Descends into limbo.
Says the Agnus Dei	Is acknowledged on the cross to be the Son of God by bystanders.
Gives Holy Communion	Is laid in the sepulchre.
Cleanses the chalice	Is anointed by pious women.
Prepares the chalice for use again	Arises from the dead.
Says the Dominus vobiscum	Appears to His mother and disciples.
Says the last prayer	Teaches for forty days.
Says the last Dominus vobiscum	Takes leave of His disciples and ascends into Heaven.
Gives the blessing	Sends down the Holy Ghost.
Reads the last Gospel	Sends the Apostles to preach the Gospel.

The Rector's Letter

My dear people:

These have been crowded weeks in the Parish since my last letter in the Magazine. True it is the busiest time of the year, even when we have the full quota of Priests on the Staff, but this year with the Staff so depleted, Fr. Smith and I have been kept close at home all the time. I had arranged the Lenten schedule before Fr. Quin's death, and even when I found that I would not be able to fill his place before the beginning of Lent, I did not want to cut down the services. Then when Fr. Noel's indisposition came on, we were still able, with the very generous assistance of Fr. Arnold, to carry out all the work as it was planned in the beginning. We have had a great deal to do, but it has been such a happy work, for your response has been so generous, and your appreciation so evident in the whole spiritual tone of Passion-tide and Easter.

The Lent Retreats were so well attended this year, with an increasing number of people from outside the Parish keeping the days with us. There was the usual crowded Church on Palm Sunday, and the congregation this year was most reverent and devout, which is not always the case when we have so many visitors. I am very glad to see more people each year staying for the full three hours' preaching of the Passion. Many people came in late, but scarcely anyone left the Church. I am sure you all were greatly blessed in the all-night watch before the Blessed Sacrament between Maundy Thursday and Good Friday. People were coming in and going out during the night, having found a great peace in the quiet watches of the night at the Altar of Repose.

Easter Day was glorious! There were over four hundred Communions, and large numbers returned for the Solemn Mass and for Solemn Vespers. The Choir did most excellent work with Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart. They were accompanied by a quintet of strings, harp and tympani. The collection was a little over twenty-five hundred dollars, five hundred of which was specified for missionary offerings. This with the April first pew rent payments will enable us to pay off our indebtedness. We shall have to borrow again to finance the summer, but I hope very much that it will be the last time for borrowing money.

You will notice carefully the list of services for the rest of the Church Year. The Friday evening services are continued for the present as noted in the Kalendar. In May, the Masses on all unhindered days will be Votive of the Blessed Virgin Mary. On the Rogation Days there will be the Litany and Intercessions before Vespers at half-past four, and at the same hour in the Ascension Octave and including the Vigil of Pentecost there will be the Novena devotions to the Holy Ghost. The other services are as in former years.

May the dear Risen Lord bless you richly in your service for Him and for your fellow-men.

Affectionately, your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Accounting Warden's Message

We have recently received several additions to our endowment funds, and I am sure that everyone will be interested in knowing just what they will mean to us. $20,000 has been given anonymously, one-half of which is to be used for the purchase of a house as a place of residence for the Sisters, at such time as it may seem best to buy it. The balance of the fund is to be invested, and the income applied toward the expenses of maintaining the Sisters' work in the parish.

A parcel of real estate, which was the property of Ellis Yarnall Estate has been sold and our income from the Yarnall fund will, as a result, be increased. The exact amount of the increase is at present not known, but it is hoped that it will be sufficient to entirely support our music and repairs, which at present are only partially carried by this fund.

Through the death of one of our parishioners we will receive a sufficient amount to bring our general endowment fund up to the point where we will receive $5000 income each year. At present we only receive about $3900. It will be at least a year before any of these funds are producing an income, and it may be even a longer time than that. It would therefore be a mistake to assume that the church no longer needs your liberal support. This is not the case, and so far as one can see, is not likely to be the case. The fixed charges for carrying on our parish increase as our work expands, and the income from pew rents is growing less each year, since no more are being rented.

It is the wish of the Rector and the Vestry to see the Parish expenses met without borrowing any money. When this is realized, then we ought to make the offerings on S. Clement's Day, Easter and Whit Sunday for missionary purposes. When these two things are accomplished, then we can consider the possibility of more extensive work, such as a Chapel perhaps, under S. Clement's direction.

A Memorial to Fr. Quin

At a recent meeting of the Vestry, the matter of a permanent memorial in the Church to Fr. Quin was discussed. It was decided to suggest the renovating of the nave of the Church as such a memorial. That is the facing of the balance of the South wall, the West wall, and the North wall, with grey stone, as has been begun by the Lady Chapel on the South aisle, and the putting in place of the stone frames for the windows. The windows can then be filled in with some simple conventional glass, to be replaced by the permanent stained glass when such is offered. This stone work will cost about twenty thousand dollars. A Book of Remembrance will be kept in which the names of all who contribute to this fund will be inscribed, and the Book will be placed somewhere in the wall itself, in a receptacle for the purpose. The East end of the Church is so very beautiful, and this will be greatly enriched when the balance of the Church is finished. Subscribers to this fund may make their pledges to run over a period of five years, that is, pledge to give so much a year for five years, and they may signify their pledges in writing to the Accounting Warden.

The Sacring Bell

The Sacring Bell, a memorial to the three members of the Parish who fell in the Great War, was hung in the tower in Holy Week, and rung for the first time at the Solemn Mass on Easter Day. The bell has a most lovely liquid tone, and is a great addition to the fabric of the Church and to the worship of the Altar.

The bell will be rung during the Canon of the Mass at every Celebration, three strokes at each Elevation. The bell will also be rung for the Angelus, before the first Mass in the morning, at twelve o'clock noon, and at six in the evening. When there is a Solemn Mass, instead of ringing the Angelus at twelve, it will be rung at the end of Mass, before the Sacred Ministers have left the Sanctuary.

The bell was cast by Maneely & Company, the famous bell makers of Troy, N. Y., and weighs about eight hundred pounds. It has been placed in the third story of the tower, and is stationary. The clapper, on a spring, is pulled by a rope hanging down in the upper Sacristy. It takes but a very light, easy pull to strike the bell.

The following inscription was cast in the bell:

To the Praise of God, and in Pious Memory of all Those Who gave their Lives in the Great War, 1914-1918, especially the Members of This Parish.

WALTER ROACH,

JOHN STINSON,

GEORGE HERBERT WALSH.

May they rest in peace.

The Angelus

First three strokes of the bell.

V. The Angel of the Lord brought tidings to Mary.
R. And she conceived by the Holy Ghost.

Hail Mary.

Second three strokes of the bell.

V. Behold the handmaid of the Lord.
R. Be it unto me according to Thy word.

Hail Mary.

Third three strokes of the bell.

V. And the Word was made flesh.
R. And dwelt among us.

Hail Mary.

Then during the nine straight strokes of the bell.

V. Pray for us, Holy Mother of God.
R. That we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

Let us pray.

We beseech Thee, O Lord, pour Thy grace into our hearts, that as we have known the Incarnation of Thy Son Jesus Christ by the message of an Angel, so by His Cross (X) and Passion we may be brought unto the Glory of His Resurrection. Through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. A-men.

The Vestry

The Annual Easter meeting of the Vestry was held in the Clergy House on Easter Tuesday afternoon. The tellers announced the unanimous election of the following four gentlemen to serve on the Vestry for the ensuing three years:

Mr. Edward A. Casey,
Mr. Theodore G. Homan,
Mr. William W. Lukens,
Mr. J. Lawrence Wetherill.

The other members of the Vestry are the following gentlemen:

Mr. Francis P. Adams,
Mr. S. McKean Bayard,
Mr. Edward A. Clay,
Mr. Francis Y. Casey,
Mr. George Lewis Mayer,
Mr. S. P. Ritter,
Mr. Horace W. Sellers,
Mr. Clinton R. Woodruff.

The Vestry was organized, the Rector being in the Chair, by the re-election of Mr. Edward B. Clay as Secretary, and Mr. Sheldon P. Ritter as Accounting Warden. Fr. Joiner re-appointed Mr. Edward A. Casey as Rector's Warden. The Finance Committee was elected with the following members: Messrs. Bayard, Clay and Wetherill, with the first named as Chairman. The other Committees were then appointed by the Rector. Music, Messrs. Woodruff, Ritter and Adams; Property, Messrs. Mayer, Sellers and Francis Casey; Insurance, Messrs. Bayard, Ritter and Homan.

Vestment Exhibition

On the afternoon of Ascension Day last year, the Vestments, gold and silver plate, and jewels belonging to the Parish were exhibited in the Parish House. It has been suggested that this exhibition become an annual event. It does seem advisable to repeat the exhibition this year, so on Ascension Day afternoon, from three until six o'clock, there will be such an exhibition. Tea will be served, and an opportunity given to make a silver offering towards the Garden Expense Fund. Please make this afternoon known among your friends.

Women's United Offering

The annual contributions for the United Offering of the Women's Auxiliary are now due, and may be sent to the Parish Treasurer, Miss Hutchinson, at 2108 DeLancey Street. During Lent the Mothers' Meeting and the Girls' Club had a weekly collection for this purpose, and both organizations made very generous gifts to the Parish Fund.

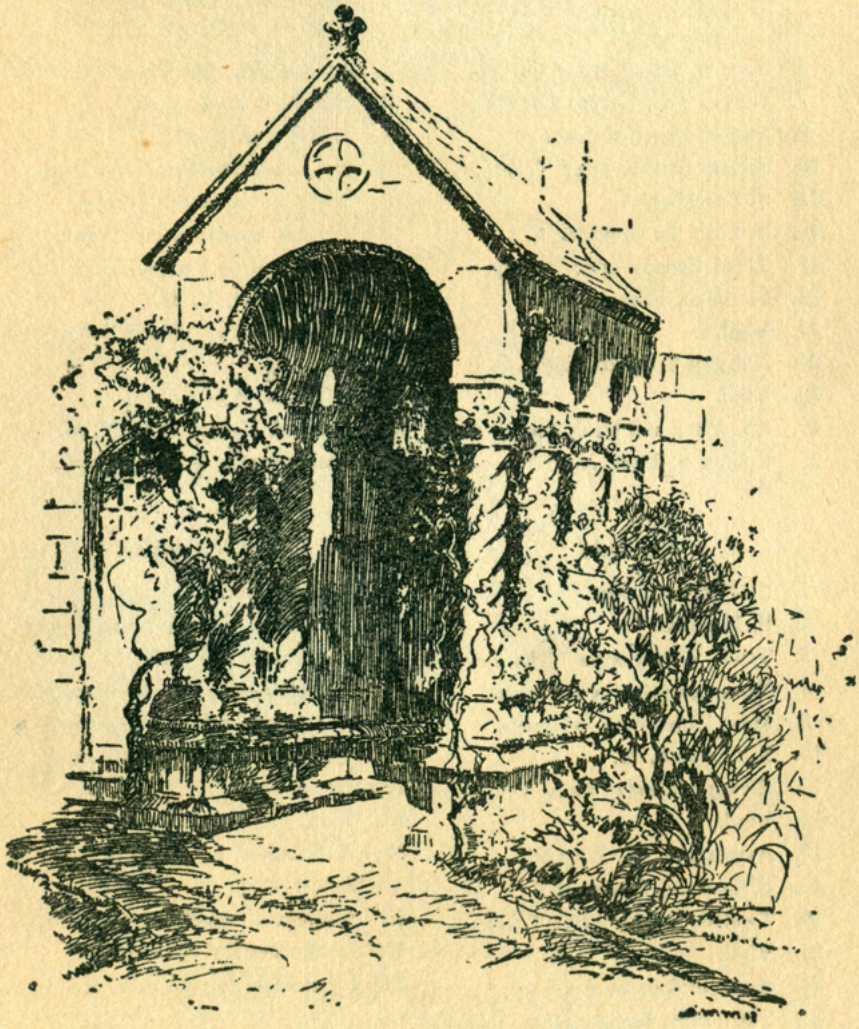
The Men's Association Annual Banquet

Each Banquet given by the Men's Association outclasses all those that have preceded it. The banquet given in the Parish House on Monday evening, April 9th, was the biggest and the best that the Association has known. About eighty men sat down for a most sumptuous meal, and the evening's entertainment was most delightful and enjoyable. There was a male quartet from the Choir, a Monologist, and then the Mock Trial made famous by its frequent and clever presentation by members of the evening class in English Literature at the West Philadelphia High School. The Committee is to be congratulated on this most successful evening, and Mr. Fritz, the efficient President, for his untiring efforts to promote good fellowship amongst the men of the Parish, and to give them these evenings of real enjoyment and comradeship.

The Girls' Club

On Tuesday evening, April 24th, the Girls' Club will have a supper for themselves and the members of the Guild of S. Vincent, to be followed by dancing. It is hoped than another winter the Parish may see many more such affairs for our own young people.

The Reredos of the High Altar



In going over some old papers in the Clergy House recently, the Rector found an old copy of "The International Studio," and found that it contained a description of the High Altar Reredos, which was erected in the church in November, 1909, as a memorial to the late Rector, the Rev. George Herbert Moffett. This article is written by Miss Minna C. Smith.

Certainly the masterpiece, so far, of Frederick Wilson, is a painting, CHRIST REIGNING FROM THE CROSS, for a reredos placed in S. Clement's Church, Philadelphia. The opportunity was an interesting one. The low Norman apse that for fifty years formed the chancel of the church had been reconstructed by the architect, Mr. Horace Wells Sellers, to give it added height and dignity, with interior walls of rosy English sandstone, carved and pierced with narrow leaded windows at intervals in the arcades, forming an appropriate setting for a new altar, whose mensa, also is of redstone with a reredos of oak, in the form of a triptych, with folding wings and traceried baldachino, all richly carved by Edward Maene.

While in treatment designed to produce devotional feeling, the architect's results had been a body breathless of informing life had the picture for the central panels lacked qualities such as fifteenth century painters brought to such work. Strong, glowing in color, effective, as simple in idea and composition, far more human in drawing that fifteenth century men had notion of, Mr. Wilson's picture is an extraordinary answer to any who should say that there could not be found a modern artist to imbue an altarpiece with like direct simplicity of worship. The moderness of the work is in the painter's conception of the central figure and in its impressive power. Although stretched upon the Cross, this is not the suffering Redeemer of the world as the elder artists were used to show Him. This is the Conquering Ruler vested as Priest and King, the King of humanity, with strength of pure virility in face and figure. On either side of the Christ are angels bearing the symbols of the Human and the Divine Natures. On the outer panels to the right and left are the Blessed Virgin and S. John, the lovely face of Mary as significant as ever Italian ones of old.

Mr. Wilson's work for these panels was done at his studio at Briarcliff Manor before they went to their sumptuous carved and golden shrine. The work is painted, engraved and modeled. The texture of the background in gesso is most successful and seems as a fabric. To work in such a medium for such an end is, as the result shows, a communicable delight. There is boldness in the handling comparable only to the richness of vermilion, gold and green of the color employed.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

This magazine, which should have been issued early in June, has been delayed so long that it now becomes a "mid-summer" number. This may be an advantage, for it will bring to our scattered members a message from the home parish.

One of my ambitions for the parish has been to maintain, through the entire summer, the regular schedule of services. There is something contrary to the basic principles of Christianity having a "summer schedule" for worshiping Almighty God. This year we shall maintain the full routine, and I trust we are establishing a precedent.

There are the two Low Masses every week-day, at seven and half-past nine o'clock, with a third at eight on the greater Saint's days; the three Low Masses on Sunday, at seven, eight and quarter-past nine o'clock, with the Sung Mass at eleven, and during July and August the sermon will follow the Mass, immediately after the recessional. Matins and Evensong are said every day at half-past seven and at five o'clock, and Sunday evenings, in S. John's Chapel, at eight we are having some very informal devotions before the Blessed Sacrament, with a short address. The continued large congregations show how very necessary "summer religion" is.

Fr. Noel has been offered the work at Bradley Beach, New Jersey, by the Bishop of New Jersey, and will become the Priest-in-charge there the first Sunday in August. He is now having a much needed rest with some friends in Maryland. Our interest will follow him in this new work, and our prayers that it may soon be won to the Catholic Faith. It is a great joy to have Fr. Underhill with us for the summer. He has a very warm place in his heart for S. Clement's, and his many friends are giving him a hearty welcome. Fr. Smith will be in Maine for the month of August. I am not taking a holiday this year, so I shall be in residence throughout the summer.

Dean Hutchinson spent a day with us at the Clergy House in June, while on his way from Milwaukee to his summer place in New Hampshire. He saw a few of his many friends as he passed through the city. He has promised to come back and preach for us some Sunday, and I am not going to forget his promise!

Each individual life is constantly combating the changes that it encounters; changes in the home, in friends, in business conditions. And the Parish is not immune from this encounter. There will be practically an entirely new Staff of Clergy in the fall. Fr. Smith is of course remaining, but I am hoping to have two Priests and a Deacon in addition. The work is thoroughly established, so they should soon be at home in the Parish. I commend them to your prayers and hospitality.

Then there is to be another change. The Sisters of Saint Margaret are withdrawing from the Mission work on the first of October, and the work is to be carried on by the Sisters of the Holy Nativity.

I told you in the last magazine that we had received an anonymous sum of money for the purchase of a house near the Parish Church, for the use of the Sisters, and an additional sum for the endowment of their work. It seemed wise to accept this gift for the purpose specified, for I think all have agreed that the Sisters' work has been handicapped by their living so far away from the Church, and none have appreciated this more than the Sisters themselves. Then a large part of Fr. Quin's work in the Sacristy and about the Altar is the kind of work that I do not feel I can ask another Priest to do. This seems to be the time to turn the Sacristy work over to the Sisters, as is the custom in other Parishes.

I took the matter up at once with the Reverend Mother of the Society of Saint Margaret, and had considerable correspondence with her on the subject. She finally came to Philadelphia for a visit when I had a long talk with her. She feels that since they have made such an effort to concentrate the Philadelphia Community life in the Mission House on Pine Street, that the whole purpose would be defeated if she consented to two or three Sisters living in another house in another part of the city. Then too, the Community at the present time is sadly handicapped because of the lack of active Sisters, and she was unable to send another Sister to work in the Parish.

She understood the difficulty of the situation, and suggested withdrawing from the work, if I was able to secure another Community which could meet the new needs in the Parish. The Reverend Mother herself wrote to the Community of the Holy Nativity in Fond du Lac, telling them of the work here, and her inability to carry it on under the changed conditions. I brought the matter then before the Community of the Holy Nativity, and in June went myself to the Mother House in Fond du Lac, to consult with the Reverend Mother about taking up the Mission work here.

The Reverend Mother, in consultation with her Council, has accepted the work, and is sending us four Sisters to begin the first of October.

The five years that the present Community of S. Margaret have worked in the Parish, have bound them to us in a very close and happy relationship, beginning with Sister Lydia and Sister Edna, then Sister Deborah, then Sister Eleanor and Sister Isabel, and this last year, with Sister Helen and Sister Ruth. It is a parting with real friends. But it is one of those changes that new conditions and demands of the work has forced us into. It is with the utmost regret that the Society of S. Margaret is withdrawing. And it is with as deep regret that we part with them. They withdraw because they cannot meet the new demands of the work, and for that reason alone we accept their decision. But our sorrow in parting with the old must not lessen our enthusiasm in receiving the new.

The Sisterhood of the Holy Nativity was founded in 1882 by the then Father Grafton, after the Bishop of Fond du Lac. This Sisterhood is engaged primarily in Parochial and Mission work. The Mother House and the Novitiate are at Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. In Wisconsin the Sisters are working at the Cathedrals of Fond du Lac and Milwaukee, in North Fond du Lac, and have a House on the Oneida Reservation where they have established the lace industry among the Indian women.

In the East the Sisters have seven Houses: one in Providence, Rhode Island, where the Sisters work in S. Stephen's and other Parishes; one in Portland, Maine, with work in the Cathedral. The Sisters have been in Portland for many years, but this work is now being relinquished, and these Portland Sisters are among those who are coming to S. Clement's. They have a House in New York City, and work in the Church of S. Mary the Virgin, one in Newport, with work in S. John's Church, another in Baltimore, with work at Mount Calvary Parish, including S. Mary's colored Mission, and in All Saints' Parish, East Orange. They also have a Rest House at Bay Shore, Long Island, intended especially for women who wish to make Retreats or who desire a rest for a few days or longer.

At the Convent, Fond du Lac, there are the ecclesiastical embroidery rooms, the Altar bread department, and a picture department through which the Sisters try to do missionary work and convey Church teaching by furnishing devotional cards for the Mass, for Christmas, Easter and other occasions. They have a free lending library from which Church books are sent out by mail with no expense to the borrower, except the return postage. Fr. Hutchinson, now Dean of the Milwaukee Cathedral, is the Chaplain General of the Community.

Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of a house on Cherry Street, and we hope to have the Sisters established in their own House early in the autumn. I beg your prayers for God's blessing on the new Sisters and their work in the Parish, and for guidance for me in making the arrangements for the new year's work.

The summer House at Wildwood is proving to be a great blessing, thanks to your continued generosity. The women who have stayed there come back with words of the greatest praise for those who are in charge of it, and for the rest and happiness that it has brought to them. The Girls' Club are taking it for the month of August, when it will be self-supporting. I need another hundred dollars to complete the expenses of the summer outings.

Several people have asked me about "Votive Masses." These are Masses substituted on unhindered days, that is on days for which the Church has not appointed any special observance, when the Mass ordinarily said would be that of the preceding Sunday. These Masses are offered for some definite object, and are chosen according to the intention. Thus a Votive Mass of the Blessed Sacrament would be offered for greater devotion on the part of Communicants to our Lord's Sacramental Presence, or for the establishment of the Mass as the chief service in all our Churches and Cathedrals. A Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit would be offered when some special guidance and direction was sought, as in the choice of a chief Bishop, the institution of a new work, or for the decision in a difficult problem. A Votive Mass of the Blessed Virgin would be offered for greater devotion to our Lady and all the Saints, for more careful teaching and a wider acceptance of the practice of Invocation of the Saints, or for a blessing on a special object dedicated to her. A Votive Mass of the Sacred Heart would be offered for a greater devotion to the Person of our Lord, or for the defeat of heresy and the overcoming of doubt. A Votive Mass of the precious Blood would be offered for greater devotion to the Passion of Our Lord, or for the conversion of sinners and the return of the lapsed to the Sacraments.

I would be glad, on any possible occasion, to arrange such a Votive Mass for any member of the congregation or any group who wished to assist at the Holy Sacrifice with some special intention. I am here to aid you in every way I can to quicken and deepen your devotion to our dear Lord and to help you in every phase of your spiritual experience.

I am sorry that more of you do not ask for Requiem Masses on the anniversaries of the deaths of your faithful departed. These can always be arranged for, and said privately in the Crypt Chapel. A Requiem is a "Votive Mass."

May the Saviour of the World, Who by His Cross and Precious Blood has redeemed us, save us, and help us in all our service for His Holy Church.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

First, I want to give a most hearty welcome to the members of the congregation as they return from their summer holidays. I hope that all are coming back refreshed in spirit, as well as in body, and eager for the beginning of the winter's work in the Parish.

Secondly, as I enter into the fourth year of my Rectorship, I want to urge upon you all a fuller participation in the activities of the Parish, and especially in using the many opportunities of prayer and worship that S. Clement's affords. As you will see from the Kalendar, there will be more such opportunities than ever before. Three Masses every day. And we should have an increased number of people who assist at Mass every day. Matins and Terce will be said in the Church at nine o'clock. Matins and Evensong have become Offices for the Clergy alone. I think this is because of the inconvenient hours, so I am changing the former to nine and the latter to six o'clock in the evening. At noon every day there will be fifteen minutes of intercession in the Church. The Clergy and the Sisters will all be present for this corporate prayer for the Parish and its work, and I hope all who are working in the Parish House will leave their work at this time and join us in the Church. Immediately after this the Clergy will say Sext and None, and remain in the Church until one o'clock for their meditations. I hope to arrange on certain days to have these meditations conducted audibly, but on most days they will be made in silence. Compline will be said each night at ten o'clock. The tower bell will be rung with one stroke at five minutes before each office, so as to give every one time to lay aside their work and be in the Church promptly. We shall try to have a hymn at Evensong on Saturdays, to make the service a more worthy First Vespers of the Sunday. This is the liturgical beginning of the Lord's Day, and I would be glad to see more people starting their keeping of Sunday with attendance at this Vesper service.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given on the First Fridays from the High Altar and on the Fridays in the Octaves of the great Feasts, and when specially announced. On other Friday evenings there will be a variety of devotions, so as to meet the spiritual needs and aspirations of all.

The new Clergy are now in residence. Fr. Campbell comes to us from the House of Prayer in Newark, Fr. Ewing from the Cathedral in Detroit, and Mr. Pierce from missionary work in the Diocese of Salina. Mr. Pierce hopes to be advanced to the Priesthood during the winter, and I am trying to arrange for the Ordination in S. Clement's.

The new Sisters will arrive early in October, as soon as their house is in readiness. You will find an account of the Mission House in a separate article.

May God bless us richly in our new year's work for Him.

Affectionately your friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Ablutions

Ablutions of the sacred vessels were not provided for in the earliest written liturgies. We can hardly doubt, however, that some reverent method of consuming the surplus consecrated in both species and cleansing the sacred vessels came into use at an early date. For many centuries it was the custom of the Church to take the ablutions at a point almost immediately after the act of Communion. This was the use of the Sarum and other English rites derived from the Roman. On the issuance of the First Prayer Book no directions appeared, but following the earlier use it was the custom of devout priests to continue their former practice, in this as in other parts of the Mass. Needless to state, in the Second Book the omission was not remedied. The shining protestant lights who guided Cranmer in this second attempt at liturgical composition were not of the sort to suggest anything which would add to the care and reverence with which the Sanctissimum was handled in "the never to be sufficiently execrated Mass."

From the records of the time we know that the conditions which prevailed during the use of the First and Second Books were these. Those priests who loved the ancient ways retained the customs of the Latin rite, taking the ablutions at the proper place. Those who had fallen under the evil influence of protestant teaching left them out, as they would probably have done, even were printed directions for their use retained. Gradually, under the increased pressure of protestant habits, a most horrible sacrilege arose, that of taking the Consecrated Elements out of the Church and using them as common bread and wine on the domestic table. In order to put a stop to this unspeakable practice the English bishops in 1661 inserted the present rubric, directing that immediately after the blessing the celebrant and other communicants shall reverently consume what remains of the consecrated bread and wine, no mention being made of the ablutions. It is evident that this is not a restoration of the ancient rubrical directions.

So far as the rubrics of the present English and American Books are concerned, there is no provision made for the practice of taking ablutions. That being the case, omission not being prohibition, the priest who wishes to conform in all things to traditional usage, is at liberty to consume the Sacred Species, cleanse the paten into the chalice, pour wine and water over his fingers and drink these ablutions, at a point next after the act of Communion, when the Blessed Sacrament is no longer required on the Altar for purposes of administration. By doing this he will have satisfied the demands of reverence, followed traditional use and made sure that no surplus remains of the Most Holy Sacrament to be consumed after Mass is ended.

The position taken by some writers that the "reformers" and their successors intended the Blessed Sacrament to be reserved on the altar until the end of Mass and the Gloria to be repeated in Its Presence as an act of adoration, appears in the light of a reductio ad absurdum when we consider the sacramental ideas of these worthy gentlemen as elsewhere expressed.—American Church Monthly.

The Sisters' House

A house at 110 Woodstock Street, within a few steps of the Cherry Street entrance to the Church, has been purchased for the use of the Sisters. The workmen are now busy on the property making very extensive improvements.

When completed, the House will contain seven bedrooms, a large Chapel on the second floor, and a common room for the Sisters, two reception rooms on the first floor, with a Refectory, and the usual rooms for the several domestic arts.

This House, with the complete improvements, and its entire furnishings, including a perfectly equipped Chapel, is the gift to S. Clement's Church from Mrs. J. J. Rowan Spong of Ardmore, in loving memory of her husband, the late Rev'd J. J. Rowan Spong, who was a very frequent visitor in the Parish. In addition to the House and its full equipment, Mrs. Spong has given ten thousand dollars as an endowment for the support of the Sisters.

This is one of the most splendid and needed gifts that S. Clement's has had, and words fail in trying to express to Mrs. Spong our gratefulness and appreciation of her generosity.

Four Sisters of the Community of the Holy Nativity will be in residence early in October, and as soon as possible the House will be blessed.

It is hoped that no one will lose any time in calling on the new Sisters, welcoming them to the Parish, and doing all in their power to help them in their work.

These generous gifts that GOD continues to send to the Parish only increase your personal responsibilities, and should make all more earnest and consistent in the expressions of their love and devotion to Him.

The De Profundus

The Sacring Bell in Tower was the Parish's memorial to the three of its young men who died in the Great War. That they may be especially remembered, together with all the Faithful Departed, the De Profundus will be rung from the Church tower each evening at seven o'clock.

The De Profundus consists of ten straight strokes of the bell, when Psalm 130 is recited, ending with the ejaculation, "Rest eternal grant unto them, O Lord: And let light perpetual shine upon them. Amen."

The De Profundus is said standing, and as during the ringing of the Angelus, there should be no moving about or conversation.

The Men's Association

This organization for men has been running in the Parish through several years, and has been doing a most excellent work. The monthly meetings have been most helpful and interesting, and they have done much to bring the men together. There have been many men who have dropped in from time to time, but the regular attendants and workers have resolved themselves into a group numbering about forty.

At the close of the last season several of these men approached the Rector on the subject of reorganizing the Association on the basis of a Guild. Nothing could have been more gratifying to the Rector than this, so at the first meeting of the men on Monday evening, October 8th, at half past eight o'clock, the plans for the Guild of S. Joseph will be discussed. Cards will be sent to all members of the Association, and a large attendance is earnestly hoped for.

At the close of a short devotional service in the Chapel, there will be the usual social hour in the Parish House, with a good speaker on some timely topic, followed by refreshments.

Here is a real opportunity for the men of the Parish. To combine all the entertaining and social aspects of the Association with a simple devotional rule of life in the Church, so that by it being more closely bound to the Lord, they may be better enabled to express His love to their fellow-men.

The Women's Auxiliary

The first meeting of the season will be held on Wednesday afternoon, October 3d, at three o'clock. There will be the usual preliminaries in the organizing of the Auxiliary for the winter's work, and the Rector will lead the devotions and make an address.

All women of the Church, by virtue of their Baptism, are members of the Auxiliary. The meetings are very poorly attended, and this is not because the meetings are not well planned, nor because they do not have good speakers. It should not be hard to remember that the first Wednesday of each month is Auxiliary day, and that the meetings are at three o'clock in the afternoon.

This October meeting begins a new year, and is a most excellent time for new women to come into the meetings, and for those who have lapsed or become negligent in their attendance to start afresh.

The offerings will be for the Church's work in rebuilding the Churches, Hospitals and Schools in Japan.

My Dear People:

Each year it seems people who have been away for the summer are delaying their return, so that it is the first of November before the winter's work can really begin. Most of you are home now, and we are glad to see you once more in your accustomed places.

November

November is the month of Holy Souls, and we must not be neglectful of our duty to them. As you will see in the Kalendar, the month is so filled with Saints' Days that but few unhindered days are left for Requiems. I have arranged that on some of the lesser days Requiem Masses will be said in the Crypt Chapel at half-past seven. I have omitted inserting the three daily Masses opposite each day in the Kalendar, for I hope these are thoroughly understood. Hereafter I shall list only the Masses in addition to the regular ones.

On All Saints' Day, and the following day when we commemorate All the Faithful Departed, there will be a Solemn High Mass at eleven o'clock. While I am much gratified with the congregations at the half past-nine Sung Masses on Saints' Day, I know that many who make their Communions early find it hard to get back for the Sung Mass. So on these greater days, we will have the Solemn Service at a later hour.

Special intercessions for the Faithful Departed, Bona Mors prayers, or a Litany for Holy Souls will be said after Vespers each evening. The Holy Souls remembered by name on the second of November, when we Commemorate All the Faithful Departed, will be called again by name at one of the subsequent Requiems during the month.

You know there is really no such day as "All Souls' Day." It is only a popular name for the day in the Octave of All Saints' on which there is a solemn commemoration of all the Faithful Departed in the morning. It is not a day of gloom, a sort of Good Friday. We wear black, because we wear black for all the holy souls for whom we pray, reserving white for those whom the Church has canonized and publicly invokes; but with the last Mass of the day the black vestments disappear and we return to the rejoicing of the Feast of All Saints'.

The Sisters' House

The work on the new house for the Sisters of the Holy Nativity is progressing with snail-like slowness. I have my doubts as to the house being ready for occupancy before the Patronal Feast. The Reverend Mother has given her consent to some of the Sisters coming ahead of that, since the house is so delayed, and makes such a serious interruption in the work. I have secured some rooms for the Sisters next door to the proposed house, where the new Sisters will live until they can move into their permanent home.

As the work moves, and the furnishings begin to arrive, I can assure you that it is going to be a house well worth waiting for, for Mrs. Spong is sparing neither labor nor expense in making the place complete in every possible way. The Parish can indeed be most proud of this latest addition to its fabric, and I know the Sisters will be most happy in it.

S. Barnabas' Guild

When Dr. Richardson left the Pro-Cathedral last year, our Fr. Smith was elected to take his place as Chaplain of the Guild of S. Barnabas, the general guild for nurses. This has brought many of the student and graduate nurses in the city to S. Clement's Church. The Annual Requiem for the Departed Members of the Guild will be said in S. John's Chapel Monday morning, November 5th, at half-past nine o'clock.

The Guild is also planning a Christmas Fair and Bazaar. This is to be held in our Parish House on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 13th and 14th. It will open each day at three o'clock in the afternoon, when tea will be served, and close at ten in the evening. One of the large rooms in the Parish House will be reserved for dancing in the evening. The articles for sale will be the usual ones for such affairs, and many things will be found there suitable for Christmas gifts. I ask your generous patronage.

The Patronal Feast

This month also brings us the joyous occasion of our Patronal Feast, and I have tried to plan one this year that will in no way fall behind those of former years. We shall begin our preparation for it with the usual Novena, opening with a Mass of the Holy Spirit on Wednesday, the fourteenth. The Novena prayers will be said after the first Mass in the morning and at the noonday intercessions. On the second Friday in the Novena, the Feast of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, there will be Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament all day on the High Altar, from the close of the Sung Mass until after Vespers, which will be said at half-past five, followed by Benediction at six. The Choir boys will assist at Benediction. Continuous intercessions will be offered all day, and I trust many will visit the Altar of Exposition during these hours.

At the First Vespers of the Feast, there will be a Solemn Procession and Festival Te Deum. The Rev'd Z. B. T. Phillips,

D.D., Rector of the Church of Our Saviour, West Philadelphia, will be the preacher.

On the Feast Day itself, at the Solemn Mass, Gounod's Mass of S. Cecelia will be sung, with the accompaniments of harp, tympani, and strings. It will be preceded by a Solemn Procession, and the preacher of the day will be the Rev'd Caleb Rockford Stetson, D.D., Rector of Trinity Church, New York City.

On the Sunday in the Octave, the music of the Feast Day will be repeated both morning and evening, and at Solemn Vespers there will be the Annual Procession of Guilds. The preacher at the Solemn Mass for Sunday morning will be the Rev'd Seldon Peabody Delaney, D.D., Associate Rector of the Church of S. Mary the Virgin, New York City, and editor of the American Church Monthly, and in the evening, the Rev'd John Mockridge, D.D., Rector of S. James' Church, Philadelphia, will preach for us. The Mass on Sunday will be of S. Katharine, Virgin and Martyr, being the Commemoration of our Dedication. The Masses at seven and eight o'clock on the Sunday morning will be for the General Communion of the members of the congregation. Let me emphasize that the strength and power of our Parish life lies not in the beauty and extent of our Festival Services, but in the numbers that approach the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar for Holy Communion at this festal season.

The offerings throughout the Patronal Feast will have to be devoted to Parish expenses. I hope that this is the last year that we shall have to resort to this necessity. The expenses during the summer have been reduced one thousand dollars over recent years, and I am most grateful for that. Before another feast the added income on the endowments should be available, so I urge your generous gifts to wipe off the present deficit, so that we can enter the new year with no bills payable.

On the Tuesday in the Octave of the Feast, we shall be having our Annual Parish Reception in the Parish House. I hope that the Accounting Warden will tell you then something about the finances of the Church. I want you all to know about these things. Then there will be some music during the evening, and dancing after ten o'clock.

The Parish Guilds

I want to express my pleasure with the hearty response that has greeted the opening of the Guilds and Sodalities for the winter. They have all been splendidly attended. I have never seen so many members out for a meeting of S. Mary's Guild as at our last meeting. There were thirty-six women wearing the Guild veils, and nine others who were too late for the procession. S. Joseph's Guild was established with much enthusiasm by the men, and we all feel that the Men's Association has taken on a new lease of activity with the addition of this devotional rule of life.

The Women's Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary met in a hearty session, but was saddened with the news of their President's inability to carry on her splendid work another year. Unavoidable circumstances keep her out of the city for the winter, so the Vice-President, Mrs. Paul Franklin Mowry, was elected to her place. Miss Haffelfinger has worked hard for the society, and done much to bring our own local organization before the Diocesan authorities and the Church House committees. We shall miss her very much. Mrs. Mowry has served on many of the Diocesan committees and is perfectly familiar with their intricacies, and I felt that the cordial way in which she was received as the new President was a confirmation of my own high regard for her ability.

The November meeting of the local Auxiliary will be omitted, so that all the women of the Parish may be free to attend the Diocesan meeting to be held on Wednesday, November 7th, both morning and afternoon, in Holy Trinity Church.

The Red Cross

The 1924 subscriptions to the Red Cross are due this month, and Sunday the 11th, being the Armistice Anniversary, has been set by the authorities for the great drive. The Japan disaster makes heavy calls on the Red Cross this year, and I hope all will renew their pledges early, and that there may be many new enrollments. Mrs. Mowry will be in the Cope Room after the High Mass on Sunday the 4th and also on the 11th, and after Vespers on the latter Sunday. Her address is 2525 South 19th Street, if any of you prefer to mail your subscriptions.

Confirmation

It is not too early to be thinking about the Sacrament of Confirmation. The Bishop's annual visitation will be some time in January. Several persons are now in the course of preparation. I much prefer to give adults individual instruction, so if any are thinking about taking this step, I hope they will speak to me or to one of the Assistant Priests about it. Classes for the children will be started in Advent. The sermons on Friday evenings in Advent will be in the nature of general instructions for Confirmation, and the subjects will be: "Baptism," "Confirmation," "Penance," and "Holy Communion."

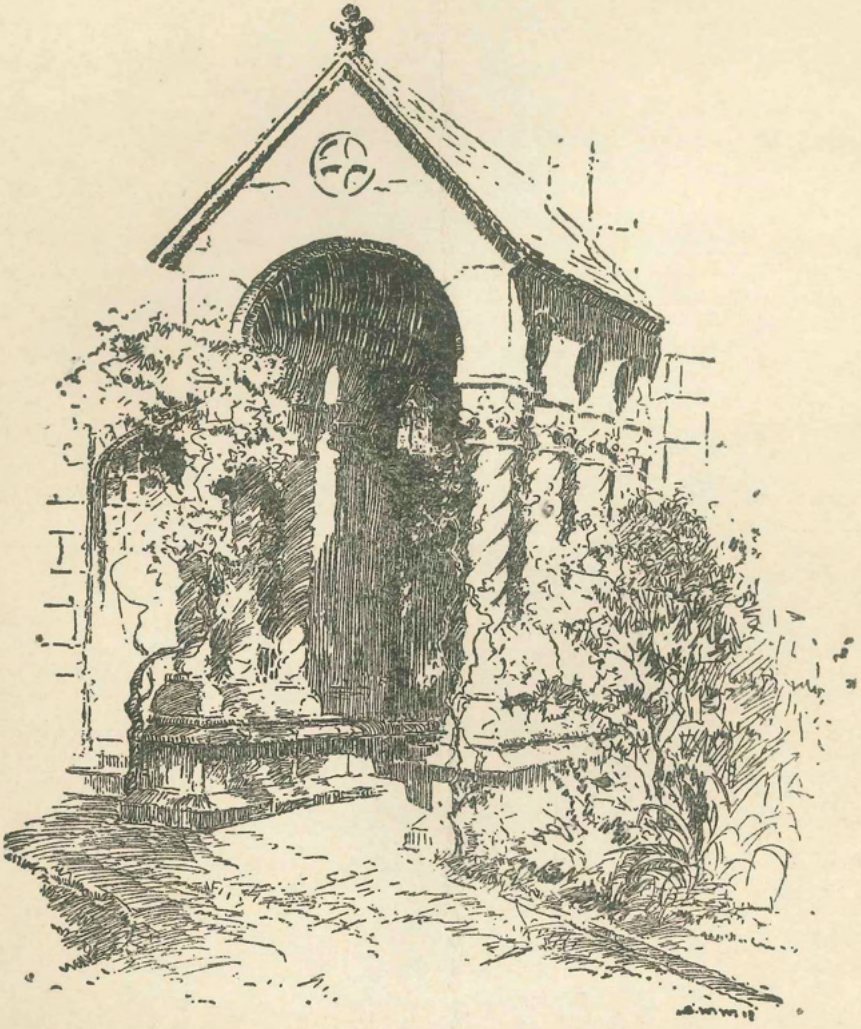
Japan

If any of you want to make gifts to the rebuilding of our Churches and Mission Stations in Japan, I hope you will send your gifts of money to the Accounting Warden at once, or place them, carefully marked, on the collection plate. The Parish was asked by the Diocese for the small sum of eighteen hundred dollars, and I would be much ashamed if we did not exceed it. Recently, Fr. Andrews, Rector of S. Thomas' Church, Tokyo, said Mass here, and I gave him three sets of Mass vestments and several pieces of unused silver as a start for the rehabilitation of his Parish.

The Girls' Club

The members of the Girls' Club are working hard on the plans for a production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado," which they hope will be ready by January. They have asked some of the men in S. Vincent's Guild to take the male parts and help with the choruses, and from present indications, I should say that this winter's entertainment would exceed those of former years. The girls have a number of new members, and is a most enthusiastic organization. The date of the entertainment I hope to give you in my December letter.

On the Feast of SS. Simon and Jude, I am preaching at S. Martin's Church, Radnor, and on the following Sunday in the All Saints' Octave, at Mount Calvary Church, Baltimore, being their Patronal Feast.



You see I am a very poor hand at keeping secrets. I must close my letter before I divulge any more of the plans that I have in store for Christmas and the balance of the winter. But for this month, remember your duty to the Holy Souls and to your dear Lord and the Parish in the joyous festivities of S. Clement's-tide.

May God make us all more worthy of His many gifts and blessings.

Affectionately your friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

Our Patronal Feast comes usually in the last week of the Church year, and gives us the opportunity to express, in a sort of climax, all our thankfulness and devotion to our Blessed Lord and the Saints in the very finest and best that we can offer them. Our Services this year seemed bigger and better than ever before, the response both in number of Communions and also in attendance at the Festival Masses and Vespers taxing the capacity of the Church. And your generous offerings have cleared off the deficit. Truly we have much to be thankful for. God is most prodigal in bestowing His blessings upon us.

Because of the richness of our blessings, we are called now, in this season of Advent, to a very careful and thoughtful preparation for the keeping of the Holy Feast of Christ-Mass. It is for us, members of the Catholic Church, to show the world that this is a Holy Feast of our Holy Church, and not a secular holiday for the general expression of kindliness towards our fellow-men. Our Christian Religion should make every day a holiday of that kind. We are to prepare ourselves now, by prayer and meditation and Mass attendance, to receive the Holy Child of Bethlehem into our hearts. To cast out all that will displease Him, all that will hinder His complete possession of ourselves, bodies, souls and spirits, should be our one intent and purpose. And we need every day of this month, and every opportunity that the Parish provides, to accomplish this end. Let us use the means of grace here afforded, so that our hearts may be cleansed of all defilement, and decked with all Christian virtues, receive with awe the Divine Child in the Christ-Mass.

We shall be keeping S. Thomas' Day as a day of special intercession for the Christmas Feast and the Parish's preparation for it. The Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the High Altar immediately after the Sung Mass, and continuous prayers will be offered and litanies recited during the day. The day's devotions will close with Benediction at six o'clock. Let us not try to estimate the value of such a day. Let us come and give to our Lord all that we have to give Him, and leave its value in His Hands.

It is hoped that as many as possible will come to their Confessions on the Friday and Saturday before Christmas. The Clergy will be in their Confessionals at the usual hours on the day before the Feast. At the close of the Confessional hours on Christmas Eve, nine o'clock, there will be some devotions before the Creche, the singing of the old familiar Carols, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given from the High Altar. Let us be watching when the Master of the House cometh!

This year we will try combining the parties for the Mothers' Meeting and the Children, and have their entertainment, their Christmas tree and their presents on Thursday evening, the Eve of Holy Innocents, in the Parish House at eight o'clock.

Will the members of the Congregation please send their contributions as soon as possible to the Sisters for the Christmas baskets and the presents for the children, and to me for the Christmas greens for the decoration of the Church?

May our hearts be made lowly and humble before the Advent of the Infant King.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Sign of the Cross at Benedictus and Magnificat

It is the devout practice of Christian people in their worship to trace on their bodies the Sign of the Cross at certain liturgical climaxes in the service. It is the overt declaration of the consecration of body and soul to the Incarnate Life of the Son of God, for as Christ was nailed to the Cross and thereby secured for men their redemption, so men use the Cross as the symbol of the Christian Life.

The Cross is made both at the beginning and the end of prayer, for all our approach to God is "through Jesus Christ our Lord." It is made at the end of the Creed to put us in mind of the Baptismal Vow to believe all the Articles of the Christian Faith. And the Cross is also made at the beginning of the New Testament Canticles, Benedictus and Magnificat, in Matins and Vespers because Zacharias and Mary sang these hymns when the knowledge of the Incarnation first burned in their hearts. As God drew them into His scheme of Redemption, so we singing the hymns they composed identify ourselves with them in the love and worship of God our Saviour. The Cross marks us with them as the recipients of God's mercy and Love.

Prayer for the New Bishop

The Bishop Suffragan has authorized the use of the following prayer for guidance in the election of a successor to Bishop Rhinelander, whose resignation has been accepted by the House of Bishops:

"Almighty and everlasting God, why by Thy Holy Spirit didst preside in the Council of the blessed Apostles, and hast promised through thy Son, Jesus Christ, to be with Thy Church to the end of the world: We beseech Thee to be with the Council of Thy Church soon to assemble in Thy Name and Presence.

"Put far from us all worldly thoughts and aims, and enable us to act as in Thy sight, and for Thy glory.

"Give us Thy grace, that we may follow after the things which make for peace, and that all things may be said and done with charity, the very bond of peace and of all virtues.

"Send to us, as Bishop of this Diocese, a man full of grace and wisdom approved by Thee, who shall be to the flock of Christ a true shepherd: who shall feed Thy sheep and Thy lambs: who shall hold up the weak, heal the sick, bind up the broken, seek the lost: who shall be so merciful that he be not too remiss: so minister discipline that he forget not mercy: that when the Chief Shepherd shall appear, he and we may receive the never fading crown of glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

(This prayer was set forth by Bishop Whitaker in 1902.)

At the last meeting of the Vestry, a letter was read from the retiring Bishop, thanking the Corporation for the Resolution that it had prepared and sent to him. The Resolution was as follows:

"The Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of S. Clement's Church, in the City of Philadelphia, desire to place on their records their deep appreciation of the episcopate of the Right Reverend Philip Mercer Rhinelander, D.D., L.D., S.T.D., Seventh Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania. In all his visitations to the Parish, in both his episcopal and personal relations to the Clergy and the Communicants he has exercised a kindly, thorough and sympathetic interest and has been a real Father in God. The Corporation not only deeply regrets his resignation, but the cause that prompted it, and wishes to assure him that from the Altars of the Parish Church and from the Pews continuous prayers will be offered that release from active Episcopal duties may result in an early and complete restoration of his health so that he may long be spared to uphold and advance the Catholic Faith in this Church."

On Hearing Mass

The number of Masses said at our Altars creates for us both an opportunity and a responsibility. The opportunity is one to which small attention is paid, although there would be widespread consternation and grief if it were removed. The responsibility is one for which we shall be judged: "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required."

Looked at in the light of an opportunity, hearing Mass is one of the best possible preparations for our Communions. We venture the proposition that those who are in the habit of hearing Mass frequently make better Communions than those who are never present except for their Communions. It is the occasion for being in God's Presence, as He provides it, first through the Incarnation and then through the Blessed Sacrament. Especially does it bring us into contact with Our Lord Jesus in His Sacrifice—the supreme moment of His earthly Life—whose eternal value continues in His heavenly intercession for us.

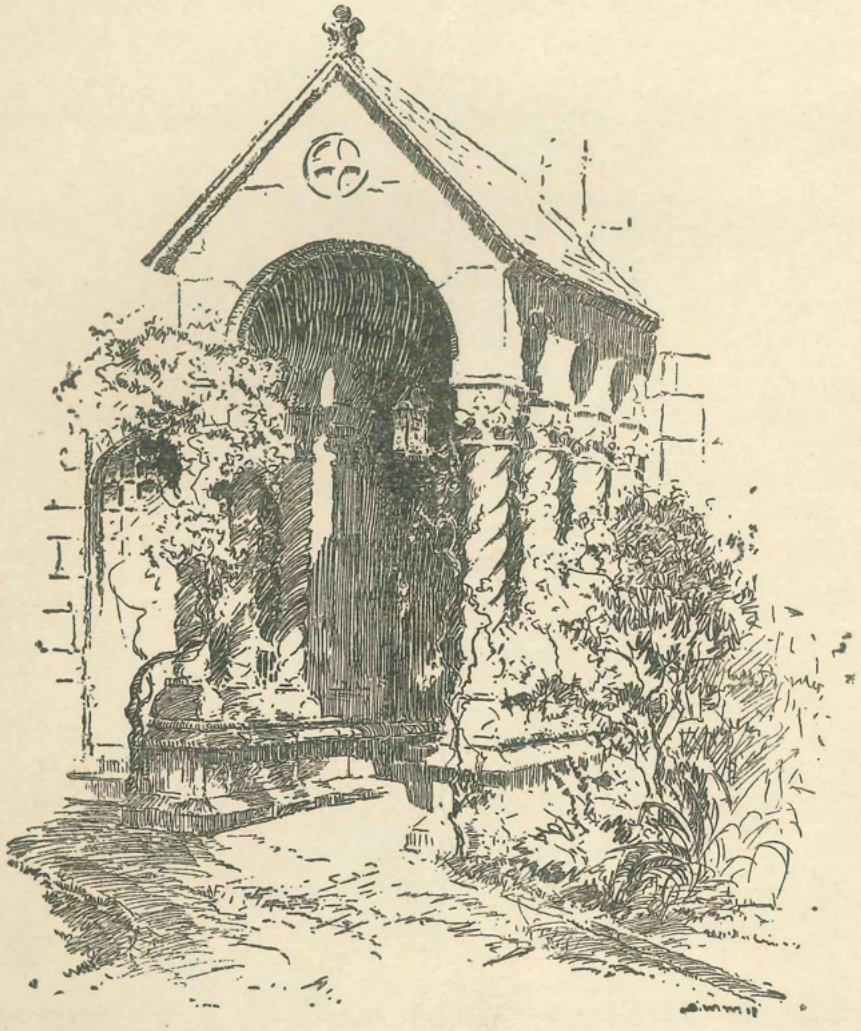
Again, to be thus in Our Lord's presence, is the best opportunity for Him to reach us. The longing of the shepherd of souls is to bring them where the divine Good Shepherd can touch them, speak to them, arouse them, win them utterly to Himself. And JESUS Himself makes this opportunity by His emptying of Himself to be with His people in the naked simplicity of a Sacrament.

And again, the Mass is our great opportunity for intercession. We may look upon it as one great prayer, which we offer to God for some special object. This is what is called the intention of the Mass. We do not pray enough for other people, let alone the Church with all its manifold needs, and the poor world with all its miseries.

The Blessed Sacrament



By Gabriel Gillett

Christ was born in Bethlehem
  In the House of Bread;
On a dark December morn
Christ the Lord of all was born,
  As the Angel said;
And the shepherds worshiped Him
  In the House of Bread.

Children, come to Bethlehem;
  'Tis not far away;
Jesus still is waiting there,
  Waiting, night and day;
Angels there, unseen, adore Him
Enter softly, kneel before Him,
  Lift your hearts and pray.

On the Altar Jesus dwells
  In the House of Bread,
In the Sacrament He made
  Ere His Blood was shed;
See! the lamp burns bright and clear;
Children, come, for Christ is here
  In the House of Bread.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

A HAPPY NEW YEAR to all who may read this letter, and especially to the Communicants of the Parish.

As Fr. Powell says, "Happiness is in our own hands, to a certain extent. Keep your health, was the good-bye word of one friend to another. It was a word to make one think, for instance, of that prayer of S. John for Gaius: 'Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.' So we are led from the thought of bodily health to holiness or wholeness, as words that come from the same source. God is calling each one of us to larger things, to a deeper dedication, to a clearer insight, to greater life." May we all, living together and working together, be better able in the New Year, by the power of the Holy Spirit, to embrace and assimilate the manifold gifts of grace, that alone make for eternal happiness.

On S. Thomas Day, the Rev. George Donald Pierce of the staff was advanced to the Priesthood by the Bishop Suffragan of the Diocese. He said his first Mass at the Lady Altar on Christmas Day. He joined the staff in September for the period of his diaconate. He has now accepted a curacy at S. Paul's Church, Brooklyn, and will have entered into residence there before this letter reaches you. The prayers of his many friends at S. Clement's will follow him as he begins the exacting work of the Priesthood.

On Tuesday the 22d of this month, the Diocesan Convention will meet in a special session for the invoking of the Holy Spirit in the election of a Bishop for the Diocese. This is a very grave and serious matter, and cannot be entered into without much prayer and fasting. We shall be keeping a Novena, that is a nine consecutive days' prayer for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the election, and for the over-ruling of any unworthy motives in the choice. These daily prayers will be said every morning after the first Mass and again at the noonday intercessions, and on all unhindered days Votive Masses of the Holy Ghost will be offered with this intention. I trust that many of you will make this Novena of prayer, and also your Communions with this intention. The Novena will close on the day preceding the election, S. Agnes's Day, when the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the High Altar from the last Mass until six o'clock in the evening, closing with Benediction at that hour. I need not urge your presence and your prayers during this day.

On the Sunday following S. Vincent's Day, we shall be having a special service for the members of our Acolytes Guild. Vespers will be solemnly sung, and there will be a Procession. I want to express here my warm appreciation of their faithfulness in attendance, of their diligence in learning the services, and of the perfect way in which they execute their part in the worship of the Church.

Tuesday the 29th will be the Year's Mind for Fr. Quin. The early Masses will be Low Masses of Requiem, and at the last Mass at half-past nine, a sung Mass of Requiem, with the Absolutions, will be offered. A very simple, but beautiful stone cross has been erected at his grave in the churchyard of S. James the Less. It is the gift of the Acolytes Guild.

At last the Sisters are living in their new house on Woodstock Street, and Sister Katharine and Sister Margaret have been joined by Sister Agatha and Sister Helen. The house will be blessed, without any elaborate ceremony, sometime during the Octave of the Epiphany, and some day, to be announced later, the Sisters will be "at home" to receive the members of the Congregation, and to show them through their home.

I want to thank all those who have so generously given to the several Christmas funds. The usual number of Christmas baskets were provided by the Sisters, and all the shut-ins and the sick were remembered with either flowers or fruit and jellies. A member of one of the Christmas Clubs asked me for names of people for whom he might provide, and he took care of eight families, and also gave, from the club funds, a hundred and thirty-five dollars to be used by our Sisters in their work among the poor. Unfortunately, there was a storm on the evening set for the Mothers' Meeting and the children's parties, so the attendance was below par, but there was a very jolly and happy party for those who were able to come.

Every time a parish letter is sent out to the members of the Congregation, a great many of them are returned because of either a wrong or insufficient address. There is no way of correcting this, unless we can get in touch with the persons themselves or their friends, for when the letter is returned to the sender it means that the postoffice authorities have been unable to locate the addressee. A list of these people is being prepared and will soon be posted on the bulletin board in the Church porch. I hope it will be carefully scrutinized, and if anyone knows the present address of any person listed there, I hope they will write it opposite to the name.

As we live together and work together in our Parish Life, may we all, Priests and people, grow together in the Love of the Sacred Heart of JESUS.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

14th. S. HILARY, B.C.D. Born of pagan parents at Poietiers, in France, it was many years before Hilary was baptized. After he was made Bishop of his native town, he championed the faith against the Arians. He was banished, but continued his crusade against heresy in all his travels in Italy, and to the royal court at Constantinople. He was at last allowed to return to his See, but died in 368. During exile he wrote "A History of Synods," "On the Trinity," and "Against the Arians." His tomb was violated by the Protestants in 1567.

17th. S. ANTHONY, A.B.C. Anthony, a wealthy Egyptian, parted with his property, and, while still youthful, retired to the desert to follow a hermit's life. His reputation for asceticism widely spread and he was prevailed upon to found a Monastery at Phaium. He was constantly assailed by devilish temptations, which he subdued by prayer and fasting. In 355 he was chosen by the Bishops to contend against the Arians. S. Anthony was the first abbot of the first Christian Monastery, which was a group of separate huts. He died in 356 at the age of 105 years. His body was translated to Alexandria in 561, then to Constantinople, and finally to Vienne in France.

21st. S. AGNES, V. and M. The son of the prefect of Rome, struck by the rare beauty of the child Agnes, offered her marriage, but she replied that she was already espoused to Christ. In revenge, he accused her to the governor, who ordered her to offer incense to the gods; refusing to do this, she was terribly persecuted and then beheaded in 304 when but thirteen years of age. She was buried outside the walls of Rome, and a Church was built on the spot, in which her relics are now enshrined in silver.

22d. S. VINCENT, D. and M. Vincent of Saragossa was a Deacon when the edict of Diocletian commanded all clerics to abjure the faith. The remarkable fortitude of Vincent brought on him the greater tortures. He was racked, torn with hooks and beaten, until even the jailer was moved to pity. He was then placed on a red-hot knife-edged gridiron and succumbed shortly after being taken off, in 304. Still the malice of his persecutors followed him, and his body was cast to the wolves but was defended by the ravens; it was cast in the sea, but washed up. His relics are at Valencia and Rome.

26th. S. POLYCARP, B. and M. Polycarp was consecrated Bishop of Smyrna by S. John the Evangelist in the year 96. After a long episcopate he was seized during the reign of Marcus Aurelius, and, refusing to sacrifice to the gods, he was condemned to be burnt. The flames encircled but did not touch him, a spear was then thrust through him and his body burnt in the year 167, at the age of 86. His tomb is still shown at Smyrna.

At the first meeting in the new year, the Reverend Edmund Souder, who preached so ably for us in November, will tell of his work in Wuchang, China. It is the aim of the Auxiliary this year to have each meeting addressed by a Missionary, so that the women may come in direct touch with the field work. There will be no special appeal for money made at any of these meetings.

At the meeting on the first Wednesday in February, the address will be made by the Venerable Erasmus Baskerville, Archdeacon for the work among colored people in South Carolina.

The Auxiliary is now actively interested and engaged in the packing of a missionary box to be sent to an Indian Priest and his family in South Dakota. He is the Reverend Edward Oscar Whiteface, of Ascension Church Promise, South Dakota, and has a wife and little daughter of seven years. The box is to contain a complete outfit of clothing for the three members of the family, as well as many articles of household necessity, and the women hope to include not a few extra articles of luxury. The native priest has so many advantages over any other in reaching his own people, and the small salary and the privations in so isolated a country makes for great sacrifice on his part. Here is an opportunity for real missionary work in which all can take a personal interest. It is hoped that the gifts for this box will not be restricted to the women, but that the men of the congregation may be interested to provide the Priest's outfit. Appeals have been sent to some few individuals, and gifts will be welcomed from all who may care to give. The contents of the box will be exhibited in the Parish House before the box is sent.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

With Easter coming so late in the calendar year, we have another whole month before the beginning of Lent. This does not mean that we have four weeks to waste in play and pleasure before we put ourselves down to the fast and discipline of the forty days. To think this means that you have an entirely wrong idea of the Lenten season. It is not a season of preparation for Easter Confession, but a time of penance for sins already confessed on Shrove Tuesday, the eve of Ash Wednesday. So this extra month is a great boon, giving added time and opportunity for self-examination and self-knowledge, that you may be the better equipped to make a good and thorough confession, and so be able to make a more eager and willing penance during the Lenten fast. The extra devotions of the month are arranged for that purpose. I trust that you will use them faithfully.

The Sisters' "At Home"

The Sisters of the Holy Nativity are now settled in the Mission House at 110 Woodstock Street. The House was blessed on the Saturday in the Octave of the Epiphany. The Reverend Clergy of S. Mark's and S. Elizabeth's were present, and also the Sisters of S. Margaret and the All Saints Sisters of the Poor, together with Mrs. Spong, our generous benefactress.

The Reverend Mother Superior of the Community is expected for a visit early in the month, and that the members of the congregation and their friends may meet her, as well as see the new House, the Sisters have set Monday, February 11, as their day "at home." They will be ready to receive visitors from half-past two o'clock until five, and from half-past seven until nine.

The Girls' Club

The girls and young married women of the Parish have been working very hard these past few weeks, preparing for their annual entertainment, which is always anticipated with keen pleasure. They are rehearsing now for "The Mikado," and the progress they are making bespeaks a most finished performance. It will be given in the Parish House two evenings, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 26 and 27. There will be dancing each evening after the performance. Tickets may be procured from members of the Club. Membership in the Club is open to all young girls and young married women, whether they are members of the Parish or not. Frequent social evenings are arranged from time to time, in which they are joined by the young men of S. Vincent's Guild.

The New Bishop

The Special Convention of the Diocese, called in session on Tuesday, January 22, elected the Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Thomas J. Garland, D.D., as the Diocesan Bishop, to succeed Bishop Rhinelander. Bishop Garland was elected on the first ballot with a large majority in both orders, as he was also elected some years ago to be Suffragan.

He has always been a warm friend of the Clergy and people of S. Clement's, and his visits to us in the past have always been most happy ones. We look forward with keen pleasure to welcoming him here as our Diocesan next month, when, as an old friend, he comes for the first time as our Chief Shepherd.

May GOD so enrich him with His Heavenly Grace that he may feed his people with a faithful and true heart, and rule them prudently with all his power.

The Catholic Priests' Convention

In another part of the Magazine you will find an article about a Convention of Priests that is to be held in Philadelphia the week following Low Sunday. The Committee on Arrangements is expecting over four hundred Priests from outside the city, some to stay over two nights and some to stay over three nights. They will have to be entertained. Will any of you who are able to provide sleeping accommodations for one or more, please tell me about it. They will not expect any meals from their entertainers, for they will be coming into the City Churches for their Masses, where breakfasts will be provided, and the other meals will be served near Witherspoon Hall, where the meetings of the Convention are to be held.

Parish Expenses

Everyone has experienced a great increase in the cost of living during the past few years, and it is felt by the Church even more keenly, for when there is an increase in private expense, the first economy is in Church gifts. Within the past months there have been five deaths in the Parish that have meant the loss of rent from five pews. While the loose offerings are good, and show some increase, still it is not an increase sufficient to make up the loss in pew rentals. Envelopes for systematic giving are provided in packets, one for each Sunday in the year. If any others would like to use the envelope system for their regular support of the Church, they may be obtained from the Clergy after any service.

May you use the Grace so generously given by the Dear Lord that you may be more worthy of His manifold gifts and blessings.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Our February Saints

1st. S. IGNATIUS, B.M. A disciple of S. John, Ignatius was appointed by S. Peter to the Bishopric of Antioch. He introduced antiphonal singing in his Church, whence it spread over Christendom. He was called "Theophorus," and when Trajan asked him why he was surnamed "God-bearing," he answered, because he bore GOD in his heart. On his confession of the Faith, Trajan ordered Ignatius to Rome for the sports. His journey, in chains, was a triumphal progress. Christians, openly braving the edict, came for his blessing. He reached Rome on the last day of the games in 107, and was at once taken to the amphitheatre, where the lions gave him instantaneous death.

4th. S. GILBERT OF SEMPRINGHAM, ABB. As a layman Gilbert had for long devoted himself to the religious instruction of youths of both sexes, and, as Rector of Sempringham in Norfolk, he founded a Monastery for women in his Parish and maintained it at his own cost. Then he founded a house for men about the year 1130, following the rule of the Augustinian Canons. The women he placed under the Cistercian Rule; both with certain modifications. S. Gilbert's gentle influence caused his Order to expand rapidly, and, in the sixteenth century the Gilbertines had twenty-six houses. S. Gilbert was the only founder of a Religious Order in England, and when he died in 1189 he left 700 Canons and 1500 Nuns in his foundations.

5th. S. AGATHA, V.M. Agatha, a beautiful Sicilian maiden who had consecrated herself to GOD, was importuned by the Governour who, when his advances were repelled, arrested her as a Christian. Threats of torture if she withheld herself from him were of no avail; she was racked, and her breasts were cut off, but her firmness was unshaken; she was cast into prison, where she died from her injuries in 251.

14th. S. VALENTINE, P.M. A Priest in Rome, who—for giving help to the Christians during the persecution of Cladius—was seized and imprisoned. He converted his jailor, which so angered the Emperor that he ordered Valentine should be beaten with clubs and beheaded. This was done on the Faminian Way in 269, near to the gate which was afterwards called the Porta Valentini and, at a later date, Porto del Popolo. On this date the pagan boys used to draw by lot the names of girls, in honor of the goddess Februata Juno, a custom not extinct amongst Christians.

26th. S. ETHELBERT, K.C. Ethelbert was King of Kent when S. Augustine came with the Gospel news to England. The influence of his Christian Queen, no doubt, predisposed him to listen to the missionary, and there was one Church, S. Martin's outside Canterbury, where Mass was allowed for the benefit of Queen Bertha. S. Ethelbert listened to S. Augustine and took some time to consider his message, meanwhile giving him a place to dwell in and the use of S. Martin's Church. Ethelbert was baptized and then helped to spread the faith with his utmost power. He gave his own palace for the dwelling of S. Augustine and his companions. He founded Christ Church, Canterbury; S. Andrew's, Rochester; S. Paul's, London; and the Abbey of SS. Peter and Paul outside Canterbury, and also persuaded the kings of the East Saxons and the East Angles to be baptized.

The Philadelphia Priests' Convention

The program of the subjects and the speakers for the Catholic Priests' Convention, to be held in Philadelphia on April 29 and 30, has been completed.

The convention will be opened on Tuesday morning, April 20, with a Solemn High Mass at S. Mark's Church. The Bishop of Milwaukee has consented to be the preacher. The names of the ministers of the Mass will be announced later.

On Tuesday afternoon, at three o'clock, the first session of the convention will be held. The subject will be "The Incarnation," and papers will be read as follows: "The Deity of Our Lord," by the Rev. Francis J. Hall, D.D., of the General Theological Seminary, New York; "The Virgin Birth," by the Rev. Wm. Pitt McCune, Ph.D., of New York; "The Resurrection," by the Rev. Frederick C. Grant, D.D., of Chicago.

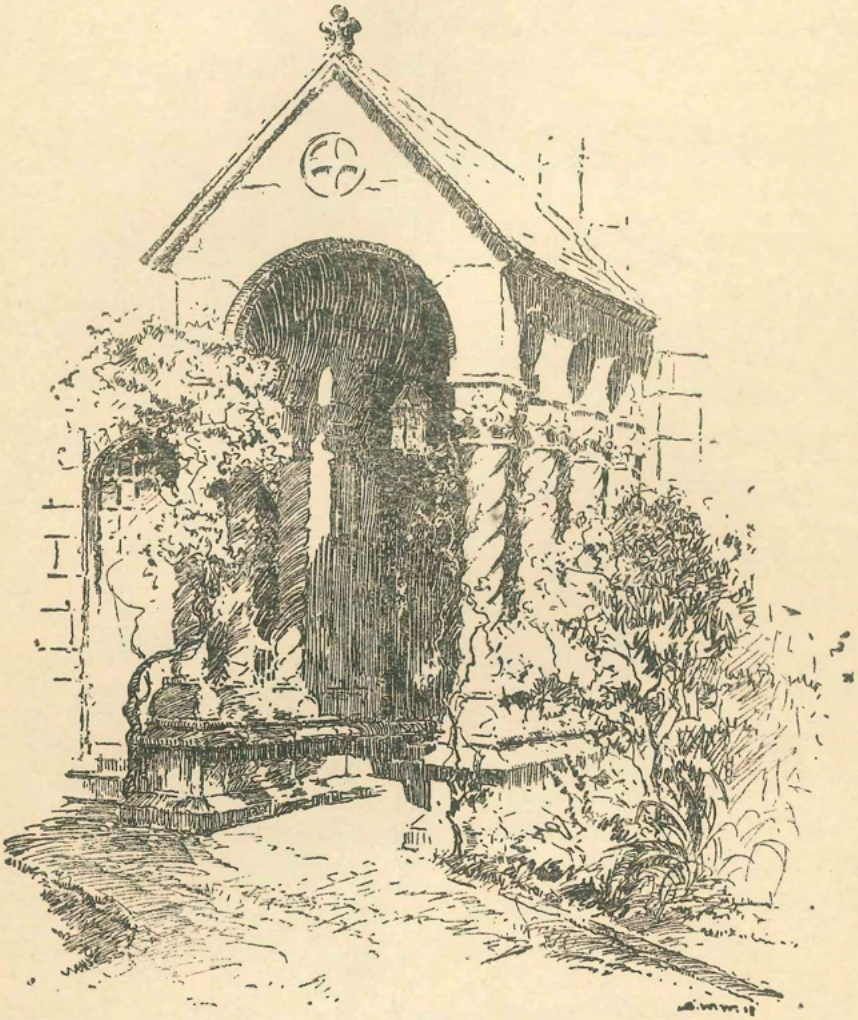
On Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock, the general subject will be "The Holy Eucharist," with papers on the following topics: "The Holy Sacrifice," by the Rev. Wm. A. McClenthen, D.D., of Baltimore; "The Real Presence," by the Rev. Frederick S. Penfold, D.D., of Providence, R. I.; and "The Holy Communion," by the Rev. Frederick S. Fleming, of Chicago.

On Wednesday morning, April 30, at ten o'clock, the subject will be "Moral Theology," with papers or addresses on "The Study of Moral Theology," by the Rev. Professor Bowyer Stewart, of Nashotah; on "The Priest in the Confessional," by the Rev. Clarence N. Dunham, of Orange, N. J.; and on "Spiritual Guidance," by the Rev. Father Huntington, Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross. This session on Wednesday morning will be for the clergy only.

The "Devotional Life of the Priest" will be discussed on Wednesday afternoon. The two topics, "Prayer" and "Meditation," and "Rule of Life," will be treated by the Rev. Father Waggett, of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, and the Very Rev. C. S. Hutchinson, D.D., Dean of All Saints' Cathedral, of Milwaukee, respectively.

The final session of the Convention will be a public mass-meeting at eight o'clock Wednesday evening. The general subject will be "The Church and Reunion." The speakers will be the Rt. Rev. Irving P. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of Colorado; the Rev. George Craig Stewart, D.D., of Evanston, Ill., and the Rev. J. G. H. Barry, D.D., of New York.

As has before been stated, this Convention is regional in its character, embracing the Clergy in the Dioceses of the New England and Middle Atlantic States. It is understood that Conventions or Congresses of like character are being projected for other sections, all looking forward to a nation-wide gathering in the not distant future.



Over four hundred Clergy have entered their names as members of the Philadelphia Convention.

My Oratory

I build within my soul a Shrine apart,
And consecrate it to the Sacred Heart.
An Altar in the midst thereof I raise,
And offer there the Sacrifice of Praise.
Above it the sweet Cross of Christ I sign,
And burn before it Love's red lamp Divine.
Curtains on either side of this I draw,
And call them Holy Fear and loving Awe.
Twin candles on my Altar you may see,
Their names are Patience and Humility.
But though these taper lights I hourly trim,
They gutter sadly, and their flame grows dim!
So then to keep my Sanctuary bright,
I offer Virgin lilies pure and white.
The which I know our Lord will surely take
For His own Pureness and our Lady's sake.
Then while their fragrance sweetens all the air,
I add thereto the Frankincense of Prayer.
My song and music are soft monotone,
The Name of Jesus and the Spirit's moan.
Three times a day I ring my Ave Bell,
And say "Hail Mary" with S. Gabriel.
The Master teacheth me to say my Beads,
Full well He knoweth His poor Scholar's needs:
My Patron Saints do here converse with me,
And my good Angel keeps me company.
And so when other things do me displease,
I to my Chapel go and there find Ease.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

Lent is upon us! I wonder how many welcome it as the "glad feast of Lent!" Yet, should we not all hail this GOD-given opportunity to do penance for our sins, and by discipline of these forty days conquer our besetting faults, and grow in grace? For of what value will our penance be if we do not use the absolving grace for the strengthening and developing of our Christian characters.

The Lenten devotions will be much the same as in recent years. The Wednesday evening devotions will be a new departure. They will be conducted by Fr. Smith, who will also make the address. There will be a Solemn High Mass with sermon on Ash Wednesday at eleven o'clock. There will be the usual day of Exposition on Wednesdays, from the last Mass until four in the afternoon, closing with an address and Benediction. I hope to give the Wednesday afternoon addresses with these subjects:

March 5. "The Lord's Supper."
March 12. "The Holy Communion."
March 19. "The Eucharist."
March 26. "The Divine Liturgy."
April 2. "The Holy Sacrifice."
April 9. "The Mass."

Aside from the devotions on Wednesdays there are no extra services. There is ample opportunity for the members of the parish and the congregations to be forming habits during this season of regular attendance at the established services that are maintained throughout the year. I hope you all will read very carefully the reasons for frequent communion and daily attendance at Mass. The three Masses each day make it quite possible for everyone to hear Mass every day. I trust the number of those who receive the Sacrament daily and who assist at Mass daily will be greatly increased.

May the Saviour of the World, Who by His Cross and Precious Blood hath redeemed us, save us in our last hour and help us now to persevere in His grace.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Reasons for Frequent Holy Communion

By receiving Holy Communion you obtain for yourself:

1. The visit of Jesus Himself, the graces He would bestow on your soul, and an intimate union with Him. "He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood dwelleth in Me and I in him." (John, 6, 57.)

2. An increase of sanctifying grace. Jesus comes to impart His life to our soul, to nourish its supernatural life. "As the living Father hath sent Me, and I live by the Father, so he that eateth Me, the same shall also live by Me." (John, 6, 58.)

3. The best opportunity to obtain the remission of your venial sins. "We receive this daily bread as a remedy for our weaknesses." (St. Ambrose.)

4. A powerful remedy which would weaken your evil inclinations, put the evil spirits to flight and strengthen you against relapse into sin. Holy Communion is a divine antidote which not only cleanses the soul from venial sin, but preserves her from mortal sin.

5. The total or partial remission of the temporal punishment due to sin. This remission of temporal punishment is effected indirectly by the acts of love made at Holy Communion.

6. Many actual graces. Holy Communion is a most powerful means of obtaining actual graces to live a virtuous and holy life.

7. A special spiritual sweetness experienced in fulfilling the Divine Will, even amid suffering and trials.

8. An excellent preparation for death. He who receives our Lord daily is also daily prepared to met Him daily as judge.

9. A new pledge of life eternal, and an increase of heavenly bliss. "He that eateth this bread shall live forever." (John, 6, 59.)

10. Your body of healing and sanctifying effects. "Holy Communion lulls to sleep the law of the flesh raging in our members," and again: "The chaste flesh of Jesus Christ cools and purifies our heated and rebellious passions." (St. Augustine.)

11. An assurance of a more glorious resurrection on the last day. The oftener you receive Holy Communion the more glorious your resurrection will be. "He that eateth My flesh and drinketh My blood hath everlasting life and I will raise him up at the last day." (John, 6, 55.)

12. The merit due to the practice of the virtue of obedience. God and his holy church urge us to receive daily.

13. The opportunity of making atonement to the Sacred Heart of Jesus for the sacrileges and indifference of so many against Him in the sacrament of His love.

14. The opportunity and the merit of confessing your Faith and giving a good example to others.

15. The opportunity of assisting the poor souls in a most efficacious manner.

16. Very special opportunities of offering up most efficacious prayers for parents, relatives, Holy Mother the Church, conversion of sinners for the sick and the dying.

To receive Holy Communion daily TWO CONDITIONS are required:

1. Freedom from mortal sin.

2. The right intention, i. e.: To please God and to benefit yourself spiritually.

Try to go to Holy Communion daily yourself and become an apostle of frequent communion.

Mutual Life Insurance Companies in Relation to Charitable Gifts

Horace H. Francine

There are but few people, indeed, who do not experience the joy of giving to the support of God's Church or to the needy or for the benefit of hospitals and charitable institutions. If they felt it were within their means they would gladly give more generously and more regularly and they would welcome the knowledge of any method that would enable them to do so.

It is very little understood that Mutual Life Insurance Companies as now developed offer advantages, not otherwise obtainable, for just this purpose. Moreover, it affords this joyful opportunity to the poor and the rich alike. The first question that is naturally asked is—What will it cost? And the answer is—Nothing! There is no cost as we understand the meaning of that word. Thus we can hardly speak of the cost of a saving fund except in terms of self-denial or of sacrifice for a limited time. But to have a clear and workable understanding of this as regards a life insurance policy one must get a good mental hold of these two basic facts and keep them always in mind. One is that the premiums paid annually are simply deposits to a saving fund, not money paid out or away, and the other is that the money so deposited is not used to create profits that the depositor or policyholder does not receive. Most people feel erroneously that some persons outside the policyholders must make something out of it, as is the case in all other businesses, including saving funds and bank accounts. Such is not the case. A Mutual Life Insurance Company is nothing more than a huge charitable corporation, run solely for the benefit of its members, the policyholders, and for the sole object of guaranteeing to them the fulfillment of dear desires and vital plans that cannot be fulfilled by a life prematurely taken away. Thus it removes the greatest factor of uncertainty in man's struggle for attainment, the time factor—that is to say, the chance that, given all else in his favor, he yet may not live long enough to save the amount he has made up his mind to give.

If a policyholder dies at any time while the policy is in force, even if after the first deposit, the company at once takes its stand in his place. He can pass away in peace, content in the knowledge that though he cannot see it, his cherished desire is accomplished. What a wonderful thing this is! What happiness it makes for! His deposits are put down with joy, knowing that God will most certainly realize them. If he wishes to leave, at his death only, a bequest to his church, etc., he may arrange for it in like manner with annual deposits, and whenever he is called to rest the company will stand for him and complete for him whatever he had hoped to complete had he lived.

If, while the policy is in force, he should become disabled from earning his living, that is, unable to work, he will receive as long as his disability lasts 12 per cent. a year, or 1 per cent. a month, on the sum he had arranged to build up; he, himself, is relieved from any further building or deposits during that period as long as it lasts, and the main sum will still go to the charitable beneficiary. There are certain happenings, such, for example, as the loss of eyesight, that automatically establish such disability. If the insured should meet with accidental death, the beneficiary will receive double the face value of the policy, if not over a certain sum.

Thus the man or woman, whatever his or her financial position, may raise up, as it were, a lasting memorial to himself or herself in God. The deposit of a small sum annually, semi-annually or quarterly —the fruit of but a little self-denial—will enable the gift of a thousand dollars! And the person blessed with riches may give correspondingly. For though he may not feel justified in taking, let us say, twenty-five thousand dollars from the estate he leaves to his family at his death, thus depriving his heirs of this considerable sum, yet by setting aside annually the interest earnings of a certain amount of bonds or other securities he can provide this gift without diminishing his legacies or unduly feeling the financial strain.

On the other hand, supposing that he can afford to give the twenty-five thousand dollars from his estate at his demise, he can arrange it as above so that the church or hospital shall receive an additional twenty-five thousand dollars without further reduction of the estate he leaves. The sum so given does not, as otherwise is often the case, require to be realized at the sacrifice of securities that may be temporarily depressed. Such a bequest is not subject to deduction for inheritance taxes, income taxes, administration expenses, counsel fees or any other deduction or expense whatever. The above ideas should suffice to show in part how a Mutual Insurance Company may be utilized to make giving to the glory of God and our Saviour an easier and more practical undertaking and to establish it on a firm and unshakable foundation.

The Rector's Letter

My dear people,

On Mid-Lent Sunday you pause to look back over the road you have traveled, and I hope it may be with some sense of gratefulness to God that you see spiritual gain and growth in grace. The rest of Lent will go by very quickly. Mid-Lent, Passion Sunday, Palm Sunday, Holy Week! Yet there is time to make a new start if you have failed during these early weeks. But do not let any past failure hinder your future endeavour. The Saviour bids you resolutely set your face to "go up to Jerusalem."

The Retreat for Women on Mid-Lent Sunday and the Men's Retreat on Passion Sunday will be as usual. The Retreat on Thursday in Passion Week for S. Mary's Guild is also open to women of this or any other Parish who may care to attend. A word to the Sister-in-charge is all the notice that is necessary. The addresses will be given by Father Caine, of S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, who has conducted the Retreat for the two previous years.

"The Message from the Cross," a musical Cantata by Will C. Macfarlane, will be sung by the choir on the evenings of Passion Sunday and Palm Sunday. There will be no sermon on either of these evenings.

On Palm Sunday, the formal blessing and distribution of the Palms will begin at half-past ten o'clock, followed by the Solemn Palm Procession. This will bring the beginning of the Solemn Mass shortly after the regular hour of beginning.

The half-past nine Masses on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in Holy Week, will be sung. The usual Solemn High Mass with communions on Maundy Thursday, at seven, will be followed by Maundy Thursday, with communions at seven, will be followed by the Procession of the Blessed Sacrament to the Altar of Repose, the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Good Friday, at half-past ten o'clock. The chart for volunteer watchers before the Altar of Repose will be posted early in the Church porch, and may I ask that you sign it promptly? There will be two Acolytes in the Church all during the night hours.

I will be very glad to have your offerings for flowers for Maundy Thursday and the Altar of Repose, and also offerings of flowers, if they are sent to the Church, Wednesday afternoon. Potted plants will last much longer than cut flowers, and many of them can be used on Easter. We cannot have too many flowers at this time.

The Lord Bishop of British Honduras, is expecting to come to us the latter part of Holy Week to spend Easter. If he arrives in time, he will preach the Passion on Good Friday, and also Pontificate at the Solemn Mass and Solemn Vespers on Easter Day. It is a great joy to welcome Bishop Dunn to S. Clement's again. He was with us, you will remember, about two years ago, and in memory of that visit he dedicated the Oratory in Bishopthorpe, his residence in Belize, to S. Clement.

It is with shame that I ask the offerings on another Feast for Parish expenses. I long for the day when the offerings on these Great Days can be given outside the Parish. The Budget that was put before us early in the year was based on the expectancy of $5000 from the Endowment Fund. This unfortunately was but $4600, and according to the terms of the fund, we can use but four-fifths of this amount, $3400, and the balance is added to the principal. I hope this difference of $1600 may be added to your usual Easter gifts.

During the Priests' Convention, Father Hutchinson, now Dean of the Milwaukee Cathedral, Father Kellogg, of Portsmouth, N. H., and four Cowley Fathers, will be guests at the Clergy House. Father Hutchinson is expecting to stay for a few days after the Convention is closed. President Bell, of S. Stephen's College, has been staying at the Clergy House while fulfilling his Lenten preaching engagements in the city.

I want to express a word of gratitude for the large attendance at all the Masses and the splendid number of Communions that are being made. From the first Sunday in November, to the first Sunday in Lent, Communion had been given 3728 times, an increase of 1270 over the same period five years ago. Every Sunday now, the Communions run from 90 to 110, and every weekday, from 20 to 40. Last year, from Ash Wednesday, to Maundy Thursday, there were 1247 Communions. This year from Ash Wednesday, to the third Sunday in Lent, there were 830 Communions. At this rate there will be a tremendous gain over last year. The attendance at the High Mass is not a test of the life of the Parish, but the Confessions and the Communions are! Those who come simply to the High Mass have no idea of the work that S. Clement's is doing.

May the dear Saviour bring you, through His Cross and Passion, to the Joy of His Resurrection.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Fourth Sunday in Lent

This Sunday, called from the first word of the Introit, LAETARE (Rejoice) Sunday, is one of the most solemn of the year. The Church interrupts her Lenten mournfulness; the chants of the Mass speak of nothing but joy and consolation. The Church's motive for introducing this expression of joy in today's Liturgy, is to encourage her children to persevere to the end of this holy season. She not only permits, but even bids her children to rejoice. Another name given to this Sunday was suggested by the Gospel for the day. That is, the Sunday of the Five Loaves. This miracle is also an additional element of today's joy. It recalls the greatest of the benefits He has bestowed upon us; for under the figure of these loaves, multiplied by the power of JESUS, our faith sees that "Bread which cometh down from heaven and giveth life to the world."

Before leaving this world to go to His Father, JESUS desires to feed the multitude that follows Him; and in order to do this He displays His omnipotence. Well may we admire that creative power which feeds five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes, and in such wise that even after all have partaken of the feast as much as they would, there remain fragments enough to fill twelve baskets.

Such a miracle is, indeed, an evident proof of Christ's mission; but He intends it as a preparation for something far more wonderful; He intends it as a figure and a pledge of what He is soon to do, not merely once or twice, but every day even to the end of time; not only for five thousand men, but for the countless multitude of believers. We are to feast as did our fathers before us; and the generations that are to follow us shall be invited, as we now are, to come and taste how sweet is the Lord.

Passion Sunday

During the preceding four weeks we have noticed how the malice of Christ's enemies has been gradually increasing. His very presence irritates them; and it is evident that any little circumstance will suffice to bring the deep and long-nurtured hatred to a head. The kind and gentle manners of JESUS are drawing to Him all hearts that are simple and upright; at the same time, the humble life He leads and the stern purity of His doctrines, are perpetual sources of vexation and anger, both to the proud Jew that looks forward to the Messias being a mighty conqueror, and to the Pharisee, who corrupts the Law of God, that he may make it the instrument of his own base passions.

Still JESUS continues to work His miracles; His discourses are more than ever energetic; His prophecies foretell the fall of Jerusalem, and such a destruction of the famous Temple that not a stone is to be left on a stone. The Doctors of the Law should at least reflect upon what they hear. But there is not a single outrage or suffering, foretold by David and Isaiah, as having to be put on the Messias, that these blind men are not scheming to verify. In them, therefore, was fulfilled the terrible saying: "He that shall speak against the Holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come." The Synagogue is nigh to a curse. Obstinate in her error, she has deliberately extinguished within herself the light of the Holy Spirit. She will go deeper and deeper into evil, and at length fall into the abyss.

The same lamentable conduct is but too often witnessed nowadays. Neither should it surprise us that we find in people of our own generation a resemblance to the murderers of our JESUS; the history of His Passion will reveal to us many sad secrets of the human heart and its perverse inclinations; for what happened in Jerusalem, happens also in the heart of every sinner, which, as S. Paul says, is another Calvary where JESUS is crucified.

Palm Sunday

Early in the morning of this day, JESUS sets out for Jerusalem, leaving Mary, His Mother, and the two sisters, Martha and Mary, and Lazarus at Bethany. The Mother of Sorrows trembles at seeing her Son thus expose Himself to danger, for His enemies are bent upon His destruction; but it is not Death, it is Triumph, that JESUS is to meet with today in Jerusalem. He is to be proclaimed KING by the people of the great city; and its streets are to re-echo with HOSANNAS to the Son of David.

As soon as it was known that JESUS was near the city, many went out to meet Him, holding palm branches in their hands, and loudly proclaiming Him to be KING. They that had accompanied JESUS from Bethany, joined the enthusiastic crowd. The triumphant crowd of HOSANNA, proclaimed to the whole city that JESUS, the Son of David, had made His entrance as her KING. Thus did God, in His power over men's hearts, procure a triumph for His Son, and in the very city, which, a few days after, was to clamor for His Blood. This day was one of glory for Jesus Christ, and Holy Church would have us renew each year the memory of this triumph of the God-Man.

This is the glorious mystery which ushers in the Great Week, the Week of Sorrows. Holy Church would have us give this momentary consolation to our heart, and hail our JESUS as our KING. She has so arranged the service of today that it should express both joy and sorrow; joy, by uniting herself with the loyal Hosannas of the city of David; and sorrow, by sharing the Passion of her DIVINE SPOUSE.

Saints' Days in April

4th. S. AMBROSE, BISHOP, CONFESSOR AND DOCTOR. Born in Gaul, of Roman parents, about 340, he showed extraordinary intelligence from childhood. Going to Rome, he was made prefect, then governour of Liguria, in which office he was so just that, although not baptized, he was acclaimed Bishop of Milan, by the populace in 374. Giving the management of the temporalities of the See to his brother, S. Ambrose applied himself wholly to the spiritual work. He purged the diocese of the Arain heresy; with unbounded energy he reproved vice in high and low; he tended the sick and redeemed captives. He wrote many works on the Faith, the Incarnation, and on Widowhood. The Empress tried to restore the Arains, but the resolute opposition of Ambrose prevailed. The Emperor allowed a massacre and was excommunicated by S. Ambrose, who refused his entry into the Church until he had done penance. These are but a few instances of his boldness for the honour of the Lord, and the Lord triumphed in His servant. He died in 397. His relics are in the Church of S. Ambrogio in Milan.

11th. SEVEN SORROWS OF OUR LADY. They are: (1) The Prophecy of Simeon; (2) The Flight into Egypt; (3) Christ Lost to His Mother, when He remained with the Doctors in the Temple; (4) The Betrayal of Christ; (5) The Crucifixion; (6) The Deposition from the Cross; (7) The Ascension, when our Lady was left on earth.

30th. S. CATHERINE, OF SIENNA, VIRGIN. Born in Sienna, in 1347, S. Catherine used to say the "Hail Mary" on each step as she mounted the stair-case, when a child. Because she refused to marry at her parent's wish, she was made to do the household drudgery. With utmost patience she did this until she was received into the Third Order of S. Dominic and devoted herself to nursing the most trying cases and the most ungrateful patients. She was the means of restoring Pope Gregory XI, to Rome, and pacifying the tumults in Florence. She had most wonderful ecstasies, and it was said that no one had speech with her but what they received spiritual good. She died in 1380. Her relics are in the Church of the Minerva, Rome, but her head is enshrined at Sienna.

The Venerable Sacrament of the Altar

Someone browsing through the Philadelphia Public Library, found a small paper-covered book, bearing the above title. It proved to be a translation of S. Thomas Aquinas, by the Reverend John M. Neale, founder of the Society of S. Margaret. A few interesting and helpful paragraphs were copied.

"Our preparation for the Eucharist may be considered with regard to the Bread of the Sacrament. For even as grain of wheat, by art of man, gradually attaineth to the perfection of bread, so the sinful soul, by the Grace of GOD, attaineth to that good estate wherein it may lawfully receive the Lord's Body. The grains whereof the Bread is made, signify the state of the sinner in three things: they are hard, they are covered with husks, they are separate from each other. So the sinner is hard in heart, for he will not be converted to his gracious God because of his iniquity. They have made their faces harder than a rock, they have refused to return.

Again the sinner is, as it were, covered with the husk of the hideousness of sin. And, also, the sinner is separated from his neighbour by want of love. Their heart is divided, now shall they perish.

But the grain is brought to the state in which it is in the Sacrament, after this manner: Firstly, its hardness is broken by the millstone and it is reduced to very small particles. Secondly, it is cleansed from husk. Thirdly, the flour is mixed all together with water, baked by fire and made into solid bread. So the sinner who would be worthy to receive the Lord's Body ought to prepare himself by the three things here signified: By contrition of the heart, by confession of the mouth, and by love of his neighbour.

Of the first: Take the millstone and grind meal, as though he would say: Make in thyself a spiritual mill of the two grindstones of the consideration of the mercy and the justice of God, to grind down the hardness of thine heart, mercy as to the upper stone, which worketh now and goeth round, but after this life will cease to work. Again, justice may be considered as the lower stone, which now lieth quiet and is still, but after this life it will be raised and will work and go round. I will judge thee according to thy ways. Mine eyes shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity. On whomsoever this stone shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

Of the second; Lo, I will cleanse and I will sift the House of Israel, like as corn is sifted in a sieve, where the husks are separated from the seeds, the impure from the pure, as by confession the soul is cleansed from sin. Judas said unto his brethren, that is, to those who had confessed: Behold our enemies are discomfited, let us go up to cleanse our Sanctuary. They that fear the Lord will prepare their hearts and hallow their souls in His sight. Happy the soul which daily cleanseth its heart that it may receive God as its Inhabitant, possessing whom it shall lack no good thing, forasmuch as it hath the Author of all good within itself.

Of the third, make ready quickly three measures of fine meal, knead it and bake cakes upon the hearth. For he who would receive Christ's Body, ought first to bake by fire, bread mixed of three measures of meal, that is he ought to preserve true love towards three different sorts of men, to wit, superiors, equals, inferiors. For we, being many, are One Bread and One Body, for we are all partakers of that One Bread and that One Cup.

The Priests' Convention

Plans are progressing most rapidly and satisfactorily towards a most enthusiastic and successful gathering of Catholic-minded Priests here in Philadelphia, on the Tuesday and Wednesday after Low Sunday.

A list of the meetings in Witherspoon Hall, with the speakers and the subjects of their papers, was printed in the February Magazine, and repeated in the Diocesan Magazine for March.

Almost six hundred Priests have registered as members of the Convention, and in all probability some five hundred will be in attendance. Six Bishops are taking an official part in it, and several others will be present at the meetings.

The response has so far exceeded the wildest dreams of the Committee, that it has been necessary to arrange a second opening Mass, to be offered at the same hour as the official opening Mass at S. Mark's. As already announced, the Priests will vest in Holy Trinity Parish House and march across Rittenhouse Square to S. Mark's Church, on Tuesday morning, April 29. So large a number of Priests, together with the Bishops and the Acolytes, will leave little room for the laity, so a second Mass at S. Clement's will take care of the overflow. Admission to these Masses will have to be by ticket, the same ticket that will admit the laity to the meetings of the Convention in Witherspoon Hall. There will be 250 lay tickets sold for S. Mark's Church, the balance will be for the Mass at S. Clement's. The cost of each ticket will be one dollar, is transferrable, and will admit the bearer to all the public meetings of the Convention. These tickets may be obtained of the Clergy.

The opening Masses will be at half-past ten, Tuesday morning, April 29. At S. Mark's, Bishop Webb, of Milwaukee, will be the preacher, and Bishop Weller, of Fond du Lac, will Pontificate. At S. Clement's, President Bell, of S. Stephen's College, will be the preacher, and Bishop Griswold, Suffragan, of Chicago, will Pontificate.

The first meeting of the Convention will be Tuesday afternoon, and it will be officially opened by Bishop Garland, of our own Diocese, who will also welcome the delegates to Pennsylvania and Philadelphia. Bishop Johnson, of Colorado, and Bishop Gailor, of the National Council, are among the speakers at the last session, Wednesday evening.

On Thursday morning, May 1, at half-past nine, there will be a Solemn Mass of thanksgiving for the Convention at S. Clement's.

The response for the entertainment of the Clergy and for contributions to the general expense funds has been most hearty and generous. Everyone must now be saying their prayers very faithfully and earnestly for God's blessing upon this gathering, and that everything that is said and done may be for His Glory and the extension of His Kingdom.

The Prayer Book Society of Pennsylvania

The object of this Society is to supply missionaries with copies of the Prayer Book and the Church Hymnal. During 1923, the Society distributed about 2000 books, but this is a smaller number than has been sent out in the former years when the cost of printing was lower and the freight rates were not so high. But now there is an increased demand for the books coming to the Society all the time.

Missionaries are often sent without books to minister in new places, in prisons and institutions, to people in scattered country towns, to people in crowded city districts, to revive old missions and churches. If it were fully realized that these men are sent, expecting them to start services, yet without the essential tools for doing so, there would be an increased interest in the work of the Society. Fifty cents provided a Prayer Book, and forty cents a Hymnal. One dollar provided both and the carrying charges.

Last year, S. Clement's, through its very efficient and diligent Secretary, contributed $166 to the Fund, leading all the Parishes in the Diocese. Having first place among the contributors should mean nothing to us, but giving generously to this worthy cause, should be our ambition.

The Men's Association, S. Joseph's Guild

The monthly meetings of the men during the winter have not been very largely attended, but they have not been lacking in any way in interest and good fellowship.

The usual monthly meeting, on the second Monday, will be omitted this month, but it is hoped they will make the Stations of the Cross that evening, Monday in Holy Week. There was a most creditable attendance at their Corporate Communion on the Sunday following S. Joseph's Day.

They will be having their annual dinner on the Tuesday evening after Easter, April 22, at seven o'clock. Invitations will shortly be sent to all the men of the Parish. Men of the congregation are cordially invited, and if they receive no formal invitation, it is because the Rector and the Committee do not have the proper addresses.

The Right Reverend Thomas J. Garland, D.D., newly elected Bishop of the Diocese, will be the guest of honour at the annual dinner this year. It certainly should not be necessary to urge anyone to attend, when we are to be favored as with the Bishop's presence. The special speaker of the evening will be Mr. J. Henry Scattergood, a prominent member of the Society of Friends, who has rendered most conspicuous service in the Reconstruction of France, since the Great War. The Mayor of Philadelphia has also promised to "look in" during the evening, if his engagements will possibly permit.

The Women's Auxiliary

During the past month the women of the Auxiliary have completed their missionary box, and word has already been received from the Reverend Oscar Whiteface, an Indian Priest in North Dakota, that the box had arrived at its destination, and he expressed his gratefulness in his blessing, "God bless you all!" The value of the box was placed at about $400, and many extra things that were given were sent to the Archdeacon of the section in which Father Whiteface works.

At the next meeting of the Auxiliary, on Wednesday afternoon, April 2, the Reverend Norman VanPelt Levis, Dean of the Convocation of Northern Philadelphia, will be the speaker. The Dean comes to tell the women of the Parish about the missionary extension work that is being done here in the city, within the limits of our own Convocation.

The annual contributions of the United Offering of the Auxiliary, that is presented every three years at the meeting of the General Convention, are now due. They may be sent to the Treasurer of the Fund, Miss Hoffman, at 2118 DeLancey Street. Last year, $300 was given. If we can exceed this by $50 this year, and repeat the same amount next year, we shall be able to offer $1000 as our contribution to this national triennial offering for Missions.

The Priests' Convention

The First Anglo-Catholic Priests' Convention in America has passed into history, but its influence will long live to inspire the work of all those who had a part in it.

Certainly no other group in the Church could bring together so many men for a two days' conference, with no other incentive than to demonstrate their belief in and enthusiasm for the Catholic religion; nor could any other group display such scholarship and erudition as that seen and heard in the papers at these meetings.

It has been a great privilege to Philadelphians to entertain this large group of men and to share in their discussions, but it has also put upon them a very heavy responsibility—"Unto whom much is given, much is required." Local people have now the solemn obligation to propagate these truths so clearly and definitely enunciated. The publicity given to this conference has put the Catholic religion and the position of the Anglican Church into conversation, and those who thus shared in the meetings have the unique opportunity of leading on and directing conversation on these lines, answering questions, allaying doubts and fears, and suggesting avenues of further thought and more serious research.

The Catholic Party can no longer be regarded as a "peculiar people" alien to the Episcopal Church. The Catholic has demonstrated that his position is the rightful one within the Church, and that the Episcopal Church is in fact and in theory Catholic and Apostolic.

The Catholic Creeds and Sacraments, as in the past, are still today the salvation of the world, and it is the solemn duty and the unique privilege of the Church to reach out to the great mass of unsettled religious people, to the great numbers of the unchurched, as well as to the honest doubters, and draw them in with loving sympathetic arms to the life of Christ pulsating in His Mystical Body, the Church, and transmitted to men and women through the Catholic Sacraments.

The conference was designed to cover only several of the Eastern Provinces, being purely regional in character, but many priests outside this sphere wished to register their sympathy, so some eight hundred enrolled. About six hundred attended the meetings of the conference, surely a formidable array, standing shoulder to shoulder for Catholic faith and practice. It was no conference of compromise, but a demonstration that Catholics must behave like Catholics, and the cause won by openness and frankness. No longer can Catholic truth be disguised under Protestant terms. Baptism is regeneration, the Mass is the Mass, Blessed Mary is the Mother of GOD. And how men and women, hungering for the Saviour of the World, rally to the Cross of the Lord Jesus Christ when drawn by the frank presentation of the Catholic Creeds and Sacraments.

The opening Masses, which were Votive of the Holy Ghost—the official one for the members of the conference at S. Mark's, and the one for the laity at S. Clement's—were as worthy offerings of the Holy Sacrifice as human hearts and hands could make them. Particularly beautiful and inspiring was the exquisite plain-song Mass and propers sung by the men's choir at S. Mark's, and the usual simplicity of music and ceremonial characterized the Mass at S. Clement's. Both the Bishop of Milwaukee at S. Mark's and the Reverend President of S. Stephen's College at S. Clement's preached strong, definite and ennobling sermons. They will be published, together with the papers read and the impromptu speeches in Witherspoon Hall, in the June number of the American Church Monthly.

A large group of laymen, who acted as stewards, ushering at the churches and at the hall and assisting the priests to the places of their entertainment, gave a luncheon on the opening day at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel. Here the priests had an opportunity to seek out their old friends and renew old acquaintances. Many of the groups were made up of seminary classmates, and this spirit of warm comradeship prevailed during the whole period, so that the warm-heartedness of it all was quite like a "Methodist Camp-Meeting."

The Bishop of Pennsylvania welcomed the conference most cordially and sympathetically Tuesday afternoon, and was received with great acclaim, especially when he reminded the conference that the preface of the Prayer Book required that "the substance of the faith be kept entire." The papers at this opening session were on the most vital points upon which this Holy Faith of the Catholic Church rests, and were most ably and definitely presented by their conspicuous readers, Fr. Hall, the Aquinas of the twentieth century; Fr. McCune, of S. Ignatius Church, New York, and Fr. Grant, of Chicago. In the evening the Holy Eucharist, the center of our life and worship, was presented under the subjects of "The Holy Sacrifice," "The Holy Communion" and "The Real Presence," by Fr. McClenthen, of Baltimore; Fr. Fleming, of Chicago, and Fr. Penfold, of Providence. The Lord Jesus Christ is really present in this Holy Sacrament; wherever He is present, He must be worshipped and adored.

The meeting Wednesday morning, with "Moral Theology" for the subject, was closed to the laity. This was because it was hoped to have a free discussion from the floor on various problems connected with the subject. The papers were so long that there was no time left for the discussion, so it was a great pity that these papers were not heard by the laity. Professor Stewart's paper on "The Study of Moral Theology" was one of the outstanding features of the conference. The other two, "The Priest and the Confessional," by Fr. Dunham, and "Spiritual Guidance," by Fr. Huntington, O.H.C., were of most practical value.

In the afternoon, the "Devotional Life of the Priest" was considered. There were but two papers, "Prayer and Meditation," by Fr. Waggett, S.S.J.E., of the English Province of the Society, and "The Rule of Life," by the Very Reverend Dean of Milwaukee. It was at the opening of this session that the Presiding Bishop of the American Church arrived and made a most felicitous speech from the platform. Whenever a speaker had occasion to rebuke his brother priests, it was interesting to note that the applause was led by the gallery.

At the great mass-meeting Wednesday evening, the subject of "The Church and Reunion" was the topic and was handled most masterfully by Bishop Johnson, of Colorado; Dr. George Craig Stewart, of Evanston, and Dr. Barry, of the Church of S. Mary the Virgin, New York City.

Bishop Gailor, President of the Executive Council of the Church, arrived during Fr. Stewart's speech, just as he was saying "We are Catholics first and afterwards Anglicans!" This was greeted with deafening applause and stamping of feet! This alarmed Bishop Gailor, who apparently feared for the missionary offerings towards the church's program, and for which he is responsible, so he tried to rebuke the speaker and conference for the enthusiastic reception of what he tried to make out to be disloyalty. No one was more conscious than Bishop Gailor himself that he was the one discordant note in a harmonious body.

Dr. Stetson, of Trinity Church, New York, presided with great dignity at the meetings on Tuesday, and Dr. vanAllen, of the Church of the Advent, Boston, on Wednesday with equal dignity, relieved by keen wit and repartee.

A solemn Mass of Thanksgiving, sung at S. Clement's Church on Thursday morning, brought this epochal event to a close.

"The Catholic Church stands in the world today and all days, the concrete representative of the things surpassing thought, her Sacraments linking men with the Unseen, her Liturgy giving them a gleam of the order of Heaven, her art, her architecture and her music conveying to men thoughts hardly to be packed into a narrow act, fancies which break through language and escape. To the end of this world religious truth can only be inadequately known by man. The Church, her Sacraments, her Ministry, is but the symbol of the heavenly facts which fill eternity. 'For now we see through a glass darkly, but then face to face; now I know in part, but then shall I know even as also I am known.'

"But GOD has manifested His love towards men in the Person of His Son, and it is the full vision of the Church which gives men and women today the full value of the claim, the message and the power of the Lord. In her atmosphere the men of this poisoned world can remain true to the unearthly principles of the Gospel which are preserved by the varied powers and perceptions present in the corporate society designed to enshrine them.

"Our spiritual ancestors have restored the fulness of the church in our midst; it is for us to enter more and more deeply into the riches of our inheritance."

Parish Notes

FR. WAGGETT, S.S.J.E., of the English Province of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, who has been in this country for some months, giving a series of lectures at the General Seminary in New York, will be the preacher at the Solemn Mass on the Third Sunday after Easter, May 11.

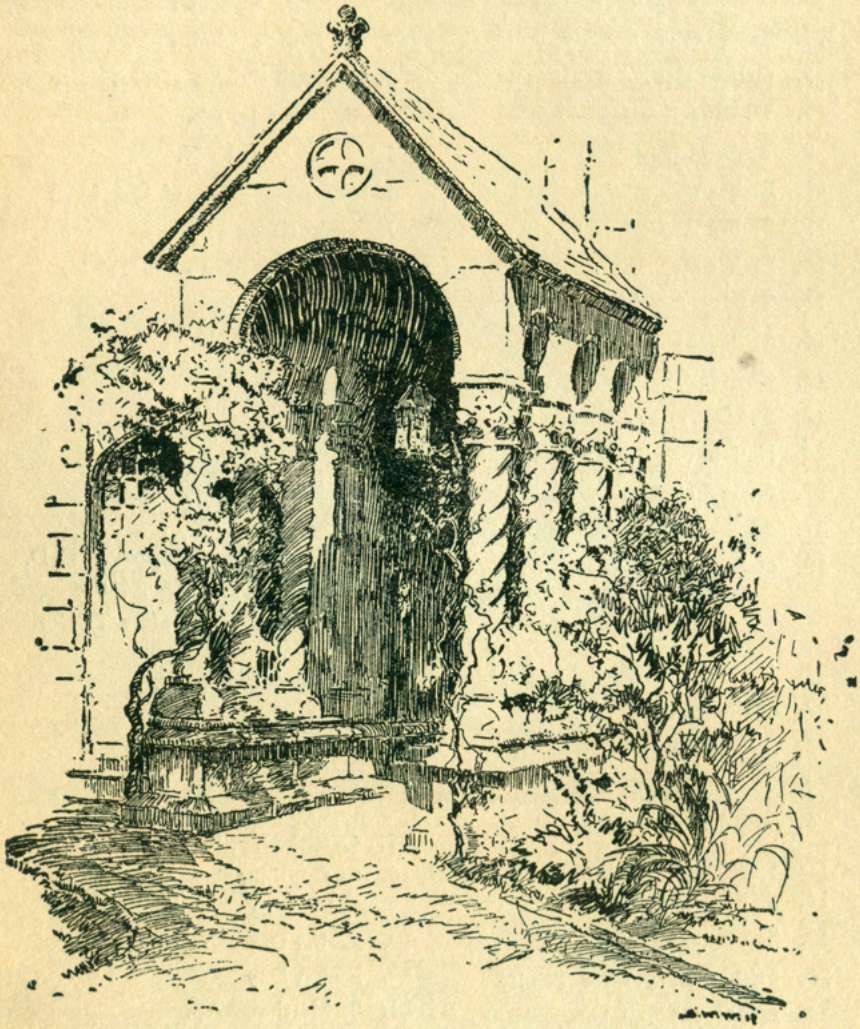
A NEW BIER has been presented to the Church by the firm of R. R. Bringhurst & Co. The old one was very heavy and very narrow, and since the fashion in caskets has changed, it was impossible to use the catafalque. The new one is made of lighter wood, is both wider and higher, and is on small pneumatic tired wheels. It will not be pushed nor pulled, but the bearers will walk beside it as they do now, and just guide it as they walk. It is a great addition to our fabric, and we are most grateful for it.

A NEW CENSER has also been given by the members of the Girls' Club in memory of Father Quin. It is very plain and of simple design but graceful and dignified. It will be used at sung Masses and at the Guild offices.

THE RECTOR is a member of the Extension Committee of the recent priests' convention, together with Fr. Damrosh and Fr. Roseboro. Fr. Roseboro and Fr. Joiner are leaving Sunday afternoon, May 11, for a short trip through the Mid-West to meet with groups of priests to help them in organizing small fellowships, looking forward to the time when conferences similar to the one just finished here may be perpetrated in other centers. They will be in Cincinnati on Monday, St. Louis on Tuesday, in Springfield, Ill., on Wednesday for the consecration of the Bishop, in Chicago on Thursday and Grand Rapids on Friday.

THE WOMEN'S UNITED THANK OFFERING reached $320.00, with an increase of twenty subscribers over last year. This is very splendid, and there is every reason to believe that the offering next year will bring the three years' total to $1000.00. Let us make this sum our aim.



GUESTS AT THE CLERGY HOUSE during the convention were stowed away in every nook and corner. President Bell, of S. Stephen's College, Dean Hutchinson, of Milwaukee, the Father Superior of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, American Province, Fr. Field, Fr. Turney, Fr. Underhill, Fr. Kellogg and Fr. Mitcham. Some of these we were not able to "sleep," but we were able to "eat" them all.

A PURE FOOD SUPPER will be given in the very immediate future under the auspices of the Mothers' Meeting. The tickets will be thirty-five cents apiece.

THE ANNUAL CHOIR CONCERT will be given early in June. The proceeds of this entertainment are used for their summer camping and outing fund. Do not forget to leave a deposit for tickets before you go off for your holiday.

THE MIKADO performers have repeated their little opera in the Y. M. C. A. in Camden for the benefit of a local charity there, and have been invited to give it again in Camden, this time in the parish house of S. John's Church.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:

With the feasts coming so late in the Kalendar this season, many of you are unable to finish the Church Year in the Parish Church, and this is a great pity. Each year it seems people leave earlier for their summer holidays and stay away later in the autumn. You are missed here, and there is a little anxiety, too, for fear that Church duties are not being carefully attended to.

It is difficult to find a suitable place for a summer vacation where there are the Church privileges such as you are able to enjoy here at S. Clement's, but there are some such places, and it certainly is the duty of every Communicant of this parish, with such teaching as you have had, to select a resort where you will at least have the minimum requirement of a Sunday Mass.

A few weeks away from the Altar and the Sacraments will dissipate all the grace you have received through a winter of faithfulness.

The present schedule of service will continue through June. Sunday, the 22nd, is in the Octave of Corpus Christi, and the following Sunday is the Feast of SS. Peter and Paul. On Corpus Christi Day, the 19th, there will be a Solemn Mass, with Communions, at half-past nine o'clock, and at four in the afternoon there will be an address and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, followed by the annual meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament.

On the Octave Day of Corpus Christi, June 26th, the annual festival service of the Confraternity will be held in St. Alban's Church, Olney. Bishop Weller will Pontificate at the Solemn Mass, and Fr. Stoskopf, of the Church of the Ascension, Chicago, will be the preacher. This service is open to all.

The few necessary changes for the summer schedule will begin with the first of July. The Friday evening instruction and devotional service will be omitted, and the service for the Mothers' Meeting on Thursday will be moved ahead to eight o'clock, and any who may care to come will be cordially welcomed. On Sundays the Mass at quarter past nine will be said instead of sung, and at eleven there will be a Missa Cantata, with the sermon after the Mass. Vespers will be said in the Chapel at six, and at eight in the Chapel there will be an informal devotional service before the Blessed Sacrament, with some simple instructions. These Sunday evening services during the summer months, which were begun last summer, seemed to help so many, and so many have asked for their continuance, that we will make them now a part of the regular schedule. The daily Masses will continue as at present. Some change may have to be made in August, but that will be announced later.

The Outing Fund, for the children of the Parish and their mothers, who otherwise would not be able to get away for a short change, and for the Choir Boys' Camp, are in need of funds. You may send your contributions to the Accounting Warden, or place them, so marked, on the collection plate. The Choir will give their annual concert on Friday evening, June 27th, in the Parish House. The proceeds from this entertainment will be devoted to their Camp Fund.

Fr. Underhill will return to us for the summer, and Fr. Arnold will help as he is able. We are most grateful to him for his valuable help during the past year, and for his sympathetic interest in our work. The Clergy have not completed their plans for their holidays, but three will be in residence all during the summer.

May God bless you richly, and refresh you, both in body and soul, for His Service.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Purpose of the Sacraments

By Fr. Hughson, O.H.C.

Everyone who believes in Christianity at all, believes that the Presence and Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ within us are necessary, if we are to live as faithful Christians.

But the great question is, How can I secure His Presence and Grace within me? I remember that He said, "Without Me, ye can do nothing" (S. John XV: 5); and, on the other hand, I recall that S. Paul made the holy boast, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me" (Phil. IV: 13). The same Apostle further commands us to "be strong in the Lord, and in the power of His might" (Eph. VI: 10).

This kind of command and assurance is reported again and again in the New Testament. But how am I to be "strong in the Lord"? I cannot turn my weakness into strength by merely telling myself to be strong.

Is there some special thing I can do, some special means I can employ, whereby I can secure the Presence and Grace of our Lord in my life? Most assuredly there are, and Christ Himself has not ordained them, but He has commanded us to use them.

These means are known as the Sacraments. They are the God-appointed instruments, by the right use of which I can bring our Lord Jesus Christ into my life, so as to be made one with Him. When I say I am made one with Christ, I mean that He is personally, literally and objectively, dwells in me in such a manner as to transmit to me the powers which He has in His Human Nature.

Being one with Christ, through the use of the Sacraments, I participate in those perfect powers of mind and heart and will, His perfect human powers of thinking and planning, of living, and of acting, by the use of which He was perfectly pleasing to the Father. These powers I can possess. These powers I can and must employ. If I am living the sacramental life, no longer do I have to depend upon my poor, weak powers;—"I live, not yet I, but Christ liveth in me" (Gal. II: 20). Dwelling in me, He inspires, guides, and directs all my thoughts, words and actions, so that more and more, as the days go by, I am able to think the thoughts of Christ, to speak the words of Christ, and to do the deeds of Christ.

This is the purpose which God accomplishes through the Sacraments, namely the transmitting of the powers of the Human nature of God the eternal Son to the individual soul.

For this reason, Jeremy Taylor, the saintly Bishop whose learning and holiness have made his name a household word throughout the world, following the ancient Fathers, calls the Sacraments, "the extension of the Incarnation," for in and through them the powers of the Incarnate Life of God are extended down through all time into the souls of those who would receive Him.

The Fiery Cross in England

A year of continuous intercession for the conversion of England to the Catholic Faith has recently been inaugurated, and the services of prayer are being conducted in the different Churches, with the office being passed on from Church to Church in the form of a lighted and burning Cross. As the intercessions are moved from one place to another, the Cross is carried in a great procession, bearing its painted motto, "Fod God so loved the world."

One such procession is thus described in an English paper: "Thousands of people stood to watch the Priest cense the Cross and bear its praises sung in hymns. The Cross was preceded by no less than forty thurifers, and the smoke of the incense filled the street with its sweetness. A score or more of Priests in copes of cloth of gold, white and scarlet, came after, each attended by acolytes and candle-bearers. There were banners, many guilds of women veiled in white, and little girls in white dresses carrying the blue ribbon streamers of the banner of our Lady, S. Mary. Hundreds of men and women followed in their train, singing "The Royal Banners Forward Go," and as they entered the Church, "Faith of Our Fathers."

In the Churches many are watching and praying all the time before the Cross, which is set up in some very conspicuous place, near the Altar of the Blessed Sacrament. The special intentions are the unity of Christendom and the triumph of the Catholic Faith. All night there are the watchers. In the darkness the scene was wonderfully impressive. The Fiery Cross stood in front of the Rood Screen, lighted by two tall candles. Beyond it, on and around the Altar an array of candles gleamed like stars. Again the Church filled for midnight Mass, a watch then remaining until morning. With the early light of morning Priests and servers returned and early Masses were said, with Mass for the children a little later.

For all take part, and all England is stirred. So the blessed symbol goes from place to place, awakening the ardour and devotion of countless thousand for the Holy Faith.

At S. Alban's, Holborn, the Vicar said, in welcoming the Fiery Cross to the parish, "I have been asked to say a word declaring the purpose of this service. It is our great and unspeakable privilege to be permitted to be the first Church in London to welcome the Cross, along with the watch and station. For obvious reasons S. Alban's has been chosen for this privilege. I need not enter into them, but I want to remind you of that great veteran soldier of Christ, S. Paul, and how he said, "God forbid that I should glory, save in the Cross of Jesus Christ." Brethren, we know to a certain extent what the world will glory in. We know somewhat of the pride that the possession of worldly goods can produce, even of money, and so called wealth, though real wealth is always that which is good. But we know also another thing which is always before us, and that is in whatsoever the world may try to glory or make its boast, the glory of the world must pass away, because it is but transitory; and those who live for the glory of the world are living for that which they must lose and leave behind.

We were taught this lesson at bitter experience by the war through which we have recently passed, showing us how kingdoms could wax and wane, how thrones could perish, and how very soon in the pride of what-not of the world a most heavy toll of precious human lives could be levied. And many say to us today, "We want a religion up to date, a religion that will grapple with the problems of today"; and, fearlessly, and with a deep challenge if you like, we point the world to the Cross of Christ, and we say, "There, in the Cross of Him who died to redeem and to restore, you have the religion up to date!" For there alone you will find the religion which has lasted till now, and will last to all eternity. Go and dig and drink your strange waters, give rein to your ambition if you will; but always remember it was the One Who died on the Cross Who said, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

And amid all the wrecks of time, and all the sad derelicts of life and the ruination that the world brings, there stands and towers the Cross of Christ, the religion that will last, and will at every moment meet the need of the world.

Brethren, our hope in the Year of Prayer has nothing whatever to do with controversy, with conflicting opinion. It has to do with nothing of this. It is only the loving, longing desire of many hearts to strive by prayer and good will to bring our beloved country, every member of our Empire, back to the Cross of Christ, back to God, that whatever we do, and whatever we may be, our foundation may be absolutely on God and His Righteousness. Therefore, we fear not that we may be misunderstood. With confidence we call on our people to join with us in prayer, that the Fiery Cross, representing Him Who died on the Cross of Calvary, may remind us of His love for every soul. Who, wth a spark of humanity, could stand aloof from such good will? You know what the Cross of Christ is to each of you individually; and you wish, you desire, and you pray that it may become that to others who so sadly need it, even if they know it not.

It is so easy to stand aside and say, "The world is going to the dogs!" I give this an unhesitating denial. I point to the fact that here, in this one Upper Room, is this gathering together, a comparative handful, but who have in their heart that good will, desire, hope and prayer. It is easy to criticise, but criticism is usually destructive. It is another matter to join in prayer that our Redeemer may be known and loved by others. And those prayers will rise with the never-ending intercession of Him Who said that He would draw all men to Him. That is why we have brought the Cross here."

A PRAYER FOR THE PARISH

Bless, O Lord, this Parish of S. Clement's, and grant that Thy Name may be worshipped here in truth and purity, to all generations. Give Thy grace and wisdom to all the Clergy, that they may exercise holy discipline, and be themselves patterns of holiness, simplicity, and self-denial. Bless all who worship here; take from them all pride, vanity, and self-conceit, and give them true humility and self-abasement. Enlighten their minds, subdue their wills, purify their hearts, and so penetrate them with Thy Spirit, and fill them with Thy love, that they may go forth animated with earnest zeal for Thy glory; and may Thy ever-living Word so dwell within their hearts, that they may speak with that resistless energy of love, which shall melt the hearts of sinners to the love of Thee. Open, O Lord, the hearts and hands of Thy people, that they may be ready to give and glad to distribute to the needy. Bless the founders and benefactors of this Parish, and recompense them with the riches of Thine everlasting kingdom, for JESUS'S sake. Amen.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

October finds most of us at home ready to begin the work for the winter. It has been an unusually busy summer in the parish, where we have been keeping the full schedule of services, so that the even course of our praise and prayer should not be broken, and that those who are not able to get away for the summer may not be deprived of their Church and its services. I realize that this is not possible in some parishes, but fortunately S. Clement's is one where it is possible, and the large number of people from without the parish who make this their summer home is most gratifying.

We seem now to have arrived at a very satisfactory arrangement of services and guilds, which seems best to meet the needs of the congregation. There will be no changes in the system of the services nor their nature. For the benefit of those who do not know, and to refresh the minds of others, I am going to review the work of the Parish for your reference and information.

The Daily Round

There are three Masses on every weekday—at seven, eight, and half-past nine o'clock. This last Mass is sung on all Saint's Days, and on some few other days as announced. These hours make it possible for many to adopt the rule of daily attendance at Mass, and I hope this winter will find many more trying to assist at the Daily Sacrifice. Matins, followed by Terce, is said in the Church at nine, fifteen minutes of intercession, followed by Sext and None at twelve, Vespers at six in the Chapel, and Compline is said at ten o'clock; the Angelus is rung before the first Mass, at noon, and before Vespers; and the De Profundus at seven in the evening. This is the daily round. On Sundays there are low Masses at seven and eight. The Children's Mass is at a quarter past nine, and is a Sung Mass with Incense. The children sit in the choir, and their instruction on the Mass is given during the service, and followed immediately by the Catechism. Holy Communion is, of course, given at this Mass. I would commend this service to those who are anxious to know more about the Mass and the ceremonial, for the instruction, meant for the children, is simple and elementary, but most helpful for adults who are just beginning to find the Catholic Religion. On Sundays, Matins is said after the first Mass, while Vespers is solemnly sung at eight o'clock in the evening.

The Mothers' Meeting

The Mothers' Meeting is our largest and most thriving Parish organization. As the title suggests, it was designed for the mothers of the Parish, and now includes several great-grandmothers, but its membership is open to any women of the Parish. The meetings are held Thursday evenings in the Parish House, beginning at eight o'clock. The women are grouped in classes, presided over by an Associate, who arranges the work, leads the conversation, serves the tea, and who tries by frequent calls to know intimately the members of her class in their homes. For the first three-quarters of an hour the women sew, many of them making carpet rags, which are later woven into rugs and sold for their funds. After the sewing, a quarter of an hour is given over to tea and cakes, and visits from the Clergy and the Sisters. At nine o'clock they all move to the Chapel for a devotonal service and address by the Chaplain, Fr. Ewing.

Most of the members of the Mothers' Meeting come to the Children's Mass on Sunday with their children. While the children are at their Catechism immediately following the Mass, the Sister has a Bible Class in the Chapel for the women, which, by the way, is open to any others who might care to come regularly, or who care to come in only from time to time. When this is finished, the Catechism is over and the mothers are able to meet their children and take them home.

The Mothers are the most indefatigable workers, both with their sewing at the meetings, and in the work that they take to their homes. During the winter they have sales, and perhaps a supper or entertainment. This past winter they made nearly one hundred dresses for children, which were given to the poor of the city through the City Mission. They made an offering of a hundred dollars for Parish Expenses, another hundred dollars at Easter as a present to the Sisters, and another hundred and twenty-five dollars to S. Andrew's School, for a scholarship for the ensuing year. Too much praise cannot be given to the Mothers for their splendid work, nor to those who have them in charge.

S. Mary's Guild

S. Mary's Guild is a devotional guild for the women of the Parish. Their monthly meetings are held in the Chapel on the first Monday of each month. The Guild Office is solemnly sung, followed by an address. After the Vespers the members go to the Parish House for refreshments and a social hour. This Guild has been growing steadily, and has now, I believe, over seventy members. Can this not be built up to a hundred members this winter? The Sisters will gladly talk with any who may want to know more about it.

S. Katharine's Guild

S. Katharine's Guild is for the girls and young women of the Parish. They meet every week, the younger girls in the afternoon and the older ones in the evening. There are Bible Classes Sunday morning for both groups at the same hour as the Catechism. Many more of the young women of the Church should be living accordng to a Rule, and the Sisters will be glad to talk with any of them about S. Katharine's Guild.

S. Joseph's Guild

S. Joseph's Guild is a devotional guild for the men, with a very simple Rule. This Guild has grown out of the Men's Association, which was a purely social organization. Their meetings are on the second Monday of each month, at half-past eight o'clock. There is a simple devotional service in the Chapel, followed by a short address on some subject of special interest to the men, and lasts about a half an hour. At nine the men go to the Parish House for some refreshments and a smoker. Very often some one has been invited to speak at this social hour on some interesting subject, or about some bit of travel, and at other times there is just general conversation. The attendance at these meetings is always quite small. If the arrangement is unsatisfactory, I would be glad to know in what way, as I am particularly anxious to make this Guild a real live organization. There are so many men coming to the Church that I would particularly like to have a large group of men meeting together every month, into which these newcomers could be introduced and so grafted into S. Clement's family.

The Acolytes

The Acolytes' Guild is dedicated to S. Vincent, and the regular monthly meeting of the Guild is on the first Wednesday evening at half-past eight. They have their own Guild Office, and there is usually a short address pertinent to their work and life. We are always glad to welcome new boys and young men to the Guild, and I would be very happy to talk with any who may be interested. Rehearsals and instructions are given every Wednesday evening.

The Altar Guild

The Altar Guild takes care of another very important and necessary part of the Parish work. They make and repair vestments, altar linens, servers' cottas, and also do a great deal of work outside the Parish. Being an old established organization, which in times past, when it had more members, made vestments and did embroideries for great numbers of churches, continues to have many orders for new work, which the Guild often has to refuse, because of the lack of workers. The Guild meets Tuesday and Thursday mornings in their studio room on the top floor of the Parish House, immediately after the last Mass, and works until the noon devotions in the Church. Instruction will be given to those who do not know the work. It is fascinating work, and easy to learn for those who are apt with the needle. There is always some bit of work in a Parish like S. Clement's for every one who wants to help.

The Women's Auxiliary

I would like to see more women of the congregation coming to the splendid meetings of the Women's Auxiliary on the first Wednesday afternoon of each month. These meetings are always addressed by some missionary recently returned from the field, who brings those present into a very close and intimate touch with the missionary work that the Church is doing. Every baptized woman in the Church is a member, ipso facto, of the Women's Auxiliary, and they will be given a very hearty welcome at the monthly meetings. A small box is placed at the door for your offerings, so there are no embarrassing appeals for money.

The Girls' Club

So many people who come to S. Clement's comment on the number of young people that they see at Mass. I am sure that the Girls' Club has done much to hold these young people to the Parish Church. The Club is purely a social one, and meets every Tuesday evening. During the past few winters they have done good work in amateur theatricals, and it is hoped they may at some time turn to a bit of Church pageantry. Membership in the Club is not restricted to the young women of the Parish, and because of this unrestricted membership young women from outside often become interested in the Church, and each year several members of the Club are presented for Confirmation. They meet on Tuesday evenings, and have frequent evenings of dancing and entertainment, when the young men of the Parish are invited. In this way our young people are kept together and held to the Parish Church. We are always eager to increase our numbers.

Friday Nights

Occasionally some one says to me, "We are not being instructed," and I always answer by asking a question, "Do you come to the Friday night services?" You will agree with me that the Sermon at High Mass on Sunday morning is not an appropriate time for instruction. I wish it was a suitable place, for I have then before me the people I am anxious to reach. There is an address each Friday evening, which is always a simple talk of a teaching character, followed by some form of devotion, which varies from week to week as announced in the Kalendar. Sometimes the address takes the form of a question box, when I answer the questions which have been asked recently. A goodly number of people are regular comers at this service, so you will not find yourself conspicuous among a few when you first come. We have outgrown the Chapel for Friday nights, and have moved these services into the Church.

The English Church

How splendid it would be if more of our Church people were able to read the English Church papers. The Catholic Party is so very active in the English Church, and especially just now in the matter of Prayer Book revision, which is engaging so much attention. Already several tentative forms have been submitted, and their several merits are being widely discussed and compared, with the First Prayer Book of Edward VI. The service under chief debate is the revision of the Mass. "The Church Times" of July 4th was a very illuminating number, for it reported the action of the House of the Clergy on the matters of Reservation of the Sacrament and the Early Ablutions. Both measures were lost, but the interesting and pertinent point is that both measures were introduced and pled for by Dr. Darwell Stone, who is, or has been, the idol of the Conservatives. He was asked by the House, "Did he advocate some form of Adoration with special services in connection with it, and encouragement to people to say their prayers before the Reserved Sacrament?" Dr. Stone at once responded to this challenge. It was true that he would not limit Communion with the Reserved Sacrament to the sick, but would allow administration to others in the Church who cannot attend the ordinary service. Adoration he believed to be the right attitude of the soul towards the mysterious Presence, and his answer to the question was, Yes.

In the discussion of rubrics, Dr. Darwell Stone moved a direction that the Priest shall reverently consume what remains of the Sacrament immediately after the Communion of the people, rather than after the Blessing. This would have practical advantages for devotion, both for people and priest. Canon Lacey pointed out that the climax of the Mass is the Communion, and he would be quite content if nothing at all followed the Communion, even a blessing. It should be remembered that the present rubric (and our own, too), that the priest shall call up some of the communicants to help consume what remains is hardly ever obeyed. These motions were lost by good majorities, but they show us what the English Church is doing, and where such recognized scholars as Dr. Stone and Canon Lacey stand.

Bishop Carey of Bloomfontein, whose book, "Catholicism, Conversion and the Church of England," in which he flays so recklessly the Catholic Party in the Church, was a notable speaker at the Anglo-Catholic Congress in Liverpool early in the summer. "The Church Times," in reporting his address, makes the comment, "It was good to hear that Dr. Carey had found the leaders of the Anglo-Catholic movement more sane, loyal and disciplined, than he had been led to believe." He wrote his book from his far Eastern diocese, with information received through letters from home. When he saw for himself, he had to reconstruct his opinions.

In England the Catholic Revival has had its inception amongst the laity, and has arisen out of the consciousness of a national need. Such is not the case in America. The Catholic Revival here is a copying of what is being done in England, without this feeling of need in the laity. Here the Clergy have been converted and are trying to give to the people what they see has revolutionized the spiritual life in the English Church, and made it a very real, live force, but what the American laity are afraid of, and think they do not want.

It is well for us to look clearly at what the English Church has done and the results of the Catholic Movement there, before we deprecate the movement in the American Church. The spiritual life of the laity is the one concern of the leaders in the Catholic Revival; they want you to have all the Church has to offer, and to make the Church a living and vital force in our land.

The Creed in Mass

I have been asked to say something about the place of the Creed in the Mass and its use there. It is hard to find in any liturgical books just why and when it was given a position in the Liturgy. It was not said in the early days of the Church at this time. Since, in the general rubrical directions, it is always directed to be said or omitted along with the Gloria in Excelsis, it would seem to be there rather as a hymn of praise than as an act of faith. Then, too, with the composers of Mass music, it has always been a theme for an elaborate composition, and this would strengthen the idea of the hymn of praise. Our Prayer Book directs that it shall be said at Matins, but that it may be omitted at Mass, when said immediately before, except on the great Sundays, for which the Prayer Book has provided a special preface. We have always omitted the Creed at Requiem Masses, not because of the Requiem, but because a Requiem is said only on a day that is not a festival. So by reserving the Creed for the festival days, that is, all days when the Mass is white or red, and Sundays, you are made to feel the character of the day you are keeping. And by omitting it on those days when the Mass is black or violet, and on weekdays when it is green, you are emphasizing the festival days, and realizing the penitential character of the ferias. Our earnest and devout assistance at Mass is a much more emphatic profession of our faith than our standing dumb in our pews while the choir warbles and trills an elaborate setting of the Creed. When we omit the Creed at Mass, we are not forsaking the Faith; we are only observing a proper liturgical form for marking the character of the day.

Parochial

Mr. Alan Henry Tongue, one of our boys, who graduated this past year from S. Stephen's College, is entering the Philadelphia Divinity School this autumn. He will help us in the Parish during the winter, and will meet with the Choir boys to direct their play before their rehearsals, give them the Church instruction they need, and will also help with the Children's Mass and Catechism on Sundays. Three more boys from the Parish are preparing for the Priesthood—William Edwards, Edward Hawkins and Arthur Eyles. I hope you will remember them regularly in your prayers.

As you are returning from your summer holidays and settling down for the winter, I like to speak with you in this personal and intimate way, telling you of the work in the Parish and of plans for the future. I bid your earnest prayers for myself and for those who assist in the work here, that all we say and do may be for the Glory of GOD and the salvation of souls.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

November, ushered in by the Octave Feast of All Saints', and closing with our Patronal Festival, is always a month of special joy and festivity in the Parish. All who have been away for the summer have returned, the winter's work is well under way, and the colder air gives an added zest to our ambitions.

The Patronal Feast falling on a Sunday this year curtails our festivities somewhat, but need not in any way lessen our offering of thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings to us. When Saint Clement's Day falls on a Sunday, the Octave Day, the following Sunday is always the First Sunday in Advent, which cannot be set aside for any other Feast, not even that of the Patron. Still, when the Feast does come on a Sunday, it makes it more of a family Feast, and I hope this year we may emphasize that aspect. Every active Communicant in the Parish who is living in the city or its environs should make his or her Communion at the Parish Altar on that day. This is impossible when the Feast falls on a weekday, but a Sunday should make this quite possible for all.

Fr. Field, of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, will spend the Feast with us this year. Fr. Field was one of the early workers in the Parish, when the Cowley Fathers were in charge of the work, and he succeeded Fr. Maturin as Rector in the early nineties. He is the father of the Parish Guilds, and it will be a great joy to have the Father join in another Guild Procession. He will preach at the Solemn Mass and also at the Guild Processions in the evening.

On Saturday evening we shall be keeping the First Vespers of our Feast, assisted by the American Guild of Organists and an augmented choir, with tympani and brass instruments. There will be no procession Saturday evening. The special preacher will be the Rev'd George Herbert Toop, D.D., Rector of the Church of the Holy Apostles.

The Annual Parish Reception will be held in the Parish House, Monday evening, November 24th. There will be some entertainment arranged, and music for dancing. All the members of the congregation are most cordially invited to spend this evening with us.

The offerings during the Feast will be, as usual, for the regular expenses of the Parish. The Budget system under which we have been working this year has proved its worth, and we have been able to meet our bills very well. In order to begin this system at the first of the year, we had to borrow a thousand dollars so as not to carry over any indebtedness. We want to pay this off now, and also get a little bit ahead, so that we are not always running on a bare margin.

The names to be remembered at the Altars on Monday the 3rd, when we commemorate all the faithful departed, should be sent to the Clergy House not later than Sunday afternoon, the 2nd. These names will be remembered throughout the month at the Low Masses of Requiem.

May GOD'S richest blessing be always upon you!

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Novena Prayers for the Parish

To be said every day, from November 14th to 22nd, inclusive.

Our Father. Hail Mary. Come Holy Ghost.

Antiphon. I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and My blessing on thine offspring.

V. Turn Thee again, O Lord God of hosts.

R. Look down from heaven, behold and visit this vine.

Let us pray. Almighty GOD, Who dost govern all things in heaven and earth, mercifully hear our supplication, and grant to this Parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare; Sanctify the Clergy; strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances and hurtful things; and make us all to be of one heart and one mind in the Fold of Thy Holy Church, to the honour and glory of Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the Unity of the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end.

The Late King Edward and S. Clement's

On Election Day, 1860, Dr. Speakman, first Rector of Saint Clement's Church, met two Englishmen at the corner of Eighteenth and Arch Streets. They asked if a church they pointed out was Episcopalian.

"No," answered the Doctor, "but Saint Clement's is very near. I'll show you where it is."

As they strolled along they passed a polling place on Arch Street. In those days voters were imported by the trainload from Baltimore when necessary, and business was brisk.

The younger Englishman said to the elder, "I wonder if they would let me vote?"

"You try it, young man, you try it!" exclaimed Dr. Speakman in his bluff and jovial fashion, slapping the Briton on the shoulders.

A few minutes later the Rector made the discovery that the stranger with whom he had been so free and easy was the heir to the British throne, who with his tutor had managed to escape the vigilance of official escorts and designing mothers for a breathing spell.—Philadelphia Public Ledger, October 1st, 1924.

Parish Notes

ON ALL UNHINDERED DAYS during the month of November the Masses will be for the Faithful Departed. November is dedicated to the Blessed Dead, and our devotions will be in their behalf.

FR. PAUL BULL, of the Community of the Resurrection in England, is in this country, giving a course of lectures at the General Theological Seminary in New York. He hopes to spend a Sunday at S. Clement's before going back to England. Fr. King, who gave our Mission two years ago, is from the same Community.

RED CROSS ENROLLMENTS for the ensuing year are now in order. Mrs. Mowry may be seen after the High Mass on Sundays, and will receive your subscriptions then, or she may be reached at 2525 South 19th Street.

THE CATHEDRAL LEAGUE members are reminded that their dues for the new year are now due, and may be paid to the Parish Treasurer, Miss Lea, either after the High Mass on Sundays, or at The Wellington.

A NEW SET OF RED VESTMENTS for Low Mass has just been completed by the Altar Guild. They are of a most beautiful shade of red, with cloth of gold orphreys and a jewelled centerpiece, and the crosses are worked in shades of blue and gold. We are most grateful for this gift.

AMONG RECENT GUESTS at the Clergy House have been Fr. Gushee of Ontario, California; Fr. Plank of Point Pleasant, N. J.; and Fr. Gavin, Church History Professor at the General Seminary in New York.

THE RECTOR was the preacher at the Annual Service for Acolytes at Christ Church, Elizabeth, N. J., on Columbus Day, and conducted the conference in the afternoon. There were about 150 Acolytes and 25 Priests in attendance.

FR. WHITTEMORE, O.H.C., will conduct a quiet devotional hour for the Associates and friends of the Order of the Holy Cross in S. Clement's Church, Tuesday afternoon, November 25th, at three o'clock.

THE SPECIAL COLLECTIONS in November are as follows: All Saints' Day, for S. Anna's Home and the All Saints' Sisters of the Poor; All Souls' Day, for the Guild of All Souls; S. Clement's Day, for Parish Expenses; and Thanksgiving Day, for the Episcopal Hospital.

THE NOVENA PRAYERS for the Parish, in preparation for the Patronal Feast, begin on Friday, November 14th, and continue through Saturday the 22nd. They will be recited at the foot of the Altar after the Low Masses.

THE GIRLS' CLUB is planning to present THE MIKADO again some time before Christmas, and have already begun the rehearsals. The cast will be about the same as when they first gave the operetta last spring.

A NEW PIANO is very much needed in the Parish House. Is there some one in the Parish who has a good instrument to give us, or who will make a contribution towards a new one?

Sequence Hymn for S. Clement's Day

"YE WATCHERS"

Ye watchers and ye holy ones,
Bright Seraphs, Cherubim and Thrones,
  Raise the glad strain, Alleluya!
Cry out, Dominions, Princedoms, Powers,
Virtues, Archangels, Angels' Choirs,
  Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya!

O higher than the Cherubim,
More glorious than the Seraphim,
  Lead their praises, Alleluya!
Thou Bearer of the eternal Word,
Most gracious, magnify the Lord,
  Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya!

Respond, ye souls in endless rest,
Ye Patriarchs and Prophets blest,
  Alleluya, Alleluya!
Ye holy Twelve, ye Martyrs strong,
All Saints triumphant, raise the song,
  Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya!

O friends, in gladness let us sing,
Supernal anthems echoing,
  Alleluya, Alleluya!
To God the Father, God the Son,
And God the Spirit, Three in One,
  Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya, Alleluya!

MASS INTENTIONS DURING PATRONAL FEAST OCTAVE

Parish Notes

THE REVEREND FATHER BULL, of the Community of the Resurrection in England, will be the preacher at the High Mass on the Fourth Sunday in Advent, December 21st. He has been in this country for some months, giving a special course of lectures at the General Theological Seminary in New York. He is a member of the same Community as Fr. King, who gave our Mission two years ago. He will spend Christmas in the Parish.

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY is about to send another Missionary Box. They are busy preparing for it now, and they hope to get it off early in the new year. It is to be sent to a Negro missionary and his wife in Virginia. It will not be so large a box as was sent last year to the Indian Missionary in Dakota. Money contributions are solicited. Would not some of the men in the congregation like to give towards the clothes for the Priest?

BLANKS FOR DUPLEX ENVELOPE PLEDGES were sent out with the S. Clement's Day Festival notices, and but very few of them have been returned. It would help very much if those who are using the envelopes now would sign the cards and return them to the Clergy House. And those who do not subscribe through these envelopes and want to use them during the ensuing year, will receive them promptly if they return the cards, with their addresses and pledge. The Finance Committee is anxious that this definite source of income be increased.

FR. ARNOLD, who has been helping us from time to time during the past few years, has taken up his residence in the Clergy House for the early winter. He expects to go abroad about the first of February, but hopes to be at our Altar for his Easter Mass. It is a great pleasure and privilege to have him in the Clergy House, and a great gratification to the congregation to have him at the Altar.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE CHRISTMAS FUNDS are now in order. First are the offerings for the Christmas Dinner Baskets for the poor of the Parish, for the Christmas Presents for the Children, and for the Children's and Mothers' Meeting Parties. All the real Christmas that some of these people receive is what S. Clement's gives them. Any offering, however small, will be gratefully received. The small offerings of the many are much to be preferred to the larger gifts of a few. These gifts should be sent to the Sister in charge or handed to the Clergy.

OFFERINGS for the Greens for the decoration of the Church and for the Altar Flowers may be handed to the Rector. About one hundred dollars are needed for this purpose.

CHRISTMAS CARDS of a very handsome and unusual nature are on sale by the Sisters. They may be seen at the Mission House on Woodstock Street any afternoon after three o'clock. They are found in the Cope Room before and after the services on Sunday, and also on the weekday evenings when there are services in the Church. The proceeds from the card sales go to the Sisters' Funds.

THE CHRISTMAS PARTY for the children of the Parish and their Parents will be held in the Parish House on the Saturday afternoon after Christmas, December 27th. The professional musical entertainer who so delighted the Mothers' Meeting at their S. Clement's-tide party has been engaged to entertain the children. Miss Norris will send a story-teller for the children, and there will be a Christmas Tree with presents, and refreshments. The Sisters would be glad to have some more helpers for this afternoon party with the children.

THE LAST ORGAN RECITAL in a series of three, under the auspices of the Organ Players' Club, will be given in the Church, Wednesday evening, December 10th, at a quarter-past eight o'clock, and will be given by Mr. S. Wesley Sears, a member of S. Clement's and former organist here. He is now the organist and choirmaster of S. James's Church, 22nd and Walnut Streets.

THE SUNG MASSES ON SAINTS' DAYS at half-past nine o'clock are not nearly so well attended as they might be. Many people who make their Communions early may find it hard to return for so early a Sung Mass. For this reason the Sung Mass on some of the greater days has been changed to eleven o'clock. If this would be a more convenient hour, it could be arranged for all Saints' Days. The object of our service is to offer the best and the most that we can to Almighty God. The value of this service does not, of course, in any way depend upon the number of people in the congregation. Still, we want the assistance of many people. If eleven o'clock would be convenient for a larger number of people, this hour could be arranged.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE we shall be having the same kind of service as we had last year. At nine o'clock, the singing of the Christmas Carols, blessing of the Creche, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The service of last year will long be remembered by all who took part in it. The stillness of the night, the darkness of the Church, the flickering lights on the Altar, the soft singing of the Carols, the appearance of our Blessed Lord on the Altar in the Sacrament of His Love, His Christmas Blessing, and then placing the figure of the Divine Child in the Creche—could any preparation for this Holy Feast be more beautiful and more inspiring! "While all things were in quiet silence, and night was in the midst of her swift course, Thine Almighty Word came down from heaven out of Thy royal throne, Alleluia!"

A RUMMAGE SALE for the benefit of S. Anna's Home for Aged Women will be held in the Parish House some time during the month. The tentative date is Wednesday the tenth, but this is subject to change. Watch the Bulletin Board for the correct date. Objects to sell will be gratefully received, and may be sent either to the All Saints Sisters of the Poor at 2016 Race Street, or directly to the Church, marked "Rummage Sale."

A RECENT LETTER FROM THE CHURCH HOUSE calls attention to the fact that S. Clement's Church has given during 1924 but $1,753 towards the $6,000 apportionment. This should be not only a matter of regret, but a matter that should spur us on to do something very constructive towards meeting this obligation. $6,000 is not a large amount to expect from S. Clement's, and a much better showing than less than one-third should be rightly expected by the Diocesan authorities. Of course, many missionary gifts from the Parish do not count on the quota, and so are not included in this amount. But aside from these extras, we should easily raise our quota. This is a much more reprehensible debt than a deficit in Parish Expenses.

WITH THE APPROVAL OF THE VESTRY, it is hoped to increase the Missionary Offerings next year by issuing a series of envelopes in addition to the Duplex System, especially for monthly contributions to Missions. There will be eight envelopes, omitting them for the four summer months, and each envelope will be designated for a special missionary object. People will not pledge themselves for any definite amount, but will give each month an offering as they are able, and as the special object appeals to them. The Parish quota will be allocated to various Missions, and the sum needed for the year printed on each envelope. Will all those willing thus to contribute each month to Missions please advise the Rector, and if the matter is approved, envelopes will be ready for use in January.

FR. FIELD writes about his visit to S. Clement's for the Patronal Feast: "It was one of the greatest pleasures of my life to be in the old place again and to see all the improvements that have been made.....Give my love to all the people of S. Clement's." It was indeed a great joy to S. Clement's to have him here again, and to see this venerable Priest, so old in years and in the Faith, but so young in spirit and so abreast of the times. It was an inspiration just to be in his presence, and his words have given us all new courage. May he long be spared to preach and live the Catholic Faith among us.

ON S. CLEMENT'S DAY there were 196 Communions at our Altars. There were 1,028 Communions made at our Altars during the month of November, as against 897 for the same month last year. The offering on S. Clement's Day was upwards of $1,600. In 1920 it was $1,300. In 1922 it was $1,441.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 22, the Feast of S. Thomas, Apostle and Martyr (transferred), continuous intercessions will be offered before the Blessed Sacrament for God's blessing on our Parish and Parish life, and especially for His blessing on our keeping of the Christmas Feast. The Blessed Sacrament will be Exposed after the Sung Mass. Vespers will be moved ahead fifteen minutes in the evening, and the day will close with Benediction at six in the evening. Will the volunteers for the half-hour periods of intercession please sign the list on the bulletin board promptly?

THE CHRISTMAS CONFESSION HOURS are as follows: The Rector—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, Wednesday afternoon and evening. Fr. Campbell—Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday morning, afternoon and evening. Fr. Ewing—Wednesday afternoon and evening. Fr. Smith—Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Fr. Arnold—Wednesday afternoon. The morning hours begin immediately after the Mass, the afternoon at three, and the evening at seven.

The Great O's

These Antiphons used before and after the Magnificat at Vespers, immediately preceding Christmas, are so called because each begins with the ejaculation O. O Sapientia, the first one, and used on December 16th, is found in the Kalendar of the Prayer Book of the Church of England. They are as follows:

December 16th—O SAPIENTIA. O Wisdom, Which camest forth out of the mouth of the Most High, and reachest from one end to the other, mightily and sweetly ordering all things: Come and teach us the way of prudence.

December 17th—O ADONAI. O Lord and Ruler of the house of Israel, Who appearedst unto Moses in a flame of fire in the bush, and gavest unto him the law in Sinai: Come, and redeem us with a stretched out arm.

December 18th—O RADIX JESSE. O Root of Jesse, Who standest for an Ensign of the people, at Whom kings shall shut their mouths, unto Whom the Gentiles shall pray: Come, and deliver us and tarry not.

December 19th—O CLAVIS DAVID. O Key of David, and Sceptre of the house of Israel, Thou that openest, and no man shutteth, and shuttest, and no man openeth: Come, and loose the prisoner from the prison-house, and him that sitteth in darkness, and in the shadow of death.

December 20th—O ORIENS. O Orient, Brightness of the Eternal Light, and Sun of Righteousness: Come, and lighten them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death.

December 21st—O REX GENTIUM. O King of the Gentiles, and their Desire, the Corner-Stone, Who madest both one: Come, and save man, whom Thou hast made out of the dust of the earth.

December 22nd—O EMMANUEL. O Emmanuel, our King and Lawgiver, the Desire of all nations, and their Saviour: Come, and save us, O Lord our God.

December 23rd—O VIRGO VIRGINUM. O Virgin of virgins, how shall this be? For neither before thee was any like thee, nor shall there be after. Daughters of Jerusalem, why marvel ye at me? The thing which ye behold is a divine mystery.

Parish Notes

THE CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL was an unusually beautiful one this year, and the number of Confessions and Communions most gratifying, for which we give profound thanks to Almighty God. Fr. Bull, of the Community of the Resurrection, stayed until after the Feast, and thus added to our pleasure.

FR. BULL, C.R., writes, since reaching Boston, of his visit with us: "I have seldom enjoyed a Christmas more in recent years. There is an air of solid and restrained devotion about your worship which deeply impressed me."

CHRISTMAS DINNER BASKETS were sent to twenty families this year, thus bringing Christmas comfort and joy to almost a hundred individuals, and smaller baskets of fruit and jellies were sent to thirty-five individuals. The baskets were most attractively arranged by the Sisters, and brought forth great admiration while they were on view in the Parish House before the distribution began.

THE CHILDREN'S PARTY and the Mothers' Meeting Parties were great successes. Professional entertainment was provided for both occasions, with presents for all, and refreshments served at tables. The Parish House presented a most gala appearance, with its decorations and lighted tree. This mission work among the poor is a very important feature of S. Clement's work.

SPECIAL SERVICES during the month include the Solemn Mass at eleven o'clock on the Epiphany, the meeting of the Men's Association, S. Joseph's Guild on the second Wednesday instead of the second Monday, and the annual service for the Acolytes on the Sunday evening in the Octave of S. Vincent, which falls this year on the 25th. The 29th is the second anniversary of Fr. Quin's burial, and the Masses on that day will be for his requiem.

YOUR ATTENTION IS CALLED to the letter of the Accounting Warden about the Duplex Envelopes. Many more people should be subscribing through this regular and definite channel. The decrease in envelope offerings has been caused largely by the death of regular subscribers, and removals from the Parish. About thirty new subscribers have pledged themselves for the new year. We want more pledges. You can secure a set of envelopes after any service, by speaking to one of the Clergy.

To GOD the Father of Truth, Who sent forth unto us the Saviour and Prince of Peace, through Whom also He made manifest unto us the truth and the heavenly life, to Him be glory for ever and ever.—S. Clement.

Christmas and the Epiphany

"Oh, how radiantly beautiful is this manifestation of God to man! Christ as a new-born infant, unable yet to speak, mutely preaches the doctrines which later on He was to expound so clearly. His first care is to confirm by example His Mother's canticle, her EXALTAVIT HUMILES in the MAGNIFICAT.

"His first thought is one of deference towards her. He wishes to justify before all men the Virgin's cry of victory; He witnesses that the humble and meek are preferred to the mighty, and that the rich will find it harder than the poor to be admitted to His presence. And to make this clear, a long journey is imposed on the wise men, who stand for the kings and scholars, while the poor shepherds are exempted from fatigue and danger and receive the first summons to adore Him. He gives dignity and grandeur to the lot of the lowly by appointing a choir of angels to lead them to His cradle, but the rich He guides thither by the cold radiance of a single star. And the Church follows her Master's hint. On this night of Christmas the Magi do not come upon the scene, their service being postponed till the feast of the Epiphany. To-day it is the shepherds who occupy the stage....."

"You are right, Father," said Durtal, "but, if you will allow me, may I remark that the lesson in humility that you just mentioned was not really taken to heart. The Middle Ages invented many legends about the Magi, but never a one about the poor shepherds. The relics of the Magi, who rank as Saints, are still venerated at Cologne, but nobody has ever troubled his head about what became of the remains of the lowly shepherds, or asked whether they, too, ought not to be called Saints."

"That is true," said the monk, smiling; "but, you know, people dote on mystery; there was something so cryptic and strange about the Magi that the Middle Ages never ceased to dream about these potentates, who stood for all that was wealthy and grand; but the mediæval mind forgot the kindly shepherds, just because they seemed in no way different from every-day shepherds. It is the eternal truth; the first before God are the last before men."—From "The Oblate" by Huysmans.

Octave Prayers for the Unity of the Church

During the eight days, from January 18th to 25th inclusive, prayers will be said throughout the world, by both Catholics and Protestants, for the Reunion of Christendom. The following devotions will be offered after all the Low Masses during the Octave, and the Reunion of Christendom will be the intention of the High Mass on both Sundays within the period.

Our Father. Hail Mary. Come, Holy Ghost.

Ant. One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God and Father of all, Who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

V. In that day there shall be one Lord;

R. And His Name One.

Let us pray. O Lord Jesus Christ, Who saidst unto Thine Apostles, Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you; regard not our sins, but the Faith of Thy Church, and grant her that peace and unity which is agreeable to Thy will, Who livest and reignest for ever and ever. A-men.

Accounting Warden's Letter

November 30, 1924.

To the Parishioners:—

The Vestry have instructed me to lay before you some facts in connection with the envelope system and its use. In January, 1924, we had in use 250 sets of envelopes. Some subscribers only used them once or twice, and some took them but never used them at all. At the present time only 212 sets are in anything like regular use, and contributions from this source for Parish use are $600.00 below last year. Our Missions are also falling behind, as shown in the December magazine.

This is a very unhealthy condition, for we must plan our expenses in advance, and our only income to count on is derived from trusts and envelopes and pew rents. The loose cash on the plates varies widely, some Sundays quite large, on others very small.

It is interesting to note that the amount pledged per Sunday in 1924 is $27.00 less than in 1923. With this in mind, will not the members of S. Clement's take and use envelopes?

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

As you go at the very beginning of this month with our Lady to the Temple for her purification and the presentation of her Divine Son, so I beg of you to purify yourselves by the Sacrament of Penance for a worthy presenting of yourselves to the Lord Jesus Christ, that He may dwell more fully in the temple of your bodies. Without the indwelling Christ there can be no union with His Passion, and without sharing in His Passion there can be no joy of the Resurrection. At the close of the Christmas Season, with this Feast the Church warns you of the approaching Fast.

While Lent is a time of preparation for the Easter Solemnity, it is a time of preparation by following out something that has gone before. Lent presupposes Sorrow for Sin. Sorrow for Sin must seek Forgiveness, and that Forgiveness is bestowed by GOD through our Lord Jesus Christ in the Church's Sacrament of Penance. You can best show your Penance by an earnest endeavor for Amendment of Life. That is what this Season is for: that by good works your spiritual life may be deepened, your will to do the Will of GOD may be quickened and that your whole life may be more closely united to Him.

In the pre-Lenten Season search your hearts, on your knees. Know yourselves. You know too much about other's shortcomings. Know yourselves! Then with your sins, seek Forgiveness; you will find it in this Holy Sacrament. Then the hatred of your sin, gratefulness for GOD'S forgiveness and the New Life He bestows will be evident in your searching after the "things of the Spirit."

Make your Lent a season of "doing things," doing things for the Lord and your soul's health. The only thing you need be concerned about "giving up" is Sin.

May the Saviour of the world, Who by His Cross and Precious Blood has redeemed us, ever help and save us.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

1924

Some interesting statistics have been compiled from the Service Record Book for the year 1924. There were 11,021 Communions made at our Altars during the year, averaging 918 a month, or 30 a day. There were 1,372 Masses said at our Altars during the year, giving an average of eight Communions at each Mass. Holy Communion from the Reserved Sacrament was carried 163 times to sick persons in their homes or hospitals. 197 Sermons and Addresses were given during the twelve months.

The Patronage of S. Clement

The Patron Saint of the felt hat is S. Clement. According to the January number of the Chester Diocesan Gazette, he is specially honored in Denton and Stockport, where more than ninety per cent. of the felt hats of England are manufactured. The connection between this Saint and the modern "bowler" (derby in America) may seem somewhat remote, but the story told has at least a scientific basis.

It is said that S. Clement, while on a pilgrimage, was wearing wooden sabots which were very painful to his feet. After a time he found some sheep's wool caught in a bramble bush, and padded his shoes with this. In the evening, when he took the pads out, he found that apparently the wool had turned to cloth. Actually, the rolling process and the moisture had converted the wool into a texture called in modern days "felt," and, in essence, the same process of manufacture is carried out to-day in the Cheshire hat-making industry.

Parish Notes

THE TREASURER'S REPORT of the Woman's Auxiliary has just been compiled for the past year, and shows most creditable work and giving in S. Clement's Branch. $713.39 in actual cash passed through their hands, and was disbursed for the Missionary work of the Church largely through the special committees. $60 was given for a scholarship at S. Mary's School, Sewanne; and $50 for the rebuilding of DuBose School. $20 is given each year for Miss Riddell's work among the Lepers in Japan. $25 was given to the Convocation for its immediate missionary needs, and another $25 for S. Mary's Italian Mission. The missionary box sent to an Indian Missionary and his family was valued at $426.91; the knitting done for the Supply Bureau was valued at $182.50; and the Christmas stockings distributed through the Church School Service League were valued at $29.50. This makes a grand total of $1,352.30, the 1924 disbursements of S. Clement's Branch.

THE FEMALE PRAYER BOOK SOCIETY contributions from S. Clement's for the past year amounted to $175. This sum represents the gifts of about sixty people. The object of the Society is to supply missions and itinerant missionaries with copies of the Prayer Book. S. Clement's, with this fine report, again heads the list of givers to this venerable Society.

THE REV. FRANK GAVIN, Ph.D., Professor of Ecclesiastical History at the General Theological Seminary in New York City, will be the Preacher at the High Mass on Sexagesima Sunday, February 15th. Fr. Gavin has been coming to the Clergy House once a month during the winter to meet with a group of the younger clergy in the city, and conducting a Conference with them on Early Eastern Christianity.

THE FEAST OF THE PURIFICATION OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY, February 2nd, falls on a Monday this year. There will be a Solemn High Mass at eleven o'clock. First Vespers of the Feast, with the Candlemas Procession, will be sung in the Church Sunday evening at the usual hour. The special preacher on this occasion will be the Rev. Archibald Campbell Knowles, Rector of S. Alban's Church, Olney.

FR. ARNOLD expects to leave us the first week in February, to spend the balance of the winter in travel. He is expecting to make a tour of the Mediterranean ports. He plans, D. V., to be at S. Clement's Altar for his Easter Day Mass. It has been a great happiness to us all to have him as our guest in the Clergy House, and to the congregation to have him at the Altar. We shall all pray for his healthful journey and his safe return.

THE SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION is to be given at S. Clement's by Bishop Beecher of the Diocese of Western Nebraska on Mid-Lent Sunday afternoon at five o'clock. Will any who are considering the question of Confirmation please make their thoughts known to the Clergy or the Sisters. A number of persons are already in the course of preparation, and since most of it is given individually, convenient times for meeting with people can be easily arranged. Of course it is expected that every one will receive the Sacrament of Penance before that of Confirmation.

ON MONDAY EVENINGS IN LENT, in S. John's Chapel, the Rector will give a series of Confirmation Instruction Lectures. They will begin at eight o'clock and be most informal in character. He will be glad to answer any questions at this time, if they are presented to him, in writing, before Evensong.

THE RETREAT FOR WOMEN on Mid-Lent Sunday, the one for men on Passion Sunday, and the one for S. Mary's Guild on the Thursday in Passion Week, will be conducted as usual this year. The Special Conductors for these days will be announced in the next issue of the Magazine.

A RETREAT FOR THE OBLATES OF MT. CALVARY will be given in S. Clement's Church on Thursday the 12th of February. The Society of the Oblates is affiliated with the Order of the Holy Cross, and is designed for Seminary Students, Deacons and Priests, who pledge themselves to a definite Catholic Credenda, to say, in addition to their ordinary Priestly obligations, the Little Hours from the Breviary, to make a daily meditation and spend a half hour each day in study, and who take a yearly vow of celibacy. The Clergy of S. Clement's have long been identified with the Society. Dean Hutchinson is among the earlier members, and both the Rector and Fr. Campbell have been members for many years.

SHROVE TUESDAY, February 24th, which this year is also the Feast of S. Matthias, will be kept as a day of special devotion before the Blessed Sacrament, in adoration and intercession for our Lord's blessing upon our keeping of the Lenten Fast. The Sacrament will be exposed after the Sung Mass, and the day will close with Benediction after Vespers at six in the evening. We cannot estimate the value of such days, nor do we want to put any human valuation on them. We do wish, though, that more people would avail themselves of the great blessings that accrue from an hour spent in Jesus' Presence. . .

CONFESSIONS will be heard on Shrove Tuesday at the usual hours. The Rector and Fr. Campbell will be in the Church from 10.30 to 12; the Rector, Fr. Campbell and Fr. Ewing in the afternoon from 3 to 5, and in the evening from 7 to 9. Fr. Smith will be in the Church in the evening from 7 to 9 also. The Clergy are available for special appointments at all times.

ON ASH WEDNESDAY there will be Low Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30. The Solemn Mass will be at 11, and the Rector will preach. Ashes will be blessed at the first Mass and imposed before and after all services. Vespers will be solemnly sung in the evening and Fr. Smith will preach.

ON OTHER WEDNESDAYS IN LENT, excepting Holy Week, there will be a Sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at eight o'clock. Fr. Smith will preach Wednesday evenings.

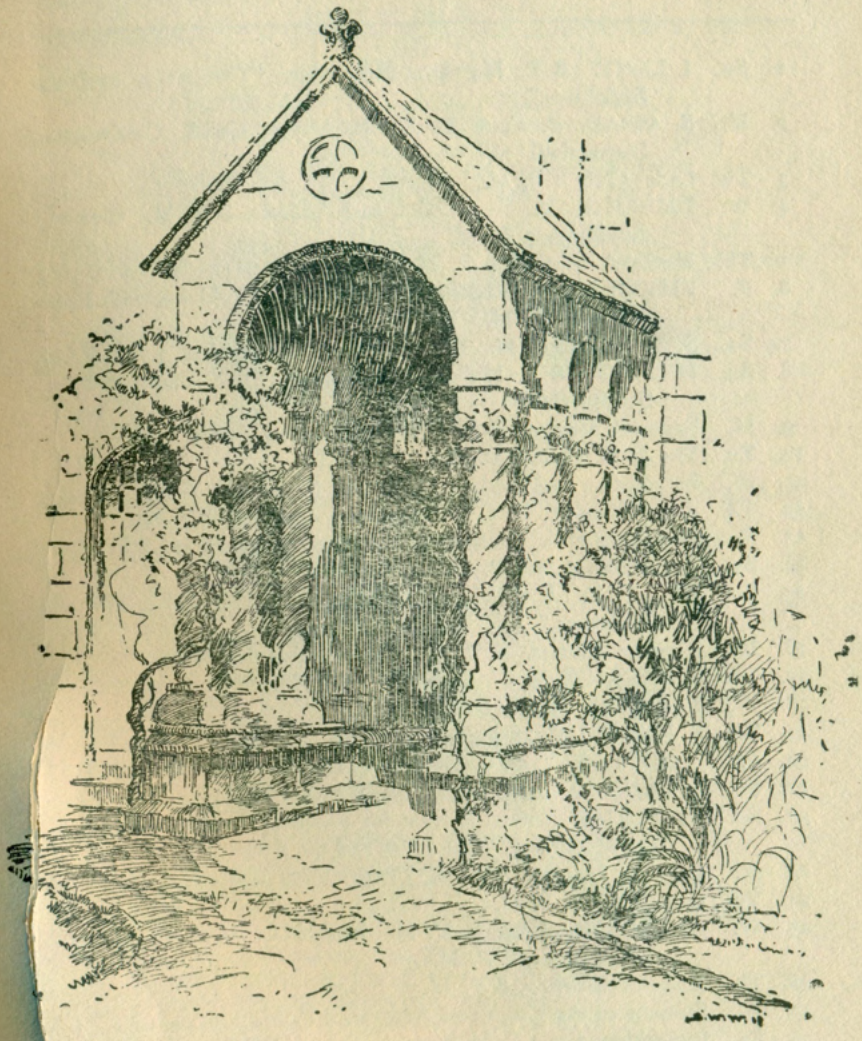
ON FRIDAY EVENINGS IN LENT, excepting Holy Week, the Stations of the Cross will be said, and Fr. Campbell will be the preacher. It is urged that the whole congregation join in the procession making the Stations. The whole point of the devotion is in "Making the Way" of the Cross.

ON THE SATURDAYS IN LENT the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the Lady Altar during the hours of Confession, that is, continuously from three to nine o'clock.

THE LITANY WILL BE SUNG in Solemn Procession before the High Mass on the Sundays in Lent, and the Rector will be the preacher.

ON THE FIRST FOUR SUNDAY NIGHTS IN LENT the Rev. John Mockridge, D.D., Rector of S. James' Church, will give a series of lectures or addresses on the subject, "The Faith and the Scriptures." The special subject for each week will be announced in the next issue of the Magazine. Vespers will be solemnly sung and the choir will leave the Sanctuary before Dr. Mockridge speaks. This will bring the beginning of his address or lecture at about half-past eight o'clock. Please make these evenings with Dr. Mockridge known to your friends, for they will be of unusual educational and devotional value, and S. Clement's should be filled to the doors.

THE ACCOUNTING WARDEN'S report for the year ending December 31st, 1924, showed a balance on hand of over seven hundred dollars. This was applied against the deficit of the previous year, so reducing the Parish's total indebtedness to about three hundred dollars. Since the Magazine has had to call your attention to a deficit from time to time, it is glad to report this opposite condition. It must not for a moment make any one think that the Parish is rich and does not need your gifts, but should rather spur you on to give more than you do now, so that the special collections on some of the great days which now must go for Parish Expenses can be released for outside objects. It is our highest ambition now to devote the Easter Offering to Missions. The Parish's gifts to Missions are shamefully low. Let us all work this year for the increasing of our Missionary Offerings.



THE FINANCE DEPARTMENT AND QUOTA COMMITTEE have notified S. Clement's that they hope to receive $6,500.00 from the Parish for 1925 Missionary distribution. The Parish can designate their offerings to special funds, so it is suggested that the Foreign Gifts be allocated to Sagada, which very much needs just now the loyal support of all Catholic Parishes; the Domestic Gifts be given to S. Stephen's College, which is doing such a splendid work in correlating modern education and the Catholic Faith; and that the Diocesan Gifts be allocated to the County Centre Mission in Bucks County, soon to be vacated by Coadjutor-Bishop-Elect Booth; and the work among the Italians, under the direction of Archdeacon White. These works can all easily be followed, which adds tremendously to the personal interest and stimulates our giving. Will you not please make, in addition to your duplex envelope offerings, a monthly gift to Missions, designating it each month to one of these four objects, taking them in rotation?

THE RECTOR expects to conduct a five days' Conference on the Mass at S. James' Church, Washington, during Septuagesima Week. He expects also to preach the first five Wednesday evenings in Lent at S. Ignatius' Church, New York City. He craves your prayers for these special works.

ON S. BLASIUS' DAY throats will be blessed after all Masses and Offices.

THE DISCRETIONARY FUND of the Rector is sadly in need of replenishing. The income for this fund is most irregular and spasmodic, but the demands upon it are regular and insistent. Do not hesitate to give because your offering must be small.

Mid-Lent Retreat for Women

The annual Retreat for Women will be given as usual this year on Mid-Lent Sunday. The Conductor of the Retreat will be the Rev. Osmund Victor, of the Community of the Resurrection, Mirfield, England. Fr. Victor's coming to us will make another link in the chain binding S. Clement's to Mirfield.

Fr. Victor is the Superior of the South Africa Province of the Community, and has come to this country to attend some conferences in the South on the work among the Negroes. He was with us over Ash Wednesday, and comes again for this Retreat and to preach at the High Mass on the same day.

The Retreat will open with Mass at eight, and the Addresses will be given at ten, two and three-thirty. The last address will be followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Breakfast will follow the Mass, and dinner will be served in the Parish House at one.

All women of the congregation are invited to make this day of Retreat, and any who are not of the congregation will be as gladly welcomed. Some few notices are sent out, but it is impossible to reach every one. The day is for all, whether or not you receive a card. If you wish to make the Retreat, please notify the Sister-in-Charge at Spruce 8190.

Passion Sunday Retreat for Men

The annual Retreat for Men will be given as usual this year on Passion Sunday. The Conductor will be the Rev. Albert Hawley Lucas, Assistant Headmaster of the Episcopal Academy. Fr. Lucas's work is primarily with men and boys, so his addresses should be particularly helpful.

The Retreat will open with Mass at eight, and the Addresses will be given at ten, two and three-thirty. The last address will be followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Breakfast will follow the Mass, and dinner will be served in the Parish House at one.

All men of the congregation are invited to make this day of Retreat, and any who are not of the congregation will be gladly welcomed. Some few notices are sent out, but it is impossible to reach all who may be interested. The day is open to all, whether or not you have received a card. If you wish to make the Retreat, please notify the Clergy at Locust 0417.

Passion Week Retreat for Women

The annual Retreat, under the auspices of S. Mary's Guild, will be held as usual this year on the Thursday in Passion Week. The Conductor will be the Rev. S. Atmore Caine, Rector of S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough. Fr. Caine has given this day of retreat for several years, and it is a great pleasure to welcome him again for the day.

This Retreat opens with the Mass at 9.30. The Addresses will be at 10.30, 2.00 and 4.00, with various acts of devotion conducted between the addresses. Dinner will be served at 12.30, and supper immediately after Vespers at 6.00. The day will close with the recitation of the Guild Office in the Chapel at 7.30.

Any women of the congregation, or not of the congregation, who wish to keep this day of retreat, will please notify the Sister-in-Charge at Spruce 8190.

Confirmation

The Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered in S. Clement's Church, Mid-Lent Sunday afternoon, March 22nd, at five o'clock. Some change in his plans deprives us of the pleasure of having Bishop Beecher of Western Nebraska for this service, and his place will be taken by Bishop Davenport of Easton, Maryland.

There is still time to prepare others for this Sacrament, and since the instruction is individually given, convenient appointments can be arranged. Instruction on the Mass and Holy Communion is reserved until after the Sacrament of Confirmation has been received.

Mid-Lent Sunday will be an extraordinarily busy day, with the Women's Retreat and Dr. Mockridge's address after Vespers, so for the benefit of those who may wish to stay at the Church after the Confirmation, and wait for the evening service, tea and sandwiches and cakes will be served in the Parish House.

Parish Notes

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR FLOWERS are very much needed by the Altar Guild Committee. Gifts of money, no matter how small, may be handed or sent to Miss Arnold, The Monterey, 43rd Street and Chester Avenue. If any one would like to give the flowers as a memorial, it can be easily arranged. A number of Sundays are now so taken, and it makes a very fitting memorial.

THE HOLY HOUR DEVOTIONS on the First Friday evening of each month is the regular monthly meeting for the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament. Some years ago it was the custom to sing Vespers of the Blessed Sacrament on the first Sunday afternoon in each month, then that was changed to the first Friday evening. The Office is a very difficult one to sing, and it was given up for this reason, and the more informal devotions substituted in its place. Before or after this monthly service is always a convenient time to receive new members. While we have a very creditable congregation on the first Friday, there is room for many more.

THE TELEPHONE NUMBER for the Clergy House will be changed during the course of the month, as soon as the new Dial System is in working order. The new number will be RITTENHOUSE 1876. The Clergy would be very grateful if people would not call them on the telephone during meal time. Lunch at the Clergy House is at one o'clock, and dinner at half-past six. Will you please wait until a quarter of two and a quarter past seven for telephone calls?

THE REV. ARTHUR BALDWIN, an Associate Priest of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, who is pursuing some advanced work at the University of Pennsylvania, is helping us during Lent by saying Mass several times a week. It is a great pleasure and privilege to have Fr. Baldwin here at our Altars.

THE ANNUAL OFFERINGS for the Women's Auxiliary Triennial Thank Offering are now due, and subscriptions may be sent to Miss Hoffman, 2118 DeLancey Street. This offering, for Missions, is presented at the time of the meeting of the General Convention, every three years. The Convention meets in October of this year at New Orleans. S. Clement's has something over six hundred dollars for the first two years, and it is hoped that the gifts this year may bring the sum to a thousand, or more.

EASTER CARDS may be purchased at reasonable prices from the Sisters. The Sisters will be glad to show the cards any afternoon at the Mission House, 110 Woodstock Street, after three o'clock. The Sisters have also some small silver crosses and crucifixes and some very attractive medals.

RECENT GUESTS at the Clergy House have included the Rev. Osmund Victor, C.R., of Mirfield, England; the Rev. McVeigh Harrison, O.H.C.; the Rev. Brother Dale, S.S.J.E.; Bishop Coadjutor-elect of Milwaukee, Dean Ivins of Nashotah House; and the Rev. Frank Gavin, Ph.D., of the General Theological Seminary, New York City.

THE CRUCIFIXION, by John Stainer, will be sung by the Choir on both Passion Sunday and Palm Sunday evenings at eight o'clock.

The Stations of the Cross

THOUGHTS FOR EACH STATION

I. "Away with Him!" the impious rabble cry;
Yet, Jesus, 'twas my sins that bade Thee die.

II. Bent 'neath the heavy Cross, Our Lord begins
His last sad journey—heavier pressed my sins.

III. Cruel! They torture Him and scoff the more,
When, faint and pale, He falls. My soul, adore.

IV. Dreading the sight on which her soul is set,
She waits, and—bitter joy!—their eyes have met.

V. Eager would I the precious burden share,
Which Simon, loathing, soon is glad to bear.

VI. Full of fond pity, full of faith e'en now,
Veronica wipes tenderly the bleeding brow.

VII. 'Gainst the steep hill He totters on with pain,
O God!—that yell—He falls, He falls again!

VIII. "Hush, mourning daughters of Jerusalem!
Weep not for Me; your children—weep for them."

IX. Is it that night of woe in Caiaphas' halls,
The scourging, thorns, or Cross—that thrice He falls?

X. Jeers and foul jests doth He, the All-Holy, bear,
While fiends from virgin limbs the garments tear.

XI. Lewd ruffians fling Him on His bed of death;
The nails pierce deep. "Father, forgive!" He saith.

XII. More love there is not, nor more agony!
So Jesus dies. For me—He dies for me!

XIII. Nigh to the Cross she stood till all was done,
And now the Mother's arms have clasped her Son.

XIV. Oh! hard Thy rock-hewn grave, more hard my heart!
Yet here Thou lov'st to dwell. Come, Lord, and never part.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

I trust I need not urge you to a strict and faithful keeping of Passion-tide and Holy Week. In another part of the magazine you will find the drama of the season carefully outlined. Try to make this great "Adventure" your own. Shut out the world, and live alone with your Lord. Discard all devotional books but the Bible. This is a time for your Bibles. Read the Gospel stories of the Passion, and then reread them. Make yourselves familiar with every word, every act, every scene chronicled. Only in this way can you make the season real. And only by its reality to you can you enter into it with your Saviour.

It is with the utmost sorrow and regret that I am parting with Fr. Campbell from the Staff. He has been called to the Rectorship of S. James' Church, Washington, and goes into residence there the first day of April. I know you all rejoice at this recognition of his piety and zeal and ability, and that he is to have a larger field for their exercise, but it is just because we do recognize and appreciate his many gifts that we are so loath to let him go. His loyalty and devotion to our life and work and aims have endeared him to all; and his eagerness to co-operate with me in every way makes his going a great personal loss. Please keep him in your prayers and the work that he must do in this famous citadel of the Catholic Faith, of which he now becomes the Rector.

I confidently expect that the larger part of the Easter Offering will be given to Missions. For this reason I beg your most generous giving. Whatever is given to Missions will be carefully specified for definite Catholic work. Help generously to give to others what you so freely and fully enjoy!

Please pray for me in my preparation for the preaching of the Passion on Good Friday.

May the dear Lord make you joyous partakers in His Resurrection.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Parish Notes

THE REGULAR PARISH PENITENTS, and those making their first Confessions, are asked to come to the Confessionals as early in Holy Week as possible, for their Easter duties. This leaves the latter part of the week free for strangers who come from outside, and reduces the pressure on the Clergy, and especially this year, since Fr. Campbell's leaving reduces the Staff. The hours for Confession will be found on the Bulletin Board.

THE NEW TELEPHONE IN THE CLERGY HOUSE is now installed, and the number is: RITTENHOUSE 1876. But not at meal time, please!

Parish Notes

BISHOP BEECHER, Missionary Bishop of Western Nebraska, who was to have come to us for Confirmation on Mid-Lent Sunday, was detained by another engagement, and in his stead we were glad to welcome Bishop Davenport, of the neighboring Diocese of Easton, Maryland. Twenty persons were presented to him for the Sacrament.

ABOUT ONE HUNDRED AND TEN women made the Mid-Lent Sunday Retreat, conducted by Fr. Victor, of the Community of the Resurrection, Mirfield, England. This is perhaps the largest Retreat ever held in the Parish. The whole character of the day was on a very high plane, and we are most grateful to Fr. Victor for coming to us. He was also the preacher at the High Mass, when Dabovitch's Arrangement of the Serbian Liturgy was sung for the first time in S. Clement's.

DR. MOCKRIDGE closed his series of four addresses after Sunday Vespers on Mid-Lent Sunday. The subjects were: "The Faith and Life," "The Faith and the Scriptures," "The Faith and Modern Thought," and "The Faith and Science." They were most scholarly and profound, yet given in the most simple words and understandable form. It is a matter of great regret that the congregations were so small in numbers. Those who were absent have lost a great deal. Those who were present are much the richer in the Faith and in their reason for it.

THE RESPONSE TO THE APPEAL for the Women's United Thank Offering has been very feeble thus far. Those in charge feel that it is much better to make a short, concentrated drive than to have the offerings come in all during the year. Miss Hoffman would be grateful if she might have all the offerings before Easter.

THE BISHOP'S BRICKS FUND will be in charge this year of Miss Haffelfinger, 1520 Spruce Street.

THE GUILD OF ALL SOULS has lost, in the death of Miss Arnold, its most efficient and painstaking Secretary and Treasurer. She is succeeded by Mr. Severn R. Allnutt, Haverford Inn, Haverford, who occupied this same post for many years in his former parish, Mt. Calvary, Baltimore. The current issue of the Quarterly will be mailed in the envelopes already addressed by Miss Arnold before she was stricken with her fatal illness.

THE ANNUAL RETREAT ON THURSDAY IN PASSION WEEK, given under the auspices of S. Mary's Guild, for the women of the congregation and the city, will be conducted by Fr. Caine, Rector of S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough. The Day begins with the Mass at half-past nine, and ends with the recitation of the Guild Office in the Chapel after supper. Since this Retreat falls in the first week of the month, the regular meeting of the Guild will be omitted in April.

FIVE DOLLARS A MONTH keeps fresh flowers before Our Lady's Shrine in the Church. Would you not like to give the flowers here for the month in which you keep some special anniversary?

The Altar Drama of Holy Week

The ceremonies of Holy Week have been handed down to us from very ancient times. They form a single coherent scheme designed to set before us, as if in a holy drama played before the Altar, the whole of the Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ. On Palm Sunday we follow Christ as He enters Jerusalem in triumph. On the next three days, as we listen to the Scriptures, we watch Him teaching in the temple. On Maundy Thursday we stand in the Upper Room and assist at the Last Supper. Then we kneel before the Altar of Repose and share His vigil in Gethsemane, in the palace of the high priest, and in the Praetorium of Pilate.

This is followed by the gloom of Good Friday and the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, with its strange maimed rite ending in confusion, and typifying the moment when our blessed Lord gave up the ghost, when "the Shepherd was smitten and the sheep were scattered." On the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, as we witness the wailing lamentations and the dying lights of Tenebrae, we feel that darkness which came over the land after the Crucifixion.

The whole tremendous drama ends in the wonderful vigil service of Easter Eve, when the darkened church is reillumed with the New Fire, and the catechumens go down into the grave of the Baptismal font, to be buried with Christ, and to rise again, regenerate, with Him—mystical ceremonies which usher in the first Mass of Easter Day, with its lights, its white vestments, its pealing bells, and its Alleluias, announcing the glad tidings that "the Lord is risen indeed."

The structure of the Liturgy of this week is directly connected with the actual places at Jerusalem where our Lord's Passion took place, and appears to have developed under the influence of memories attached to the Mount of Olives, Golgotha, the Holy Sepulchre, and the Chapel of the True Cross. We learn that in the fourth century the faithful were accustomed to follow the Liturgy on the actual scenes of the Saviour's sufferings.

In this short account only an outline of the Liturgy has been attempted. Those who wish to follow the services should have "The English Holy Week Book," and if they are anxious to make the most of the lessons te be learnt from these holy observances, they should also read, before Palm Sunday, "The Adventure of Passion-tide," by Mr. Kenneth Ingraham, and learn to make His Adventure their own.

(Society SS. Peter and Paul.)

Tenebrae

On Wednesday evening in Holy Week, and on the two evenings following, it is customary in many churches to sing the Matins of the following day. This service is popularly known as "Tenebrae" or "Darkness." It is a very solemn service of mourning, and typifies the darkness which overshadowed the world at the Crucifixion.

Tenebrae

The lighted candles on the Altar are of unbleached wax, like those used at funerals, and near the Epistle side there stands a triangular candlestick, called the Tenebrae Herse, bearing fifteen candles, all of unbleached wax, except the one at the top, which is white.

During the singing of the Psalms and Canticles these candles are put out one by one, beginning with the lowest, except the white one at the top. The Psalms and Canticles are penitential, except for one or two towards the end, which are more joyous. A portion of the Lamentations of Jeremiah is sung, which, written during the exile in Babylon, recall the desolation of Jerusalem. This marvellous acrostic poem, composed over the sorrows of captive Israel, has been universally applied in its mystic sense to the sufferings of the Messiah.

Towards the end of the service, during the singing of the Benedictus, the candles on the Altar are also put out one by one in such a way that the last candle is put out during the singing of the last verse, and then all the lights in the church are put out. Finally, the last candle on the Herse is taken off and hidden beneath the Altar at the Epistle side, and as soon as the Antiphon after the Benedictus is ended, the following is said:

"Christ became obedient for us unto death."

At the end of the service, when the last candle has been hidden beneath the Altar, the Lord's Prayer is said in silence, and the Psalm, "Have mercy upon me, O God," is said antiphonally, and then a final prayer.

Suddenly a discordant noise is made, to represent the confusion of nature at the death of Christ, when the earth quaked and the graves gave up their dead. The single candle is brought from beneath the Altar, to represent the Resurrection. And the Office being over, all depart in silence.

The putting out of the candles one by one represents how one by one the disciples forsook their Lord and fled. The one white candle left alone at the top represents our Lord forsaken, and the light of Christ which alone remains to illumine the world. The darkening of the church symbolizes the noonday darkness which covered the earth at the Crucifixion. It should be observed that at Tenebrae there are few notes of joy. There is no Glory be to the Father after the Psalms; there are no hymns.

The particular keynote of Wednesday's Tenebrae is the betrayal of our Lord by Judas. On Thursday evening the keynote is the desolation of the Son of God in His Passion. After the Benedictus, when "Christ became obedient for us unto death" has been said, the words, "Even the death of the Cross," are added. On Good Friday evening the keynote is peace and thanksgiving for the victory, the thought of the Body resting in the tomb, and the approaching Resurrection. After the Benedictus, there is added to the two previous portions of the Antiphon, "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name."

The Rector's Letter

My Dear People:—

We had a very splendid Lent this year. One was quite conscious all the time of the spirit of real devotion and earnest effort to enter into the Passion of Our Lord that pervaded the Parish. The attendance during Holy Week was unprecedented, and a greater number of people seem now to stay through the entire Three Hours on Good Friday.

The test of real life and vitality is through the Confessional, for which we have no statistics, and through the Communions, which keep to very gratifying figures.

It seems rather strange when some years ago the Ceremonies of Palm Sunday, Maundy Thursday and Good Friday were introduced with careful attention to best liturgical detail and precedent, that the Ceremonies of Holy Saturday were entirely passed over. It would be a great gain to us liturgically and devotionally to have the first Mass of Easter at 11 o'clock on Holy Saturday, with the blessing of the New Fire and the Paschal Candle and the Prophecies immediately preceding it. We can be thinking about it and studying it. Maybe next year, with the aid of the students at the Philadelphia Divinity School, we shall be able to sing Tenebrae.

The Great Feasts this year will be over before the middle of June, and so we escape much of the summer heat. It is very difficult to offer a worthy worship when the thermometer is so high. The Solemn Masses will continue through the Octave of Corpus Christi.

The Mass, which was sung on Easter Day, and repeated with better effect on Low Sunday, was written by the present Organist of S. Luke's Church, Germantown. It will be sung again on Whitsun Day. On the Sunday in the Ascension Octave, the Mass will be Moir's, with Sanctus, Benedictus and Agnus Dei from S. Cecelia.

These Great Forty Days, between Easter and the Ascension, recall the days when our Risen Lord was instructing His Apostles "in the things concerning the Kingdom." There is no more appropriate way for you to spend them than through prayer and Communion seeking His Instruction.

May the Risen Lord so prepare you for a worthy receiving of His Pentecostal Gifts.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Easter Election and Vestry Meeting

One vote being cast at the Easter Monday Polls, the following gentlemen were unanimously elected to serve as Vestrymen for the ensuing three years:—

Francis Peters Adams,
Francis Yarnall Casey,
Edward Biddle Clay,
Sheldon Potter Ritter.

At the Easter Tuesday meeting of the Vestry, the Rector taking the Chair, he appointed Mr. Edward Augustus Casey to be Rector's Warden, and the Vestry elected Mr. Ritter as Accounting Warden.

The Finance Committee was elected as follows:—Messrs. Bayard, Homan and Clay. The other Committees were appointed by the Rector. The Music Committee:—Messrs. Woodruff. Ritter and Adams. The Property Committee:—Messrs. Mayer, Sellers and the Rector's Warden. The Insurance Committee:—Messrs. Bayard, Ritter and Homan.

The Vestry then elected as Delegates to the Annual Diocesan Convention, Messrs. Adams, Sellers and Woodruff.

New Pews

The question of pews for the Church was brought up at the last meeting of the Vestry. It is evident that the matter must be given very immediate attention. Many of the pews are in a very precarious condition, and every week one or two of them have to be propped up by the Sexton. They are split and sagging, and many people are complaining because of tearing their clothes on the old pews.

Shall we have new pews, or shall we adopt chairs is the real subject for discussion? Our present pews are very ugly, but they are very comfortable, and well spaced. New ones could be made to have the same shape, and slant, and spacing. But they will still be extremely ugly, and quite out of keeping with a Basilica type of Church building.

The idea of chairs will not be enthusiastically received, because of the uncomfortable monstrosities in S. John's Chapel. To-day a different type of chair is being used for Churches, with a woven rush-bottom seat, and they are arranged, at proper distances, in rows of five, so they are easily moved in cleaning the Church, and do not become disarranged as would single seats. With chairs, the whole Church would be tiled like the aisles, and would give an air of great space and lightness in the Church. Each chair would be provided with a kneeling cushion, hooked on the chair in front, and with a Hymnal and Prayer Book.

Chairs would do away with the over-crowding, to which you are often subjected. No more than five people can sit on five chairs. Often seven people are crowded in a pew meant for five.

Then, there is another way, which is, perhaps, the best way, and will please all. Have pews in the two great center blocks, then tile the sides out to the walls, and have the two outside rows of seats in chairs against the wall. Some day we shall be having handsome Stations of the Cross. With the side aisles in chairs, they can be moved up against the pews when the Stations are to be said, and people can walk around the Church close up to the wall and the Stations. Then, too, the day may come, with the great egress into the country and the growth of Catholic Parishes in the suburbs, that the congregations here will decrease; then the chairs at the side could be taken out, leaving the great wide side aisles, and there would not be the bad psychology of empty seats.

The Vestry would be glad to have written expressions from members of the congregation. If you have a preference, please state it. Address your letters to Mr. Mayer, Chairman of the Property Committee.

Parish Notes

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY meets on the first Wednesday afternoon of each month, and is usually addressed by some returned Missionary, who presents the work of the Church in the Mission Field. The May meeting, on Wednesday the 6th, will be addressed by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Casey, who have just returned to their home after spending several years in secular life in Japan. Since they are both members of the Parish, their experiences should be of special interest to all, and it is hoped that a large number of women will welcome them.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING has just received from the weavers some very fine rag rugs, made from the rags which they have cut and sewed during the winter. This insures the quality of the materials. They have been made up in two sizes, the smaller ones sell for a dollar and a half, and the larger ones for two dollars and a half. Arrangements can be made through the Sisters to see them.

ASCENSION DAY afternoon, from three until six o'clock, there will be the usual exhibition of Vestments and Plate in the Parish House. The silver offering on this occasion is used in the upkeep of the Church garden during the summer.

RECENT GUESTS AT THE CLERGY HOUSE have included Fr. Gavin, of the General Seminary in New York; Fr. Cole, of Enosburg Falls, Vermont; Fr. Whittemore, O. H. C., from Holy Cross, and Fr. Burton, S. S. J. E., the Superior of the American Society of the Cowley Fathers.

FR. ARNOLD has returned from a two months' cruise in the Mediterranean. You will regret to know that when but four days out he fell on the deck of the boat, and spent most of the time in the ship hospital, and was able to leave the ship only at the last port. His shoulder bone was broken, and his arm is still in too uncertain a condition for him to say Mass. We will be most happy to welcome him back to our Altars, and are praying for his speedy and complete recovery.

DEAN INGE, of S. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, LONDON, is visiting in this country, and one hears his name pronounced in a great variety of ways. The following jingle appeared in one of the English papers:

"If you his temper would unhinge,
And his most sacred rights infringe,
Or, excommunicated, singe
Where fiends forever writhe and cringe
Imploring that a drop of ginger Ale may on their tongues impinge,
Address him then as Dr. Inge;
But if you prize the proper thing
Be sure you call him Dr. Ing.
(Unless your ignorance to screen
You temporize with Mr. Dean),
But be advised by me, and cling
To the example of the King
And fearlessly pronounce him Ing.
Then rush to hear him have his fling
In Paul's, and places where they sing.

ON SUNDAY EVENING, MAY 3d, we have been asked to have an address here in behalf of the Near East Relief, where the needs continue to be very great. The Near East Relief Organization is sending to us the Bishop of Harrisburg. This Sunday is the Feast of the Finding of the Holy Cross, so it is a most appropriate time to hear about the Holy Places, and from one who has spent so much time in the Holy Land, and has played such a very conspicuous part in the several rapproachments with the Eastern Church, and in bringing relief to the sufferers in the Near East.

THE USUAL NOVENA TO THE HOLY GHOST will be kept between the Ascension and the Feast of Pentecost, following the example of those who waited in Jerusalem for "the promise of the Father." The prayers will be said after Mass, and at Evensong, after the Office.

THE GIRLS' CLUB gave a very successful entertainment on April 28th and 29th. The first part consisted of a Minstrel Show, for which the Club has quite a fame, and a short skit afterwards. Later in the evening there was dancing for the young people. While the Club is in no sense a Guild, yet it does a great deal in promoting fellowship among the young people, and has always been the exponent of a fine spirit and feeling.

FR. SMITH, who is a Chaplain in the Officers Reserve Corps of the Army, with the rank of First Lieutenant, is spending two weeks in camp at Fort Howard, in Maryland. During his absence, Fr. Baldwin is helping with the Masses, and acting as one of the Sacred Ministers in the Solemn Mass.

MRS. HALSEY WOOD, who for many years was a member of this Parish, and who went on the great Anglo-Catholic Pilgrimage from London to the Holy Land last year, very graciously came to us from New York on Thursday, April 30th, and gave us, in the Parish House, a most graphic and interesting account of her experiences and her impressions. She made everyone very eager to follow in the next Pilgrimage.

DEAN IVINS of NASHOTAH HOUSE, who has visited us several times and preached here, is to be Consecrated Bishop-Coadjutor of Milwaukee, in All Saints' Cathedral, Thursday, May 7th. The Bishop of Milwaukee is in failing health, and we are happy that he is to have such capable assistance.

DURING THE MONTH OF MAY the Catholic Church delights to pay special honor and devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary. So here on the unrestricted Saturdays the Masses will be of Our Lady, and on the Friday evenings, as noted in the Kalendar, the Rosary will be recited.

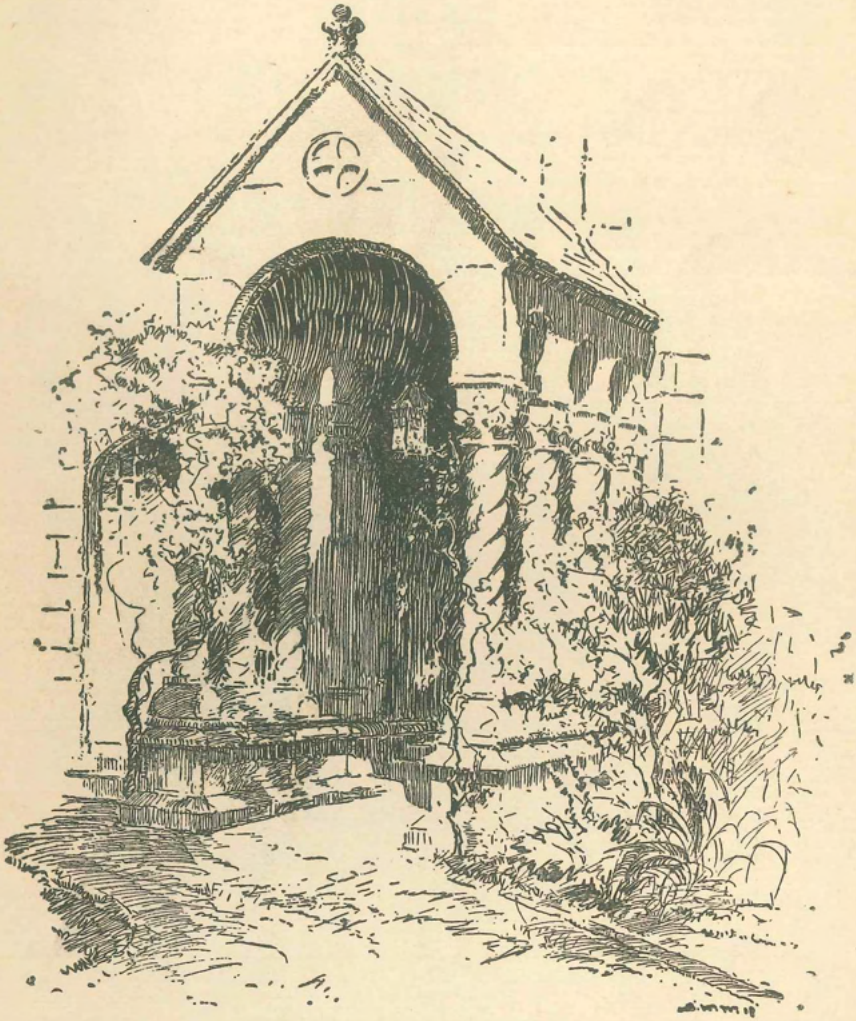
A Stranger's Guide to S. Clement's

You, a stranger in the Catholic Church, will have noted that the people when entering the Church dip their finger into a bowl containing water and sign themselves with it. The use of Holy Water in the temple was prescribed by Almighty God Himself. Refer in your Bibles to Exodus xi: 7, Numbers viii: 7 and v: 17.

Like the Hebrew Temple, the Catholic Church is a "house of Prayer" (Luke xix: 46), and "the place where God's glory dwelleth" (Psalm xxvi: 8). Therefore, as the worshiper enters the holy place, it is expected that he leave all distracting and worldly thoughts outside. The Holy Water, into which he dips his finger, and with which he makes the sign of the Cross on his person, not only reminds him of this, but aids in purifying his thoughts.

By the simple act of the sign of the Cross the Catholic professes his belief in the three greatest truths of Faith—the Holy Trinity, the Incarnation of the Son of God, and the Redemption through the Cross.

Then you observe people bending their knee before entering the pew. This is done in recognition of the Divine Presence; in the pew they kneel to offer a silent act of worship to God before they sit down to await the beginning of the service.



On the walls you see a series of pictures, in little frames, with a cross over each. These represent the "Way of the Cross," a complete illustrated story of Christ's bitter sufferings and death. The great prominence of the Crucifix in our Churches is a telling reminder that we owe all to Christ's merits through His death on the Cross.

The Cross holds the same place in the Church which the flag holds in the State. With it Christ won His Victory.

The Statues of Saints and Our Lady's Shrine are not intended for worship; on the contrary, it would be idolatry to worship them or pray to them. They are there to lift up our minds and hearts to high ideals, and to stimulate us to imitate the holy lives which made saints of these heroes of the Church.

You are at liberty to inspect the Confessionals in the rear of the Church, concerning which the average Protestant has most false notions.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

This issue of the MAGAZINE has been delayed for several reasons, but chiefly because it is the summer number, and so it seemed wise not to publish it too early in the season; and secondly, all of the summer plans were not completed before.

The Great Feasts

The great feasts have gone off very well in spite of the great heat, with a goodly number of communions, and large congregations at the High Masses and evening devotions. The Feast of Pentecost was greatly enhanced for us by the presence of the Bishop Coadjutor of Vermont, who assisted at Solemn Vespers and preached for us. It was a great joy to have him at S. Clement's, and to have his service here his first Episcopal appearance in his old Diocese. The offering, which was for the summer expenses of the parish, amounted to fourteen hundred dollars. On Trinity Sunday, at Vespers, Fr. Hawkins, O. H. C., who has recently returned from Liberia,, where he has been establishing the Holy Cross Mission, in which we are all so interested, told us of the life and work in Africa, and gave a very stirring picture of the possibilities of service in this new field of the Church. Corpus Christi, with its Octave, one of the most beautiful and appealing of the Church's seasons, has been kept with the usual dignity and ceremonies, and with a most creditable response from the faithful.

Lea Memorial

Several years ago the family of the late George Henry Lea gave the new pulpit in memory of Mr. Lea, who was a Vestryman for many years. Since its erection Mrs. Lea has died, and the family now want to add to it a memorial for her. It has been decided to put a canopy over the pulpit, and the work on this will go forward during the summer, so that it can be blessed at S. Clement's-tide. The canopy will give a fine finish to the already very handsome pulpit, and should also very much improve the acoustic properties, especially in relation to the preacher. When this is installed, it will be coloured and the high lights touched with gilt, very much like the Reredos on the High Altar. Perhaps the Font Cover will be similarly treated, and it is hoped to have the Font Cover swing on a wrought iron bracket, rather than be drawn up over a pulley as at the present. These two spots of colour in the Church will do much to brighten the interior. The Church has many opportunities for improvement, and has all the possibilities for a very decorative enrichment. It is hoped that we may be able to go on steadily now with new work, doing a little each year, but with a good idea and plan of what the finished whole is to be. There is no Church with a handsomer Altar End than S. Clement's, and the rest of the Nave should be made harmonious.

S. John's Chapel

The extreme heat had forced us, for comfort, to move the daily Masses into S. John's Chapel, where they will be continued through the summer, and where the Blessed Sacrament will be reserved until the improvements in the Church are completed. The Sunday Masses and Devotions will be in the Church as long as it is possible for us to use it. The Friday evening devotions will continue during the summer, in the Chapel.

Church Improvements

At the May meeting of the Vestry, it was decided to go on with some of the more pressing of the improvements to the property, and already the workmen have begun the work. The most pressing need is the resurfacing of the exterior of the Church building. The stone scales off very rapidly, the deterioration having begun while the building was covered with vines. All the loose surface will be removed and filled in with a natural coloured cement, and repointed, and when completed will present a very handsome appearance. The south and west ends will be done this year. The east and north sides will be done next year. It was found that the installation of new pews would incur so many other expenses that it would be impossible to make such a change this year, so the present pews will be gone over very thoroughly, rebraced, and all necessary repairs made. Then they will be refinished, together with the wainscoting around the lower part of walls, and made to match the choir stalls. The Confessional Boxes will be treated in the same way. There will be a new roof on the Parish House, and the usual number of smaller repairs.

The Guilds

The Guilds and Sodalities have disbanded for the summer. The Mothers' Meeting has done most splendid work during the past year. They have just sent fifty-three new dresses to the City Mission, and they have sewed enough rags to make forty-six rugs. There are about fifteen rugs that have not been sold, and the Sisters would be glad to show them to interested persons. A new feature of their sewing has been the preparation of layettes, and these have all been distributed within the parish. The Sisters are always glad for help with this work. They are very much in need now of clothing for men, which may be sent to the Clergy House or direct to the Sisters' House on Woodstock Street.

Summer Outings

Through an inadvertence, no reminder was given in the last issue of the MAGAZINE that the offering on Ascension Day would be devoted as in past years to "The Summer Outing Fund." From this fund many of the children of the parish, with the mothers, are sent away for short holidays in the country or at the shore. They are all most deserving cases, and there are a surprising number within the Parish. If you have not already made your offerings for this charity, will you please do so, and place them, carefully marked, on the collection plate.

The Choir

The Choir will be giving their annual concert for the benefit of their summer camp Thursday evening, June 25th, at half-past eight. The concert must come late every year, since they have so little time to get ready for it until after they are released from rehearsals for the feasts. They will be assisted by an elocutionist from Miss Norris' School of Expression. The tickets are fifty cents. If you are not able to come to the concert, will you please send your subscriptions to Mr. Fry?

The Clergy Staff

You will be interested to know about the Clergy Staff for the summer. Fr. Baldwin, who has helped us from time to time during the winter while he was working at the University, has come into residence for the summer, and will be with us until the autumn. Fr. Underhill will be at the Clergy House, too, when this letter reaches you. His sister has been quite ill all winter, but is some improved just now. It is a great joy to have him in the Parish and in the Clergy House. He will be Priest-in-charge during my absence. Fr. Arnold is quite recovered from his fall, and will be here on Sundays and for occasional Masses during the week. Mr. Loren Gavitt, who has just finished his first year at the General Theological Seminary in New York, came to us the first of June, and will stay until September. He is acting as Sacristan, and is assisting with the daily Offices. So with one of the regular staff here all the time there will be three Priests in residence all summer, and the usual schedule of services will be maintained—three Masses each day, three low Masses on Sunday, Sung Mass at eleven on Sundays, and a devotional service, with Benediction, on both Friday and Sunday evenings at eight. Confessional hours will be maintained Saturday afternoons and evenings.

The Clergy Vacations

You will want to know, too, about our vacations. Fr. Smith will be one of the Military Chaplains at Camp Meade for the Citizens' Military Training Camp for the first two weeks in July. He will be here after that until early in September, when he will visit some friends in Maine. Fr. Ewing, with his sister, will be spending the summer in Europe. He hopes to sail on the eighth of July, and will return the last week in August. I am expecting to go to England the middle of July, to stay through September. I will not do any travelling, but am hoping to have some definite parish work under the Bishop of Truro in Cornwall, spending my free time climbing along the Cornish Coast. A vacation of this kind gives more opportunity for reading and study, which a Parish Priest needs so much, and for which he has so little time when he is at home.

Your Vacations

Now for a word about your vacations. I hope I do not need to remind you with too much emphasis that it is the obligation of every Catholic Christian to hear Mass on every Sunday. Too frequently people return from their holidays saying that there was no opportunity to hear Mass. It is your duty to inquire carefully beforehand whether or not there will be such opportunity, and if there will not be, then it is your solemn duty to change your plans and go where there will be an opportunity for Mass. You are careful to inquire about hotel accommodations, and whether or not the food is good, and about amusements. Why neglect the most important thing of all? And remember the Mass is the Mass! Vestments and lights and incense do not make the Mass. A Catholic Priest, valid matter and the proper form, make the Mass! You will find them all at every Altar of the Church. When you miss Mass on Sunday, you are guilty of a serious sin. You may receive Absolution for it, if God spares you to make your Confession, but even with the Absolution you cannot make up for the Grace you have lost. Absence from Mass on a Day of Obligation leaves a gap in your spiritual life that nothing can make up, and none of you can afford that. Each year there is an increasingly large number of delightful summer resorts where you may enjoy the full Catholic privileges of the Church, and it is your solemn duty to spend your holiday at such a place.

The Summer Masses

In another part of the MAGAZINE you will find an abbreviated Kalendar for the four months which this issue is supposed to cover, and which gives the special feasts which we will be commemorating during the summer. On the unhindered days we will do as we have been doing in recent years, and offer special Votive Masses, instead of repeating the Mass of the Sunday. On all unhindered Mondays the Masses will be Requiems. At these Masses are remembered all the members of the Parish, the anniversary of whose death occurs during that week. They are so remembered for a period of ten years. On Tuesdays the Votive Masses will be of the Holy Ghost, for God's blessing on the Parish life and work. On Wednesdays the Votive Masses will be of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, for a deeper love for the Person of our Lord, and a more faithful devotion to the Precepts of the Church. On unhindered Thursdays the Masses will be Of The Blessed Sacrament, for devotion to the Mass and our Lord's Sacramental Presence. On Fridays the Masses, when Votive, will be Of The Precious Blood, for a deeper sense of sin amongst Christian people, and for the conversion of the impenitent. And on all allowable Saturdays the Masses will be Votive of the Blessed Virgin Mary, for a greater devotion to Our Lady and the Saints. According to the best Liturgical precedent, neither the Creed nor the Gloria are said at Votive Masses, except at the Masses of Our Lady on Saturdays, when the Gloria alone is said.

Baptisms

Since the last published record there have been the following Baptisms:

April 26—George Widdifield Bartram.
May 3—Charles Wilmot Coburn.
June 7—Joseph Edwin Lavery.

Remember always that "as many of you as have been baptized into Christ, have put on Christ." Mr. Bartram is critically ill, and suffering with intense pain. Please pray for him.

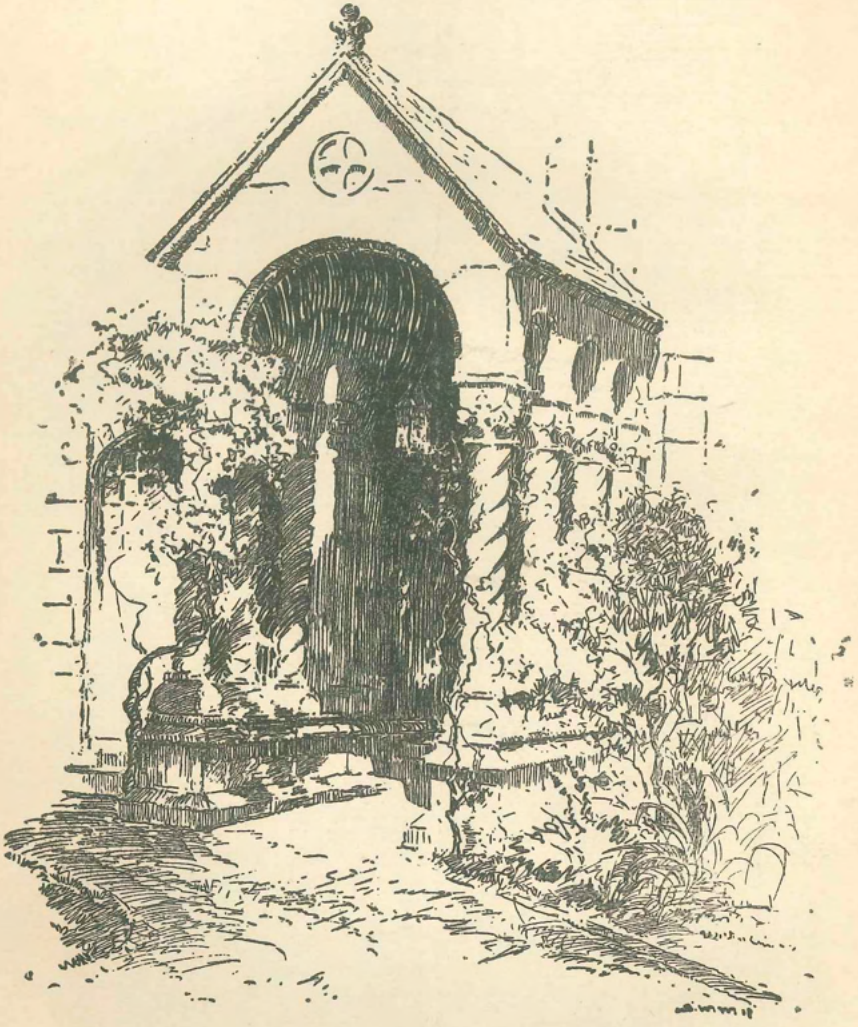
New Members Received

We have also received letters of transfer from other parishes for the following persons, who are thus formally joining our family. We bid them a most hearty welcome, wishing them spiritual happiness and growth:

Frederick Lewis Freeman, from Trinity Church, Trenton, N. J.
Herbert M. Morris,
Mrs. Herbert M. Morris,
John R. Morris, from Christ Church, Palmyra, N. J.
Annie Stuart McCusker (Mrs.),
John McCusker, from S. Luke and the Epiphany, Philadelphia.
Alice E. Wetherby (Miss), from S. Ambrose Mission, Philadelphia.
Harold Fee Coburn,
Annie Phillips (Dempsey) Coburn, from S. Timothy's, Roxborough.

Transfers

Mrs. John Forsythe Joline and her daughter, Miss Dorothy Joline, have been transferred to the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont. We are always sorry to have to transfer those who have for so long a time been identified with the parish life and work. But where people are moving into the country it seems only right and fair that they should have their formal connection with the Parish in which they make their Communions. It does not mean that they are lost to S. Clement's. This will always be their home. Then, too, it is a part of the missionary work that we can do, to send well instructed and practicing Catholics into our rural parishes. And you need not be reminded, I trust, that people generally look at members of S. Clement's with a sort of reverence, and expect great things from you.



Conclusion

The summer is so generally associated in most minds with vacation, that it is considered a time of indolence. Not so with the Church nor with Christians. In nature it is a time of blossom and fruitage. Let it be so with all of us. May the summer be for all a time of both bodily and spiritual recreation, and may the good Lord bring us together in the autumn, to renew our service for Him in His Holy Church, for the salvation of souls, and for His eternal glory.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Rector's Letter

My Dear Friends:

This letter is being written in London where the last lap of my vacation has begun, a vacation that has been full of interesting and profitable experiences. "The best part of a vacation is coming home," has been often said, but now that the time of sailing is so near the truth of this saying is most vivid. When this letter is in your hands I hope to be on the sea, homeward bound, and there will be much comfort in the assurance of your prayers. The following Sunday, if God permits, I will be in my accustomed place in the parish. This is neither the time nor place to expatiate on the summer's travels and incidents, but I hope during the winter to share some of them with you in the form of illustrated lectures, the first of which, you will notice by the Kalendar, is set for Monday evening, October 19th. The subject will be "The Cathedrals of Western England."

The first of October is the time for beginning the winter schedule, although it is usually another month before everybody is home and settled for the season's work. But the work must begin slowly and work up its own momentum. So by the first of November everything should be moving along at top speed. The season of the Church's intensive work at home seems to grow shorter each winter since people are leaving the city earlier in the year and returning later. By the winter work here at S. Clement's is meant, of course, the Guilds and their meetings, for the public worship of Almighty God goes on throughout the twelve months with unbroken regularity. The congregations during the summer and the number of communions made have been most gratifying and many expressions of thankfulness are heard for the opportunities for worship and instruction that are provided during the holiday months. Everything will move along as usual, with no changes from the past in the services and their nature.

An effort will be made this winter to strengthen the missionary interest in the Parish and to increase the offerings. Perhaps during the winter it may be possible occasionally to have an evening missionary address on a week-day night or a special missionary service and address Sunday evening. The Guilds and Sodalities will be asked to make special efforts to raise funds for our missionary quota. A few people, during the past year, have been making monthly missionary pledges beyond those in the duplex envelopes. Many more of the congregation might easily do this, and I would urge you one and all, where you feel you cannot make an added monthly pledge or offering, to increase your weekly contribution in the missionary side of the envelopes. We have a generous apportionment from the Church House for our missionary offerings, but it is not an impossible one, so if you all work together, giving honestly as the Lord has prospered you, we can make it. You enjoy so many privileges in your Parish life, and the best way to show your gratefulness is by making it possible for others to share them with you.

On Sunday evening, October 18th, S. Luke's Day, the evening service will be under the auspices of S. Barnabas' Guild of Nurses. S. Luke, having been a physician, is the Patron Saint of doctors and nurses. Fr. Smith, the Chaplain of the Guild, will preach the sermon. The Feast Day of All Saints falls on Sunday this year, so there will be special music at the High Mass and a procession. The evening Vespers will be followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Monday, November 2d, there will be a Solemn Mass, at eleven o'clock, in Commemoration of All the Faithful departed. Will you please send the names of the souls you wish remembered at the Altar on this day, popularly known as "All Souls' Day," as promptly as possible. And please be reminded that it is not necessary to send the names of former members of the Parish, nor Priests that have ministered at our Altars, nor our Benefactors, as they are all on the permanent list that is always used and brought up to date each year.

Since October is dedicated by the Church to the Special Commemoration of the Angels, on the unhindered days during the month the Masses will be votive of the Angels, when the Angelic anthem, the Gloria in Excelsis, is used. For this reason the article on the lessons from the life of the Angels is included in this issue of the Magazine. The article is taken from the last issue of S. Alban's Holborn parish paper.

May the Dear Lord so bless you all that you may serve Him more faithfully in the coming year than in the past, and in that service know Him better and love Him more.

Affectionately, your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Thoughts Suggested by the Angelic Life

This title has been and often is now applied to those who are living the Religious Life, under Religious Vows in a Convent. But it ought to be the title of the life of every Christian who is trying to be true to his baptismal grace and vocation. The angelic life—the life of a messenger of God—oh! what a glorious vocation for each one of us. What wonderful thoughts it suggests, and to us especially, whose spiritual home on earth is under the protection and the patronage of S. Michael and All the Holy Angels.

And first, the thought of vocation in the light of the angelic life of every baptized person reminds us of the sanctity, the dignity, the magnificence of life, and the privilege of having been created. God thought about me! I am the product of a thought of God, and so in the process of time the thought took shape, and oh! what wonderful condescension of Almighty God, Who in His loving kindness and generosity allows poor humanity to have a share in the great work of Creation, I was born into the world—a messenger from my God, to live the angelic life on earth as it is lived now in Heaven. "We bless Thee for our creation."

The Angelic Life, the life of a messenger from God, my life, what does it mean? It means that I live my life here on earth, in God, for, and with God.

(1). In God.—This began at my new birth, my true life began then, and so it is in God that I live, and move, and have my being. This is the life of prayer and adoring love. Born within me, living with me, is the Blessed God. "My life is hid with Christ in God." And S. Paul says that his special mission was to make all men see what is the fellowship of the mystery, which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God. The angelic life of union with God in my prayer is nothing else but a life lived in Adoring Love. The Christian has Christ within him, and Christ is God, and God is Love. And so, as I come, a messenger from God, I first of all must keep my eyes, my heart, my spirit fixed on God and in God in adoring love. This is prayer. I will only what God wills. He asks only for my love, and as I give him this, it includes everything, for love is of God, and God is Love. And my prayer is the outcome of love, the offering of my whole being in adoration. I adore Him, first of all, in the submission of my will, for only as my will is in accordance with the will of God, can I pray at all. He that is joined to the Lord is one Spirit. What God wills, I will, what I will, God wills, for as a messenger from God, I have only God's interest at heart, and true love only desires the will of the Beloved. And Prayer is a great reality, it is the spirit speaking with God, listening to God, living in God, adoring God, and wherever God is, there is the soul who loves. And God is in His holy temple on earth. And wherever the Blessed Sacrament is, there is God, and the Christian, who is striving to live the angelic life, loves to adore God in His tabernacle on earth, as he lives his life in God all through the day. Oh, most marvellous condescension! Oh, happy Christian! This life on earth is worth living, but it must be lived in God.

And (2) for God.—The angelic life begins with adoration, and the adoring love and worship is carried on in a life of service. The angels never turn away their faces from God, but they are active in their work for Him. All service done in love is Prayer, it is the outcome of the life of communion with God. It is all one. I am God's messenger carrying my prayer into my work and my work into my prayer; an angelic life on earth indeed this, if I can take Christ out with me into my work, and see my God in my fellow-men, Christ in me teaching Christ in them—no room then for jealousies, for want of charity in judging others, no room for miserable self-love or self-pity, only love, absorbing love of God, this makes heaven even on earth.

And lastly (3), with God.—I am never alone. The messengers of God are never sent alone to do this work, to pray. It is all in the Holy Ghost. There can be no failure to the Christian who tries to realize that his God is always with him. To the loving soul, nothing is impossible. The angelic life to each one of us means nothing less than the carrying out of "Thy kingdom come." When we absolutely believe in that one single prayer, and pray it with all our might, it will come, it must come, the kingdom of this earth would indeed become the kingdom of God and His Christ.

Let us, in this month of the Holy Angels, at least in this our Parish, one and all make up our minds that from henceforth we will indeed begin to try to live the angelic life of simple adoring love to God, Who has created us in order that we should live that glorious life of union with Him, in Him, for Him, here and now, blending the lips of worship with the lips of service, Christ in us, Christ in our fellow-men, messengers to one another from God, each helping the other in God and for God, till the veil is torn away, and the open vision is revealed, and God's kingdom is come.

And lastly, in God, for God, and with God, because the angelic life on earth ought to be an even closer union than that of the glorious company of angels in Heaven, for in my communions Christ my God and my King dwells in me and I in Him. And kneeling beside me is my brother, and Christ in him. As I reverence my God, I must respect and love my brother, this is true Charity; this is the essence of the Angelic life of the Christian. God help us all to grow in love, and so fit us for the time when God, Who is Love, will be All in All.

The Angelus

The Angelus, which consists of three series of three bells, followed by a succession of nine bells, is rung from the tower of S. Clement's each day before the first Mass, at five minutes before seven; before Vespers, at six o'clock, and at noon, except when the High Mass extends over the noon hour, when the Angelus is rung immediately after the Last Gospel. People should stand or kneel during its ringing and recite silently the following prayers. There should be no moving about or talking at the time.
The first three bells:

R. The Angel brought the tidings to Mary!
V. And she conceived by the Holy Ghost.

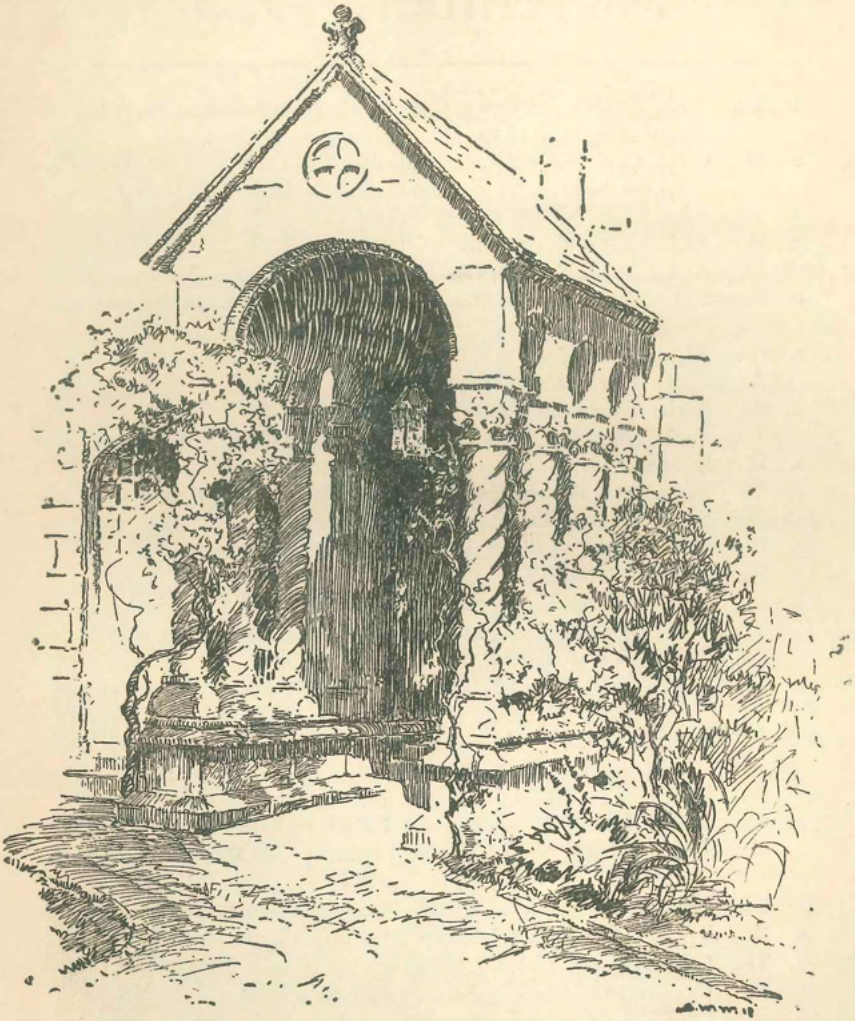
Hail Mary.

The second three bells:

R. And Mary said, Behold the hand maid of the Lord,
V. Be it unto me according to Thy Word.

Hail Mary.

The third three bells:



R. And the Word was made Flesh,
V. And dwelt amongst us.

Hail Mary.

V. Pray for us, Holy Mother of God.
R. That we may obtain the promises of Christ.

During the ringing of the nine bells, the Collect for the Annunciation is recited. The Sign of the Cross is made at the first stroke of the first series of the bells and at the end of the Collect. The Angelus is a Memorial of the Incarnation, and is said three times each day in honor of the Blessed Trinity.

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

November, beginning with the Feast of All Saints and closing with the Feast of S. Clement our Patron, gives us a month that we spend mostly with the Glorified Saints about the Throne of God. It is also the "Month of the Holy Souls," when we are bidden to pray for the Faithful Departed, and we shall be having them in remembrance at the special Masses which you will find listed in the Kalendar. It is the "Month of Saints," and that means ourselves, called to be Saints and striving to be worthy of our high calling, as well as the Holy Souls who have been elected by God to the Beatific Vision and are completing their preparation in Purgatory. And both the Holy Souls and ourselves are one with the Saints in Glory, for we are members of the Mystical Body of Christ and united in Him. You must never think of any one of these three groups as isolated from the other two. We are all One Body. Therefore we work and pray, suffer and sacrifice, offer our praise and petition, but all to God, for all the members of His Body, wherever they are and under whatever conditions they exist. And not only must we pray and offer the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, but we must carry on the work they have left for us to do. Be faithful to the Catholic Cause, for which they laboured and in which they died, remembering that they without us cannot be made perfect.

There are innumerable opportunities for you to assist at the offering of the Holy Sacrifice, both in praise for the Saints in Glory, and in petition for the Holy Souls. There are also innumerable opportunities for you to carry on their noble work. Not so much by polishing vases and arranging candles, but by praying prayers for the extension of the Kingdom of God and the triumph of the Catholic Faith. By giving alms for the Missionary work of the Church. By being more faithful and regular communicants. By being more penitent for your sins. By living more holy lives. By witnessing more boldly for our Lord and His Church. And in the Sacraments of Holy Church you have the same power and grace that the Saints in Glory and the Holy Souls have received, and which will, if you faithfully and rightly use them, seal you as the elect of God and Saints.

May this month be a time of fresh beginnings and rededications; of incentives to new service and sacrifice; of deeper devotion to the Catholic Church and Her Lord.

May S. Clement pray for you, and may you be worthy of his prayers.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Novena for the Parish

The usual Novena of Prayer, in preparation for the celebration of the Patronal Feast, will begin on Saturday, November 14th. The following prayer, together with the Our Father and Hail Mary, will be said at the close of Mass and Evensong every day during the period.

On the Friday in the Novena, November 20th, we will be keeping a day of special intercession before the Blessed Sacrament, which will be exposed at the High Altar after the last Mass of the day. The day's devotions will close with a meditation and litany, and Benediction of the Sacrament at eight o'clock in the evening. A chart will be placed as usual in the Church porch for the names of volunteer intercessors, and it is hoped that many will sign at once.

ANT. I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground; I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and My blessing on thine offspring.

V. Turn Thee again, O Lord God of hosts.

R. Look down from heaven, behold and visit this vine.

COLLECT. Almighty God, Who dost govern all things in heaven and earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and grant to this parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare: Sanctify the clergy; strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances and hurtful things; and make all to be of one heart and one mind in the Fold of Thy Holy Church, to the honour and glory of Thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen.

Preachers for the Patronal Feast

First Vespers of S. Clement, Bishop and Martyr, and the Blessed Patron of the Parish, will be sung Sunday evening, November 22nd, at eight o'clock. There will be a Solemn Procession, closing with the Festival Te Deum. The Preacher will be the Rev. Henry V. B. Darlington, D.D., Rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest and Chapel of the Beloved Disciple, New York City, and son of the Bishop of Harrisburg.

On S. Clement's Day, at the High Mass, when Gounod's Messe Solonelle dedicated to S. Cecelia will be sung, the Preacher will be the Rev. J. H. Randolph Ray, D.D., Rector of the Church of the Transfiguration (The Little Church Around the Corner), New York City. Dr. Ray, before coming to New York, was Dean of the Cathedral in Dallas, Texas.

The following Sunday evening, at the Solemn Procession of the Parish Guilds, ending with Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the Preacher will be the Rev. Charles Townsend, Jr., Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont. We have been sending so many transfers to this parish in recent years because of removals into the country that we feel strongly attached to Fr. Townsend, and it will be a great joy to have him at our "real parish" festival. The Guild Procession gives a very good idea of the "working power" of S. Clement's.

Other Features of the Patronal Feast

The annual Parish Reception and Tea will be held in the Parish House Tuesday evening, November 24th. Every member of the Parish, and all the members of the congregation are most cordially invited. It is earnestly hoped that there may be a great crowd. Many new people are being received into the Parish, and the older members should know them and welcome them. The new members need the friendship of the older members to give them that sense of homeliness that they want to feel and should be made to feel in their Parish Church.

There will be some entertainment of a musical nature provided, and the refreshments will be served, as usual, by the Girls' Club. The floors will be cleared for dancing at ten o'clock, and a good orchestra will provide the music.

November Collections

A small appropriation will be made from the All Saints' Day collections for the work of the All Saints' Sisters of the Poor and their work in S. Anna's Home. The collections on All Souls' Day will be given to the work of the Guild of All Souls, of which Fr. Joiner is the recently elected Superior General, and will be expended for providing proper vestments and altar vessels for poor parishes and missions. The collections on Thanksgiving Day, November 26th, will be sent, as usual, to the Episcopal Hospital. The offerings on S. Clement's Day, and through the special envelopes provided for that occasion, will be divided equally between the Fund for Current Parish Expenses and the Parish Endowment Fund.

On the Second Sunday in Advent, December 6th, the collections will be for the Parish Poor Fund. There are constant demands on this fund, and but one collection each year, so your liberality is most earnestly solicited for this year's collection. The collections on Christmas Day will be, as in former years, for the payment of the Pension Premiums for the Parish Clergy.

Travel Lecture

On Monday evening, November 16th, the Rector will give the second of his Cathedral talks in the Parish House at 8.15. There will be some colored lantern slides. A silver offering will be received at the door for Missions. $17.20 was given on the evening of the October lectures.

The Red Cross

The subscriptions for the American Red Cross are now in order for the ensuing year. Mrs. Mowry will be in the Cope Room after the High Mass on Sundays and will gladly receive your offerings there, or they may be sent to her direct at 2525 South 19th Street.

New Copes

Three very handsome white copes have been received from England and given to the Parish by S. Clement's Altar Guild. Two of them are alike, for the Assistant Ministers at Solemn Vespers and for the Cantors at sung Masses. They are of a white and gold tapestry cloth, with gold orphreys and hoods of many-colored tapestry. The third cope is of the many-colored tapestry, like the hoods of the others, and has both orphreys and hood of dull blue velvet, with appliques of dull green and rose, and all covered with a scroll design in gold thread. This cope is to relieve the very handsome white one, familiarly known as "Angelica," and will be used at Vespers on the lesser feasts, for Benediction on Friday evenings and for the Guild offices. They are most handsome in their materials and in their simple making, and they are great additions to our vestment store.

The New City Motor Buses

Your attention is called to the new motor buses now in general operation in the city, and especially to the line running from the Navy Yard in South Philadelphia to City Line in North Philadelphia. This line passes through the Parkway, and the buses all stop at 20th and Vine Streets, just two short blocks north of S. Clement's Church. Thus people living adjacent to South Broad Street, and near the route in North Philadelphia can come easily and speedily to within three minutes' walk of the Church. A number of the congregation are already using them and find them of the greatest convenience.

The Catholic Congress

The First Catholic Congress in the American Church is meeting the first week in this month at New Haven, Connecticut, with the Masses and devotional life centering in Christ Church of that city. Over a thousand members are expected to be in attendance, and while the papers bear profound subjects, and the speakers are notable for their ability to handle their respective subjects, yet they are all of a most practical nature and should prove to be of great spiritual help and benefit.

The papers are to be published in book form at once, so they will be available for all. Orders may be given now to the clergy. Also the clergy would be glad to receive small gifts of money for this cause. Few can make the journey for this Congress from S. Clement's, but many can give offerings, and all of the money given will be used in its entirety for the propogation of the Catholic Religion.

Christmas Cards

The Sisters of the Holy Nativity have an unusual assortment of Christmas Cards for sale. They may be seen in the Cope Room before and after the services on Sunday, and at the Sisters' House any afternoon after three o'clock.

Collect for S. Clement's Day

O God, who makest us to rejoice in the yearly solemnity of Blessed Clement, Thy Martyr and Bishop; favourable grant that we who keep his festival may likewise imitate his suffering. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee, in the Unity of the Holy Ghost ever, One God, world without end. A-men.

Advent

The observance of Advent as a fixed ecclesiastical season of definite length, is of comparatively late date; belonging like the feast of Christmas itself originally to the Western Church, and adopted much later in the Eastern Church. As soon as December 25th was fixed for the celebration of the Nativity of Our Lord, it was natural to introduce it, like the Easter Festival, by a period of penitence, fasting and devotion. Thus Advent observance grew up; and it is notable, that in the Gallican Church of the 6th Century, as in the Eastern Church now, the QUADRAGESIMA S. MARTINI, that is, the period of forty days from Martinmas was made the period of preparation. The analogy to the forty days of Lent is obvious. By the time of Gregory the Great, however, the keeping of the four Sundays, with the previous Sunday as a kind of introduction, had become fixed, and has since continued without variation.

It must be observed, however, that Advent seems to suggest the looking forward to the whole of the Manifestation of Our Lord; for it unites in frequent contrast the ideas of the First Coming of the Lord, which opens His Mediatorial Kingdom, and the Second Coming, which closes it. Accordingly it does not breathe the spirit of unmixed Christmas thankfulness and joy, but dwells strongly on the thoughts of the great Judgment, and therefore on man's sin and its awful responsibility. The old DIES IRAE carries these thoughts to their fullest expression, in fact they are traceable in all the Advent Hymns and Propers.

The Bible teaching for the seasons of the Church year will be most fully found in the proper lessons for the daily offices. Of the Proper Lessons of Advent those from the Old Testament are all drawn from the Book of Isaiah; partly because of its Evangelical character, anticipating the general spirituality and perfectness of Gospel teaching; partly because of its marked Messianic prediction, drawing out all the chief features of the Revelation of Christ. The Second Lessons in the morning are taken from the early chapters of S. Luke's Gospel, recording the Annunciation to Our Blessed Lady of the Birth of Our Lord and His forerunner, and His Manifestation and Anointing at His Baptism; in the evening from the Revelation of S. John the Divine, containing the vision of the Lord in the glory of Heaven, His letters to the Seven Churches, the manifestation of the new Jerusalem, and the promise, "I come quickly."

A Year of Prayer

During the past few years, since the establishment of the Anglo-Catholic Congresses in England, there have been continuous cycles of prayer for the Conversion of the Church to the Catholic Faith, and for the deepening of the spiritual lives of the people. One of the most prominent of these in England was that connected with the Fiery Cross. This great fiery cross was passed on from Church to Church, and set up as the sign that the time of prayer was being kept there, and much of the devotion centered about it.

It has now been planned to have such a year of Prayer in the American Church, as one of the fruits of the Priests' Convention and the recent Catholic Congress in New Haven. This Year of Prayer is to begin at S. Clement's on Advent Sunday, and continue throughout the week. It is hoped everyone will plan to offer some special devotion each day for this great cause and if at all possible to come to the Church every day, either for Mass or an Office or for one of the special exercises listed in the Kalendar, or else to make a visit to the Blessed Sacrament and there to offer your intercessions.

The Collects suggested for daily use are the Sixteenth Sunday after Trinity, the second Collect for Good Friday, the one for Missions and the one for the Unity of All Christian People. Please look carefully at the following list, and select at least one item for each day:

MONDAY: Mass at 7, 8 and 9.30. High Mass at 11. Instruction on Prayer at 8.
TUESDAY: Masses at 7, 8 and 9.30. Stations of the Cross at 8.
WEDNESDAY: Masses as above. Rosary at 8.
THURSDAY: Masses as above. Mothers' Meeting Address at 9.
FRIDAY: Masses as above. Holy Hour and Benediction at 8.
SATURDAY: Masses as above. Exposition, 3 to 5 and 7 to 9.

This great adventure of prayer will be the Intention of all the Masses and Offices during the period, and will also be the subject of Daily Intercessions in the Church following the Noon Angelus.

Parish Notes

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY will have their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon, December 2nd, at 3 o'clock. The speaker for this meeting will be the Deaconess Viola Young, who has just been transferred to our Parish and has come to Philadelphia to be in charge of the work at S. John's House on North Bodine Street. There is a large Social Service Work, coupled with Religious Training, conducted here amongst the foreign and native born children of foreigners.

AT THE NOVEMBER MEETING of the Auxiliary, Fr. Severance spoke on the Philippine Islands. The offering, which amounted to $120, was sent to the Sisters of S. Mary for their Mission Work at Sagada.

CHRISTMAS CARDS are on sale after all the services in the Cope Room. There is a wide variety from which to make selections. The Canterbury Calendars for 1926 are also for sale.

THE DECEMBER COLLECTIONS include one on the Second Sunday in Advent for the Parish Poor Fund and on Christmas Day for the Clergy Pension Fund Premiums.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS DINNERS FOR THE POOR are now in order and may be sent to the Sister Katharine, S. H. N., at 110 North Woodstock Street.

THE RECTOR INVITES CONTRIBUTIONS for the decorations for the Church, and also "confesses" to NO BALANCE in his Discretionary Fund, on which there are many demands at this season.

THE GIRLS' CLUB is busily engaged in preparing for a play. They hope to present it early in the new year.

OUR MISSIONARY OFFERINGS were increased by about $23, the amount of the collection at the lecture on Chartes Cathedral.

MISS M. ANTONIA LAMB will give an illustrated lecture in the Parish House on Monday evening, December 14th at 8.15. Miss Lamb, who is a devoted member of our congregation, is a recognized authority on embroidery and needlework antiquities. She has a rare collection of lantern slides made under her own direction. Her pictures and lecture will include much serious material about Vestments and Church embroideries, relieved by a lighter strain, illustrating the evolution or devolution of dress and freaks of fashion in all ages. This should prove an evening of both enjoyment and intellectual improvement, and it is hoped a large audience will greet Miss Lamb.

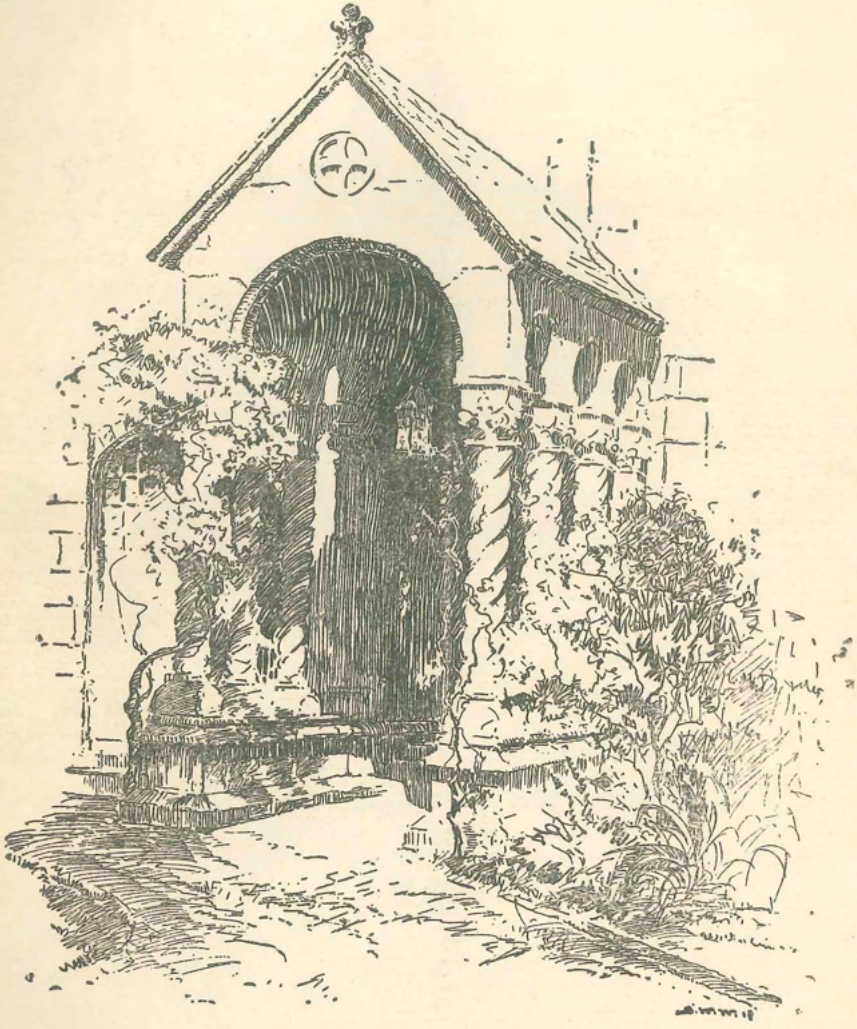
THE CLERICAL UNION for Maintenance and Defense of Catholic Principles, familiarly known as The Catholic Club, has been receiving a number of new members, and at the same time has changed the manner and method of its meetings. Instead of the afternoon meetings, the Club now meets in the morning for a Sung Mass and Meditation, and after lunch there is an address on some timely topic. The next meeting will be at S. Clement's on Tuesday, December 1st. The Mass will be sung at 11, members of the Club forming the Choir, and another member presiding at the organ. The Meditation after the Mass will be given by Fr. Conkling Rector of S. Luke's Church, Germantown. The Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Thomas J. Garland, D.D., will be the guest of honor at the lunch, and will speak to the Club about the Diocese and his hopes and aims for its future. This visit of the Bishop to this particular meeting of the Catholic Club is a distinct honor to S. Clement's Church and Parish.

WE WELCOME FATHER SEVERANCE to our Staff. He has been with Father Staunton in the Philippine Islands and has only very recently returned to this country. His home is in New York State, and he is a graduate of Princeton University and the General Seminary in New York City.

THE SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION will be administered in S. Clement's Church by the Bishop of the Diocese, Sunday evening, January 10th. Instructions have already begun. If there are any who are thinking of Confirmation, either the Clergy or the Sisters would be glad to meet them and arrange for their instruction.

THE RECTOR will be conducting an Advent Day of Retreat at S. Mary's by the Sea, Point Pleasant, New Jersey, on Friday, December 4th. He asks your prayers.

HOURS FOR CONFESSIONS before Christmas will be on Wednesday from 10 to 11 A. M. and 7.30 to 9 P. M., and on Thursday from 10 to 11 A. M., 3 to 5 P. M. and 7 to 9 P. M. It is asked that all who can arrange to do so will make their Confessions at the regular hours the week before Christmas.



ON CHRISTMAS EVE we will be having the same service as in the past few years. Fr. Bull, of the Community of the Resurrection, who was with us last Christmas said that our Christmas Eve Service was the finest in which he had ever taken part. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is preceded by the singing of familiar Christmas Carols, and followed by a Solemn Procession to the Creche, where the figure of the Divine Child is placed, and a Hymn of Adoration is sung.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS have been made to the Church property during the summer and autumn. A new roof has been put on the Parish House, and new copper gutters and spouts have been put on the roof of the Church. The pews in the Church have been rebuilt and most successfully refinished in a light colour. Two sides of the Church exterior walls have been almost entirely refaced, owing to the shelling deterioration of the sandstone. The third side is now in the process of renovation. The expense of these necessary repairs has run into a large sum of money, and while the full amount was not entirely in hand, it seemed wise to go ahead at once with the work. This information is put before you to prepare you for a deficit in Parish Expenses at the end of the year, and to assure you that the deficit, if there is one, is because of unusually heavy bills. The offerings during the year have equalled our expectations. Extra offerings marked "Repair Fund" would be most welcome.

A Week of Special Preaching

Fr. Seyzinger, of the Community of the Resurrection in England, hopes to spend Sundays January 24th and 31st at S. Clement's, when he will preach both at Solemn Mass and at Solemn Vespers. He will also preach each evening of the week between, except Saturday evening, as you will see announced in the Kalendar, and at the High Mass on Monday the 25th.

His preaching will not be primarily of a Mission type, but rather of a teaching character, for the developing and strengthening of both the intellectual and devotional life of the people in the Faith, and so is designed principally for Church people. The members of the Parish are urged to make this opportunity known to all of their friends, to give them a personal invitation, and to bring them to the services.

Fr. Seyzinger has been in America several times before, and has been in Philadelphia, and knows S. Clement's, although he has never preached here. For the past ten years he has lived at the London House of the Community, and is in great demand for preaching and giving retreats there. His lectures in America some years ago on The History of the English Church aroused considerable interest. He is a great friend to the younger priests in the English Church.

The Community of the Resurrection is well known to us, and the coming of Fr. Seyzinger will be another bond to bind S. Clement's and the Community more closely together. It was from this Community that Fr. Frederick King came to us three years ago for his wonderful and helpful Mission. Then at Christmas last year we had with us Fr. Paul Bull, and later Fr. Osmund Victor, from their South Africa House. Both Bishop Gore and Bishop Frere are members of the same Community, and so was the late Fr. Figgis.

Set apart now as much of this week as possible, and attend carefully and prayerfully as many of the services as you can arrange for. Come to Mass and to Communion with the special intention for God's richest blessing on this adventure. Begin now to pray for the preacher. Pray, too, that all may learn to know God better and to love Him more.

S. Barnabas' Guild Service

S. Barnabas' Guild for Nurses, of which our Father Smith is the local Chaplain, will have a special service in S. Clement's Church, Wednesday evening, January 20th, at eight o'clock. While this service is primarily for the members of the Guild, it will be open, like every service at S. Clement's, for any who wish to come. It is hoped that the Rev. Charles Townsend, Jr., Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, will be the preacher.

Dean Nutter

The Very Reverend Edmund J. M. Nutter, the new Dean of Nashotah House, is expecting to spend a week in the East, and has asked to preach at S. Clement's to present the work and the needs of his Seminary. He is planning to preach at the High Mass, Sunday the 10th, and it is hoped that a large congregation will greet him.

The Theological Seminaries of the Church are very poorly endowed, and many worthy men have great difficulty in securing funds for their Seminary course. There is a sort of general idea that "The Church" provides the funds for such education, but where does the Church get the money? It comes largely from a small group of interested people. Dean Nutter wants to increase this group. Nashotah House is the one definitely Catholic Seminary in the American Church, and should have the hearty support of all Catholic Parishes.

Nashotah House has had for many years what is known as "The Daily Bread Fund." This fund has largely supported the House and many of the students, and was made up of small amounts sent from time to time by faithful people all over the world. Dean Nutter is anxious for Parishes now to make yearly contributions to this fund, and it is hoped S. Clement's may join in this scheme.

The Church is ever in need of faithful and true Priests. The Priesthood is the highest call a man can have in this world. God must bless richly all who help a man to realize his call and prepare himself for Holy Orders.

The Episcopal Academy Chapel

A very simple but most attractive Chapel has been built this past autumn at the Episcopal Academy in Overbrook, of which the Rev. Albert H. Lucas is Assistant Headmaster and Chaplain.

Various parishes and friends of the School have been asked to make contributions towards the Chapel furnishings, and S. Clement's has been asked to furnish the Altar Hangings and superintend their making and installation. The style selected will undoubtedly be that of a strictly English Altar, such as one sees in many of the newer and lovelier English rural churches. There will be, if this style is chosen, Dossil and Riddel curtains of a solid figured material, and a Frontal for the Altar of a tapestry material, in which the curtain material color is most prominent.

The Rector would be very glad for money offerings for this gift to the Episcopal Academy. Perhaps those in the Parish who have some personal attachment to the School will be glad to make an offering as a memorial, and these names will be recorded in the Chapel.

We should rejoice with the authorities of the School that the Chapel for which they have prayed so long a time has materialized, and add our prayers to theirs that it may be a center of real spiritual force and power in the lives of all Academy boys.

Christmas Sequence and Office Hymn for Candlemas

1. Come rejoicing,
   Faithful men, with rapture singing,
   Alleluya!
2. Monarch's Monarch,
   From a holy maiden springing,
   Mighty wonder!
3. Angel of the Counsel here,
   Sun from star, he doth appear,
   Born of maiden:
4. He a sun who knows no night,
   She a star whose paler light
   Fadeth never.
5. As a star its kindred ray,
   Mary doth her Child display,
   Like in nature;
6. Still undimmed the star shines on,
   And the maiden bears a Son,
   Pure as ever.
7. Lebanon his cedar tall
   To the hyssop on the wall
   Lowly bendeth;
8. From the highest, him we name
   Word of God, to human frame
   Now descendeth.
9. Yet the synagogue denied
   What Esaias had descried:
   Blindness fell upon the guide,
   Proud, unheeding.
10. If her prophets speak in vain,
    Let her heed a Gentile strain,
    And from mystic Sybil, gain
    Light and leading.
11. No longer then delay,
    Hear what the Scriptures say,
    Why be cast away,
    A race forlorn?
12. Turn and this Child behold,
    The very Son, of old
    In God's writ foretold,
    A maid hath borne.

Quo Vadis?

On a beautiful morning last April a friend and I stood outside the little church called Quo Vadis on the Appian Way at Rome. We pondered the legend which connects that title with the appearance of our Lord to S. Peter. The tradition is that S. Peter was in flight from the fear of persecution and death in the imperial city. When he reached the outskirts of the city, suddenly the radiant figure of Christ confronted him. "Whither goest Thou, Lord?" asked the affrighted Apostle. "I go to Rome to be crucified afresh," answered the Master. And that answer dispelled the Apostle's fear. He returned to Rome. That which would have been the scene of his cowardice and loss became, by the vision of Christ, the scene of his courageous witness and victory. And blessed Peter has his high place in the glorious company of the Martyrs of Jesus.

Quo Vadis? Whither goest thou? It is a question which in numberless ways, and in many different forms, confronts the child of God as he treads the pilgrim path.

Quo Vadis? What is the supreme, the master-passion of your life? Whither goest thou as to this? In every life there is a supreme passion. If the love and service of God is not the sovereign passion of your life, then what is? Lent is an opportunity to face that question and give a serious answer to it.

Quo Vadis? Whither goest thou as to the things of the moral and spiritual life? Where are you at this moment in regard to them? Many people, perhaps most people, desire to be better. But it is not sufficient merely to desire: desire, if it is not to evaporate like a vague emotion, must take shape in determination. The Devil has a fascinating method of deluding people. He paints the future in rosy colors. He whispers to us that, on some happy day in the future, we shall awake to find ourselves well advanced in spiritual things, skilful in prayer, disciplined, and influential in life. But what he does not whisper is that apart from present effort we shall never be better than we now are: the probability is we shall be a great deal worse. Effort, effort, effort—this is what God asks, and it is the only prelude to achievement.

Quo Vadis? Whither goest thou this Lent, O Christian soul? Let the answer be:

1. By prayer, by pondering the perfect life of Jesus, and by striving to know a little more of the meaning of His cross, I go to God. My Lenten aim shall be to make Him, now and ever, more than in past days, the sovereign passion of my life.

2. I will act on the certainty that I am so fearfully and wonderfully made that God, with all His omnipotence, cannot make me perfect without my effort and consent.

3. Quo Vadis? I go to God. But God comes to me. For in prayer, in fasting, in the ministry of the Word and Sacrament, God says, "Give Me thy heart," and the heart that is given to God becomes a paradise. For God says, "Here will I dwell, for I have a delight therein."

E. Edmund Seyzinger, C.R.

Changes in the Prayer Book

Several changes in the Prayer Book Services were ratified by the last meeting of the General Convention, and it is now in order for them to be adopted for general use. The most notable changes are those in the Communion Office, and they are all changes that we make with the greatest satisfaction.

The Lord's Prayer at the beginning of the Mass may now be omitted, and the Prayer for Purity is directed to be said "before the Holy Table," instead of "at the right side of the Table." These two prayers belong to the Priest's private prayers, and are now so recognized by the Revision.

The next notable change is the removal of the Prayer of Humble Access to the point immediately before the Priest's Communion. At the Low Masses this prayer will be said in an audible tone, but at the Sung Mass and the High Mass it will, of course, come during the singing of the Agnus, and will become a private prayer at the Altar. This changed position will bring the Sanctus and the Benedictus together, so the A-men to the former will be omitted, so as to preserve the unity of this introduction to the Canon.

The Lord's Prayer will follow at once on the Prayer of Consecration, introduced by an unsatisfactory phrase, "And now, as our Saviour Christ hath taught us, let us say," and immediately after the Communion we will proceed to the Post-Communion prayers.

Such minor alterations as the authorization of "The Lord be with you," and its response, "Praise be to Thee, O Christ," after the Gospel, and the omission of the redundant phrase in the Gloria will scarcely be noticed, since these have been long in use. The Benedictus and the Agnus were not authorized, but will continue, we presume, to be generally used.

All of the authorized changes are of alterations and interpolations that have been used for many years, "without authority," in hundreds of our parishes. The only way the mind of the Church can be determined on these points is by "trying out" such changes, and if they survive and satisfy, then they will be officially approved.

These changes will be made at S. Clement's on the first Sunday in February.

A Prayer for One's Confessor

Give him, Lord, eyes to behold the truth,
  A seeing sense, that knows the eternal right,
A heart with pity filled and gentlest ruth,
  A manly faith that makes all darkness light.
Give him the power to labor for mankind,
  Make him the mouth of such as cannot speak;
Eyes let him be to groping men and blind;
  A conscience to the base; and to the weak
Let him be hands and feet; and to the foolish mind;
  And lead still further on such as Thy Kingdom seek.

The Preaching Mission

We are now, at this writing, in the midst of Fr. Seyzinger, C.R.'s preaching mission, and those who are so wise as to follow his stirring course are responding more ardently to the Power of the Spirit within them. The purpose of his coming is to deepen and intensify the intellectual and devotional life of the Parish, and to give all a new vision of the Catholic character of the Church.

Fr. Seyzinger is staying over for a few days into February, and will bring his Sermon Series to a close on Monday night, the 1st, at First Vespers of the Purification, when we will be having the Candlemas Procession and a Solemn Profession of Faith on the part of those who have been keeping the week. This will not only bring to a fitting close Fr. Seyzinger's Mission, but will make a special preparation for the Feast of the Purification.

It is hoped that there may be a Corporate Communion of the Parish on the Feast of the Purification. There will be Low Masses for Communion at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30. The Solemn Mass will be at 11.

Missionary Box

The Women's Auxiliary is preparing to send a box to one of our Southern Missionaries, The Venerable William T. Wood, S. Mary's Mission, Palaska, Florida. It is a very sad thing that any man who gives his life to the work of the Church, and especially to the hard work of the itinerant missionary life, should be so inadequately paid that strange people should have to give him the personal necessities of life. The women of the Parish always send the most complete and beautiful boxes, and it is hoped that this one for the Florida Archdeacon may be especially fine. The women are in need of funds for this box, and will welcome contributions. This particular box should make a strong appeal to the men of the congregation, and contributions may be placed on the collection plate, if carefully marked "Missionary Box."

Candlemas

O blessed Simeon, what joy is thine,
For in thine arms thou hold'st thine Infant King;
With what exalted light thine eyes do shine,
And what inspired song thy lips do sing.

Thou seest not the Virgin standing near,
Who bends adoring gaze upon her Son;
Upon thy breast there steals a holy fear:
The greatest moment of thy life is come!

And yet, dear Saint, I envy not thy lot
In off'ring to thy God His only Son,
For though thou hold'st the Lamb without a spot,
And though the great things God did speak are done,

Yet only once this happened, as 'twas told,
While every day, at God's own Altar rail,
In mine own hand I—even I—may hold
The Lamb of God, Whose Love will never fail.

—F. W. N.

The Lenten Services

The services during Lent will be largely as they have been in recent years, with but the one additional service, that on Wednesday evening. S. Clement's maintains a busy round of services throughout the year, and Lent should be a season for the members of the Parish training themselves in regular habits of regular attendance at the regular services of the Church. The Daily Mass should be your training ground. There is room in every life for more frequent Communion. Do head your Lenten Rule with Mass and Communion.

On Wednesday evenings Fr. Smith will be the preacher, and the sermon will be followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

The Rector will preach on Friday evenings, when the Sermon will be followed by Stations of the Cross.

Fr. Severance will be the preacher at Solemn Vespers, Sunday evenings in Lent.

Fr. Ewing will preach at the Mothers' Meeting Service in S. John's Chapel, Thursday evenings at 8.

Remember the Daily Masses, at 7, 8 and 9.30.

Missionary Meeting

Mrs. John Hill, Educational Secretary of the Diocese, has been invited to conduct an evening of missionary instruction and discussion in the Parish House, Monday evening, the 8th. She will explain carefully the Church's program for the year, and also the intensive work undertaken for the winter in the study of Latin America.

This meeting has been arranged for the evening so as to give a larger number of people an opportunity to hear about the missionary work of the Church, and it is hoped that a large number of men will be present.

Missionary Offerings

Every effort will be made this year to complete the Parish's missionary quota. The Rector is one of the Bishop's appointees on the Executive Council, and he feels very keenly that his Parish must not fall behind in its gifts.

A more intensive effort will be made for the Lenten offering, which is primarily the work of the children of the Church. It is hoped that members of the congregation who have no children of their own will take the money boxes for grandchildren or cousins or nieces or nephews or God-children. By this means at least $1,500 should be given.

Above all, let there be more prayers for the Church's Missionary work.

Parish Notes

FR. WHITTEMORE, O.H.C., met the Philadelphia members of the Oblates of Mount Calvary at lunch at the Clergy House on S. Paul's Day, and gave a short conference in the Church during the afternoon.

THE RECTOR has received his commission as a First Lieutenant in the Chaplain Reserves of the National Army.

Parish Notes

FLOWER MEMORIALS have been suggested as a means of providing proper flowers for the High Altar on Sundays and other Feast Days. Such a memorial on an ordinary Sunday would cost about ten dollars, and on one of the greater Feasts might cost twenty-five dollars. Three days have been taken—January 25th, Conversion of S. Paul, in memory of Miss Patty D. Neill; Trinity Sunday, and S. Clement's Day, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Lea. Further information will be gladly supplied by Miss Arnold, The Monterey, 43rd Street and Chester Avenue.

S. BARNABAS' GUILD FOR NURSES will have their monthly service and meeting at S. Clement's Church, Wednesday evening, February 3rd, and Fr. Seyzinger, C.R., will be the preacher. A very attractive musical hour has been arranged to follow in the Parish House.

THE ASSOCIATES OF THE COMMUNITY OF S. MARY will make their Corporate Communion in the Octave of the Purification at the eight o'clock Mass, Friday morning, the fifth.

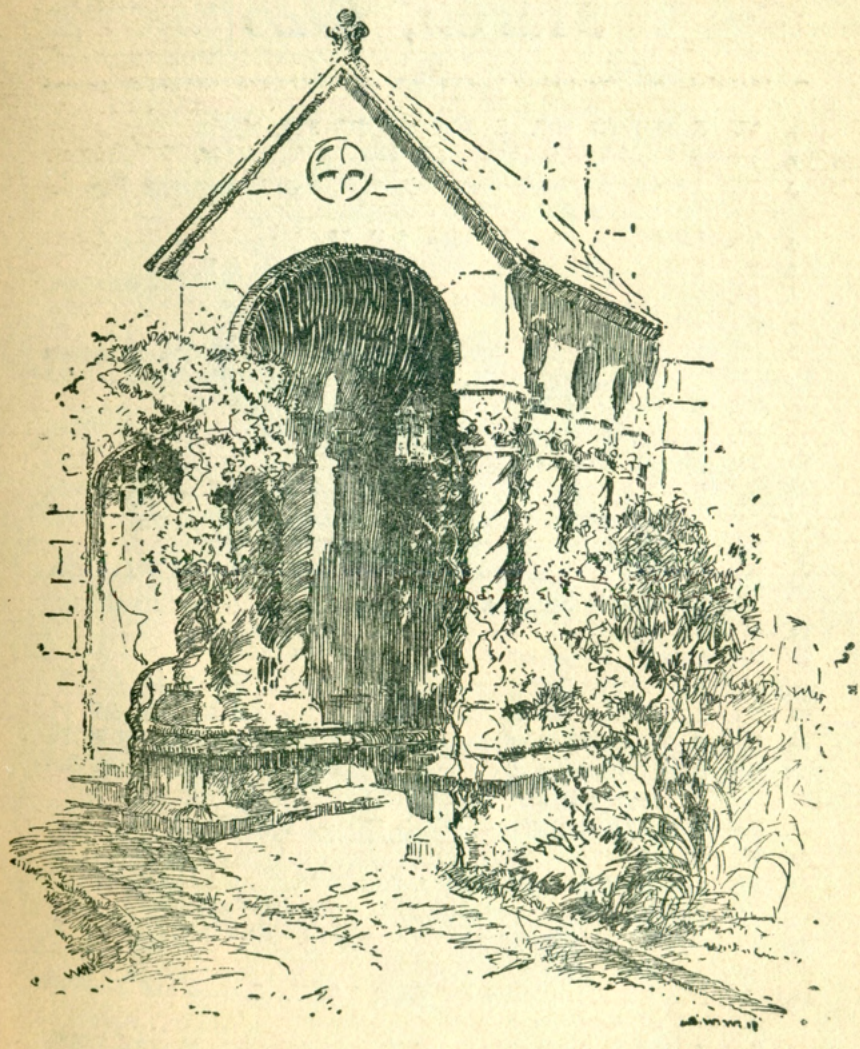
THE GIRLS' CLUB will give their annual pre-Lenten play and entertainment in the Parish House, Wednesday evening, February 10th. Tickets are now on sale.

THE DEAN OF NASHOTAH HOUSE reports that he has received over six hundred dollars from members of S. Clement's Parish in response to his appeal, made when he preached here on the Sunday in the Octave of the Epiphany.

S. SIMEON'S SUMMER GUILD will have their annual meeting and supper in the Parish House, Saturday evening, February 6th. This Guild is composed of people who are interested in the work being done at S. Simeon's Church, Wildwood, N. J. Annual memberships of one dollar will be welcomed by Miss Borden, 412 North 34th Street.

SOME FORTY of the younger men of the Parish met Fr. Seyzinger, C.R., at supper in the Clergy House, before the Festival Service of S. Vincent's Guild, when Fr. Seyzinger was the preacher.

THROATS WILL BE BLESSED after the Masses on S. Blase's Day.



SHROVE TUESDAY CONFESSIONS will be heard at the usual hours, between 10 and 12, 3 and 5, and in the evening between 7 and 9.

ASH WEDNESDAY, the Rector will preach at the Solemn Mass, and Fr. Smith at Solemn Vespers in the evening, when the Office will be sung by the full choir.

THE EMBER DAYS, occurring during the last week of February, are days of abstinence. The last General Convention rescinded the Rogation Days' fast, but not for Ember Days.

LENTEN MITE BOXES for the Missionary Offerings may be obtained from the Clergy or from the Sisters.

Within Thy Wounds Hide Me

The great theologians of the Thirteenth Century never wearied of insisting that the Sacraments of the Church derive their merits from the Wounds of Christ. Indeed, it is easy to see how, denying this premise, Protestantism has virtually rejected the Sacraments altogether, regarding them as purely carnal and external, if not positively superstitious and intrinsically evil. But once the connection is admitted—once it is seen that the wounded side of Christ has spiritually extended itself into time and space, it becomes not only possible but highly reasonable and most comforting for us nearly two thousand years after His passion, to ask Him to hide us in His wounds. It means that we are asking Him to allow us to live close to Him through the means which we call Sacraments.

The sacramental life is at once a difficult and an easy thing: it is at once simple and involved.

It is difficult because we live among so many people to whom considerations like these mean little or nothing; and the strongest man is influenced greatly by the sentiment of the people among whom he lives—we call it "public opinion." It is easy because God does so much and asks so little.

It is simple because the consecration of the will is really the only necessary thing—all the rest flows from that: "If thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light." It is involved because a human is so complex a thing. A certain author describes one of his characters as "not so much a human being as a civil war." The expression is apt; the phenomenon all too common. Who of us has not felt like a civil war, one in which no armistice seems possible?

There are so many sad misconceptions of the Sacraments that one scarcely wonders at the smallness of the Church's victory in the world. The Holy Communion is regarded as a sort of symbolic passion-play; or even in some places as a public advertisement of the communicant's good standing in his community, so that to deny the Sacrament would be virtually defamation of character. Holy Baptism is regarded as an excuse for a party; Holy Matrimony is a matter of biological interest. And so it goes. Almost the rarest conception of the purpose of the Sacraments is the true one—that they are intended to further the union of the soul with God.

Yes, mysticism, if you like. But in a very broad sense. If mysticism means union with the Infinite, then the sacramental life is at once the easiest and surest mystical method. Perfectly, though perhaps not sensibly, united to God in Baptism; freed from sin in Absolution, nourished by the Divine Essence in Holy Communion, fortified in Confirmation, knit to another for the furtherance of God's Glory and His Kingdom in Holy Matrimony, consecrated to the sacrificing priesthood in Holy Order, and "raised up" in Extreme Unction—all this is for one simple end—to bring the soul into union with God.

Empty forms can do no such thing, be they accompanied by all the auto-hypnotism in the world. It is only because the Sacraments flow from the Wounds of Christ.

Mysticism is essentially a hidden thing. When the Saint cried, "Within Thy Wounds hide me," and when the poet wrote, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me, let me hide myself in Thee," they were both conscious of this element.

So the sacramental life, while in a sense it cannot be hid, like the city set on a hill, for men will take knowledge of those who have been with Jesus, must be a quiet, modest, unostentatious and mystical thing, transcending definition or description, incapable of scientific classification and nomenclature. "Your life is hid with Christ in God."

H. Baxter Liebler.

The Women's Retreat

The Annual Retreat for Women will be held as usual on Mid-Lent Sunday, and the three Meditations will be given in S. John's Chapel by the Rector.

The Retreat, as usual, will open with the Mass for Communions at eight o'clock, followed by breakfast in the Parish House. The first Meditation will be at ten, the second at two, and the third at half-past three o'clock. Dinner will be served in the Parish House at a quarter before one, and the day will close with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament immediately after the last meditation, which should be about four o'clock.

This Retreat is open to all women, whether of the Parish or not, and the members of the congregation are urged to make it known to their friends. Those wishing to attend the Retreat, and be present for their meals, are asked to notify the Sister-in-Charge, 110 North Woodstock Street.

An offering will be received at the close of the day to defray the expenses.

The Retreat for Men

It has been our custom for many years to have an annual Retreat for Men on Passion Sunday. This has been a very helpful day to the few that have attended, but it seems that such a day should reach a larger number of men.

For this reason a change will be made in both the time and nature of the Retreat this year. Instead of being held on Passion Sunday, it will be on the Saturday evening before.

The Retreat will open with Evensong at five o'clock; the first Meditation will follow at five-thirty, the Angelus at six, and supper at six-thirty. The second Meditation will follow at seven-thirty, Compline at eight, and the final Meditation at eight-thirty. Those who keep these few hours are then expected to keep the silence as far as possible until after they have made their Communions the following morning.

Notices will be sent out for this Quiet Evening to all the Acolytes in the city, and all other men, both of the Parish and the City, will be welcomed.

The conductor will be announced in the formal notices.

Parish Notes

ON THE FEAST OF THE ANNUNCIATION, Thursday, March 25th, there will be a Solemn High Mass at eleven o'clock. The following day, Friday in Passion Week, is the Feast of the Compassion of Our Lady, or the Seven Sorrows of Our Lady, as it is more generally called. The Seven Sorrows are as follows: The Sorrow at the Prophecy of Simeon, at the Flight into Egypt, at having Lost the Holy Child at Jerusalem, at Meeting Jesus on His Way to Calvary, at Standing at the Foot of the Cross, at Jesus Being Taken Down from the Cross, and the Sorrow at the Burial of Christ.

THE GIRLS' CLUB gave a very successful and well acted play the week before Lent began, and in spite of a very stormy evening, they played to a "full house." Out of the proceeds they have contributed fifty dollars to the appeal made by the Dean of Nashotah House for his Seminary.

THE ALTAR HANGINGS for the Chapel at the Episcopal Academy were in place in time for the Consecration of the Chapel. The Altar is a flat Altar, with a Dossil behind and the Riddels at each end. These hangings around the three sides of the Altar are of a heavy two-toned blue brocade. The Altar Frontal has a background of the same shade of blue, with stripes of dull gold and dull rose, bordered in black. The superfrontal is of the two-toned blue brocade, and is finished with a dull gold and blue fringe. The whole effect is very lovely, and S. Clement's has received expressions of the deepest gratitude from the authorities of the Academy.

THE RECTOR hopes to preach at the Three Hours' Devotion on Good Friday. The Offerings on this day are given to the Jerusalem Mission.

PASSION SUNDAY AND PALM SUNDAY nights the Choir will sing Macfarlane's "Story of the Cross." There will be no sermon.

WEDNESDAY EVENINGS IN LENT there is a special preaching service, at which Fr. Smith is the preacher, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Friday evenings there is Stations of the Cross, preceded by an address by the Rector, based on the "Thou hast" of the thirtieth Psalm. Fr. Severance is the preacher Sunday evenings.

THE RECTOR IS PREACHING at S. Mary's Church, Ardmore; S. Luke's Church, Lebanon; the Church of the Redemption, Philadelphia; and at old Christ Church, in Holy Week. He is also giving a Quiet Day for the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese of New Jersey in Trinity Church, Trenton.

DIOCESAN STATISTICS show that during 1925 S. Clement's Church gave $5,492.05 to the Missionary Work of the Church, as applying against a quota of $6,500. It is earnestly hoped that the parish's full expectations may be reached this year.

DURING HOLY WEEK the services will be as they have been in recent years. Stations of the Cross at eight, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Friday evening, Devotions before the Cross and Sermon. Holy Sabbath, Blessing of the New Fire and the Paschal Candle, with First Vespers of Easter at five in the afternoon.

FR. KELLOGG, a former Assistant Priest in the Parish, and now at Emmanuel Church, Newport, has been a recent guest in the Clergy House; and also Fr. Hall (the Rev. Charles Mercer), the Rector of Trinity Church, Bridgeport.

THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL MASS of the Guild of All Souls will be held at S. Clement's in April; and the annual Festival Mass for the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament in June.

TUESDAY EVENINGS, at eight o'clock, during Lent, Travel Lectures, illustrated with lantern slides, are being given in the Parish House. Opportunity is given to make an offering for the Parish Missionary Quota. The subjects of the lectures are announced on Sunday on the Bulletin Board in the Church porch.

MISS ARNOLD has given S. Clement's Church a pair of very handsome silver-mounted Cruets for use in the Crypt Chapel, in memory of her sister, Susan Holmes Arnold, the first anniversary of whose death fell on the 26th of February.

FATHER ROCHE (the Rev. Hibbert H. P.), for many years the Rector of the Church of the Transfiguration in West Philadelphia, was buried from S. Clement's Church, Friday morning, February 26th. There was a Low Mass of Requiem for the family and his friends, which was said by Fr. Ward, Rector of S. Elisabeth's Church. The Bishop of the Diocese read the Burial Office later in the morning, and at eleven o'clock there was a High Mass of Requiem, followed by the Absolutions of the Body. The Parish Clergy officiated at this Mass, and the Rector went on to Long Branch for the interment on the following day.

MISSIONARY OFFERINGS. It is most earnestly hoped that all who have taken the little mite boxes for the Lenten Offering are using them, and really making an effort in the way of self-denial to give generously to the great cause of the Church's Missionary Work.

EASTER CONFESSIONS will be heard at the usual hours during Holy Week, and regular penitents in the Parish are urged to come early to this Sacrament, so that the last hours of the week are not over-crowded for the Clergy. With all the extra services and extra preaching, this week is a great physical strain on the Clergy, so they make this plea for Confessions as early as possible.

A CHART FOR WATCHERS before the Altar of Repose, arranged in periods of a half hour each, will be posted in the Church porch for your selection of times for special watching and prayer. The Acolytes, as usual, will keep the watch through the night.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS ARE OFFERED for those assisting at Mass. People should stand for the reading of the Offertory, even though it is prefaced with "Let us pray," and when a hymn is sung at this point the congregation will stand. Communicants are asked to come to the Altar while the Priest is making his communion, and not to wait until he turns to the congregation.

AT A FUNERAL MASS, the congregation should stand for the Absolutions, and remain standing until after the Recessional.

THE CONGREGATION is here reminded that on Palm Sunday they STAND during the entire ceremony of the Blessing of the Palms. This ceremony, followed by the Palm Procession, will begin at half-past ten, and last for about an hour. Simple music will be chosen for the Mass, so the entire service should be finished by half-past twelve o'clock.

Passion Week Retreat for Women

For many years a Retreat has been given on Thursday in Passion Week for the members of S. Mary's Guild, which many women of the Parish and outside the Parish have joined.

This year the day falls on the Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary. The Retreat will begin with the first Meditation at ten o'clock, followed by the Solemn Mass at eleven. The Intercessions will be at noon, with dinner at half-past twelve. The afternoon meditations will be at two and four, with other devotional exercises at the other hours. Supper will follow Vespers, and the day will close with the Guild Office at eight o'clock.

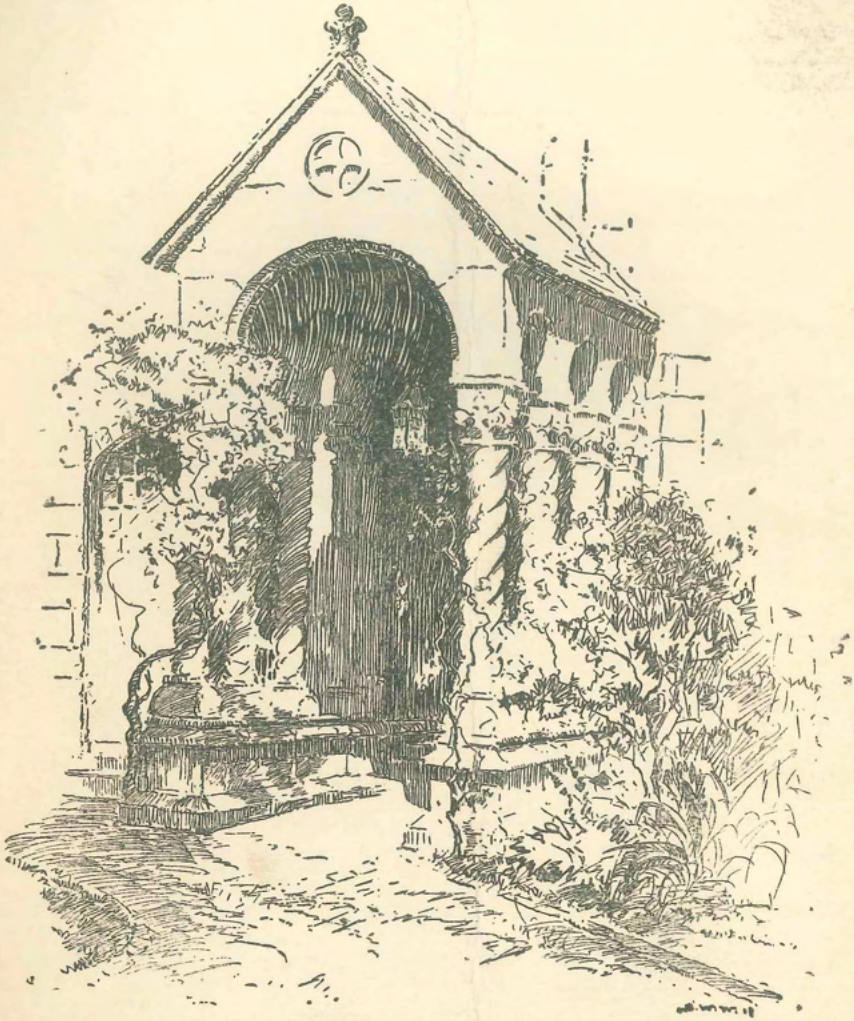
Any women wishing to keep this day are asked to notify the Sister-in-Charge at 110 North Woodstock Street.

No further invitation to any of these Retreats is necessary. Just tell the Clergy or the Sisters that you want to make the Retreat.

Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

This Confraternity was founded many years ago in England to promote the honor due our Blessed Lord in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar.

Its members are pledged to be regular and faithful in their Mass attendance at their Communions, to pray daily for the Confraternity, its objects and its members, and to do all in their power to commend the Catholic Faith by the devoutness of their own lives.



The initiatory fees are one dollar, and thereafter the annual dues are fifty cents. The monthly meetings of the Confraternity are on the First Friday of each month, when we keep the Holy Hour before the Blessed Sacrament.

A monthly intercession paper is published, which gives you suggestions for your daily prayers, and also the special prayers asked by members of the Confraternity.

The Rector would be very glad to talk with any members of Parish or Congregation who would like to know more about the Confraternity.

S. Clement's has the largest membership of any Ward in the American Church, but this does not mean that its members are the greatest in prayer and faithfulness to the Altar.

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

While this letter will come to your hands at the most solemn time of Holy Week, its purpose is to bid you to the Queen of Feasts, and to wish you all joy and peace in your Easter Communion.

Lent seems to have been well kept, as far as one is able to judge from the attendance at the various services. And a good Lent should mean a good Easter. The Crown comes only by way of the Cross, and those who have most faithfully watched the Passion will have the keener vision for the Resurrection, and the more ready heart to appropriate the Easter Blessings.

But Easter must not be construed as a time of graduation, when the Lenten Rule is to be torn up and cast aside, and when one slips back into the old easy ways. Lent should have been a season when regular habits of prayer and communion and meditation were fixed, so they continue throughout the rest of your life. It is because of this that S. Clement's has no extra Lenten services, and so the season affords you the opportunity to cultivate coming to the Lord's Temple at hours that are maintained throughout the year.

The adventure of Lent and Passiontide brings you to great heights in the Easter Feast, in your Spiritual Pilgrimage. But there are further and greater heights in store for you, if you persevere in the right way. This year, if you have been faithful, brings you nearer, and so should each Lent. The test whereby you may measure yourself is whether or not you can truly say, "Nearer, my God, to Thee, nearer to Thee than ever before."

So may we all, Priests and People together, realize in our Easter Communion, in the unity of Love, the joy of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, as He confirms in us the fruit of His Passion, and exalts us in the Power of His Risen Life.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Sacrament of Penance

Sacramental Confession or Penance is the institution of our Blessed Lord. It is Christ's own way of forgiving sins. It is the spiritual washing in His Precious Blood. He said: "The Son of Man hath power on earth to forgive sin." He gave to His Apostles the special Commission, which to-day is given to each Priest at his Ordination: "Receive the Holy Ghost:..... Whose sins thou dost forgive, they are forgiven; and whose sins thou dost retain, they are retained." To deny or question Sacramental Confession in the face of this is to open one's self to the criticism of not being able to see straight or to think clearly!

In his Ministerial Work, a Priest (while he needs as a man all that he asks others to seek) is called in the Bible "the Ambassador of God," who "speaks in Christ's stead." Our Lord said: "As the Father hath sent Me, so send I you." It is God's way to work with individual souls through the Divinely Appointed Ministry of the Priest. A person cannot Baptize himself, nor Confirm himself, nor give himself the Holy Communion, or solemnize his own Marriage or Bury himself! What folly and lack of reason to think that, when he cannot do these things, which God has appointed to be done through His Ministers, acting in His stead, that he can forgive his own sins or say God has forgiven them, when he does not use the means that Christ has provided for the real cleansing of the soul. Many a person will have a rude awakening to the truth when, at death, he is judged and finds too late that he refused this Sacrament.

The Bible says: "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the Truth is not in us. But if we confess our sins, God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." A Confession made in all sincerity, in faith, love and repentance, is indeed a great privilege and joy. The sins are laid at the Feet of Jesus, and the Priest, "to whom God hath given power and commandment to declare and pronounce to His people, being penitent, the absolution and remission of their sins," says the authoritative words, "I absolve thee," as our Lord, acting through him spiritually, washes the soul in the Precious Blood, "which cleanseth from all sin," and the soul is restored to a state of grace, to begin life afresh, now pleasing in God's sight. You rise from death to sin in the newness of life.—A. C. Knowles.

Annual Festival for the Guild of All Souls

The Annual Festival High Mass, which will be a Votive Mass of the Resurrection, will be sung this year at S. Clement's, Tuesday, April 20th, at a quarter past eleven o'clock. This hour is set to enable the people from New York to reach the church after the arrival of the eleven o'clock train.

Fr. McClenthen, Rector of Mount Calvary Church, Baltimore, will be the preacher.

Immediately after the High Mass and Sermon, there will be an informal business meeting in the Parish House, followed by a stand-up luncheon, for which tickets may be purchased, and to which all the members of the Guild are most cordially invited.

After the luncheon there will be a meeting of the Council. Fr. Joiner is the Superior General of the Guild in America.

It is hoped that the members will make this day and its devotions known to their friends, and that there may be a record attendance.

The Guild of All Souls

The Guild of All Souls was founded in the English Church, but has long been established in the Church in America. Its main object is to pray for the Guild's departed members. Many faithful Catholics are alone in their Faith amongst their Protestant families and relatives, and so they cannot look to their intimate friends and relatives to pray for them after death. Many others will want to accumulate as many prayers as possible, and will seek membership in this Guild, where remembrance will be made on all anniversaries in every Church where a Branch of the Guild is to be found.

There is an initiatory fee of one dollar, and thereafter annual dues of seventy-five cents. There is a quarterly intercession paper, giving the names of all those to be remembered each week, and the obligation of the members is to say these weekly prayers for the departed, to pray for the Guild and its work, and to assist to the Offering of the Holy Sacrifice for the Faithful Departed whenever possible.

The offerings of money made to the Guild are used in assisting Parishes and Missions to equip their Altars for more reverent and fitting Offerings of the Mass.

The Guild is doing a great work, and it is hoped that more members of S. Clement's Church will come into membership with the Guild of All Souls.

His Cross and Mine

"I am crucified with Christ"

I nailed Thee, blessed Jesus, to Thy Cross,
Thou bearest mine, lest I should suffer loss.
I gave but gall and vinegar to Thee,
Thy Body and Thy Blood Thou gavest me.
All help Thou didst refuse, though Thou wert King,
But 'round my cross the Holy Angels sing.
I tore Thy raiment, Blessed Lord, from Thee,
But Thy best robe Thou bringest forth for me.
And my companions on the cross? Ah! Lord,
The Saints and Martyrs who through fire and sword
Looked up to Thee, and seeing Thee above,
Ten thousand times ten thousand died for love;
All these Thy Saints are crucified with me:
Two thieves alone were crucified with Thee.
I hear that awful cry, "My God, My God!"
And marvel why Thy Feet that path have trod.
I stand apart, I may not enter in;
But as I look upon my life of sin,
This is to me the crowning mystery,
My God, why hast Thou NOT forsaken me?

—Rev. W. H. Mockridge.

Parish Notes

THERE ARE SEVERAL VERY NEEDY FAMILIES in the Parish that are most worthy of help, and whose demands have made large inroads on the Poor Fund. The Clergy and Sisters will be glad to tell any people of these cases, and hope to appeal to your sympathy and support.

A COMPLIMENTARY DANCE, under the auspices of S. Vincent's Guild, will be held in the Parish House the Wednesday evening in Easter Week. It is hoped that all of our young people—there are no old these days—will join the party.

THE ANNUAL EASTER PARTY for the Mothers' Meeting and for S. Mary's Guild will be held in the Parish House, Thursday evening after Easter, when the children will entertain their elders with an Easter play and pantomime.

S. BARNABAS' GUILD FOR NURSES will hold their monthly service, followed by a Social Hour, in the Parish House, Wednesday evening, April 14th. The Service in the Church at eight o'clock is open, of course, to any who may wish to come.

THE CATHOLIC CONGRESS BOOKLETS have arrived, containing the papers and addresses that were read at the First Congress in New Haven last November. They are for sale, at fifty cents apiece, in the Cope Room. The next Congress will be held in October in Milwaukee.

MONEY FOR FLOWERS FOR THE ALTARS is always needed. Flowers are very expensive, and with the utmost pains and economy much more money is spent than ever before. The flowers for a Sunday, or for a month on the Lady Altar, or for a Feast or Season at the Shrine, make a very fitting memorial. The Flowers for Christmas Day have just been offered for such a Memorial.

THE MITE BOXES for the Children's Lenten Offering may be returned at any time. It is hoped all the money will be turned in by Low Sunday. Over a hundred Mite Boxes have been given out.

BISHOP MOULTON, of Utah, who is assisting the Bishop of the Diocese during Lent, will be with us at S. Clement's on Easter Day.

THE RETREATS were very well attended this year, and the spirit of devotion and piety was very evident at each one. S. Mary's Retreat was given by Fr. Caine, and the one for men, made by over fifty men and boys, was given by Fr. Harriman, Rector of the Church of S. James the Less.

THE EASTER OFFERING is to be divided between the Fund for Parish Expenses and our Missionary Quota.

FROM ASH WEDNESDAY through Palm Sunday there have been 1,391 Communions made at our Altars, and the Blessed Sacrament has been carried, during that same period, to thirty-one persons.

THE EASTER DAY MASS will be Schubert in G. The Hymns for the Procession will be the familiar Easter Hymns that every one loves to sing.

The Vestry

The Annual Election of Vestrymen took place in the Parish House on Easter Monday, and the following were elected to serve for the ensuing three years: Messrs. Lukens, Clay, Homan and Harry G. Tyson to take the place of J. Lawrence Wetherill, resigned.

The Vestry was organized the following day at the regular stated meeting, Easter Tuesday. Mr. Clay was re-elected Secretary, Mr. Ritter as Accounting Warden, and the Rector appointed Mr. Edward A. Casey to be Rector's Warden. He also reappointed Messrs. Woodruff, Ritter and Adams to serve on the Music Committee.

The following Committees were then elected by the Vestry, to serve for the ensuing year:—

Finance:—Messrs. Bayard, Clay and Homan.
Property:—Messrs. Mayer, Sellers and E. A. Casey.
Insurance:—Messrs. Bayard, Ritter and Homan.
Yarnall Education Fund:—Messrs. Bayard, Woodruff and Mayer.
Yarnall Library Fund:—The Bishop, the Rector, Messrs. Woodruff, Ritter and Sellers.

Novena to the Holy Ghost

The First Novena, nine days of intercession and prayer, was that kept by the Holy Apostles and the other Disciples, as they waited in the upper room between the Ascension of our Lord, and the Descent of the Holy Ghost at Pentecost.

In Commemoration of their days of waiting in prayer and meditation for the fulfillment of their Lord's promise, so we prepare ourselves for the Church's great Feast of Pentecost.

These Novena Prayers will be recited in the Church after every Mass, and also at the close of Vespers in the Chapel each evening. Those who are prevented from thus saying them in the Church are urged to use them daily in their homes.

These prayers consist of the Our Father, the Hail Mary, and the Veni Creator. Then say the Collect for the Sunday after Ascension Day and the ejaculation: "Grant, we beseech Thee, Almighty and Merciful God, that the Holy Ghost may come upon us, and by His gracious indwelling make us the temples of His glory."

The following are the considerations for each day's prayer and meditation:—

First Day:—The Holy Ghost is God.
Second Day:—The Holy Ghost Descending on Mary.
Third Day:—The Descent of the Holy Ghost at Pentecost.
Fourth Day:—The Holy Ghost and the Church.
Fifth Day:—The Holy Ghost and the Soul.
Sixth Day:—The Holy Ghost and Unity.
Seventh Day:—The Holy Ghost and the Sacraments.
Eighth Day:—The Holy Ghost and Redemption.
Ninth Day:—The Holy Ghost and Death.

Repairs

For the past few years serious deteriorations have been taking place in the outer surface of the exterior of the Church. The peculiar quality of the red stone has been responsible for this scaling off, and so extensive had it become that the dampness was appearing on the inner walls.

Last summer three of these surfaces were treated by a modern process, the worn stones were removed or cut down, and a composition very carefully worked into the walls, so that it is almost impossible to tell on these walls where the work was done. The East wall and tower must be done in the same fashion this year. This is the largest wall, and with the tower, will cost almost as much as the other three walls put together.

We were able to pay for the work done last summer only because the contractor was willing to wait for part of his payment until after the beginning of this year, so considerable amounts of this year's income in the Yarnall Maintenance Fund have already been expended on last year's work.

A special appeal is herewith made for your most generous offerings on the Feast of Pentecost for Parish Expenses. This repair work is most necessary and must be done this summer, and whatever money is needed beyond the sum we have in hand will have to be borrowed. The smallness or greatness of the sum to be borrowed will depend upon the generosity of your Whitsun Day offerings.

The workers are busy now on the Canopy for the Pulpit, which Miss Lea and her brothers are giving as a memorial to their mother. Mrs. Lea gave the pulpit just shortly before her death in memory of her husband. It is hoped that the Canopy will be in place by the autumn, and that by that time the pulpit will have been colored.

Mr. Sellers is also working on a plan for the construction of a wrought iron bracket on which the cover of the Font may be swung. It seems to be quite unsafe with the present rope and pulley. This can be made a real architectural feature in the Church.

There will be no other extraordinary repairs this year.

Service at the Opening of the Sesqui

The Sesqui-Centennial is scheduled to open officially the first week in June, and it seems fitting and proper that the Church should have her part and share in this event.

At the suggestion of Dr. Mockridge, S. Clement's will join with S. James' in such a service on Sunday evening, June 6th. There will be no service in S. Clement's that evening.

There will be Choral Evensong at S. James' Church at eight o'clock, followed by a Solemn Procession and Te Deum, sung by the combined choirs of the two Churches. The Rector of S. Clement's will preach the Sermon.

Please make this service known to your friends and bring them with you.

Annual Meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

The Annual Meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament will be held in S. Clement's on the Octave Day of Corpus Christ, June 10th.

A Solemn High Mass will be offered at 11.15, with the Right Reverend Reginald Heber Weller, D.D., Bishop of the Diocese of Fond du Lac, Pontificating. The Sermon will be preached, it is hoped, by the Reverend Joseph G. H. Barry, D.D., Rector of the Church of S. Mary the Virgin in New York City. Luncheon in the Parish House will follow the Mass, and the annual meeting of the Confraternity will convene at half-past two in the afternoon.

At four o'clock in the afternoon the Bishop will give an address, followed by Pontificial Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Luncheon Tickets for the C. B. S.

Luncheon tickets will be sold for the annual meeting of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament on June 10th. It is earnestly requested that those who expect to come to the luncheon will purchase their tickets promptly. It is necessary to know a few days ahead how many may be expected.

At the luncheon on the day of the annual meeting for the Guild of All Souls, there was considerable confusion, lack of food and service, because this was not done. Three days before the meeting less than twenty tickets had been actually sold for the luncheon, and on a mere venture of faith luncheon was ordered for fifty people. When the day came, eighty-seven people wanted luncheon! Fortunately the caterer was near the Church, so extra food was brought in, but it made long delays, and quite spoiled what had been planned to be a very attractive luncheon. Please help us to avoid a repetition of this inconvenience.

Exhibition of Vestments

It has been our custom for some years to have an annual exhibition of our Vestments on the afternoon of Ascension Day. It will be held again this year, from three o'clock until half-past five in the afternoon. Each year we are adding to our Vestments, and there are several very fine new pieces to show this year.

At the same time the Rector will show his collection of Arundel Prints, to which he is adding all the time, and which now covers about a third of the entire collection.

Offerings

At this season of the year the annual appeals for two regular funds must be made. First, the Summer Outing Fund, which provides the only vacations and summer outings that many of our people receive. Every one, before leaving for a holiday, should remember these less fortunate ones, and help them to have a bit of the sea or the country. The offering on Ascension Day is for this Fund, but it must be supplemented by other gifts. Your offering may be placed on the collection plate at any service, and should be plainly marked, "Summer Outing Fund."

The second appeal is for the Choir's Outing Fund. Last year they went to the Summer Farm of St. James' Church, where it is hoped to send them this year. We need about three hundred dollars to give the boys ten days on the farm. Your offerings for this fund may be given in the same way as for the other, or may be handed directly to Mr. Fry.

Strawberry Festival

The Girls' Club is planning to give a Strawberry Festival in the Parish House on Tuesday evening in Whitsun Week, May 25th. There will be plenty of ice cream, strawberries, and cake. There will be a table of fancy articles for sale, and also home-made candies.

During the early part of the evening there will be music, some solos and other numbers, and some recitations. Later in the evening there will be an orchestra and dancing.

This evening comes towards the close of a busy year's work, and it is hoped that many can spend this evening together before scattering for the summer holidays.

Masses of Mary

On the five Ferial Days in May, the Masses will be Votive of the Blessed Virgin Mary. This is the Collect: "O Lord God Almighty, we beseech Thee to keep us Thy servants both outwardly in our bodies and inwardly in our souls: that by the glorious intercession of blessed Mary Ever-Virgin we may be delivered from our present sadness and attain in the end to everlasting joy." The Epistle is found in Ecclesiasticus 24: 9, and the Holy Gospel in S. John 19: 25.

The Eve of the Ascension

On the eve of Ascension Day, we will be singing First Vespers of the Feast in the Church at eight o'clock, in special honor of Florence Nightingale, for the Guild of S. Barnabas for Nurses. The Reverend John Mockridge, D.D., Rector of S. James' Church, will preach the Sermon. The Choir will sing Handel's Hallelujah Chorus.

On Ascension Day there will be Low Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30, and a Solemn High Mass at 11 o'clock.

Mass Propers for the Feasts

ASCENSION DAY.—Introit. Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? Alleluia. This same Jesus shall come in like manner as ye have seen Him go into heaven. Alleluia, Alleluia. O clap your hands together all ye people: O sing unto God with the voice of melody.

Gradual. Alleluia. Alleluia. God is gone up with a merry noise, and the Lord with the sound of the trump, Alleluia. Christ ascending up on high: led captivity captive, and gave gifts to men, Alleluia.

SUNDAY AFTER ASCENSION. Introit. Hearken unto my voice O Lord, when I cry unto Thee, Alleluia. My heart hath talked of Thee, seek ye my face, Thy face Lord will I seek; O hide not Thou Thy face from me, Alleluia, Alleluia. The Lord is my light and my salvation: Whom then shall I fear?

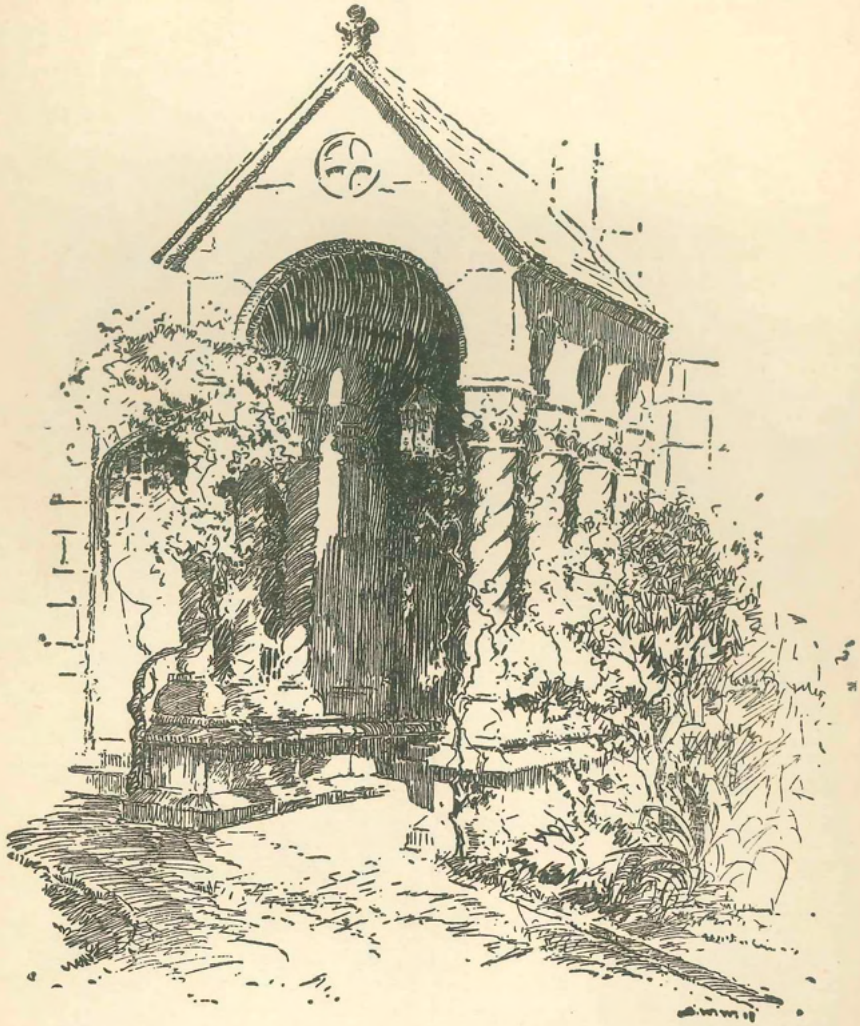
Gradual. Alleluia. Alleluia. The Lord reigneth over the heathen: God sitteth upon His holy seat, Alleluia. I will not leave you Comfortless; I go and I come again unto you, and your heart shall rejoice, Alleluia.

WHITSUNDAY. Introit. The Spirit of the Lord filleth the world, Alleluia. And that which containeth all things hath knowledge of the voice, Alleluia, Alleluia. Let God arise and let His enemies be scattered: let them also that hate Him flee before Him.

Gradual. Alleluia. Alleluia. Send forth Thy Spirit and they shall be made: and Thou shalt renew the face of the earth, Alleluia. The Holy Ghost, proceeding from the Throne: enlightened the hearts of the Apostles to-day with invisible power, Alleluia.

TRINITY SUNDAY. Introit. Blessed be the Holy Trinity and the undivided Unity. We will give thanks to Him, for He hath shown His mercy upon us. Let us bless the Father and the Son: with the Holy Ghost.

Gradual. Blessed art Thou O Lord that beholdest the depths: and sittest upon the Cherubim. O bless the God of heaven, for He hath shown His mercy upon us. Alleluia. Alleluia. Blessed art Thou, O Lord God of our fathers: and greatly to be praised forever, Alleluia.



Antiphons to the Magnificat

SUNDAY AFTER THE ASCENSION. These things have I told you, that when the time shall come, ye may remember that I told you of them, Alleluia.

WHITSUNDAY. To-day is the Day of Pentecost fully come, Alleluia: to-day the Holy Ghost appeared unto the disciples in fire, and gave them gifts of grace: sending them into all the world to preach, and to testify: He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved, Alleluia.

TRINITY SUNDAY. Thee, the Father unbegotten; Thee, the only begotten Son; Thee, the Holy Ghost the Comforter; the Holy and undivided Trinity, with all our heart and mouth we confess, we praise, and we bless: Glory be to Thee for ever.

Religion on the Road

"Sumer is icumen in"

The Editor ventures to publish the following article, without Fr. McCune's permission, which appeared a year ago in the Parish Paper of S. Ignatius' Church in New York City:

"Sumer is icumen in." So runs the old song. And as summer comes in, nowadays, people go out of our cities and out of our Churches. This is stated as a fact and not as a reproach. There is no reason why they should not go out, if they can and will—out of the city and out of the city Churches—provided that they go into other Churches. But do they, always? Or do they, being on vacation and wishing to travel light, leave their religion behind, along with other excess luggage? We are all such creatures of habit that, once we leave the place where we are used to saying our prayers and making our Communions, we are likely to give them up altogether. There is no pretending that religion is easy on the road. It is seldom easy at home. But it is even harder to be faithful away from home.

And yet there is much to be said for going away occasionally. It not only makes one appreciate his parish more justly on his return, but also shows him our religion is not confined to one parish or one priest. The wanderer comes to know that the Church is Catholic in fact as in name. And, seeing other parishes, he does well to take an interest in them, and to say little of his own. Think of it he may and must, but he will realize that other men are thinking of theirs, too, in which, alas, they are more interested than in his. And so he must assume a virtue, if he has it not, and try to think and speak with them. This is not hypocrisy, but charity. It may end in his acquiring a genuine interest in them and their parishes, and even in their caring more for his than if he had told them of it overmuch.

But the theme of this familiar epistle is religion, and not talk about religion. All this is a "P. S." which somehow got in at the beginning. Perhaps the mention of wandering set the writer off. Now, however, he returns to his theme, and having been so garrulous on other topics, he must be brief on this. Let these few suggestions, then, suffice:

Don't choose a place for Sunday, much less for your whole vacation, where there is no Church and consequently no Mass.

Inform yourself on Saturday, or earlier even in the week, of the location of the Church and the hour of the Mass. This may be learned from the newspapers, or at hotels, or at rectories, or at the Churches.

Then plan your Sunday so that you will be present at Mass, and thus give God the service due Him in August just as truly as in April.

Of Confessions and Communions and private prayers this letter will say nothing, for those who are faithful at Mass are likely to be faithful in these things, too. And, besides, this is a letter, not a sermon, isn't it?

And so let it end, as reader and writer go their ways, with words taken from the ITINERARY, those old prayers said before setting out on a journey, and among them this Antiphon, altogether lovely, to Benedictus: "In the way of peace and prosperity, the Almighty and Merciful Lord direct us: and may the Angel Raphael accompany us on the way, that we may return to our home in peace, in safety and in joy."

God Never Repeats

No two leaves are ever the same; no two souls are ever the same. Each leaf, each soul is individual. So is each Church Year. We have just completed another Christian Year.

In Advent we thought of the coming of Christ as Judge, considering the Four Last Things. Then came the joyous Christmas, when we meditated upon God's winsome attempt to enter our hearts as a little Child. During Epiphany we considered ways in which God showed Himself, in order to draw man to Himself. During Lent we dwelt upon the Passion of Christ, remembering that the Atonement showed God's Love, the value of each soul, and the need of each soul. Easter made our hearts beat faster with the thought of victory over sin through union with the great Victor. Then came Pentecost, with its memorial of the birth of Holy Mother Church, and the assurance of the continual presence of the Holy Spirit. Finally, Trinity rounded out the last Mystery, with its message of hope for spiritual progress, the reality of worship, and assertion of the existence of Father, Son and Holy Spirit, with Whom we can have personal relations.

Did you benefit by any of these lessons? God never repeats. Next year He goes on. Let us pray that the knowledge of the Sacred Heart, loving, longing, pleading, suffering for us, has become part of the soul of each member. If this be so, then we have not walked with Him this year in vain.—Fr. Shoemaker in "The Angelus".

Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

Bishop Weller, Superior General of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament, has written to tell us that the Festival Service and Annual Meeting recently held at S. Clement's was by far the best he has ever known in America. We have a right to be proud of this. The High Mass was most beautiful and dignified, yet a service more simple could not be imagined. We are most grateful to Fr. Vernon for his most able and inspiring sermon. About six hundred people assisted at this Mass. There were two hundred and ten for luncheon, and we are also grateful for the prompt response about luncheon reservations. Many members of the Confraternity stayed through the day. Over four hundred were present for the Bishop's magnificent sermon in the afternoon and for Pontifical Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. It was indeed a great occasion.

Church Work at the Sesqui-Centennial

The following communication has been received from the Committee, and will explain itself. It is hoped that many members of the congregation will want to have a share in this work, and the Clergy will be very glad to receive any contribution towards S. Clement's apportionment. No one must hesitate to give because his offering must be small. One dollar each from two hundred persons would be the ideal.

"At the request of the Executive Council, Bishop Garland has appointed a Committee in charge of the relation of the Diocese to the Sesqui-Centennial. The undersigned are the Sub-Committee on Finance of the General Committee. We find that it will require at least six thousand dollars to carry out our share of the work in the most moderate way.

"In common with other religious organizations, we have had to secure space and erect a booth in the Palace of Education, and shall have to maintain it through the period of the Exposition. This will cost at least three thousand dollars. In consideration of the intimate relation of our Church to the historic times being commemorated, we cannot do less for the name and dignity of our Church.

"But even more important and pressing is the need for reinforcing our agencies for meeting human needs which will be emphasized by the Sesqui. The girl problem, not only or even chiefly among the visitors, but among the young girls and women of our own community, especially in the parts of the city adjacent to the Exposition grounds, is bound to be most acute and urgent. The Church Mission of Help, to do its share in the general community problem and to aid the Parishes in the immediate vicinity, is employing extra workers and establishing a temporary office in South Philadelphia. It will require eighteen hundred dollars to finance this. The Girls' Friendly Society will require one thousand dollars to finance its special work—half of which the Society will raise among its own members. There will be other necessary and incidental expenditures, which will bring the total to six thousand dollars.

"The Executive Council has no funds for this purpose. We are, therefore, appealing to the Rectors of all our Parishes, asking if they will not secure contributions for this necessary purpose from their people. We venture to suggest that we hope for two hundred dollars from S. Clement's Church. We would be most grateful for your co-operation in this matter, and ask if you will not let us know by June 15th whether your Parish will be able to assist us to the extent suggested above.

"Signed: GILBERT PEMBER,
GEORGE H. TOOP,
EDWARD H. BONSALL,
CHARLES J. BIDDLE."

Parish Notes

THE SUDDEN DEATH of Mr. Paul Franklin Mowry was a great shock to all the parish. He was really sick but four days. He made his Communion at the first Mass on Whitsun Day, and died at about the same hour on Trinity Sunday. He had been the faithful Secretary and Treasurer of the C. B. S. for over thirty years. He was a most devoted and devout member of the parish. Of your charity, pray for the repose of his soul.

MISS LESLIE'S DEATH removes another of the figures long identified with the parish life and work. In the early days her work among the young people was most striking and successful. Together with her sister, who died in January, she worked in S. Mary's Guild and with the Mothers' Meeting. She was most beloved. May she rest in peace.

IN ADDITION TO THE EXTERIOR WORK on the east end of the Church, the interior of the Church will be painted during the summer, and some color applied to the pulpit and to the Font cover. The windows will be treated with a transparent shellac, so as to soften the light and remove the yellow glare. These will greatly improve the already lovely Church.

THE RECTOR'S DISCRETIONARY FUND! He can just remember that he once had one! With serious illness and deaths in needy families, with heavy deficits at the Guild of All Souls and The Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament Annual Services and Luncheons, with the providing of extra Clergy for the summer while the Staff Priests have their holiday, with numerous necessary replacements for the Clergy House, and the hundred-and-one other calls that come to him from day to day, he will soon be a subject for the bankruptcy courts, unless there is some immediate relief. This is an S. O. S.

MR. ALGER L. WARD, of 818 North Ormund Avenue, Upper Darby, has been appointed Secretary and Treasurer of the Parish's Ward of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament. We are most thankful to Mr. Ward for undertaking this labor of love. S. Saviour's Ward now numbers about ninety members.

THE CLERGY VACATIONS this summer have now been arranged and planned. The Rector will leave about the middle of July for a trip to the Pacific Coast, returning through the Canadian Rockies. Fr. Ewing will leave the first of July, and Fr. Severance the middle of August, to spend their holidays with relatives, and Fr. Smith will be in Maine for the month of August, and Fr. Arnold will be out of the city with his family for the months of July and August. Fr. Underhill, Fr. Baldwin and Mr. Gavitt will assist during the holiday period.

SUMMER SERVICES will continue as usual. Three Masses every day. Sung Mass on Sundays at eleven, followed by the Sermon. The customary devotional services and addresses on Friday and Sunday evenings at eight o'clock. Confession hours on Saturday afternoons and evenings.

Annual Choir Concert

The annual concert for the benefit of the Choir Summer Outing Fund will be held in the Parish House, Tuesday evening, June 29th, at half-past eight o'clock. There will be the usual variety in musical numbers by the members of the choir, together with several chorus numbers, and a professional reader will give several selections. The tickets are fifty cents apiece, and will be found in the Cope Room after the services. Mr. Fry will be glad to receive further gifts towards this fund. The boys will go to the summer farm of S. James' Church, and the length of their stay depends upon the amount of their fund.

DUPLEX ENVELOPES, if paid up before people leave for their holidays, will enable the Church to meet her bills when they are due. Expenses run on just the same during the summer, and the loose offerings on Sunday are very much diminished during this season. If you have an extra offering for "Summer Expenses", it will be greatly appreciated.

The Rector's Letter

My dear Friends:—

While I am writing this letter during my crossing of Lakes Superior and Huron, I am hoping to be in my accustomed place in the Parish by the time it reaches your hands. October will find most of us returned to the city, and I cannot wish for any of you more than that you have had as happy and recreative a holiday as mine.

My Holiday

The first part of my vacation was spent at a ranch in Wyoming, and the last few weeks in the Canadian Rocky Mountains, climbing and trail riding. In between these two periods spent in the great out-of-doors I visited the Rocky Mountain Park in Colorado and Pikes Peak, the Yellowstone National Park, Yosemite National Park and Mount Rainier. It also gave me an opportunity to visit some of the large Western cities and Parishes about which one frequently hears.

Clergy and Parishes Visited

It was a great privilege to spend two Sundays at S. Andrew's Church in Denver, where after many years of waiting and struggle the full Catholic Faith is taught and practiced by a devout congregation. In Los Angeles I visited our Father Smith's old parish, which he began and built up, and which is still one of the conspicuous outposts of the Catholic Faith in California. Later I was staying at the same hotel with Bishop Johnson, and it was a pleasure to meet and visit with him. In San Francisco I spent S. Bartholomew's Day with the Cowley Fathers at the Church of the Advent. There was a Sung Mass late in the morning and Benediction in the evening. It was not possible to talk with any of the Fathers there, for they were in their annual retreat, which was being conducted by Father Morse, who had just returned from Korea, wearing the most magnificent beard I have ever seen. In Portland S. Mark's is the Catholic Parish, and they have just completed a new church building, which is largely a gift of Miss Percival, and an exact replica of the old Church of the Evangelists in Philadelphia. Many of the beautiful vestments, altar hangings and pictures that belonged to the late Dr. Percival are now part of the fabric of S. Mark's. The Sisters of S. John the Baptist have a very fine school here for girls, S. Helen's Hall. The rendezvous for Catholics in Seattle now is S. Michael's Mission of S. Mark's Church, where Father Staunton, the famous missionary to the Philippines, is to be found. The mission is small and unprepossessing, but there is an Altar and the Sacred Presence of our Lord, and That makes any spot the Gate of Heaven. Father Staunton will soon have S. Michael's a strong center of Catholic life and devotion, but he will give himself chiefly to a work of propaganda through tracts and devotional cards, for which there is such a crying need in the American Church.

Canada

It seemed quite like England when one crossed the line into Canada, and began to pray for the King and the Royal Family. At S. James' Church, Vancouver, Father Reddish, who helped Father King, C.R., in his mission here several years ago, is one of the Assistant Priests. The Catholic movement has made little progress in the English Church in Canada; this may be because of the overwhelming French population and the predominance of the Roman Catholic Church. While at Banff the Lord Bishop of London, with his Chaplain, Father Thomas, and his friend, Ormond A. Blythe, Esquire, arrived at my hotel. It was a rare treat and privilege to have so intimate a visit with his Lordship and his party. The Bishop was full of questions about the States and the Universities he was to visit. He will be in Philadelphia in October, and while we may not have his Lordship at S. Clement's, we are sure to have his Chaplain and Mr. Blythe. The Lord Bishop and his party are traveling in the private car used by the Prince of Wales when in America, and loaned by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Rector of the English Church at Banff was a very warm friend of the late Father Davenport, a former rector of S. Clement's. To-day I have been at Mass and "High" Matins at S. Luke's Pro-Cathedral in Sault Sainte Marie, Ontario, the Seat of the Archbishop of Algoma. So much for my summer diary, and what is in the past.

October

Now for the future and the winter's work. October means the beginning of the full schedule of Services and the reopening of the Guilds and Sodalities. You will see by the Kalendar that everything begins with the full swing, and I hope you all are eager and zealous for the season and work that lies before us. I hope to preach during October at the High Mass and Solemn Vespers on Sundays, and at the Holy Hour on the first Friday evening. Father Smith will be the preacher the remaining Friday nights. Father Ewing, as usual, will be in charge of the Mothers' Meeting, and make the address Thursday evenings in the Chapel. I Vespers of S. Luke, Evang., will be a special service for the S. Barnabas' Guild of Nurses, of which Father Smith is Chaplain. I have been invited to preach that evening at S. Luke's Church, Germantown, the I Vespers of their Patronal Feast.

Fr. Severance

We begin the winter with a vacancy on the staff. Father Severance was offered, very unexpectedly, a teaching position in the Collegiate Department at Nashotah. He wrote to me at once, and I felt I had to release him to accept the post, for which he seems to have very special aptitude. We are very sorry to lose him both from the work and from the life in the Clergy House, yet we are glad to lose him to a bigger and better work, and to fill so adequately Nashotah's need. He is already in residence there, and you must give him a share in your prayers. The training of Priests is a most responsible task. Please pray also that an acceptable successor to Father Severance may soon be found for the work here.

A Rebuke

One of the very happy features of our family life at S. Clement's is expressed in the exchange of greetings amongst Priests, Sisters and people after the High Mass and Vespers on Sundays. One would not have it other than it is now, except it be more cordial and friendly, were that possible; but I want to express here my most hearty disapproval of this practice being introduced before the High Mass and Vespers. Often the corridor is so full of groups laughing and talking that people can scarcely get into the Church, and this noise in the corridors is very distracting to those who are waiting for the Service in the Church and trying to say their prayers. If you are early for the Service, go at once to your place in the Church and spend the time in prayer and meditation. The Clergy are intent on their work and do not wish to be distracted before Services. The congregation should also be intent on their worship and avoid any distraction for themselves and others.

Personal Religion

Each year sees S. Clement's become more and more of a "downtown" parish. That is, business houses and offices are crowding in all around us and crowding out the homes. With the further development of the Parkway this situation will increase. We have very few people, indeed, living within the immediate vicinity of the Church. Our people, scattered all over the city and the suburbs, no longer look to the Church for any social relationships. The Church is, as it should be, a place where they meet God. So the parochial side of the work diminishes each year, but we can see at the same time that the devotional and spiritual side is increasing. S. Clement's is becoming more and more a little cathedral where opportunities for the Sacraments are more frequent, where regular ministrations are to be found throughout the year, where there is an unceasing round of prayer and praise. This is the side of the Christian life we are endeavoring to foster and develop to insure S. Clement's place, here at 20th and Cherry Streets, in the future Church life of the city. A goodly number of people come to Mass every day, and many more come on regular days once or twice a week. The point is, that many more could come. Many are unable to come for sufficiently good reasons. For them the Priest gives his intention each day. But how about the rest? If you cannot come every day, come once or twice a week on regular days—and then the Saints' Days; if you cannot come regularly every week, will you not try to keep the days dedicated to the Blessed Saints by assisting at Mass and making your Communion. One often hears it said: "S. Clement's is a Church where the people say their prayers." We must make it a place where they say "more" prayers. Men on their way to the office and to business should come to Mass in greater numbers—there is no better way in which to begin a day than to begin it with God. The fact that you have been with Jesus will be reflected in every thought, word and deed during the day. How soon the ways of the world could be changed if men and women would begin each day at God's Altar.

Requiems

Instead of making a separate list of "Parish Notes" in this issue, I will include the remaining items in this letter. During the summer Requiem Masses were said for the repose of the soul of Bishop Osborne, retired Bishop of Springfield, and at one time a member of the Society of S. John the Evangelist. During the days when the Cowley Fathers were at S. Clement's, Fr. Osborne was a frequent visitor and preacher. Masses were said also for the repose of the soul of Archdeacon Eliot White, former Rector of S. Mark's, and more lately in charge of the foreign work in our own Diocese. He was a frequent worshipper at S. Clement's and always interested in our work. May they rest in peace.

The Catholic Congress

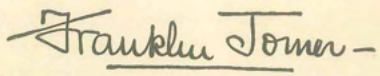
The event most conspicuously in our thoughts and prayers this month will be the Second Annual Catholic Congress to be held during the middle week of October in Milwaukee. This deserves the attention of your prayers and the intentions of your Communions. It also deserves your financial support, which you may contribute through the regular Congress tickets, whether you are able to attend or not. The prayer to be said every day will be found at the bottom of the last page of the Magazine. The list of speakers has been published in the Church papers, and they will report the Congress fully. The Congress literature, as it becomes available, will be found in the Church porch.

All Saints

The first day of November is the Feast of All Saints, a feast very dear to all Catholic Christians. First Vespers of the Feast will be sung the evening before and on the Feast Day itself there will be an extra Low Mass at 6 and a Solemn High Mass at 11. Vespers of the Dead will be said after Second Vespers of the Feast in the Chapel. The offerings on this Feast are given to the All Saints Sisters of the Poor.

Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed

On the first day in the Octave of All Saints is kept a Commemoration of all the Faithful Departed, commonly called All Souls Day. On this day also there will be an added Low Mass at 6, and Solemn High Mass and Absolutions at 11. The offerings on this day are given to the Guild of All Souls. May I ask you now to send me as early as possible a list of the names of the faithful departed you wish remembered at these Masses, and to mark the list with the hour of the Mass at which you wish the commemoration made. At the High Mass only the Benefactors and Departed Members of the Congregation can be remembered. Please do not include any of these on your lists, as they are already on our permanent records. It is quite a task arranging these commemorations, so the earlier the lists are sent the less work and anxiety it means for me.



Parish Masses

At the Requiem Masses which are arranged for the first unhindered day each week, a special remembrance of the departed members of the Guild of All Souls is always made. The members of the Guild should endeavor as far as possible to assist frequently at these special Requiems. On all days in October, for which no other Mass has been assigned, the Masses will be Votive of the Angels.

The End

Now this is a very long letter with which to begin the season. I'll not be able to write so much again, not for a long time. May the dear Lord bless us richly in our labors together in His service and keep us through the prayers of His Saints, under the continual protection of His Holy Angels.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

A PRAYER FOR THE CATHOLIC CONGRESS

O almighty and most merciful Father, who by Thy holy apostle hast commanded us to contend earnestly for the Faith once delivered to the Saints: Send Thy blessing, we beseech Thee, upon the work of the Catholic Congress; direct with Thy most gracious favour, those who labour for its promotion; let Thy Holy Spirit preside in all its deliberations: that whatsoever is done may be for the honour of Thy great Name, and for the extension of the kingdom of Thy dear Son; who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the same Spirit, one God, world without end. Amen.

The Rector's Letter

My dear Friends:—

The opening day of this month strikes its keynote. It is a month of the Saints, and one that calls for our special consecration to them, and reminds us of the great privilege of their prayers. In the Commemoration of all the faithful departed, we are aroused to our obligations to the faithful dead. These two days have a great spiritual appeal, and their blessings should sustain you through the month.

A Patronal Festival in a Parish, with its Octave and attendant festivities, should partake somewhat of the character of an "Old Home Week." All who know S. Clement's and love it, all who have worshipped here, or been connected with its life in the past, we hope to see during the Feast of the Dedication. We want them all, first, at the Altars, in a state of Grace, for their Communions. Then we want to see them, to greet them with a handclasp, and to know of their welfare. And let all the regular members of the congregation set this whole week aside and enter heartily into the Feast.

By our corporate ministry, and invoking our Holy Patron, may we render a service that befits our goodly heritage and that is acceptable to Almighty God.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Carol for S. Clement's Day

It was about November tide,
A long, long time ago,
When good St. Clement testified
The faith that now we know.
Right boldly then he said his say
Before a furious King;
And therefore on S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

Work in the mines they gave him then
To try the brave old saint;
And there two thousand Xtian men
With thirst were like to faint.
He prayed a prayer, and out of clay
He made the waters spring;
And therefore on S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

An anchor round his neck they tied,
And cast him in the sea;
And bravely as he lived he died,
And gallantly went free.
He rests a many miles away,
Yet here his name we sing,
As all upon S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

Our fathers kept it long ago,
And their request we make,
Good Christians, one small mite bestow,
For sweet S. Clement's sake;
And make his feast as glad and gay
As if it came in spring,
When all upon S. Clement's Day
We go a-Clementing.

The Patronal Festival

The Diocesan Appeal

The Diocese of Pennsylvania has many splendid and venerable institutions within its borders. All members of the Diocese should feel proud of their foundations and their potential possibilities. All of these institutions are in need of improvements and extensions for new work.

Amongst these we would mention the Episcopal Hospital, the Episcopal Academy, the Home for Consumptives in Chestnut Hill, the Galilee Mission, the Church Farm School, the House of the Holy Child, Homes for the Aged, the Sheltering Arms, and the Church's Chapel at the State College.

Then there is the Missionary work of the Diocese. There are many small Missions in the growing sections of the City which for the present cannot support themselves. There are new residence sections springing up everywhere, and the Church must be there ready to meet the newcomers. There is our work with the colored people, with the Polish and the Italian population. These peoples are all looking to us and we cannot fail them.

A concentrated effort will be made in the Diocese during the week beginning Friday, November 26. Every member of the Church will be approached to make a subscription to this great fund, and the payments are to cover a period of five years, payable in January of each year.

A Committee is now being formed in S. Clement's. Begin now to pray about this work. For God's blessing on all that is being attempted in His Name and for the strengthening and extending of His Kingdom in our Diocese. Then ask God to show you what you should do. And lastly, remember that your gift is an offering to Almighty God.

A Christmas Bazaar

S. Barnabas' Guild for Nurses, a Church organization interested in the spiritual and social life of Nurses, will hold a Christmas Bazaar in S. Clement's Parish House, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 16 and 17, both afternoon and evening.

All sorts of articles, such as fancy work, aprons, dolls, household articles, books, pictures, Christmas cards, candy, cake, jellies, jams, canned goods, china and glassware, grab bags, and cut flowers, will be on sale. Tea will be served in the afternoons.

On Wednesday evening there will be a Dance. Tickets for the dance, admitting two persons, will be sold for one dollar.

The Guild not only solicits your patronage, but would be glad for the help of S. Clement's people in making the bazaar a success by donating articles or contributing money towards the advance expenses.

The proceeds of the Bazaar will be used in developing the work in Philadelphia among Nurses.

Fr. Smith of our Staff is the Chaplain of the local Guild, and this appeal has the most hearty approval of the Rector of the Parish.

Parish Notes

ON ALL SAINTS' DAY there will be Low Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30. The Rector will preach after the Solemn Mass at 11. Vespers of the Dead will be said in S. John's Chapel immediately after Second Vespers of the Feast. S. Mary's Guild will meet in the evening.

ON ALL SOULS' DAY, more correctly designated as "The Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed," there will be Low Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30. There will be a Solemn Requiem at 11, followed by the Absolutions at the Catafalque. The Rector, as Superior of the American Society of the Guild of All Souls, will preach.

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY meets the first Wednesday afternoon in each month, at three o'clock, in the Parish House. Every Baptized woman in the Church is automatically a member. There are good speakers at every meeting. At the November meeting, Miss Laura Bell, President of the Woman's Aid to the Convocation of North Philadelphia, will speak about the coming Diocesan Campaign. There will also be a personal report from the Milwaukee Catholic Congress. The Auxiliary will make their monthly corporate communion the following Friday, November 5.

THE GIRLS' CLUB will give a Hallowe'en Masque Dance and Party in the Parish House, Tuesday evening, November 9. The tickets are fifty cents. There will be prizes for costumes.

THE FIRST FRIDAY EVENING is always set apart for the keeping of the Holy Hour. The second and third Friday evenings this month we will make the Stations of the Cross on behalf of the Faithful Departed, ending with Benediction from the High Altar. The last Friday comes within the Octave of the Dedication Feast.

THE USUAL NOVENA, in preparation for the Feast, will begin Sunday, November 14, and end on the Feast of S. Cecelia. The special prayer for the Parish will be found on the last page. In addition to this, use the Our Father, Hail Mary, and the Collect for Pentecost.

ALTAR FLOWERS have been promised as Memorials for the following Feasts: All Saints' Day, S. Clement's Day, Christmas Day, Epiphany, Conversion of S. Paul, Pentecost and Trinity Sunday. If any one else would like to make such a memorial, it could easily be arranged.

REQUIEM MASSES will be offered on all unhindered days during the month, and the names of the departed commemorated on All Souls' Day will be remembered again through the month.

THE DAILY MASSES are at 7, 8 and 9.30. Only the Masses in addition to these three will be noted in the Kalendar.

CONFESSIONS are heard regularly on Fridays from 3 to 5 in the afternoon, and from 7.15 to 8 in the evening. On Saturdays the hours are from 11.30 to 12.30 in the midday, from 3 to 5 in the afternoon, and from 7 to 9 in the evening. Additional hours are announced before the greater feasts. The Clergy are always glad to make special appointments when the assigned hours are impossible for penitents.

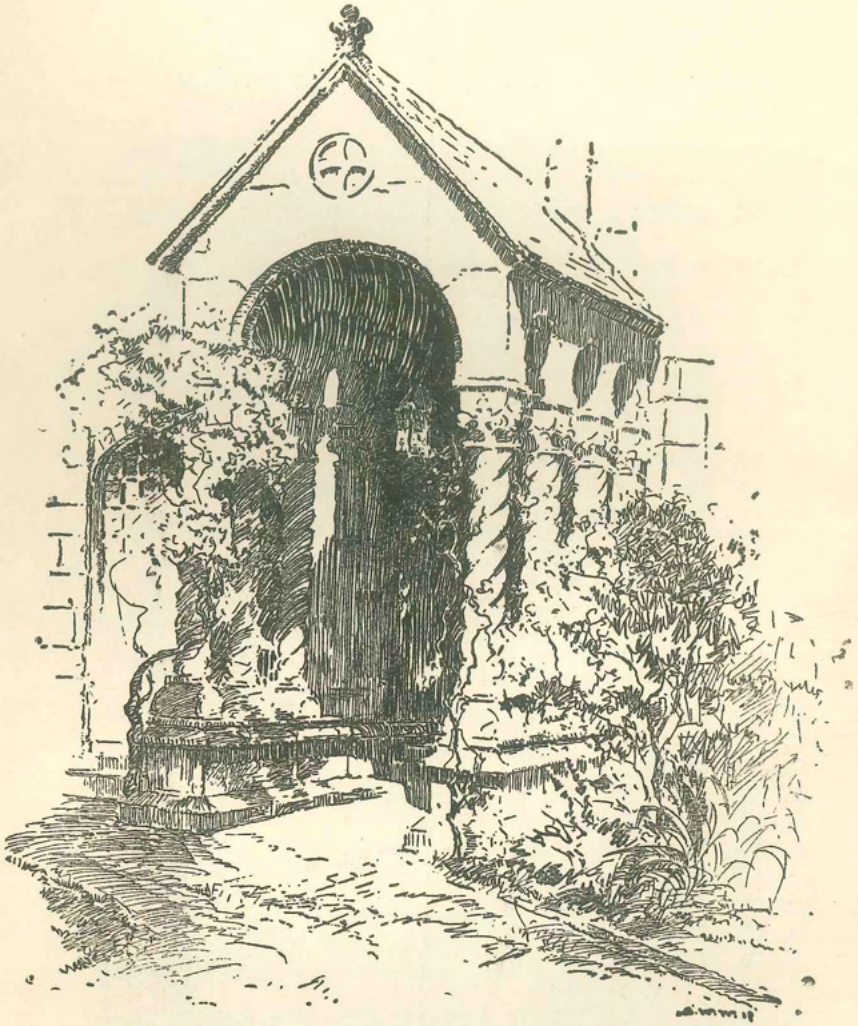
Catholic Conference in Germantown

We all must be very grateful to Almighty God for the many and great blessings that attended the Second Annual Catholic Congress held last month in Milwaukee. The Church papers and the daily newspapers have given very graphic and soul-stirring accounts of the services and the addresses. The one regret for the majority of us is that we were not able to be there in person and share in its great spirit.

In order that all Catholics and others interested in the movement within the Church may catch some of the enthusiasm there created, and hear from its officers and others who were present a real story of the Congress, the Committee have arranged a series of special Conferences, and the first one will be held at S. Luke's Church, Germantown, Thursday, November 4.

The day at S. Luke's will begin with a Solemn High Mass at 11.30. Fr. Williams, Assistant Superior of S. S. J. E., will be the Celebrant; Fr. Vernon, of S. Mark's, the Deacon; and the Rector of S. Clement's will be Sub-Deacon. The Rev. Shirley Carter Hughson, of the Order of the Holy Cross, and Chairman of the Permanent Congress Committee, will be the preacher. At one o'clock luncheon will be served at a nominal charge.

In the afternoon there will be several addresses by members of the Congress who were in attendance at Milwaukee, the principal one of which will be Fr. McCune, of S. Ignatius' Church, New York.



Please tell Fr. Joiner at once if you will be able to attend, so that he can notify the Rector of S. Luke's how many people he may expect from S. Clement's. It is most earnestly urged that every one who can possibly arrange for it should spend this day at S. Luke's.

Prayer for the Parish

Almighty and Everlasting God, Who dost govern all things in heaven and on earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and grant unto this parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare. Strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; arouse the careless; recover the fallen; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances to the advancement of Thy Truth; bring all to be of one heart and one mind within the fold of Thy Holy Church. To the honor and glory of Thy Name; through Jesus Christ Thy Son our Lord, Who livest and reignest with Thee, in the Unity of the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. Amen.

Persons desiring the Duplex Envelopes for the support of the Parish and Missions are requested to apply to the Accounting Warden after the eleven o'clock Mass on Sundays, or to communicate with him at his office in the Clergy House.

The Magazine will be mailed to those contributing fifty cents a year.

Parish Notes

SPECIAL OFFERINGS will be received on the Second Sunday in Advent, December 5th, for the PARISH POOR FUND. On Christmas Day the offering will be for the Clergy Pension Fund.

THE S. CLEMENT'S DAY offering amounted to $1,350. This sum was within six dollars of last year's collection.

THE RECTOR is giving a Retreat at the S. Margaret's Mission House on Saturday, December 4th, beginning with Mass at 8, and closing with Vespers at 4.30. Those wishing to make the Retreat may notify the Sister-in-Charge.

THE BISHOP of BRITISH HONDURAS, the Rt. Rev. Arthur H. Dunn, D.D., will be at S. Clement's on Christmas Day and the Sunday in the Octave. He will have the eight o'clock Mass on these two days, and will preach at the High Mass on the Feast and at Solemn Vespers on the Sunday in the Octave.

CHRISTMAS CARDS, of unusual beauty, are now for sale in the Cope Room after all services. The proceeds from this sale go to the Sisters of the Holy Nativity for S. Clement's Mission House. The Canterbury Calendars for 1927 will also be found here.

PEOPLE AT THE WEEKDAY MASSES are urged to use the front seats before the Lady Altar, and those who come to the Offices and Intercessions will help the Officiants by sitting close to the Choir.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS CHARITIES are now in order. Your most generous offerings are solicited for the Christmas dinner baskets for the poor of the parish, for the Christmas parties that will be given for the children in the Parish House, and for the decorations for the Church. Subscribers' names, but not the amount of their offering, will be published in the January magazine.

DUPLEX ENVELOPES for 1927 will be mailed after Christmas to the latest addresses on the books of the Accounting Warden. There are, however, a number of envelopes in use for which no pledge cards were sent in, and to the holders of these no new envelopes can be sent since the names and addresses are not on our records. At this time there is nearly $400 due and unpaid by envelope subscribers.

THE GIRLS' CLUB held their annual election of officers at their November meeting. They elected Janet Rothwell to be President, Olive Wells, Vice-President, Elizabeth Atler, Secretary, and Grace Morris, Treasurer. This social club is open to all the girls and young married women of the parish. They meet weekly on Tuesday evenings in the Parish House.

THE MUSIC OF THE MASS on Christmas Day and the Sunday in the Octave will be Schubert in G. The Carols will be sung in the Processions. Christmas Eve there will be the usual Carol Singing at nine o'clock, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the procession to the Creche.

FATHER PENFOLD'S DEATH fills us all with sadness. He was a most faithful Priest and gifted preacher. He was Rector of S. Stephen's Church, Providence, and died suddenly Advent Sunday morning. He has been a frequent visitor at S. Clement's. The morning after his death, Father Huntington, Superior of the Order of the Holy Cross, offered a Requiem Mass for his soul at our altar, and he will be remembered at our Masses throughout the month.

THE CHRISTMAS PARTIES for the Mothers' Meeting and for the children of the congregation will be combined this year, and held on Thursday evening, December 30th, at eight o'clock. Mrs. Ethel Munder Devlin, who has delighted us so many times with her entertainments, will give a dramatic impersonation of Dickens' "Christmas Carol." There will be the usual presents and refreshments.

FATHER PAUL BULL, of the Community of the Resurrection, Mirfield, England, will be a guest in the Clergy House through the Christmas holidays. He will preach at the High Mass on the Sunday in the Octave. He will also be in the Confessional Thursday morning and Friday afternoon and evening at the regular confession hours. He will occupy the Confessional Box to the north of the center aisle. He will also be available for special appointments on Thursday.

CHRISTMAS CONFESSIONS will be heard Thursday and Friday before Christmas from 10 to 12 in the morning, 3 to 5 in the afternoon, and from 7 to 9 in the evening. The Rector will be in the Confessional Thursday afternoon and evening, Friday morning and Friday evening; Fr. Ewing, Friday afternoon and evening; Fr. Smith, Friday afternoon and evening; Fr. Bull, C.R., Thursday morning and Friday afternoon and evening.

MASS IS SAID every day in S. Clement's Church at 7, 8 and 9.30 o'clock. Only the Masses in addition to these regular ones are indicated in the Kalendar.

CONFESSIONS are heard in S. Clement's Church every Friday from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 8 in the evening; and every Saturday from 11.30 to 12.30, from 3 to 5, and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

THERE ARE NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECTS for filling the vacancy on the Clergy staff. After the beginning of the Church year Priests are settled in their work and cannot make changes. It is hoped that a Priest may be found before the beginning of Lent. In the meantime, with the heavy schedule of regular services, it is quite impossible to call on any others than the sick and infirm, and those in special trouble.

THE RECTOR'S LETTER this month will be a special Christmas message, and will be published later in the month.

THIRTY-TWO LETTERS, mailed to members of the parish with the S. Clement's Octave literature, were returned because of incorrect addresses. When you move, please notify the Clergy, so that the Parish Records may be kept "up-to-date."

Letter from the Accounting Warden to the Rector

November 10, 1926.

My dear Father Joiner:

I think that an impression has gotten abroad among a part of our congregation that S. Clement's is heavily endowed and therefore is not in need of their support. Of course this is far from the facts of the case, and I am writing to you with the thought that you may be able in your letter to the congregation to put the facts before them.

During the Rectorship of Father Moffett an endowment fund was started and all bequests to the Church, unless otherwise marked, were added to it, together with such offerings as could be spared from our treasury. The fund is now slightly over $100,000, and from this we receive an income.

Under the wills of Mr. and Mrs. Yarnall we received the income from a portion of their estates. The income is divided into four parts: Education, Library, Repairs and Maintenance. The first two do not benefit us in any way, for not one cent can be spent for support of S. Clement's. We use the Repair Fund for the properties so far as it will go, but in the last two years the cost of the work done has exceeded the income. We use the Maintenance Fund for the choir, but the cost of the music is $1,000 more than this fund gives us.

In short it costs, with most careful management, nearly $30,000 to run the Church and keep it in repair, and the income from the trust funds is never over $14,000. It must be plain to every one, therefore, that $16,000 must be raised from pew rents and offerings, for we have no other source of income.

It is true that we are not now in debt, but I cannot imagine any one who would want it otherwise. Every year brings new demands upon our treasury, but we cannot continue to meet them if all of S. Clement's congregation do not appreciate the necessity for their help.

Sincerely,

(Signed) Sheldon P. Ritter,
Accounting Warden.

The Missionary Box

It seems a very sad thing that any Priest who has given himself to the Church's missionary work is not able to receive a living wage for that service. But this is the case with very many of our most consecrated missionary Priests, and they have to appeal from time to time to the Board of Missions for a "Missionary Box."

Every year the Women's Auxiliary of S. Clement's Parish undertake to equip and send such a box, and just now they are busily and happily engaged in fitting out such a gift to be sent to the Rev. T. Tracy Walsh and his family in South Carolina.

Complete outfits of clothing for the missionary, his wife and his daughter, together with household necessities, will make up the contents of the box. It is hoped also to include some little luxuries for a special Christmas offering.

He writes as follows: "My Mission is the Church of the Atonement at Blacksburg, about twenty-six miles from York, in South Carolina. It is situated in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. There is a confirmed membership of twelve persons. Services are held on one Sunday in the month, and an extra service on fifth Sundays. The predominant religion is Baptist, and there are a Methodist and two Presbyterian congregations, with three or four negro congregations, and all of these in a town of 1,500 inhabitants. There is very little prejudice against our Church, and I do not remember ever holding a service there without some of these outside people in the congregation. On fifth Sundays practically all of the denominations are largely represented. While the growth of the Church has been slow its leavening influence is admitted, and we are hopeful for the growth of our little mission."

This is certainly a very appealing bit of work, and should be especially so at this season of the year, when we are so concerned with giving presents to people who do not need them. It is hoped that the members of the congregation will rally around the women of the Auxiliary in their efforts with this missionary box.

The Catholic Literature Association

So much splendid work along missionary and educational lines has been accomplished in England through the use of popular tracts that the plan has long been copied in various quarters in America. The problem here has always been to get suitable tracts, and in this regard England has been most successful. The tract cases and tables in S. Clement's corridor have often offered English Tracts, which have been most heartily welcomed.

The time seems ripe to extend this work, and to do something towards enabling parishes to equip themselves for this mission of distributing tracts.

The Catholic Literature Association is an English central distributing agency for English Tracts, and also an organization for their editing and publication. Many Americans have long been members of the English Society. The time seems to have come for establishing an American Branch, and a committee has been appointed by the English Society to represent it in America. The members of this committee are: Fr. Huntington, Superior O.H.C.; Fr. Burton, Superior S.S.J.E.; Fr. Pierce of S. Mary's, New York; Fr. Mabry of Holy Cross, Kingston; Fr. Joiner of S. Clement's, and Mr. Martin Gillett, who is acting as Corresponding Secretary.

It is hoped that every one interested in this movement will become a subscribing member. There are two grades of membership, one at $5 a year and the other at $10, payable annually. Members receive free copies of much of the literature, and The Fiery Cross, a monthly English publication.

Tract cases have been placed in almost thirty churches, and there is a constant demand for these popular expressions of the Historic Faith.

The Great "Oes"

This title has been given to the ancient and beautiful phrases that are used as antiphons to the Magnificat, just preceding the Feast of Christmas. Since they all begin with the ejeculation "O," they are called "the great Oes." That for the 17th of December is retained in the English Prayer Book, and there stands thus: "O Sapientia," indicating of course that their use was to be continued.

DECEMBER 16th. O SAPIENTIA. O Wisdom, Which camest forth out of the mouth of the Most High, and reachest from one end to the other: mightily and sweetly ordering all things, Come, and teach us the Way of prudence.

DECEMBER 17th. O ADONAI. O Lord and Ruler of the House of Israel: Who appearest unto Moses in a flame of fire in the bush, and gavest unto him the Law in Sinai: Come, and redeem us with a stretched-out arm.

DECEMBER 18th. O RADIX JESSE. O Root of Jesse, Who standest for an ensign of the people, at Whom Kings shall shut their mouths, unto Whom the Gentiles shall pray: Come, and deliver us, and tarry not.

DECEMBER 19th. O CLAVIS DAVID. O Key of David, and Sceptre of the House of Israel, Thou that openest and no man shutteth, and shuttest and no man openeth: Come, and loose the prisoner from the prison-house, and him that sitteth in darkness, from the shadow of death.

DECEMBER 20th. O ORIENS. O Orient, Brightness of the Eternal Light, and Sun of Righteousness: Come, and lighten them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death.

DECEMBER 21st. O REX GENTIUM. O King of the Gentiles, and their Desire, the Corner-stone, Who madest both one: Come, and save man, whom Thou hast made out of the dust of the earth.

DECEMBER 22nd. O EMMANUEL. O Emmanuel, our King and Lawgiver, the Desire of all nations and their Saviour: Come, and save us, O Lord our God.

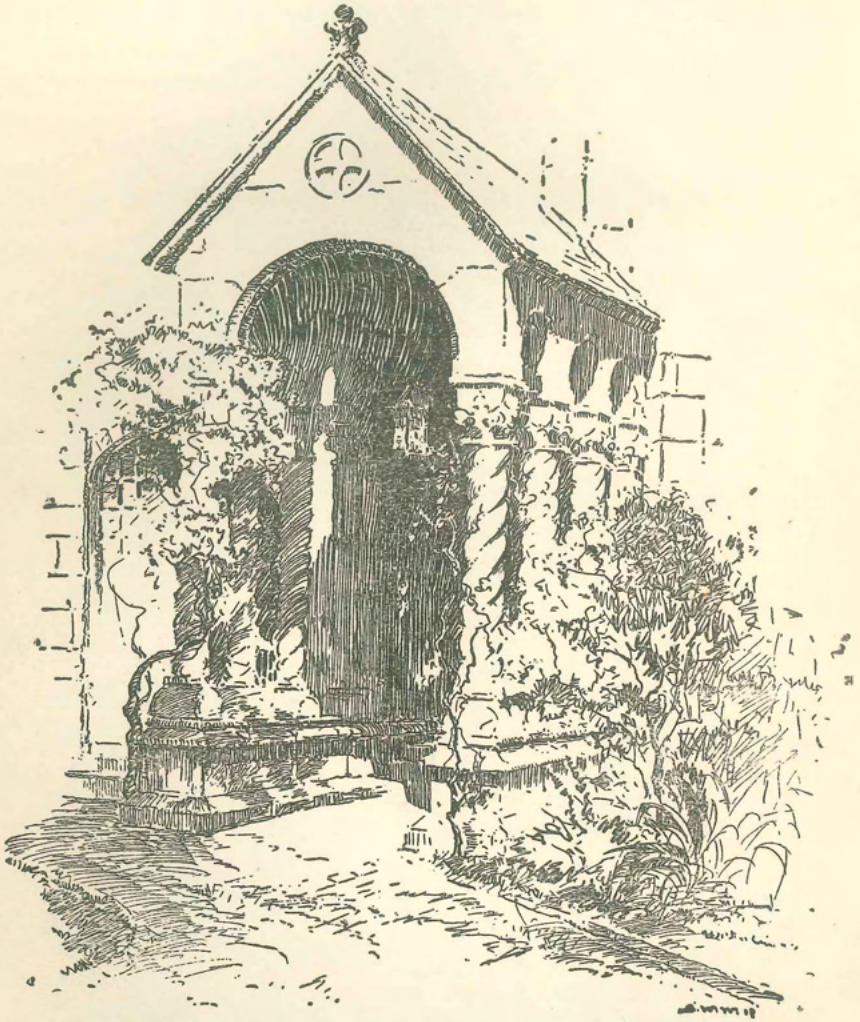
DECEMBER 23rd. O VIRGO VIRGINUM. O Virgin of virgins, how shall this be? For neither before thee was any like thee, nor shall there be after: Daughters of Jerusalem, why marvel ye at me? The thing which ye behold is a divine mystery.

Emmanuel

He lived two thousand years ago—
Our little Infant Lord;
The shepherds came and worshipped Him,
Bright angels Him adored.

Would I had lived in Bethlehem
Two thousand years ago,
That I might gaze upon His face,
And all His sweetness know.

But are the angels silent now?
Has Bethlehem passed away?
Is Jesus Christ a memory?
A Man of yesterday?



Ah, no! for now a silent light
Our Bethlehem proclaims;
And here our Lord with holy love
Each faltering heart inflames.

Around the tabernacle door
In awe the angels kneel;
And Saints triumphant strive in vain
To voice the love they feel.

Christ died two thousand years ago
Upon the shameful cross.
Yet on our Altars, day by day,
He still is "God with us"!

The Rector's Letter

My dear Friends:—

The Christmas Feast was one for which we may give great thanks to Almighty God, since over three hundred confessions were made before the Feast, and almost that many Communions on the Day itself. Such an offering must be most acceptable to the Divine Child, far exceeding in value to Him the treasures brought by the Kings at the first Epiphany.

With such careful preparation for the Feast, many have been the spiritual blessings received, and now they must be used! And the opportunity to use them is afforded by the Bishops' Crusade, about which you will find much reading in the Magazine. This movement was inaugurated by the last meeting of the General Convention, and its sole purpose is to rouse the Church to a deeper sense of spiritual devotion to our Lord, and to create a real missionary zealousness within the Church.

Such Parishes as ours are perfectly familiar with Missions, weeks of special preaching, quiet days and retreats, but the vast majority of the Parishes of our Church have never had these privileges. This Crusade plans to give over the Season of Epiphany to a great Preaching Mission throughout the Church, and to so stir up the hearts of all faithful people that they will become parish workers with the Priests, and gather into the fold of the Church all the lapsed and the non-churched.

The city has been separated into three sections, with a central meeting place nominated for each section. The Inter-Parochial Meetings, to which we are bidden, will be held in Holy Trinity Church, in Rittenhouse Square, for the six-day period from January 16th to 21st, when the Missioners will be the Rev. Hugh Birckhead, D.D., of Baltimore, and the Rev. George E. Norton, of Rochester, New York. I most sincerely hope that there may be a conspicuous representation from S. Clement's present at every one of these meetings. The Masses on the Feast of the Epiphany and all through the Octave will be offered for the intention of the Crusade, and all of you can help this great cause tremendously by assisting at the offering of the Holy Sacrifice and making your Communions.

The Church Unity Octave is observed throughout the Christian world, beginning January 18th and closing on the Feast of the Conversion of S. Paul, when all Christian people should be praying hard for the Reunion of Christendom. The Prayer Book collect for the Unity of the Church should be said every day.

May Almighty God, Who by the leading of a star did manifest His only begotten Son to the Gentiles, finally bring you, who know Him now by faith, to the eternal contemplation of His glorious majesty.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Bishops' Crusade

The Right Rev. Harry S. Longley, D.D.

The Bishops' Crusade is a call to the most important work which has ever been undertaken in the Episcopal Church.

If we catch the vision of all that it means and carry out the program, the results will be incalculable.

What is it?

It is a call to a Pentecostal revival. It is a call to renew our allegiance to Jesus Christ, as our Lord and Saviour. It is a call to permit Him to reveal to us anew that He is "the Way, the Truth, and the Life."

It is a great spiritual adventure, and for success will require great spiritual daring, and unless we realize this the Church will not respond adequately to the appeal of a troubled world. There must be a revival of faith and adventurous courage.

The Gospel has been toned down. There has been much preaching of morality and humanitarianism. We must not confound these with religion. As another reminds us, religion finds expression in morality, but must not be confounded with it. So also religion finds expression in humanitarianism, but it must not be confounded with it.

We must not only preach the Gospel of the Man of Nazareth, but also the Gospel of the Nicene Creed, that Jesus is "God of God, Light of Light, Very God of Very God."

If we are to make the Bishops' Crusade a success, we must begin to think right about God. It has been said, "No man can think straight and live crooked."

The fact must be emphasized that sin separates man from God. "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves."

What are the objectives of the Bishops' Crusade?

1. Confession of Christ openly before men as Lord and Saviour.
2. Regular daily individual and family prayer.
3. Understanding better the mind of Christ through daily Bible reading.
4. Seeking strength for service through worship and sacrament.
5. Active service by every member of the Church.
6. Developing a deeper sense of individual responsibility for bringing others to Christ.
7. Earnest effort to combat worldliness by more consistent practice of the Christian life.

If the Church's children strive earnestly for these objectives a new Pentecost will come, and the Lord will add "to the Church daily such as should be saved."

Bishop Murray's Crusade Message to the Church

In the statement that follows, the Presiding Bishop expresses his belief in the Bishops' Crusade, and his earnest hope for its successful outcome.

"Our pending Bishops' Crusade is not only an evangelistic movement for the world, but also an endeavor for greater consecration of ourselves as members of the Christian Church.

"As such, its aim is to stir the very soul of the Church and present to the world a living, breathing gospel of hope and love.

"We leaders of the Church then must see to it, first, that we light our fires at the altar of rededication to God and His service. The live coals from the altar must indeed touch our own lips if we are to deliver a message that will find an echo in the hearts of our hearers.

"Evangelism in its true sense is supremely a duty of the Christian ministry and the Christian Church. But sacramental devotion and joy are its perfect consummation.

"The National Commission on Evangelism, assuming the obligation laid upon it by the general Church, feels that no responsibility or obligation of our ministry exceeds in importance that now laid upon it to place its whole accent upon Christ as the Redeemer of the world, and the need for a reconsecration of the people of God to the Master and His Kingdom.

"The importance of thorough preparation for all this through prayer, organization and publicity cannot be overestimated. Results will be commensurate with the carefulness and fidelity of this preparation. If due consideration be given to this fact, the Crusade will accomplish its purpose fully.

"This preparation, chiefly through prayer, must be considered as one of the supremely spiritual features of the Crusade. An atmosphere of "prayerful expectancy" will constitute the chief asset of the Crusade, both for leaders and people. If the people earnestly pray for the movement, their attendance upon the services, meetings and conferences will be assured, and there can be no doubt of their eager willingness to work along the line of their prayers.

"Tell your people that the whole Church, for the first time in her history, is now actively moving forward with every agency of her being fully united in furthering a plan which seeks the salvation of human souls through Christ and His appointed means of grace.

"Call their attention to the unity of the plan, preparation in autumn, execution in Epiphany, and the harvest in the Pre-Lenten and Lenten seasons. Have your women help you get your groups together in Advent. Let them also assist you in forming prayer groups and sustaining substantial interest in them. Tell your men to realize also that it is a whole man's Christian vocation to which they should consecrate themselves, body, mind and soul. Enlist the active participation of all your young people and children.

"I beseech you to pray with me and the whole Church that God may not only enable all of us both to perceive and know what things we ought to do in this glorious undertaking, but also give us grace and power successfully to fulfill the same."

Standing On the Side Lines

By Bishop Darst.

Too many of us are standing on the side lines to-day "viewing with alarm" the mighty forces of evil and hate and prejudice as they sweep by.

We are sorry, but we do not sense the remedy.

Our Lord Jesus Christ did not stand on the side lines. He saw the agony and the sin and the ignorance as those mighty forces swept by, but He did not stay on the side lines. He stepped down into the current and opposed it with all the power of His wonderful life. The current swept Him against the Cross of Calvary, but, thank God, the current broke when it struck the Cross, and the current will break to-day when it strikes the Cross of Sacrificial Devotion in your life and mine.

The Bishops' Crusade is a call to men and women to leave the safe side lines of observation and come down into the current with Christ; to stand with Him and strive together with Him until the forces of evil break against the power of a Church to which the promise has been made, "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

FR. BURTON, S.S.J.E., Superior of the Cowley Fathers in America, will be a guest at the Clergy House from January 15th to the 24th. He comes to give a Mission at the Eastern State Penitentiary at the invitation of Fr. Smith. He will preach for us at the Solemn Mass on Sunday the 16th, and at the Festival Vespers for S. Vincent's Guild of Acolytes on the following Sunday evening.

THE FOURTH ANNIVERSARY of Father Quin's death falls in the last week of this month. The Masses on Friday the 28th will be Requiems, for the happy repose of his soul.

Parish Notes

SOME EIGHTY-EIGHT PEOPLE made pledges for the Drive for Diocesan Institutions in December, totalling the sum of $15,126. The first installment on the pledge will be due in January. Many people did not want to make pledges, but have asked about making voluntary offerings. Some small envelopes have been provided, and will be found in the church porch. These may be placed on the collection plates any time during the month, and the amounts received will be forwarded to the Church House and credited to the Parish.

MISSIONARY OFFERINGS from the Parish have been increasing year by year, and it is hoped that many will feel able to increase their missionary pledge this year. These offerings may be specified for any special missionary work in which you are interested.

DUPLEX ENVELOPES were mailed by the Accounting Warden to all the subscribers of last year for whom he had addresses. On Sundays, after the Solemn Mass, there will be some one in S. John's Sacristy to give sets of envelopes to any who failed to receive them, and to enroll any new subscribers for 1927.

THE ANNUAL FESTIVAL SERVICE for the S. Vincent's Guild of Acolytes will be held Sunday evening in the Octave of S. Vincent, January 23rd, and Fr. Spence Burton, Superior of the Society of S. John the Evangelist, will be the preacher. The service will be preceded by supper in the Clergy House, for which a number of other young men in the Parish will be invited.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

This month affords you another four weeks before the beginning of Lent. This does not mean that you have four weeks in which to be indifferent and indulge yourselves before you "give up" for Lent, but means rather that you have that much extra time in which to prepare yourselves for a holy and helpful Lent.

The Bishops' Crusade has been put at this time of the year for the very reason that you may have an opportunity to become converted, and enter into the witness of your Christian Life with new vigour and reality. I have heard of some of you laughing because one or another of the Missioners has had a great deal to say about Conversion. You have thought it such Protestant lingo. Conversion is a most needed subject of preaching to-day, and especially to the members of the Episcopal Church. Conversion is not an experience that happens just once and encases you in a robe of sanctity, but is an experience that should be happening to you all every day, every time you come to your Communion, every time you come to your Confession, every time you come in contact with our Blessed Lord. It means "turning to God," and that must be done many times each day.

S. Matthew's Day will be kept as a day of special prayer and intercession in the Church, for God's blessing on your Lent. I hope every one of you will try to be in the Church for a part of the day, and for some one of the Masses, and if possible for your Communion. There will be a High Mass at eleven o'clock and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will follow Vespers in the Church at six o'clock.

May God bless you richly in your service for His Holy Church. Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Laetabundus

Sequence Hymn for the Purification

Come rejoicing, faithful men, with rapture singing, Alleluya!
Monarch's Monarch, from a holy maiden springing, mighty wonder!

Angel of the Counsel here, Sun from star, He doth appear, born of maiden:
He a sun who knows no night, she a star whose paler light fadeth never.

As a star its kindred ray, Mary doth her Child display, like in nature;
Still undimmed the star shines on, and the maiden bears a Son, pure as ever.

Laetabundus (continued)

Lebanon his cedar tall to the hyssop on the wall lowly bendeth;
From the highest, Him we name Word of God, to human frame now descendeth.

Yet the synagogue denied what Esaias had descried:
Blindness fell upon the guide, proud, unheeding.

If her prophets speak in vain, let her heed a Gentile strain,
And, from mystic Sybil, gain Light and leading.

No longer then delay, hear what the Scriptures say,
Why be cast away, a race forlorn?

Turn and this Child behold, that very Son, of old
In God's Writ foretold, a maid hath borne!

The 1927 Catholic Congress in London

This is a first notice of what has already been arranged. The third Anglo-Catholic Congress is to be the greatest religious demonstration which has ever yet been attempted in the history of the Catholic Revival. But, if this attempt is to be realized, every man and woman must take their full share. And we must begin at once.

First, let us be sure that we remember the date of the Congress. It will begin on Sunday, July 3rd, and end on Sunday, July 10th. The Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be devoted to meetings in the Albert Hall. The subject throughout will be the Holy Eucharist. The Congress, in fact, is to be a witness of our belief in, and our devotion to, the Blessed Sacrament. It is hoped to arrange special services and meetings on the Wednesday for one day visitors from the provinces, for whom special trains will be run from all parts of the country. On the Tuesday and Friday evenings the meetings will also be "popular" in character.

This will not merely be a London or English Congress; it will be international. An office has been opened in New York, and special arrangements have been made for reduced fares from America. There will be an American pilgrimage to the Holy Land after the Congress. The Eastern Orthodox Church is sending representatives, and thousands will attend from all parts of the world.

Every Anglo-Catholic is invited from now onwards to make a special monthly Communion for the intention of the Congress. Before the Congress all members are asked to make their Confession, and during the Congress to go to Holy Communion every day. Thus, those also who cannot come to London to attend the meetings will be able to become active members of the Congress. There are six months for preparation. It is none too long a time, if we are, all of us, to carry out our full responsibilities. Following the Congress in London, one will be held in October in Boston.

Parish Notes

THE MISSIONARY QUOTA for 1926 was met by the Parish. The Diocese expected $6,600 from S. Clement's, and that amount was given, with a few dollars more. Of course, more money than this sum was given to missions, but the balance did not apply to the assessment. This is a matter for great thankfulness. We can do much better next year. Everybody try!

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY will not meet in the Parish House on the first Wednesday this month, but will attend the All-Day Missionary Meeting at Holy Trinity Church. Bishop Rowe, of Alaska, will be the speaker at two o'clock in the afternoon.

FR. ROSEBORO has come to stay with us at the Clergy House for the present, and will help in the Parish Work. We are most happy to have him here, where he has many friends. For some years he has been Pastor of the Churchmen at Yale, and already many of his boys are finding him.

AN ENTERTAINMENT will be given by the young people of the Parish, Monday evening, February 28th, at eight o'clock. A part of the proceeds will be given to the Dean of Nashotah House and a part to the Diocesan Campaign. It will be an enjoyable evening.

A DAY OF PRAYER for a Holy Lent will be afforded the members of the Parish and their friends on S. Matthew's Day, February 24th. There will be continuous intercessions from the High Mass at eleven until Vespers at six.

THE ANNUAL CANDLEMAS PROCESSION, followed by Benediction, will be held on the evening of the Feast Day, Wednesday, February 2nd, at eight o'clock. The Candles for use during the year on our Altars will be blessed before the first Mass.

ON S. BLASE'S DAY, February 3rd, throats will be blessed after all Masses and offices.

THE CORPORATE COMMUNION for the members of the Women's Auxiliary has been set for the Friday following their monthly meeting. This will fall this month on the 4th.

THE FIRST COMMUNION for the members of the recent Confirmation Class will be made at the eight o'clock Mass on Sunday, February 6th. Members of the Congregation are asked, please, to allow those making their First Communions to come to the Altar first. Too much cannot be done to dignify such an occasion.

GREAT PREPARATIONS are being made for the Anglo-Catholic Congress to be held in London next summer. Days of prayer are being kept all through the Church, and Priests are asked to say Mass with that intention on the first Thursday of each month. This will be done on S. Blase's Day, the 4th. It is hoped that many of the faithful will make their Communions for this intention at these Masses.

S. SIMEON'S SUMMER GUILD will hold their annual meeting and supper in the Parish House, Saturday, February 5th.

MONEY FOR FLOWERS can always be used. The flowers for the High Altar on Sundays and the Great Feasts seem to be amply provided for, but for the Lady Altar, where the Blessed Sacrament is Reserved, there is no such provision. Twenty dollars will keep fresh flowers on this Altar for a month, and an extra five dollars will provide sufficient flowers for the Shrine of Our Lady. What a beautiful votive offering in behalf of some departed soul! What a gesture of thanksgiving to God for some great blessing you have received!

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

Once more Holy Church calls you to the keeping of the Lenten fast, and she is most wise in her psychology by setting aside this season for more intensive thought and prayer about the suffering life of our Blessed Lord. The world to-day is so intent upon what it calls "life," meaning happiness, self-expression, ease and comfort. The "life" which you seek, and which is bestowed so abundantly in the Church, has been glorified through suffering and sacrifice and death. You can appreciate and value that "life" only as you enter the Way of Sorrows with the Son of Man. "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me."

This habit of life should be constant with the Christian, and it is with many of you. Yet all need this Lenten Season in which to readjust themselves, to clear their perspective, and to tighten their grasp on the real purpose of their religion, union with God.

The Mass, and your preparation for it, is of course the most important thing in your spiritual life. There are three Masses every day. Do, as many of you as possibly can, try to come to Mass every day in Lent. And add one Communion each week to your regular rule.

The evening devotional services will be just as they have been in recent years. On Wednesday evenings there will be a Sermon, followed by Benediction, except on Ash Wednesday, when the Choir will be present and Solemn Vespers will be sung. Fr. Smith will be the preacher on Wednesday evenings. I hope to preach on Friday evenings, and the sermon will be followed by the Stations of the Cross. On the first Friday in March and in April the Holy Hour will be kept as usual.

On Sundays, except Mid-Lent and Palm Sundays, the Litany will be sung in procession before the High Mass, Solemn Vespers will be sung as usual Sunday evenings, and Fr. Roseboro will preach.

The Wednesday evening service is the only one in addition to the normal schedule. It is much better for you to get into the habit of coming to such services that continue after Lent is over. The number of people that come out Friday evening is steadily increasing, and I hope many more will establish this habit during Lent. It is for this reason that only the one extra service is arranged.

I am hoping to give the Annual Mid-Lent Sunday Retreat for Women this year. The announcements of the other Retreats will follow in the April magazine. The others for this month have been put under the heading, "Parish Notes" notices.

May the Saviour of the world, who by His cross and precious blood hast redeemed you, save you and help you in your service for Him.

Affectionately your friend and pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Parish Notes

THE GIRLS' CLUB will give their annual entertainment in the Parish House, Monday evening, February 28th. It will be a variety show, showing in single acts the contents of a magazine. From the proceeds of this entertainment, the girls will pay their annual contribution to the Diocesan Campaign, and also make an offering to the Daily Bread Fund of Nashotah House. Your hearty support is solicited.

SHROVE TUESDAY, Confessions will be heard from ten to twelve in the morning, three to five in the afternoon, and from seven to nine in the evening. The Rector will be in the Confessional in the morning and in the evening, Fr. Ewing and Fr. Roseboro in the afternoon and in the evening, and Fr. Smith in the evening only.

ASH WEDNESDAY, ashes will be imposed before and after the Masses and the Offices. There will be a Low Mass at 6 in addition to those at 7, 8 and 9.30, and a Solemn Mass at 11, followed by a sermon by the Rector. Solemn Vespers will be sung at 8, and Fr. Smith will preach.

On the 25th, THE ANNUNCIATION of our Lady, there will be a Solemn Mass at 11 o'clock.

THIS YEAR the Women's Auxiliary would like to send $100 to S. Mary's School, Sewanee; $25 to Christ School, Arden; $20 to the Lepers' Daily Bread League; in addition to the $125 for the general work of the Church through the five missionary committees. It is hoped that many who read this will make a small designated offering to the Treasurer, Miss Gladys Connelly, at 731 South Broad Street. Last year the Auxiliary received $574.96, and also furnished a missionary box, valued at $303, which was sent to South Carolina.

THE ACCOUNTING WARDEN says that the collections so far this year have fallen below the usual sums. This may be due to the great number of stormy Sundays we have had and the smaller congregations. If you are detained from Church, you should save your collection and add it to your offering when you come again.

THE TRACTS in the new Tract Case disappear at an amazing rate. It is a fine bit of missionary work to send a tract to some friend, or to drop one in the trolley car or on the table in a doctor's office, with a prayer that it may fall into the hands of some interested person.

THE WOMEN'S UNITED THANK OFFERING, made every three years at the General Convention, is offered by the women of the Church for its Missionary work. It is gathered in S. Clement's each year at this season, and the small blue mite boxes may be had for Lenten savings. Miss Hoffman, of 2118 DeLancey Street, is the Treasurer, and will be glad to give you the mite boxes.

THE ANNUAL DAY OF RETREAT FOR WOMEN will be held on Mid-Lent Sunday, March 27th. Those wishing to attend will please notify Sr. Katharine, S.H.N., at 110 North Woodstock Street. The meditations will be given in the Chapel at 10, 2 and 3.30 by the Rector. The Day will close with Benediction at the High Altar at 4.

Why the Mass?

The "Sacrifice Way" of paying homage to the Deity was ordered by God Himself, as is clearly represented in numerous passages of Holy Scripture. Sacrifice may be offered to God alone, and only the Sacrifice form of worship contains in itself a recognition of God's absolute sovereignty and of the creature's equally absolute dependence.

The Atonement of the Son of God, and the establishment of His Kingdom in this world, were foremost in God's thoughts from the dawn of creation. Therefore, the sacrifices ordered by Him for the Old Law, the Law of Preparation, would naturally point to this Atonement Sacrifice of Christ, and to the New Law's official form of worship. The Old Testament bloody sacrifices pointed to Christ's immolation on Calvary. Melchisedech's sacrifice (Genesis 14: 19) pointed to the perpetual, divinely instituted Sacrifice of the New Law. Did not David predict that Christ would be a "priest" forever "according to the order of Melchisedech" (Psalm 109: 4)? Melchisedech, "a priest of the Most High God" (Genesis 14: 18), who offered bread and wine, prefigured Christ, who, on eve of the crucifixion, offered His own Holy Body and Blood under the form of bread and wine, and who, on the same occasion, arranged for the perpetuation of this unbloody sacrifice "until I come." Just as He commissioned the Apostles to preach, to baptize, and to forgive sin in His name, so He delegated them to offer up this clean oblation (Mal. 1: 11) of the New Law, which must have a daily sacrifice for the adequate worship of God. As a perfect religion, Christianity must have a perfect sacrifice, and to be worthy of the Holy Trinity, it must be of infinite value—no less than the sacrifice of the Cross. The Mass is all this. Christ, it is true, offered Himself "once for all" in expiation of the sins of men. But God must be fittingly honored as long as the world endures, else the daily dishonor from sinners would outweigh the daily honor received from the righteous. On the Cross it was God honoring God directly. In the Mass it is God honoring God through a commissioned agent. Calvary's bloody Victim is the unbloody victim of the Mass. Those who offered sacrifice in the Old Law were called priests. Christ Himself offering the Last Supper Sacrifice was called a "priest" by David and by Paul. This is why the successors of the Apostles, Christ's agents at the Altar of Sacrifice in the New Law, are also called "priests."

It should require no proof that the honor we pay to God must differ in quality and be immeasurably greater in quantity than honor shown to any other person. In quality it must be sacrifice; in quantity it should be infinite. Only God can offer infinite homage to God, and only to God may sacrifice be offered. It was for this reason that Christ Himself became our "priest forever."

The essential parts of the Last Supper Sacrifice were three: the offering of the bread and wine; the changing of these elements into the body and blood of Christ; the receiving of the Victim in Communion. The Mass, besides consisting of many other prayers with proper ceremonies, has those three principal parts, namely, the Offertory, Consecration, Holy Communion. Every movement of the priest, every bow, every bending of the knee, every prayer he says, has the deepest meaning.

The Altar itself represents Calvary; the priest saying Mass officially represents Christ; the garments he wears have their meaning from the garments which Christ wore during His Passion. You see the long white linen vestment; it represents the white garment with which Herod clothed Christ, and is a symbol of purity. You see the cord with which the priest is girded; it represents the rope with which Christ was bound. The outside vestment has the outlines of a cross on it; it reminds people that the Mass is a renewal of the sacrifice of the Cross.

The Devotion to the Unknown God

Anglo-Catholics should cultivate a special devotion to the Lord Jesus on the Altars where He is seldom recognized and adored. Our Eucharistic and covenanting God is "The Unknown God" in many parishes of our Provinces of the Church, and consequently His Altars are not reverenced and properly adorned, nor is His Majesty loved and worshipped by His subjects when He does vouchsafe His Presence to them at Holy Communion. Far from refusing to visit such churches and services, it ought to be our delight to offer there the reverence and love which are lacking. But all acts of devotion at such places and times should be directed entirely to His Majesty, and not to His subjects, and so must be quiet, unassuming and such as not to disturb the good people of the parish who cannot be won to more love to Jesus by what seems to them a strange and ostentatious parade of devotion.

We therefore suggest

FIVE RULES FOR THE DEVOTION.

1. Do not assist at Mass in such places in a critical spirit, but rejoice in the fact that you have an opportunity to offer adoration to His Eucharistic Majesty, which would otherwise be lacking except from the Holy Angels if you were not there.

2. Since you are paying your devotion to Jesus and not to His people, be careful that all your acts of devotion are unostentatious so as not to distract or offend at a time when it is your duty to assist and edify.

3. Be patient with those who do not know what you know regarding this great mystery. Your knowledge has been a grace from God of which you are not worthy, and you make yourself still more unworthy if you look down on those who do not know. Jesus is just as patient with these people as He has been with you. There may be some present who would be more faithful than you if it were given them to know what you know. Do you dare to be other than patient with them?

4. Do not feel that you are called upon to set others straight. In His own time Jesus will speak either through you or others. Just now be content that He Himself is enthroned in their midst on the Altar. The greatest sermon ever preached is preached by Jesus Himself straight to the human heart from the Chalice as from a pulpit. You have not always heeded this sermon. How can you expect others always to do so?

5. Do not spoil your acts of reparation and devotion by speaking of them to others. If you practice this devotion, it is no more than you ought to do. Who dares to brag when he is doing no more than fulfilling his duty?

In a word, close your eyes to people and things and open your soul to Jesus.

Enkindle your mind with devout and charitable thoughts. These are better than lighted candles.

Make of your heart a smoking censer of humble prayer.

Prostrate yourself in will before Jesus by offering a complete oblation of yourself and by entire adoration of Him in every faculty of your body and soul. This will be better than countless genuflections.

Missionary Offerings

All of you will want to make as creditable showing in missionary gifts this year as you did in 1926. It seems better to begin now to prepare for the offering, rather than at the end of the year to try to make up a large sum in a few days. A number of small boxes, which will receive only a dime at a time, have been secured for use during Lent, and the amount received through them will be given to the Children's Jubilee Lenten Missionary Offering. These boxes will be available after any of the services in the Church, and may be had in S. John's Sacristy. If a box is filled before Lent is over, it may be returned and a new box will be given most cheerfully.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

We are now entering into the more solemn season of Lent, preparing ourselves to share in the Passion and suffering life of our Lord, and so more perfectly to know the Easter joy and peace.

Some of you perhaps have been tardy in getting started on a good Lent, and while some others may have failed in what you did begin, Passion Sunday should mean a fresh beginning for all. For those who have been trying to keep a holy Lent it affords a time for rededication and renewal of consecration.

I want to call your attention to the change in the hour for the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Good Friday, which is placed at ten o'clock instead of half-past ten. This gives more time for the necessary rearrangements in the church before the preaching of the Passion and for hearing Confessions. I am expecting to preach the Passion, and ask your special prayers for God's blessing on my preparation for it. It is very much hoped that we may be able to sing the Passion Gospel on Palm Sunday according to the traditional custom, which is described on another page.

All of the services for the month are listed in the Kalendar, which I trust you will keep in a conspicuous place, and arrange your time so that you can follow them closely. Particularly do I urge you all to be present at Mass every day in Holy Week. Those who follow the Mass from Palm Sunday to Easter will find the whole drama of the Passion set forth in the words of Holy Scripture and in the action of the Mass. This is the way the Church tells the wonderful story, and we will supplement it with no preaching except for the Passion Preaching on Good Friday, which should not be substituted for the Liturgy by any who can come at ten in the morning. There is no better preparation for your Easter Communion, besides a good Confession, than receiving Holy Communion on Palm Sunday and Holy Thursday.

This holy season comes as a great stimulus to Christian effort. May we all respond to its call this year and respond in the way our Blessed Lord would wish for each.

Faithfully and affectionately,

Franklin Joiner

Parish Notes

ON THE FIRST FRIDAY, instead of the Stations of the Cross, the Holy Hour will be kept, with devotions based on the approaching Passion-tide.

A QUIET HOUR for men and boys will be given Saturday evening, April 2nd, beginning at 5 and ending at 9, conducted by Fr. Roseboro. Invitations have been sent to Acolytes throughout the city. Any who wish to spend this evening in Retreat will be invited if they make their desire known to any of the Clergy.

Parish Notes

STAINER'S "CRUCIFIXION" will be sung by the Choir Passion Sunday night. There will be no Sermon. The Cantata lasts about one hour. It will not be repeated the following Sunday.

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY will meet as usual on the first Wednesday, and make their Corporate Communion the following Friday. The Intention of the Masses will be for the Missionary Work of the Church.

ON FIRST THURSDAYS we are offering the Intention at the Masses for the coming Catholic Congress in London in July. This is being done all through the Anglican Communion, and it is hoped that all who are praying for the conversion of the Church to the Catholic Faith will unite with their brethren before the Altar on these special days.

S. MARY'S GUILD will omit its meeting this month because of their annual Retreat on Thursday in Passion Week. This day begins with Mass at half-past nine o'clock, and concludes with the Guild Office after supper. There are three addresses, with conducted devotions between. Any women of the congregation and their friends will be welcome, and places for dinner and the evening collation will be reserved if the Sister-in-Charge is notified. Her telephone is Spruce 8190.

PALM SUNDAY the solemn blessing of the palms and the palm procession will begin at half-past ten. Members of the Parish who wish to have their regular seats are urged to come early. At this service we have one of our largest congregations. There will be a short sermon by the Rector, and in the evening Fr. Roseboro will preach at Vespers.

A CHART FOR THE NAMES OF WATCHERS before the Altar of Repose on Maundy Thursday, and up to the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Good Friday, will be posted in ample time in the Church Porch. It is hoped that people will choose their time and sign promptly.

MONEY FOR FLOWERS FOR MAUNDY THURSDAY and the Altar of Repose may be handed to the Rector, or, if carefully marked, may be placed on the collection plates. Gifts of flowers are very welcome.

GOOD FRIDAY MORNING the Stations of the Cross will be said at seven, and Matins as usual at nine. The Liturgy of Good Friday will begin at ten.

EASTER EVEN there will be the blessing of the new fire, lighting of the Paschal Candle, and First Vespers of Easter at five o'clock.

THE EASTER DAY MASS will be Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING EASTER PARTY will be held on Thursday evening in the Octave, and the Children's Party the following Saturday afternoon.

THE RECTOR IS PREACHING at S. Simeon's Church Passion Sunday evening, in S. Andrew's Collegiate Chapel at the Philadelphia Divinity School on Thursday afternoon in Passion Week, and at the Church of the Redemption Palm Sunday evening.

Parish Notes

THE DEVOTION TO THE UNKNOWN GOD, an article appearing in last month's number of this magazine, was copied from a tract published by the Grace Dieu Press, and edited by Fr. Joseph, O.S.F.; we apologize for not giving the quotation at the time the article was printed.

THE EASTER OFFERINGS, unless otherwise designated, will go towards the general expenses of the Parish, and at the end of the year, if there is any balance in this fund, an appropriation will be made from it towards our Missionary Quota.

CONFESSIONS in Holy Week will be heard each day, beginning with Wednesday at the usual morning, afternoon and evening hours. Regular penitents in the Parish are urged to come early in the week and are asked to be careful in awaiting their turn before entering the Confessional.

A SET OF NEW BLACK VESTMENTS has just been completed by the Altar Guild, and it is most lovely. The orphreys and decorations on the stole and maniple are of black velvet, outlined with a heavy silver guimpe. They replace a set that has been completely worn out.

FR. ROSEBORO has just completed a week's Preaching Mission in the Eastern State Penitentiary. The total attendance was about 1,400, and there were 8 Baptisms and 7 are awaiting Confirmation.

THE ANNUAL MEETING and MASS of the Guild of All Souls will be held in S. Paul's Church, Brooklyn, on Monday, May 9th. It is hoped that a large delegation from S. Clement's may be able to attend.

THE MID-LENT RETREAT for women was one of the largest in recent years. Over one hundred women were present at each of the meditations, and many others came in for the closing devotions. The subjects of the addresses were "The Grace of Our Lord Jesus Christ," "The Love of God," and "The Fellowship of the Holy Ghost."

The Sacred Passion

Who is this with garments gory,
  Triumphing from Bozrah's way;
This that weareth robes of glory,
  Bright with more than victory's ray?
Who is this unwearied comer
  From his journey's sultry length,
Travelling through Idume's summer
  In the greatness of his strength?

Wherefore red in thine apparel
  Like the conquerors of earth,
And arrayed like those who carol
  O'er the reeking vineyard's mirth?
Who art thou, the valleys seeking
  Where our peaceful harvests wave?
I, in righteous anger speaking,
  I, the mighty One to save;

I, that of the raging heathen
  Trod the winepress all alone,
Now in victor garlands wreathen
  Coming to redeem mine own:
I am he with sprinkled raiment,
  Glorious for my vengeance hour,
Ransoming with priceless payment,
  And delivering with power.

Hail! All hail! Thou Lord of Glory!
  Thee, our Father, thee we own;
Abram heard not of our story,
  Israel ne'er our Name hath known.
But, Redeemer, thou hast sought us,
  Thou hast heard thy children's wail,
Thou with thy dear Blood hast bought us:
  Hail! Thou mighty Victor, hail!

Some Holy Week Ceremonies Explained

THE ALTAR DRAMA OF HOLY WEEK

The ceremonies of Holy Week have been handed down to us from very ancient times. They form a single coherent scheme designed to set before us, as if in a holy Drama played before the Altar, the whole of the Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ. On Palm Sunday we follow Christ as He enters Jesusalem in triumph. On the next three days, as we listen to the Scriptures, we watch Him teaching in the Temple. On Maundy Thursday we stand in the Upper Room and assist at the Last Supper. Then we kneel before the Altar of Repose and share His vigil in Gethsemane, in the palace of the high priest, and in the Praetorium of Pilate. Then follows the gloom of Good Friday and the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified with its strange maimed rite ending in confusion, and typifying the moment when Our Blessed Lord gave up the ghost—when "the Shepherd was smitten and the sheep were scattered." On the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week, as we witness the wailing Lamentations and the dying lights of Tenebrae, we feel that darkness which came over the land after the Crucifixion. And the whole tremendous drama ends in the wonderful vigil service of Easter Eve, when the darkened Church is reillumined with the New Fire, and the catechumens go down into the grave of the baptismal font, to be buried with Christ, and to rise again, regenerate, with Him—mystical ceremonies which usher in the first Mass of Easter Day, with its lights, its white vestments, its pealing bells, and its Alleluias, announcing the glad tidings that "The Lord is risen indeed!"

THE ALTAR OF REPOSE.

On Maundy Thursday the Celebrant consecrates two large Hosts, one of which he consumes at the time of Communion, while the other is carried in procession at the close of the Mass to the Altar of Repose, to be reserved until the following day, when it is consumed at the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, in which Mass there is no consecration. This second large Host is placed in a Chalice brought especially to the Altar for this purpose, and this is then covered with a white veil. The Mass is finished in the manner of a Mass of Exposition, the blessing is given, and the Last Gospel is read. Then a Procession is formed, torches are lit, and with the Celebrant bearing the Blessed Sacrament which was reserved in the Chalice mentioned above, they move toward the Altar of Repose singing the hymn, "Pange lingua, gloriosi": "Of the glorious Body telling, O my tongue its mysteries sing."

The Altar of Repose has meanwhile been adorned with lights and flowers. When the Procession reaches it, all kneel during the singing of the verse, "Therefore we before Him bending," and the Sacrament is then set in the place prepared for it. At this Altar the faithful keep watch by turns, day and night, until the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified on Good Friday. It is a pious custom to visit during the day as many Altars of Repose in the neighborhood as possible.

Some Holy Week Ceremonies Explained

SOLEMN CHANTING OF THE PASSION.

The Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ according to S. Matthew is used on Palm Sunday. The Passion according to S. Mark is used on Tuesday in Holy Week. The Passion according to S. Luke is used on Wednesday in Holy Week; while the account of the Passion in the Fourth Gospel is used at the Liturgy of Good Friday.

In place of the usual rendition of the Gospel by the Deacon of the Mass, the story of the Passion is sung by three Cantors. One Cantor stands in the center of the Sanctuary and sings the narrative portion in a strong tenor voice: another sings all the words of our Lord in a deep bass voice: and the third sings in a high tenor voice whatever is said by any one else. And the Choir bursts in occasionally to represent the crowd of Jews and others. On Palm Sunday the faithful hold their palms in their hands during the singing of the Passion, and when the narrator announces the Saviour's death, all kneel and pause awhile. The last part of the Passion is sung in the ordinary tone of the Gospel of the Mass, but lights are not carried. The Preface of the Cross is used on Palm Sunday and until Holy Thursday. "Who upon the wood of the Cross didst accomplish the salvation of the race of man: that whence death arose, thence Life also might rise again: and that he who by a tree was once the vanquisher, might also by a Tree be vanquished: through Christ our Lord."

HOLY SABBATH MASS.

The Mass on Holy Sabbath is really the First Mass of Easter. Pictures and statues are unveiled, the Altar is decked with flowers, the vestments are white, the Gloria in Excelsis is sung, the bells are rung, and after nine weeks of silence Alleluia is heard. But the Introit, the Kiss of Peace and the Agnus Dei are omitted because it was not until the evening on the Day of Resurrection that our Lord stood in the midst of His Apostles and gave them His peace. The Creed is not said and no lights are carried at the Gospel, there is no special Preface, and no Offertory or Benediction. These are left for the Second Mass on Easter Day.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

We seemed to have a very helpful and good Lent. The results at Easter, both in number of Confessions and Communions, make me feel that. It is in penitence for sin and desire for Holy Communion that a Pastor takes the spiritual pulse of his congregation, and not in numbers at services. Our congregations are large, and we are drawing souls from them all the time for instruction in the Sacramental Life. This, with the ministering to the sick and afflicted, is, beside the Altar, our chief work. The other Clergy working together with me need your prayers in this work we are doing, and also need your services in bringing to our knowledge those who are eager for instruction.

The forty days of Lent, with its discipline and lessons in prayer and the devotional life, should not come to an end with Easter, but serve rather as a time and season of preparation for these great forty days, following the Resurrection, when our dear Lord was teaching His people the things pertaining to the Kingdom of Heaven. There is always much for the wisest of us to learn, and we can only learn of Him as we come meekly and humbly, in prayer and sacrament, to know Him better and love Him more.

The Feast of the Ascension is a Holy Day of Obligation, on which all Catholic Christians should assist at Mass, and as many as possible should receive Holy Communion. It is preceeded by the three Rogation Days, days no longer of abstinence but of intercession. They are to be kept as days of prayer, not only for the fruits of the earth, but for all the gifts of God. This gives me an opportunity to remind you of the Daily Prayers in Church at half after twelve, followed by the recitation of Sext and None. More people might join with us in these daily prayers and the recitation of the Divine Office. It is this daily round of prayer and praise in your Parish Church that wrests from on High the Spiritual power and dynamic force that has made, and still makes, S. Clement's a great devotional centre.

I want to urge your prayers for the Catholic Congresses to be held in the near future. The great Congress in London, with the Holy Eucharist as the subject, comes in June, and the American Congress will be in Albany in October. There are Masses here every month for these two great movements. You can also greatly help by subscribing to the American Congress, even though you may not be able to attend, and the Committee is hoping that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of becoming life members with the subscription of twenty-five dollars.

There is much work for all to do. There is much prayer needed. God is most prodigal in His gifts to us. Let us not fail Him and His Church in this time when the Harvest calls so earnestly for laborers.

Faithfully and affectionately your Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Parish Notes

FROM ASH WEDNESDAY to Maundy Thursday inclusive, there were 1,792 Communions made at our Altars, and on Easter Day and its Octave there were 615.

THE PASCHAL CANDLE was painted this year by Miss Newman, and we are very grateful to her for the lovely work she has done. It is covered with many Resurrection symbols. It would be most edifying to inspect it closely.

ON ASCENSION DAY there will be an additional Low Mass at 6, and the Solemn Mass will be sung at 11. On Wednesday evening preceding Ascension Day there will be a Sermon, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

THE GIRLS' CLUB will hold a small bazaar and Strawberry Festival on Tuesday evening, May 24th, in the Parish House. The Mothers' Meeting will have a table with a display of their beautiful rag rugs, which are reasonably priced and most suitable for summer use. The Girls' Club recently sent a generous gift to Nashotah House Daily Bread Fund.

THE ANNUAL CHOIR CONCERT, for the benefit of the Choir Outing Fund, will be held in the Parish House Thursday evening, June 2nd. They will be assisted this year by the Camden Choral Society, and the evening should be one of rare interest and delight. If you are not able to attend, Mr. Fry would be glad to have your offering for the Fund.

OFFERINGS for the Summer Outing Fund are now in order, and may be made to the Rector, the Sister-in-Charge, or placed on the collection plate if marked for this purpose. During the summer many vacations are arranged for mothers and their children, who are members of the Parish, and the only change from the hot and dusty city that they enjoy is what we are able to give them. This is a most worthy fund, and bespeaks your very generous offerings.

THE CORPORATE GIFT. At the General Convention held in New Orleans in 1925, the women of the Church pledged themselves to raise $100,000, in the following three years, to be used for Forward Work and to be known as the "Corporate Gift." S. Clement's has been asked to give $100 towards this sum. It is hoped that every woman of the Parish will give 25 cents to the Auxiliary Treasurer, Miss Connelly, in order that they may meet the obligation.

THE NEXT CATHOLIC CONGRESS in America will be held next October in the Cathedral at Albany. On the third Thursday in the month we shall be offering our Masses for that intention.

MONEY FOR FLOWERS ON THE ALTARS seems to be very hard to secure. A great many special memorials have been given this year, so that the great Feast Days are pretty well provided for, but the ordinary Sundays can only be provided for out of a general fund. We like to have fresh flowers on the Lady Altar, the Altar of Reservation, all the time. Such offerings, marked "Flowers," might be placed on the collection plates.

Parish Notes

THE WOMEN'S UNITED THANK OFFERING this year amounted to somewhat over two hundred dollars. Next year is the last of the three years before the gift is presented at the next General Convention. It is hoped that we can reach a total of one thousand dollars. Miss Hoffman, the Treasurer, has the small blue boxes, and it is suggested that interested persons take their boxes now, and begin at once with their savings for this offering of next year.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GUILD OF ALL SOULS will be held in S. Paul's Church, Brooklyn, Monday, May 9th. There will be a Solemn Mass at 11.15, when the Rector of S. Paul's will be the preacher. There will be a luncheon and a business meeting afterwards. It is hoped that many from S. Clement's will attend this meeting.

AT THE EASTER ELECTION, the following were elected to serve as Vestrymen for the ensuing three years: Messrs. Clinton Rogers Woodruff, George Lewis Mayer, S. McKean Bayard, and Horace Wells Sellers. Dr. Francis D. W. Lukens was elected to complete the term of Mr. Francis P. Adams, whose resignation was accepted with regret at a former meeting.

The Month of Mary

The honour assigned by God to Blessed Mary was pre-eminent, to be the Mother of Christ who is God Almighty. And in accordance with her great vocation, she was endowed with divine grace from her birth and before her birth, as the whole Church has commonly believed and taught. Many Christians have also believed that at the moment of her conception in the womb of her mother Anna she was saved miraculously from that taint of sin and faulty inclination towards self-will, apart from God's will, which is the common heritage of all other children of men; and that the redemptive grace of Christ, which saves us from the guilt and power of sin, saved her from any contact with it.

This doctrine of S. Mary's Immaculate Conception without original sin is an inference from the fact of her motherhood of Christ, and from the fact that she passed her whole life without committing any sin. It has been taught in the Roman Catholic Church in modern times as a necessary part of the Christian Faith; but not so in the Eastern Church. The English Church has given no definite pronouncement on the subject. It does not assert that belief in the doctrine is necessary for faithful Church membership; but it follows mediaeval custom in commemorating S. Mary's Conception, and does not commemorate the conception of any other Saint.

The Month of Mary

The pre-eminent honour of S. Mary still remains to her in heaven. Christ has not ceased to be truly man, nor has Mary ceased to be Christ's Mother. The Church, therefore, venerates her above all Saints, and has loved to ascribe to her every title of honour. She is called the Queen of Heaven, for she is exalted above the angels, and above the Saints who reign in Christ. She is the Queen-Mother of Him who is King of kings and Lord of lords, acknowledged and crowned by her Son in heaven. She is called our Advocate, because we think of her as being of all the saints the most closely united with Jesus Christ, and because we have learnt to know the power of petitions commended to her intercession.

But no title that can be given to S. Mary can exceed the greatness of that earliest title given to her by the authority of the whole Church, the Mother of God. And yet let us note that it was chiefly for the glory of Jesus Christ, and to establish the truth of His true divinity and humanity, that that name was solemnly given to her. The fact of her motherhood is our justification in giving her every honour that can be given to a human being. Devotion to the Blessed Mother is the safeguard of the true belief in the Incarnation. And remembrance of her motherhood will prevent us from forgetting in our devotion the infinite gulf that separates her, as a created being, from Him who is her Creator and the Creator of all. For we can never rest in the thought of the Mother. The word itself suggests the thought of the Son who is infinitely greater than His human Mother. The image of Blessed Mary which is dearest to the Christian heart is not that of the Virgin crowned in the glory of heaven, but that of the Virgin in the greater glory of her Motherhood, holding in her arms her Son, the babe of her body, who deigned to take from her all He could take, His human nature, but who in His own Person from all eternity is the Lord God.—George D Carleton, "The King's Highway."

The Regina Coeli

During Easter-tide, instead of the Angelus, is said the Regina Coeli.

Hail to thee, O Queen of Heaven, Alleluia!
He Whom thou wast meet to bear, Alleluia!
As He promised, has arisen, Alleluia!
Pour for us to Him thy prayer, Alleluia!

V. Rejoice and be glad, O Virgin Mary, Alleluia!
R. For the Lord is risen indeed, Alleluia!

Let us pray.

O God, Who by the Resurrection of Thy Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, hast vouchsafed to make glad the whole world, grant, we beseech Thee, that, through the intercession of the Virgin Mary, His Mother, we may attain to the joys of eternal life, through the same Christ our Lord. A-men.

Blessing for a Motor Car

O Lord, we beseech Thee graciously to hear our supplications, and bless this car with Thy right hand; and give Thy holy Angels charge over it, that all who ride therein may always be safeguarded from all perils; that as the Ethiopian man seated in his chariot read the sacred Scriptures, and was born into the Faith by the guidance of Thy holy deacon St. Philip, so also Thou wouldst give to Thy faithful people, who continually trust in Thy protection, safety in all their journeys; and that Thou wouldst extend Thy grace to all their good works, that after they have gone in the ways of Thy commandments and through the vicissitudes of life, they may merit of Thy mercy the eternal joy they seek, through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Prayer for S. Clement's Church Philadelphia

BLESS, O Lord, this Parish, and grant that Thy Name may be worshipped here in truth and purity, to all generations. Give Thy grace and wisdom to all the Clergy, that they may exercise holy discipline, and be themselves patterns of holiness, simplicity and self-denial. Bless all who worship here; take from them all pride, vanity and self-conceit, and give them true humility and self-abasement. Enlighten their minds, subdue their wills, purify their hearts, and so penetrate them with Thy Spirit and fill them with Thy love that they may go forth animated with earnest zeal for Thy glory; and may Thy ever living Word so dwell within their hearts that they may speak with that resistless energy of love which shall melt the hearts of sinners to the love of Thee. Open, O Lord, the hearts and hands of Thy people, that they may be ready to give and glad to distribute to our necessities. Bless the founders and benefactors of this Parish, and recompense them with the riches of Thine everlasting Kingdom, for Jesus Christ's sake. A-men.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

Since this is the last issue of the Magazine until the autumn number, its publication has been delayed, so that it might include a complete summary of the year's work and give you the full roster for the summer.

The congregations have continued to be large during the later feasts and the number of communions most gratifying, yet it seems that for much too large a number Easter Day ends the Church Year. The Ascension of our Blessed Lord to His eternal Session on the right hand of God, and the birth of the Catholic Church on Pentecost, bring to us today with vital force and power the Merits of His Death and Passion and His Glorious Resurrection. Those who keep the Solemnity of Corpus Christi, coming at this season, realize afresh how the grace and virtue of His Life and Death, His Resurrection and Ascension, are communicated to us in the Holy Sacrament of the Altar, and how, though withdrawn from our natural sight, He is with us in the Tabernacle until the consummation of all things.

Summer Masses

And here a word should be said about Mass in the summer. It is with no little difficulty that the complete schedule of services is maintained at S. Clement's during the summer months. This is a great boon not only to our own congregation but also to many other Church people in the city, where the services in their own particular parishes are curtailed. It is quite evident that you all appreciate this, for the number of communions keeps up well, and the attendance Sunday evening at our simple devotional service before the Blessed Sacrament is always much larger than any we have in the winter with the full choir and Solemn Vespers.

Mass During Holidays

This word about Mass in the summer must be directed to those who are going away for a period of holiday. Whether that period be long or short, careful attention should be given before going away to the opportunities for Mass. To make your plans, and then find no occasions for Mass and Communion, is no excuse. It is the solemn obligation of every Catholic to hear Mass on every Sunday. It is for you to plan your Sundays so that you may be in a place where there is Mass and at the time when Mass is said. And if it be in surplice and stole, or even in Latin, it is still the Mass. For your Priest there is only one question, "Were you there?" It is a test whether your devotion is to one priest and one parish, to people and things as you like them, or to our Lord and His Church.

Catholic Congresses

Our thoughts and prayers are turning now to the English Church and the proximity of the great Catholic Congress to be held in London early in July. We shall be saying Mass every day for God's blessing on this great witness to the power and glory of the Holy Eucharist, and it is hoped that many will make their communions every day during the period of its sessions, and keep some part of the Saturday previous, July 2nd, in prayer and intercession in the Church. Quite a number of our parish have already gone abroad for the summer, and will represent S. Clement's at its sessions. The new proposed Prayer Book affects very seriously the practical side of Catholic life and devotion, and our English brethren are crying out for our prayers.

You must be giving a share of your prayers, too, to the next Catholic Congress in America, to be held in Albany in October. It is hoped that every one who subscribed last year has renewed subscription for this year, and all who are able to do so are asked to make a further money contribution to the funds. Here is a very definite way in which you can help this great cause that lies so close to your heart. Whether or not you are able to attend the meetings of the Congress, you can join with us in the offering of the Holy Sacrifice for its intention on the days that you see designated in the Kalendar, and you can give it a place in your daily prayers. Then there is this third way, by subscribing your money. Fr. Caine is the Secretary and Treasurer, and will be glad to have your offerings. As the details are published, the posters will appear on the bulletin board in the Church porch.

Missionary Budget

We were all rejoiced last year when we were able to meet our full missionary quota of sixty-six hundred dollars. It seemed a bit unwise to pledge the same amount this year, so instead we have assured the authorities at the Church House that we will do our best to raise fifty-five hundred dollars, and what a splendid thing it would be if we repeated the amount of last year! According to the records from the Diocesan Treasurer, for the first five months of the year the amount expected on our promise of fifty-five hundred dollars would be twenty-three hundred dollars, and on June first we had given nineteen hundred dollars. Will all those who wish to make offerings to the missionary work of the Church place such contributions, plainly marked, on the collection plates? Last year we made a great effort at the last moment to complete our quota. This year we will give our record as it appears from time to time, and hope it will prove an incentive for your more frequent and larger gifts.

Funerals

This paragraph is to be about Funerals. In the past few months three devout members of the parish have died, and S. Clement's has had no part in their burial. This is no reflection on the families of the departed, but had these persons left directions for their burial, there would have been no question. Only one of the three had a Requiem Mass at the time of burial. Masses were said here in the Crypt Chapel for each of them, when many of their friends assisted and made their communions. This reference is made simply to show how very necessary it is for every one to leave very special directions for their burial, and the directions should be left with some one on whom you can depend to fulfil them.

Clergy Staff

At the Diocesan ordinations on the day after Trinity Sunday, the Reverend Wayne MacVeigh Wagenseller was advanced to the Priesthood, and said his first Mass at the High Altar on the following day. Fr. Wagenseller has come to join our Staff, and is taking up his work immediately. He has been spending the past six months in England with the Community of the Resurrection at Mirfield, and brings greetings to S. Clement's from our dear friends there, Father King and Father Seyzinger. He will take charge of the Catechism, and work with the younger boys.

The Reverend Loren Nichols Gavitt, who has been here during the past two summers while a Seminarian, was ordained to the Diaconate on Ascension Day by the Bishop of Washington, and assisted at the Low Masses here on the following Sunday and acted as Deacon at the Solemn Mass. He will continue on the Staff for the present, acting as Choir pastor and as Warden of the junior servers. A great many younger boys are now serving at the Low Masses during the week, and we hope to have them serving at the Children's Mass when it is resumed in the autumn.

Father Roseboro left us the first of June to take up his permanent work at S. Paul's, Brooklyn, where the Cowley Fathers are in charge. He has worked in this parish before, so it was a real home-coming for him, and the people there are greatly rejoiced at his return. We are most grateful to him for all the splendid work he did during his short sojourn with us, and we can assure him that he has left many warm friends at S. Clement's.

Font Cover

The iron bracket for the font cover has been installed, and a most beautiful piece of iron work it is. Mr. Sellers found it in an antique shop, and had it remodeled to meet our need, and it is now in place. It is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Morris of Riverton, New Jersey, in memory of their daughter, Ruth, who died several years ago. We do most deeply appreciate this lovely and useful addition to our Church.

Windows

While we are on the subject of the Church, some suggestions about the windows during the summer may not be amiss. It is very difficult to ventilate the Church satisfactorily, for some people like plenty of air, and others think every direct breeze is a draught. Will those people who are susceptible to every breeze, and feel every current of air, please select seats in the Church where this can be avoided? If such persons would sit on the side aisles, close to the wall, they would be out of the way of any such currents of air. Then the windows could be open, and those liking plenty of air could sit in the middle of the Church, and everybody would be happy. But when you insist on keeping your own seat, and having an offending window closed, you are not only acting very selfishly, but you are suffocating others who are as susceptible to the heat as you are to the cold. Consideration for others should be a conspicuous mark in Christians.

Saints' Days

You may have noticed on the monthly Kalendar a growing number in the Saints' Days that we are keeping. If you read through any catena of the Saints, such as Baring-Gould's volumes, or Butler's Lives of the Saints, you will find that there are a dozen or more assigned to every day in the year. These are all given certain degrees of importance, called Double or Semi-double, depending on whether the antiphons are said wholly or in part before the Psalms and Canticles, or Simples, when commemorations only are made. All of the days we are keeping are Double Feasts. Some of them may be very obscure and uncertain Saints, too, but they all personify some great Christian virtue which it will do us no harm to meditate upon and endeavor to emulate, and they bring too before the worshipper, in the Liturgy, a wide variety of Scriptures in Epistle and Gospel, as well as in the Introits and Graduals, and help us all to remember with some sense of vividness that we are one with them in the Communion of Saints. This leaves fewer days for Votive Masses, but in spite of that it is a great gain devotionally and liturgically.

Fr. Underhill

Father Underhill's sister, who had been ill for several years, died a few weeks ago, and was buried from S. Luke's Chapel in New York City. Our love and affection goes out very sincerely and warmly to him in this loss, which means the breaking up of his home. He came on to us soon after the funeral and spent a few days in the Clergy House. You will all be very happy with me to know that he is coming to make his home with us here. He is coming to be our guest, and to give us such help from time to time in the services as we may need and as he may be able to perform, but he will have no assigned duties, and no responsibilities. The spiritual blessing that his presence spreads over the Clergy House will be felt throughout the Parish, and it is with the warmest affection we welcome him to our family life once more.

Staff Vacations

The Clergy will have their holidays this year at about the usual times. Fr. Ewing will leave the middle of June and return the first of August; and Fr. Smith will spend August with some friends in Maine. I am rather planning to go abroad the last of July, to return the first of October, but as this arrangement is contingent on my mother's health, it may have to be abandoned later. If I am able to go abroad, I will spend most of the time in Italy and Southern France, going to England for about ten days before sailing for home.

This letter must not close without my wishing each and every one of you a happy and recreative summer. And may the Lord watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

To spend the summer in sunny Italy is indeed a most recreative holiday, as well as one replete with unique spiritual and artistic experiences. There has been actual sunshine every day of my visit, with corresponding heat, but by resting in the early afternoon one escapes its worst glare and is ready in the late afternoon for a fresh tour of sightseeing. Indeed, often in the duller light of the afternoon, the frescoes in the churches and the pictures in the galleries are more impressive and beautiful.

On every side one finds objects hallowed by their association with the early history of the Christian Church in addition to the tombs of Apostles and Saints and their relics which are presented everywhere for veneration. Many of these wonderful churches and shrines will always stand out clearly in my memory, but none aroused my interest nor stirred my emotions more deeply than the Basilica of S. Clement in Rome. To worship here in this church, containing the relics of S. Clement and S. Ignatius under the High Altar, and built over the home of S. Clement and his private chapel, was an experience never to be forgotten. The Basilica of S. Clement is the titular church of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, and he has raised large sums of money to restore it and to continue the excavations which are now about completed. Under the present Basilica is a more ancient church, with the most beautiful of frescoes, now sadly damaged and faded. In our own Crypt Chapel hangs a copy of one of these frescoes, a head of S. Clement, and had I not known this copy, I could not have recognized the old original in this underground church, because it has faded away so much—one of the great pities is that before many years so many of these frescoes will have disappeared entirely, for there are not sufficient funds to pay for their expensive preservation. Beneath this lower church, the house in which S. Clement lived has been discovered and excavated, as well as the remains of his private oratory. All of this had been submerged in a heavy flow of water, but in the past few years this has all been drained off, revealing beneath S. Clement's house, an ancient chapel to the pagan goddess Mithras, showing her altar and a very wonderful statue. All of this is of the deepest interest, but the interest is greatly deepened when it is the ancient home, chapel, and church of our beloved Patron, and Rome's fourth Bishop and a Martyr.

And so one could write of all the other great Roman Basilicas, of the Church of S. Francis at Assisi, where every spot was pregnant with the spirit and devotion of this "everybody's Saint," of S. Mark's in Venice, of S. Croce in Florence, and Giotio's Campanile at the Cathedral. But this must be saved until the time I can tell you about it all rather than write it, and this I will endeavor to do in several illustrated lectures which I will give beginning this month while it is all so fresh in my memory and my experience, for I am most eager to share it all with you.

The Third Annual Catholic Congress

The Third Annual Catholic Congress will be held in Albany, New York, during the last week in October. The Committee has published the program and list of speakers, in which Philadelphia plays a conspicuous part. How splendid it would be were it only possible for more of you to attend the Congress in person, but because that is impossible for the greater number of you, it is all the more reason why you should be giving it a large part in your prayers, and why you should subscribe to its membership. All of you who subscribed last year to the Milwaukee Congress should renew your subscriptions this year, with many new additions. Subscriptions may be handed to any of the clergy. The Congress and its speakers will be in our Mass intentions throughout the month and we will observe a Novena the week before the Congress opens. I hope every one will make at least one Communion with this intention.

The Congress Missionary Offering

At the first of the Congresses in New Haven, a spontaneous offering for missions was taken up at the closing service and it was disbursed by the Committee amongst definitely Catholic missions at home and abroad. Last year at Milwaukee the missionary offering was a definite part of the program and several thousand dollars was received. The Presiding Bishop of the Church was present at that Congress and, by his cordial greeting and sympathetic interest and participation in the movements of the Congress, won the hearts and affections of all the members. As a mark of appreciation to him personally, and as a token of confidence in his administration of the missionary boards of the Church, this offering was presented through him to the National Council. S. Clement's Church has had no part in either of these two missionary offerings. It would give me the greatest satisfaction, and should be a matter of pride with you, to subscribe to the missionary offering of the Albany Congress, and then share further in the work the Congress undertakes to do. Such missionary offerings, plainly marked, may be put on the collection plates, handed to the clergy, or sent direct to the Accounting Warden.

Mass Attendance on Special Days

The attendance at Mass and the number of Communions on the Feasts of our Blessed Lord, our Lady, and the Holy Apostles, should be very much greater than it is. Many people who are not able to come to Mass every day, nor regularly once between Sundays, might find it possible to come on one of these greater days, which rarely are more than two in number in any one month. This month on the Feast of S. Luke, Evangelist, and the Feast of SS. Simon and Jude, Apostles, I shall expect greater numbers at Mass and Communion.

The Parish Missionary Quota

While we are speaking of the missionary offerings, you must be reminded of the Diocesan quota, where during the summer we have fallen far behind in our gifts. Last year, during the last week in the year, I made a desperate effort to complete our quota and did so. This year we must prepare in advance for it and so you are here reminded to make as large gifts as possible to the general missionary work of the Church. This can best be done through the missionary side of the duplex envelopes. Whenever you feel able to increase your weekly offerings, do not forget this side of your envelopes, nor because you have pledged to give fifty cents a week in it, feel you cannot slip in an extra dollar when you have it to give. Before the end of the year, I hope to give at least three illustrated lectures on Italy, and the offerings at these lectures will be applied on the Parish's missionary budget.

The Work of the Staff

The work of the several priests on the staff will remain practically unchanged for the winter. I will be having the eight o'clock Mass on Sundays and will preach at the High Mass. Father Arnold will sing the Children's Mass at 9.15. Father Ewing and Father Smith will alternate Sundays with singing the Solemn Mass and preaching at Solemn Vespers. Father Ewing will continue with his visiting amongst the members of the Mothers' Meeting, but Father Wagenseller, who will be in charge of the children's work, will have the Mothers' Meeting devotional service Thursday evenings and make the address. Mr. Gavitt will be the choir pastor and will also be in charge of the Junior servers. It seemed wise during the past year to disband S. Vincent's Guild of Acolytes, so it no longer exists in the parish. Instead, such men and boys as I may approve and appoint, and who are trained under my direction, will serve the Masses and assist in the sanctuary at the Solemn Services.

All Saints and All Souls

These two days early in November will be upon us before the November magazine is in your hands, so the services for these two days had better be announced here and now. The first Vespers of All Saints will be sung in the Church, Monday evening, October 31st, followed by a sermon. There will be an additional Low Mass at six on the Feast Day itself and a Solemn Mass at eleven. The offerings on this day are given to the work of the All Saints' Sisters at S. Anna's Home. In the evening Vespers of the Dead will be said in S. John's Chapel at eight, with a few hymns and a short address. There will be an added Mass at six on November 2nd and a Solemn Requiem at eleven, followed by the Absolutions at the catafalque. Names to be read at the altar on this day of the Commemoration of the Faithful Departed should be in the hands of the clergy not later than Sunday evening, October 31st. The offerings on All Souls Day are for the Parish's annual offering to the Guild of All Souls.

Plans for keeping the Patronal Festival are well under way, which this year includes the seventieth anniversary of the laying of the corner-stone of the Church. Mrs. Borden, as a little girl, was present at that ceremony and remembers the occasion very vividly. I hope in next month's magazine to tell you something about it, as Mrs. Borden relates it to me.

The Catholic Club

During the first week in October the Clerical Union for the Maintenance and Defense of Catholic Principles, more familiarly known as the Catholic Club, will be keeping its fortieth anniversary at S. Clement's, in connection with the regular monthly meeting, which meetings will in October be resumed for the winter. The Club has a membership of Priests alone, who meet in different parishes each month, to make a corporate offering of the Holy Sacrifice, to have a meditation given by one of their number, and, after a luncheon, to hear a paper or address from some visiting Priest or Prelate. It is from the various Clerical Unions in the several dioceses that has sprung the Central Committee that organized the Priest's Convention in Philadelphia in 1924, and that has now become the permanent central Catholic Congress Committee.

Conclusion

While this letter is being written abroad, I fully expect to be at home in my accustomed place before it reaches your hands. My holiday has been most delightfully restful and recreative both mentally and physically. It will be a great joy to be amongst you all again and share with you the fruits of my summer's travels and experiences.

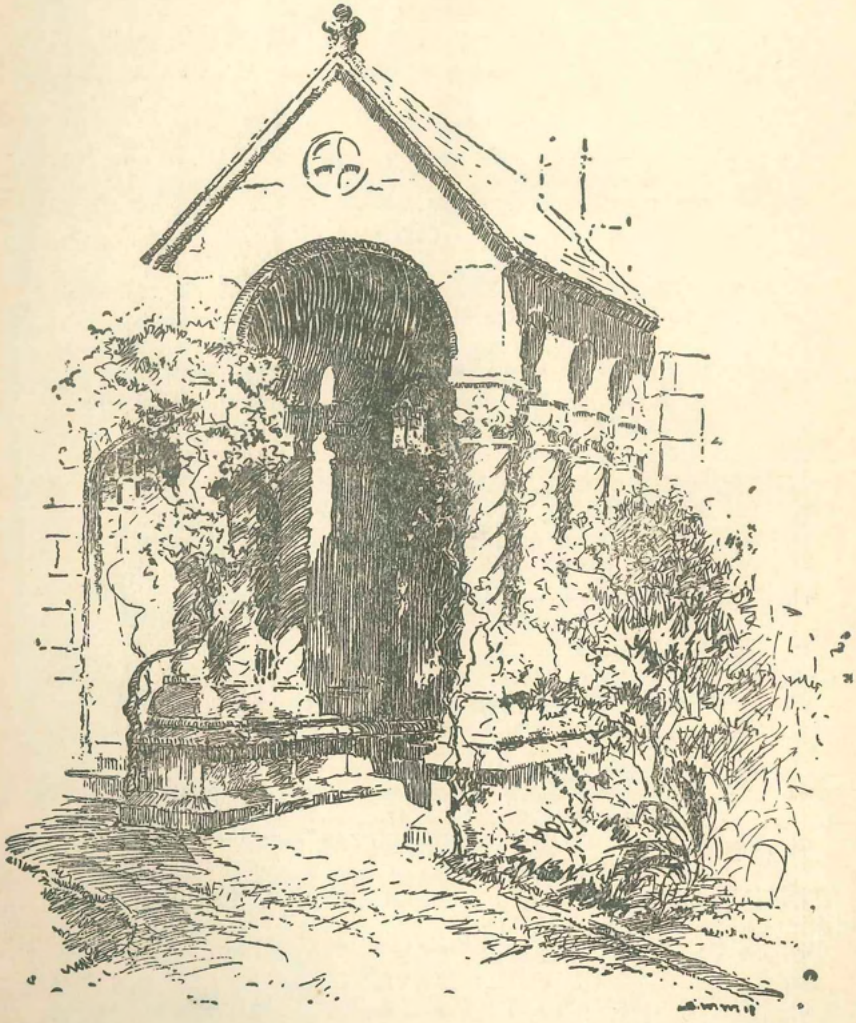
May God give us all grace and strength to love Him more dearly, to know Him more clearly, and to serve Him more nearly.

Faithfully and affectionately your Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

October—Month of the Angels

Ye watchers and ye holy ones,
Bright Seraphs, Cherubim and Thrones,
Raise the glad strain, Alleluya!
Cry out Dominions, Princedoms, Powers,
Virtues, Archangels, Angels' choirs,
Alleluya! Alleluya!



O higher than the Cherubim,
More glorious than the Seraphim,
Lead their praises, Alleluya!
Thou Bearer of the Eternal Word,
Most gracious, magnify the Lord,
Alleluya! Alleluya!

Respond, ye souls in endless rest,
Ye Patriarchs and Prophets blest,
Alleluya! Alleluya!
Ye holy Twelve, ye Martyrs strong,
All Saints triumphant, raise the song,
Alleluya! Alleluya!

O friends, in gladness let us sing,
Supernal anthems echoing,
Alleluya! Alleluya!
To God the Father, God the Son,
And God the Spirit, Three in One,
Alleluya! Alleluya!

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

This month, opening with the festival of All Saints, followed by the Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed, and closing with our Patronal Feast, is one full of spiritual opportunity and privilege. It makes a most helpful prelude to our winter's work, which really does not begin until this time. Our devotion to the Saints in glory and to the Departed should draw us frequently to God's Altar, where, with all the company of heaven, we laud and magnify His glorious Name, to consecrate ourselves to His service, and to the Faith in which the Saints have lived and died.

Unless our lives are centered in the Altar, unless we take the Jesus we have found in the Sacrament out with us into the world, to attract men and women through the beauty and holiness of our lives, we have missed the whole point and purpose of our Holy Religion and God's purpose for us.

God is calling us to be His witnesses, even as the Saints witnessed in the days of their earthly pilgrimage. We have received the torch from them and must hand it on to those who follow us. And how God has blessed us by bringing us into the full privileges of the Catholic Faith. This also increases our responsibility. We can meet this task in grace and strength that God gives. Let none of us fail Him.

And may S. Clement, together with all the Saints, pray for us, his devoted children.

Faithfully and sincerely your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Jones—

Parish Notes

THE ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL will open Sunday, December 6th, and Mrs. Paul Franklin Mowry will be in the Cope Room after the Solemn Mass to receive both renewals and new subscriptions to this most worthy cause.

THE CORPORATE COMMUNION of the Women's Auxiliary is made on the Friday morning after their monthly meeting. The Masses on this day are always offered for the Missionary Work of the Church.

Parish Notes

FRANCE AND THE BATTLEFIELDS will be the subject of the illustrated lecture in the Parish House, Wednesday evening, November 9th. It will be given by Mr. Anthony Jackson, a young man who has spent the summer in France and who is showing his own pictures. There will be an opportunity to make a silver offering for Missions.

THE PREACHER ON S. CLEMENT'S DAY will be the new Rector of S. Stephen's Church, Providence, Rhode Island. Fr. Fleming has taken a very conspicuous part in the Catholic Congress Movement, and has read several papers at the Congress meetings. He has come to the East from the Church of the Atonement, Chicago, and has declined two elections to the Episcopate.

FR. WARD, who needs no introduction to any one at S. Clement's, has consented to preach at the Annual Procession of Parish Guilds. This is one of our most enthusiastic services of the year, and we hope this year will prove no exception.

ON THANKSGIVING DAY, Holy Communion will be given at the Solemn Mass at half-past nine. The Mass is set at this hour so as to give every one an opportunity for Mass that day, and at the same time an opportunity for a good, full holiday.

REQUIEM MASSES will be offered during the month on all allowable days, and some not listed on the Kalendar may be provided from time to time, and these will be announced on the Church Porch Bulletin Board.

THE DISCRETIONARY FUND of the Rector again calls for help. With this fund he helps the poor, many of whom are receiving regular help month by month; entertains the Parish Guilds; gives monthly breakfasts to the Servers after their Corporate Communion; provides the stationery and stamps for his voluminous correspondence; pays carfare and taxi fare for sick calls! At least, this is what the Fund is supposed to do, and seldom does. He will be grateful always for your gifts.

FR. JOINER will be absent from the Parish the week beginning with November 13th, after the Solemn Mass. He is giving the Annual Retreat for the Associates of the Community of All Saints and their friends at the Convent in Orange Grove. He asks your prayers.

THE OFFERING ON S. CLEMENT'S DAY will be for Parish Expenses. It is hoped there may be a balance for appropriation to Missions.

THE RECTOR will preach at First Vespers of the Patronal Feast, in order to assure a short sermon. The Service as usual will be under the auspices of the American Guild of Organists, and will include an elaborate musical program under Mr. Fry's direction.

A Musical Event of Unusual Interest

On December 1st, at a quarter past eight o'clock, the Reverend Edmund Horace Fellowes, M.A., Mus. Doc., Chaplain of S. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle, England, will give a lecture on Tudor Church Music in S. Clement's Church, under the auspices of the American Organ Players' Club and the Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

The lecture will be illustrated by the following numbers, sung by the Choral Society of the Camden Chapter of the National Association of Organists, and the Choir of S. Clement's Church, under the direction of Mr. Fry.

Haec Dies (This Glad Day). Motet for six voices. William Byrd (1623).
O Lord, the Maker of All Things. William Mundy (1591).
Hosanna to the Son of David. Anthem for six voices. Thomas Weelkes (1640).
Let Thy Merciful Ears, O Lord. Anthem for four voices.

The following organ works by composers of the Tudor period will be played:

Introduction to Fantasie No. 1. Orlando Gibbons (1625).
Fugue from Fantasie No. 2. Orlando Gibbons (1625).
Played by Mr. George Alexander West.

Miserere by William Byrd (1623).
Played by Mr. S. Wesley Sears.

Canon Fellowes has devoted many years to the collecting of the English Madrigals and Church Music of the Elizabethan Period. He is editor of "The English Madrigal School," in thirty-six volumes, and co-editor of the ten-volume collection of Tudor Church Music.

Of the period in which these "a cappella" works originated, a well-known historian says: "The middle of the sixteenth century presents at once as respectable an array of fine composers, familiar with all the musical forms both sacred and secular, as then existed—one capable of taking a distinguished rank among the masters of other European nations; while at the same time to them belonged the honor of having given their country a school of music in many respects as original as it was profound, and, considered in all its importance, the most remarkable effort in musical art which the English nation can boast of."

No cards of admission will be required. All are invited. A certain number of seats will be reserved for the subscribers until eight o'clock.

Mr. Fry will be glad to receive subscriptions from any who wish to help defray the expenses incident to this occasion.

Novena for the Parish

November 15th to 22nd

Our Father Hail Mary Come, Holy Ghost

Bless, O. Lord, this Parish, and grant that Thy Name may be worshipped here in truth and purity, to all generations. Give Thy grace and wisdom to all the Clergy, that they may exercise holy discipline, and be themselves patterns of holiness, simplicity and self-denial. Bless all who worship here; take from them all pride, vanity and self-conceit, and give them true humility and self-abasement. Enlighten their minds, subdue their wills, purify their hearts, and so penetrate them with Thy Spirit and fill them with Thy love that they may go forth animated with earnest zeal for Thy glory; and may Thy ever living Word so dwell within their hearts that they may speak with that resistless energy of love which shall melt the hearts of sinners to the love of Thee. Open, O Lord, the hearts and hands of Thy people, that they may be ready to give and glad to distribute to our necessities. Bless the founders and benefactors of this Parish, and recompense them with the riches of Thine everlasting kingdom, for Jesus Christ's sake. Amen.

Parish Notes

ANOTHER MISSIONARY BOX is in the course of preparation by the members of the Women's Auxiliary. For the past several years this has been a part of the great work they do in the winter. It is no small task. The money must be collected in order to purchase the goods. Miss Connelly is doing this. Then the things for the box must be purchased. Miss Haffelfinger is doing this. Then the things must be packed and shipped, and Mrs. Fritz is to do this. The good women want your interest and cooperation. Respond generously to the appeal. The men of the Parish should clothe the men of the family; the women should take care of the women; and the younger people should take care of the children. Then everybody's interest would be centered on the work, and it would be a really Parish missionary box in every sense of the word.

A CHRISTMAS PLAY, to be given by some members of the Girls' Club and a few of the Acolytes, is being coached by Fr. Wagenseller, and will be given for the first time at the Mothers' Meeting Christmas Party, the Thursday evening after Christmas. It will be repeated about Epiphany-tide, when all the members of the congregation will have an opportunity to see it. It is one of the plays from the York Cycle. These mystery plays form a great feature of the Christmas season in England and on the Continent.

AN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE, on the History of Ancient Embroideries and the Development of Ecclesiastical Needlework, will be given by Miss M. Antonia Lamb in the Parish House, Wednesday evening, December 14th, at 8.30 o'clock. There will be a silver offering for missions. Miss Lamb is a thorough student of the subject, and bears amongst her testimonials letters from the English Royal Family. Miss Lamb is a current contributor to several of our leading periodicals.

FR. CAINE, Secretary of the Catholic Congress Movement, will be the speaker at the December meeting of the Women's Auxiliary. He will speak about the Congress Movement, and especially about the recent Congress held in Albany, and the more local Conference at Lebanon. These monthly meetings of the Auxiliary are always addressed by some interesting speaker from the outside, and the women of the congregation who do not attend these meetings cannot appreciate how great is their loss. Every woman of the congregation is a member of the Auxiliary. Let us see more at the monthly meetings.

Parish Notes

TWO SPECIAL COLLECTIONS are received during December. The collection on the Second Sunday in Advent, December 4th, is for the Parish Poor Fund. While we do not have so many needy cases to handle, yet the ones we do have are very deserving cases, and demand regular assistance throughout the year. The funds are disbursed under the direction of the Rector and the Sister-in-Charge. The second collection is on Christmas Day, and is used to pay the Premiums on the Clergy's Pension Funds.

CHRISTMAS CONFESSIONS will be as follows:

Thursday:
- The Rector, 3 to 5 P. M.
- Fr. Ewing and Fr. Underhill, 7.30 to 9 P. M.

Friday:
- The Rector, 10 to 11 A. M., 3 to 5 P. M.
- Fr. Ewing, 3 to 5 P. M.
- Fr. Wagenseller and Fr. Smith, 7 to 8 P. M.

Saturday:
- The Rector, 10 to 12 A. M., 7 to 8 P. M.
- Fr. Wagenseller, 10 to 12 A. M.
- Fr. Ewing, Fr. Wagenseller and Fr. Underhill, 3 to 5 P. M.
- Fr. Ewing, Fr. Wagenseller, Fr. Underhill and Fr. Smith, 7 to 9 P. M.

The regular penitents in the Parish are asked to come to this Sacrament as early in the week as possible, and those who come on Saturday, when many will be waiting, are asked to please say the Confiteor before entering the Confessional, and to begin at once with the matter for Confession.

CHRISTMAS CARDS of unusual beauty, and priced at a very low figure, may be had in the Cope Room before and after all the services. The proceeds of this sale of cards goes to the Sisters of the Holy Nativity for their Mission House Fund.

SOLEMN MASSES will be offered on the Feasts of the Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary; S. Stephen, Proto Martyr; S. John, Apostle and Evangelist; and the Holy Innocents, Martyrs, at 9.30 o'clock. Holy Communion will be given at these Masses.

ON CHRISTMAS EVE we will have our usual service of Carol Singing, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and Procession to the Creche, where our devotions will be offered and a Carol sung. Fr. Bull, C.R., still speaks of this Christmas Eve Service at S. Clement's as the most beautiful and devotional preparation for the Christmas Feast in which he has ever taken part.

Parish Notes

CHRISTMAS APPEALS come from all quarters. When you are answering them, do not forget the Christmas baskets to the poor of the Parish. Send your offerings, please, to the Sister-in-charge at 110 North Woodstock Street. Christmas dinners are sent to all the needy families in the Parish, and smaller baskets of fruits and other delicacies are sent to all the invalids and shut-ins. This is the more important of the local appeals. The other is for the decorations of the Church. The flowers on the High Altar will be Mrs. S. C. Borden's gift, in memory of some of the departed members of her family whose anniversaries occur at this season. The offerings for greens may be handed to the Rector or any of the Clergy.

THE OFFERING ON S. CLEMENT'S DAY amounted to $1,335. Subsequent gifts made this sum to about $1,400. For several years this offering has kept close to this amount.

ON CHRISTMAS DAY, which falls on Sunday this year, there will be an added Low Mass at six o'clock, and Processions at both eleven and eight. The Mass for Christmas will be Shubert in G.

CAST-OFF CLOTHING can always be used in our work. People are most grateful for the things that you can no longer use. Send your old clothes to the Clergy House, and the Sisters will go over them and repair them, and sell what they can at the Rummage Sales. The balance will be packed and shipped to Rutherfordton, North Carolina, where they will be distributed amongst the natives there. This Southern work is now in charge of Mrs. Hincks, sister of the late Fr. Roche, and she writes with the most enthusiastic appreciation of the bundles we have sent this autumn.

THE PATRONAL FEAST PREACHERS brought us most inspiring messages, and we are most grateful to both Fr. Fleming of Providence and to our own Fr. Ward for coming to us at this time. Fr. Ward is not well, and has gone off for a two months' rest. He will be most grateful for your prayers.

THE HYMNS FOR DECEMBER are as follows: II Sunday in Advent, 226, 51, 398 and 234 in the morning; 203, 45, 51, 49 and 288 in the evening. III Sunday in Advent, 288, 48, 252 and 721 in the morning; 307, 46, 217, 288 and 28 in the evening. IIII Sunday in Advent, 49, 640, 776 and 203 in the morning; 219, 48, 268, 49 and 203 in the evening. During the Christmas Feast the usual Carols will be used.

The Great O's

THESE ADVENT ANTIPHONS, called The Great O's, used before and after the Magnificat at Vespers, immediately preceding Christmas, are so called because each begins with the ejaculation O. O Sapientia, the first one, and used on December 16th, is found in the Kalendar of the Prayer Book of the Church of England. They are as follows: December 16th, O SAPIENTIA. O Wisdom, Which camest forth out of the mouth of the Most High, and reachest from one end to the other, mightily and sweetly ordering all things: Come, and teach us the way of prudence. December 17th, O ADONAI. O Lord and Ruler of the house of Israel, Who appearedst unto Moses in a flame of fire in the bush, and gavest unto him the law in Sinai: Come, and redeem us with a stretched-out arm. December 18th, O RADIX JESSE. O Root of Jesse, Who standest for an Ensign of the people, at Whom kings shall shut their mouths, unto Whom the Gentiles shall pray: Come, and deliver us and tarry not. December 19th, O CLAVIS DAVID. O Key of David, and Sceptre of the house of Israel, Thou that openest, and no man shutteth, and shuttest, and no man openeth: Come, and loose the prisoner from the prison-house, and him that sitteth in darkness, and in the shadow of death. December 20th, O ORIENS. O Orient, Brightness of the Eternal Light, and Sun of Righteousness: Come, and lighten them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death. December 21st, O REX GENTIUM. O King of the Gentiles, and their Desire, the Corner-Stone, Who madest both one: Come, and save man, whom Thou hast made out of the dust of the earth. December 22nd, O EMMANUEL. O Emmanuel, our King and Lawgiver, the Desire of all nations, and their Saviour: Come, and save us, O Lord our God. December 23rd, O VIRGO VIRGINUM. O Virgin of virgins, how shall this be? For neither before thee was any like thee, nor shall there be after. Daughters of Jerusalem, why marvel ye at me? The thing which ye behold is a divine mystery.

Ejaculation Before the Blessed Sacrament

May the heart of Jesus in the most Blessed Sacrament be praised, adored and loved with grateful affection at every moment in all the tabernacles of the world, even to the end of time. Amen.

"Puer Natus Est Nobis"

"Did not the joybells ring?"
—"Joybells? Not one."—
"Did the waits and the pipers bring Hautboy and flute, and sing
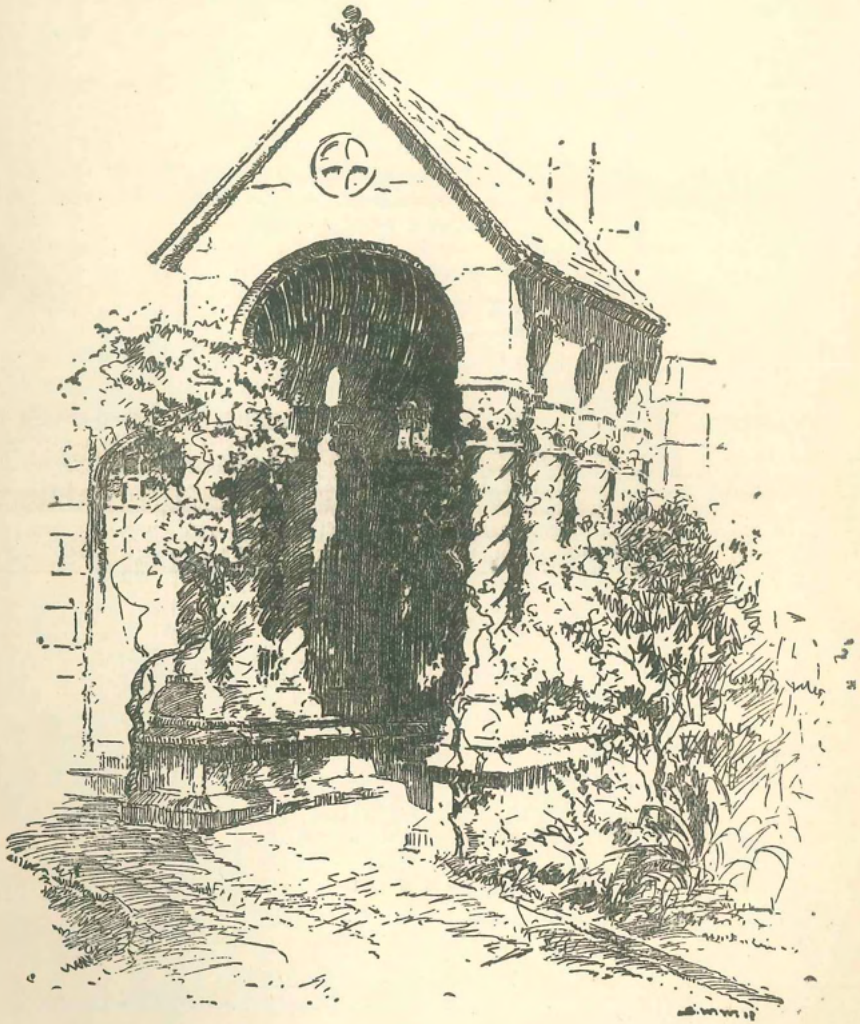
'Hail to the young, new King'—
'Live the King'?"—"None."

"Yet in some cattle-shed,
I have heard tell,
Where only straw was spread
'Neath a poor Babe for bed,
Oxen and ass that fed
On their knees fell."

"Prithee, what more is told?"—
"Wind that was bleak
Blew on Him few days old,
In scanty covering rolled,
Shuddering and wan with cold,
Tears on His cheek."



"Who vigil round Him kept?
What guard had He?"—
"His Mother when He wept,
Quick to His comfort stept,
Or rocked Him, while He slept,
Laid on her knee.—

Tended their straitened plight
Her spouse, none else—
Yet doth some shepherd wight
Vow the whole sky, one night,
Was filled with Angels' flight
And canticles."—

"Wayfarer, whither hence?"—
"Ah! to that stall,
Prostrate to reverence,
Offering in penitence
For earth's great negligence,
Myself, my all."

Confirmation

Bishop Atwood, of Arizona, who will be assisting our own Diocesan with the administering of the Sacrament of Confirmation this winter, will visit S. Clement's Church on the Feast of S. Valentine, February 14th. A number of persons are already under instruction to receive the Sacrament. The regular classes for instruction are now being formed. Individual instruction is much to be preferred, and I can always arrange for it. Please speak to one of the Priests or to the Sisters if you are thinking about it. Or if you know of some one waiting for me to speak to them, will you not please tell me? The Bishop is coming to us later in the year than usual, and we hope to present to him all who are eager for this Sacrament.

"Rome"

On Wednesday evening, the 18th, I will give another of my Illustrated Lectures on Italy. This evening the subject will be Rome, and I am hoping to have slides from the Metropolitan Museum in New York City. I have been quite overwhelmed with the large numbers who attend these lectures, so I am making greater efforts to perfect them, and will not depend so much on running comments on the slides. There will be a silver offering for Missions. Our Missionary Offering this year has been augmented by about a hundred dollars through these lectures.

"Berkeley" Sunday

On this same Sunday, the Third after the Epiphany, many of the pulpits in Philadelphia are to be occupied by preachers in the interest of Berkeley Divinity School, of Middletown, Connecticut, which is contemplating moving to New Haven, and to hereafter work in conjunction with Yale University. It will be a most advantageous move. What the Divinity School will gain from its proximity to such a University will be exceeded only by what the University can gain from the Divinity School. The Church work in all of our Colleges and Universities is very meagre and poor. The presence of the Divinity School at Yale will be a great boon to Church boys going there to school, and will decide many Church parents to select Yale as the University for their sons. The object of this sermon is not only to interest you in the school and its contemplated move, but also to interest you sufficiently to invest some money in the move. I am glad to give the pulpit for this appeal, but I am promising no contributions. I owe much myself to Berkeley, the seminary of both Bishop Webb and Dr. Barry, and commend its needs to your very sympathetic consideration.

Girls' Club

The Girls' Club have recently had an election of officers, who are now in office for the ensuing year. Those elected were: Miss Lucy Decker as President, Miss Elizabeth Atler for Vice-President, Miss Janet Rothwell as Secretary, and Miss Grace Morris as Treasurer. This Club is open to all the older girls and young women in the Parish, and is purely a social organization. They meet each week on Tuesday evening, and spend much of their time in Dramatics.

Church Unity

On the 18th of January the Church Unity Octave begins each year. This consists of eight days of intensive prayer and daily offering of the Mass for the Reunion of Christendom. We are not interested in any Unity that does not include Christendom in its entirety. We are not praying for methods, but simply that God will rule our hearts and lives toward that end for which our Blessed Lord Himself so earnestly prayed, "That we all may be one."

The Octave

The Octave begins on a Feast called "S. Peter's Chair at Rome," and is one of the most ancient feasts in the Church. It was a custom in the early Church for the local parishes and dioceses to keep the anniversary of their Bishop's consecration, and this feast was the anniversary kept in the City of Rome for the consecration of S. Peter, and a similar feast is kept in February commemorating S. Peter's bishoprick in Antioch. The Order of the Holy Cross has added recently a similar Feast to their Kalendar on the 14th of November, which they call "The Bestowal of the Episcopate," the anniversary of Bishop Seabury's consecration to be the first Bishop for the Church in America. The Church Unity Octave closes on the Feast of the Conversion of S. Paul. These two feasts are not to suggest any antitheses between Catholic and Protestant, but to suggest the true Catholic character of the Church in bordering the Octave by the Feast of the great Apostle to the Jews and the great Apostle to the Gentiles. Within the Octave the Masses will be offered every day for this intention, and the special prayers will be said at the close of Vespers. The prayers will be found on another page of the MAGAZINE, and I hope every reader of the MAGAZINE will use them every day.

S. Vincent

Sunday the 22nd is S. Vincent's Day. S. Vincent is the Patron of our Servers, and is the Patron of most Guilds of Acolytes. S. Clement's Church has the oldest organized Guild of S. Vincent in America. It is a record to be proud of, and it gives a responsibility to the members beyond that of the ordinary server. Several new boys have been added to the list of servers recently, and in their work in the Sanctuary they are maintaining the best traditions of the Guild at S. Clement's. The Servers will be present at a Corporate Communion at the eight o'clock Mass, and in the evening we will be having the annual festival service for them, followed by a Procession.

Candlemas

Wednesday evening, February 1st, the Choir will assist in the Church in singing First Vespers of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary and the annual Candlemas Procession. This is one of the loveliest and most impressive processions of the Church Year, and the only one that closes with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On Candlemas Day there will be a Solemn Mass at 11.

The Departed

I want to say just a few words about the weekly commemorations of the Faithful Departed. I keep a small book with a record of the date of the burial of all members of the parish. The Church has always kept the anniversary of Burial rather than the anniversary of the Death. When a member of the parish dies away from Philadelphia and is buried elsewhere I will not have the record unless some member of the family or a friend sends it to me. The lists for remembrance at the Altar are made up to begin with the Sunday and to include the anniversaries of the week through the following Saturday. You will realize how soon these lists would become very ungainly unless we limited the time for remembering the departed on these formal lists, so we have fixed a perfectly arbitrary limit of ten annual remembrances. Then the names are removed from the lists, but if members of the family wish the remembrance continued, we will be glad to do so when requested. I wish that more of you would ask for special Requiem Masses on such anniversaries. They can always be arranged in the Crypt Chapel.

Statistics

It is always in this issue of the MAGAZINE that the Mass and Communion statistics for the preceding year are given. I hope you will all read them slowly and ponder them. They do not speak, they scream aloud the virile life and spiritual health of the Parish. There were 1,341 Masses. There were 12,387 Communions made at our Altars during the year. And Holy Communion was carried to the sick 269 times. There was an average of nine Communions for each Mass. The Priests may multiply the Masses, but it is the faithful who multiply the Communions.

Duplex Envelopes

The response to the call for systematic giving through the Duplex Envelopes for 1928 was very gratifying, and the Accounting Warden reports that an increase of some $700 has been pledged for the year. This increase will be realized only if people are faithful in keeping up their envelopes. You should be most punctilious in laying aside your weekly pledge regularly, whether you are able to come to church or not, and then when you do come you will be ready and able to place all of the envelopes due on the plate. Every year there are a great many people who keep up their pledges for three months or so, and then give them up entirely. We hope this year to follow them up more closely, so I trust no one will be offended if they get a polite letter from me saying that a certain number of envelopes have not been turned in. It will not be a "dun" exactly, but just a means of checking up our records, shall we say?

Missions

Our Missionary Offerings during this year have amounted to about forty-eight hundred dollars. Last year our offerings were larger because of an extra gift from the Yarnall Fund of fifteen hundred dollars. I should say that five thousand dollars represented our capacity for Missionary gifts to the Quota. There are many other objects to which we give that are not included in the Missionary Quota, and we must leave place for these. I hope you all will keep Missions very much in your minds and prayers, and give to them as you are able.

"Thank You"

I want to thank you all most warmly for your very hearty and generous response to our Christmas appeals. Baskets large and small to the number of seventy were distributed to members of the Parish, and several members of the Parish who were identified with charitable organizations helped us in having some few of the larger needy families most beautifully provided for. The baskets were most attractive as they were arranged in the Parish House, and it would have done your hearts good to have seen the people carrying them away, with such profuse expressions of gratefulness, and for many of them the only Christmas presents and cheer they would have. I had more than enough money for the greens and decorations, so the balance will be used to defray the expenses of the Mystery Play.

Never Tired

So often some one says, "You must be very tired, with so many services, and so many details to arrange." It is only dragging things behind one that makes you tired. Your hearty response to our feeblest efforts, and your real appreciation of the Parish and its life and the marks of spiritual progress that we see, makes our work easy and light, and a joy to us all. You and your needs are our one great concern, and I am planning all the work and trying my best to carry it out for the salvation of your souls, and the greater glory of God. As we step into the new year together, may the dear Lord bless us both in our worship and service for the upbuilding of His Church.

Faithfully and sincerely your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Day Spring

The dawn drives off the dark and day doth come,
Queening away the fearsomeness of night,
But all the world is blessed Mary's home,
Nor any hour can lack for her its light,
While He, our soul's one Sun, lies 'neath her gaze,
And He, our heart's one Home, curled cozily,
Can even straw and stall and stable raise
To throne and palace by His royalty,
For perfect Love hath come Who casts out fear—
Now doth the Dayspring from on high appear.

The Rector's Letter

My dear Friends:—

The first Sunday in February brings us to Septuagesima, when we begin to prepare ourselves, according to the Church's rule, for the coming season of Lent. The Violet vestments will remind us of that. You must not think of this season as a time for a "last fling" before the Lenten Fast, but rather as a time for serious reflection on your spiritual state so that Shrove Tuesday finds you carefully prepared for your Confession, and Ash Wednesday finds you ready to receive the ashes on your forehead as a sign of your penitence. You need this season of Septuagesima to thus make ready, and the Church, through her long experience, knows what is best for you. You want this to be a good Lent. It will be the last one for many. Now is the time to prepare.

Women's Auxiliary

The meeting of the Women's Auxiliary on the first day of February should be a very interesting meeting. It will be addressed by the Rev. E. L. Baskerville, Archdeacon for work among the Negroes in the Diocese of South Carolina. The Archdeacon has spoken in S. Clement's before, and has many friends here. I hope all the women of the parish will avail themselves of this opportunity.

1927

During the year 1927 the Women's Auxiliary received in cash about $725. Of this $100 was given towards The Corporate Gift, $125 for a Scholarship at S. Mary's School, Sewanee, $55 to the work amongst the Indians, $25 to Christ School, Arden, N. C.; and $20 to Miss Riddell's work amongst the lepers in Japan. Many smaller gifts of money were made to various missions in every field. In addition to the above two boxes were packed and sent to missionaries, and a considerable amount of knitting was done for the Supply Bureau, and these items amounted in value to $360. The women are striving this year to exceed the record of 1927, and will be glad to have offerings from any women in the congregation to apply against these special works in which they are interested, as well as against the Church's general missionary program.

W. U. T. O.

This is the year in which the General Convention meets, and the year in which The Women's United Thank Offering is presented. Miss Hoffman, of 2118 DeLancey Street, is the Parish Treasurer of this fund, and will have small boxes for the women to use at home during Lent, and will distribute them at the February meeting. In 1925 the women of the parish contributed $1000 to this fund, and I hope the offering for the three years ending in 1928 will not fall below this sum.

Candlemas

On Wednesday evening, the first, First Vespers of the Purification will be sung at eight o'clock. I am hoping to preach the Sermon. There will be the usual Candlemas Procession, in which all the congregation are urged to join, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. If persons wishing to have candles blessed will bring them to the Church Wednesday evening, they will be ready for the blessing at the First Mass of the Feast. Extra candles, blessed at this time, will be for sale. The day following the Feast is S. Blasius' Day and throats will be blessed before and after all Masses and Offices.

Travelogues

During this month there will be two illustrated lectures in the Parish House. Wednesday evening, the eighth, the subject will be "Florence," and the slides will be from the Metropolitan Museum in New York. On Monday evening, the twenty-seventh, the subject will be "The Canadian Rockies," and the slides will be loaned by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. The silver offering received at these lectures will be applied against the Parish's Missionary Offering Quota.

The Bishop

The Bishop will be at S. Clement's for his annual visitation on Wednesday evening, the 14th, at eight o'clock. A large number of persons are in the course of preparation for the Sacrament of Confirmation which he will administer at this time. I hope there will be a big congregation at this service, not only to welcome the Bishop, but also to welcome the newly confirmed, and to meet them after the Service. They will make their First Communion on the First Sunday in Lent, at the eight o'clock Mass. The collection received at the Bishop's service is for his discretionary purse.

Dramatics

A number of the young men and women of the parish have been working under Father Wagenseller's direction and formed themselves into a Dramatic Club. Their presentation of the Christmas story in the form of a Mystery Play was most exquisitely done, and received with the greatest enjoyment. On Wednesday evening, the 15th, they will present a little musical comedy entitled, "Where There's a Will, There's a Wail!" Tickets will be for sale at fifty cents apiece, and the proceeds will be added to the Girls' Club general fund. From this fund they subscribe to the Diocesan Campaign, to Nashotah House Daily Bread Fund, and make an annual gift to the Rector's Discretionary Fund.

Lent

The service for Lent will be as in former years. On Ash Wednesday there will be Low Masses at 6, 7, 8 and 9.30, with a Solemn Mass and Sermon at 11. There will be a Sermon at 4, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and in the evening the choir will sing Solemn Vespers, which will be followed by a Sermon. There will be a Sermon both Wednesday and Friday evenings, followed by Benediction on Wednesday and by Stations of the Cross on Fridays. On Sundays in Lent, the Solemn Mass will be preceded by the Litany in Procession.

Confessions

On Shrove Tuesday Father Underhill and I will be in the Confessionals in the morning, in the afternoon Father Ewing and Father Wagenseller will attend in the Church from three to five, and for the evening hours all of the Clergy will be available. Appointments for Monday will be made gladly, and the Clergy may be seen for the Sacrament of Penance any time on Wednesday.

Ashes

On Ash Wednesday ashes will be imposed before and after all the Masses and Offices, and in the evening before and after Vespers.

The Vestry

At the January meeting of the Vestry, the budget for the ensuing year was approved. The Clergy Staff as it now stands was approved for this year, and Fr. Wagenseller was added to the regular staff. The accounts for the past year were closed with no deficit. The returns from the Du-plex envelopes were very favorable, and the subscribers are urged to return them regularly. When you are absent for a Sunday be sure to fill your envelope and lay it aside, and then when you return to the Church you will have your lapsed offerings all ready. At the end of three months a notice will be sent to you, showing the status of your pledge.

Doxology

This seems to outline in full our work together for the month of February. May it all be done for the glory of God, and the extension of His Kingdom.

Faithfully and affectionately,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

Lent has begun very well in the Parish, and the increased assistance at the daily Masses is especially gratifying. A Lent spent at the Altar must be a good Lent. An extra Lenten Service has been added in the afternoon on Tuesday for the benefit of those who are unable to come in the evening. There will be a few hymns, some prayers and a meditation.

Retreats

The Lent Retreats all come in this month this year. The first one on Mid-Lent Sunday is for the women and the girls of the Parish and any others who may wish to join us. The day begins with Mass and Communion at eight o'clock, and the Addresses are at ten, two and half after three o'clock. The Day closes with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament from the High Altar at four. The Sister-in-Charge would be glad to know in advance of those who will want breakfast and dinner.

Men

The Men's Retreat will take the form of a Quiet Evening in preparation for their Corporate Communion on Passion Sunday. The Retreat is open, of course, to any men and boys who care to come, and notices of it will be sent to all the Parishes in the city. Fr. Smith will give the addresses at five, half-past seven and half-past eight o'clock.

S. Mary's Guild

The third Retreat will be given on Thursday in Passion Week, and while it is under the auspices of S. Mary's Guild, it is open to any women and girls who care to attend. This Day begins with Mass at half-past nine o'clock, with addresses at ten, two and four o'clock. Fr. Caine will conduct these devotions.

Long Established

These three Retreats have been long established in the Parish, and are a regular feature of our Lent. They give an opportunity for every one in the Parish to keep a short Retreat during this holy season. While the attendance at them is good, yet when it is compared with the large number who might come with profit, it is not so commendable. If all those who have kept these days in the past and been helped by them would make the occasions known to their friends, we would be able to reach out and touch many more than at present.

B. V. M.

The Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary falls on Passion Sunday this year, so it must be transferred to the following day. There will be a Solemn Mass on Monday, March 26th, at eleven.

Women's Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary will be meeting as usual on the first Wednesday. The speaker this month will be the Reverend W. Josselyn Reed, who has recently returned from the mission field in the Diocese of Liberia, where he works under Bishop Campbell, formerly of the Order of the Holy Cross. His mother is a faithful member of S. Clement's and well known to many, and this will add to your interest in his message. It is hoped that a record attendance will greet Fr. Reed.

Holy Hour

At the Holy Hour on the First Friday we will omit the Stations of the Cross which would come then in the ordinary routine of the Lenten Devotions, but we will not break in on Fr. Smith's course of Sermons on the Seven Words from the Cross. At the Holy Hour he will give the address on the Second Word in the form of meditations and so adapt it to the Hour.

W. U. T. O.

Miss Hoffman, Treasurer of the Women's United Thank Offering, has sent me the figures of her collections for the two years on the Triennium. In 1926 she received one hundred and sixty-two dollars, and in 1927 she received two hundred and twenty dollars, making a total for the two years of three hundred and eighty-two dollars. If we are to reach a mark of four figures, there remains for this year's raising six hundred and eighteen dollars. We are giving the precedence in the Lenten Giving to this object, and it is hoped that all the women of the Parish are saving in the "little blue boxes."

Bishops' Crusade

After the last General Convention a commission called The Bishops' Crusade began its work in all of the Dioceses of the Church. The object of the commission was to rouse the interest of the members of the Church to their spiritual obligations and opportunities. It took the form of a preaching mission, and many of you took part in the several missions that were held at that time in neighboring churches. A continuation committee was formed in this Diocese, and part of their plan has been to secure several Bishops to preach in the Church of S. Luke and The Epiphany on the Thursday nights in Lent. It is hoped that the members of S. Clement's may be present at these meetings in goodly numbers.

Confirmation

Twenty-nine persons were presented to Bishop Atwood, acting for Bishop Garland, for Confirmation on Tuesday evening, February 14th. There was a terrific storm that day and heightened in the evening, so there was a very small congregation, but every member for Confirmation was present in ample time. They came to their First Communion on the First Sunday in Lent.

Ordination

The Bishop of the Diocese visited S. Clement's on the Feast of S. Matthias, and ordained the Reverend Loren Nichols Gavitt to the Sacred Priesthood. In this he was acting for the Bishop of Washington. Fr. Gavitt has attached himself very closely to many of the members of S. Clement's, where, as a Seminary student and a Deacon, he has worked during his summer holidays and during the past year. I preached the Sermon and presented him to the Bishop for Ordination, and Fr. Conkling, Rector of S. Luke's Church, Germantown, under whom Fr. Gavitt has taken work as Vicar of the Chapel of the Nativity, read the Litany and the Gospel in the Mass. Fr. Gavitt said his First Mass at our High Altar the following morning and gave Holy Communion to a large number of his friends, who also received his special blessing afterwards. He goes to his new work in Germantown with the assurance of our interest and followed by our prayers.

Old Customs

An old custom is revived in publishing on the Bulletin Board in the Church Porch every Sunday the Music of the Mass, and any other news of musical interest. These sheets will be prepared by Mr. Fry and will give the information that many of you are often seeking. The old custom of publishing the amounts of the weekly offerings is revived in the issue of the magazine. The Accounting Warden will have a message for you at the end of the three months' period. The holders of the Duplex Envelopes should make a great effort to see that their payments are made in full at the end of the three months' period.

Bishop Coadjutor

The Bishop has issued a call for the election of a Bishop Coadjutor at the next meeting of the Diocesan Convention in May. Your prayers are asked for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in this election, and frequent Masses will be offered here with that intention. Bishop Garland has set forth this prayer, which is a most suitable one for you to use:

Almighty and everlasting God, who by Thy Holy Spirit didst preside in the Council of the Blessed Apostles, and hast promised through Thy Son Jesus Christ to be with Thy Church to the end of the world: We beseech Thee to be with the Convention of this Diocese soon to assemble in Thy Name and Presence.

Put far from us all worldly thought and aims, and enable us to act as in Thy sight and for Thy glory.

Direct and rule our hearts that we may choose as Bishop Coadjutor a man approved by Thee, who shall be to the flock of Christ a true shepherd. Bind us all together in unity of spirit and reconsecrate us to Thy service, that with loving devotion we may labor for the upbuilding of Thy Church and the extension of Thy Kingdom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Catholic Congress

It is now definitely announced that the next Catholic Congress will be held in Philadelphia in September. Annual memberships are being solicited, which will entitle you to tickets for the meetings, and give you an opportunity to help in this great work. The subscriptions may be for one, five or ten dollars, and Mrs. Pendleton will be glad to enroll new members after the High Mass on Sundays.

Tracts

Splendid reading matter for both instruction and devotional use will be found in the tract cases in the Church corridors. These items seldom cost more than five or ten cents, and should make a large appeal. And why not scatter a few around in public buildings and leave a few now and then in the trolley cars, and be a missionary!

Prayer

May this Holy Season deepen and intensify your devotion to your Blessed Lord's Cross and Passion, and bring you to a newer and fuller joy of His Resurrection.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

This letter will be in your hands for Palm Sunday, and I hope it will find you at the beginning of a Holy Week that will prove to be a week of real holiness for you as you follow our Lord in the Way of the Cross. Your Easter joy will be measured by the closeness with which you keep to the Cross. Do not let anything interfere with your Catholic duties this week, and what should be your desire in watching with our Lord and preparing to meet Him in your Easter Communion.

Holy Week

The Services during Holy Week are exactly as they have been in former years, so it will not be difficult for you to remember them. The Tuesday afternoon Devotional Service closed with the meditation in Passion Week. Before the Stations of the Cross on the first four nights of the week, the Passion of our Lord and Saviour will be read according to the four Evangelists, read in order during the week, S. Matthew on Monday night, and so on.

Women's Auxiliary.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be held on the Wednesday afternoon in Holy Week at three o'clock. The speaker on this occasion will be Miss Elizabeth Howland, who will tell of the work done by S. Mary's School for Indian Girls in South Dakota. Once more I would urge all the women of the congregation to attend these missionary meetings. Not only will your interest in the Church's work be increased, but by meeting the women of the congregation your parochial interest is increased, and a family feeling is engendered.

Mite Boxes

The little blue boxes for the Women's United Thank Offering are now due, and should be returned as soon as possible to Miss Grace L. Hoffman, 2118 DeLancey Street, or they may be put on the collection plates at any of the services. Any women who wish to send contributions to this fund may send them to Miss Hoffman, or place them, plainly marked, in the collection. This offering is gathered throughout the Church and presented every three years at the Women's Great Missionary Meeting, which is held during the General Convention. The General Convention of the Church will meet in October in Washington. It represents the great corporate offering of all the women of the Church towards the Church's missionary program. Every woman of the Church should want to have a part in it.

Altar of Repose

Contributions of money for the flowers to decorate the Altar of Repose on Maundy Thursday may be sent or handed to the Rector or any of the Clergy. If there is a balance left over, it will be added to the general flower fund. Offerings towards the flowers for any of the Altars are always acceptable. They make very suitable memorials for the departed, as well as appropriate thank offerings on birthdays and other anniversaries.

S. Mary's Guild

S. Mary's Guild will meet on Easter Monday night, and after the Guild Office and Address in the Chapel, will have their Easter Party in the Parish House. This devotional guild for women has grown in very large numbers during the past few years. May I remind you again that S. Mary's Guild is not an invitation affair, but any women who would like to lead their Christian life according to a simple rule will be very gladly received as a Probationer. Then after three months, if they have persevered and fulfilled the requirements, they are received as full members. There are about eighty members in the Guild. We should have one hundred. We are making that our goal.

Novena for a Bishop

Beginning on Low Sunday and running through the month to the Feast of S. George, we will keep a Novena for Prayer for the coming election of a Bishop Coadjutor for the Diocese of Pennsylvania. This will be the intention of all the Masses, and the special prayer put out by the Diocesan will be said at the close of Vespers every day. Many men and groups in the Diocese are putting forth their choice for a Bishop. We must pray that God will show us plainly which one is His choice. I hope many of you will be using this prayer both before and after the Novena.

Communions

As you all know, statistics have a great fascination for me. They do not "prove" anything beyond that of being an interesting comparison. From Ash Wednesday to Passion Sunday inclusive in 1927 there were 1,299 Communions. Over this same period in the year 1928 we have had 1,349 Communions. As we compare one year with another, it is surprising to see how closely together the years run.

Children's Lenten Boxes

The Children's Lenten Offering towards the Missionary Work of the Church is always an important part of the children's Lenten work. Our children, helped by many older people, make a very creditable showing every year. Will the parents please see that the children return their boxes on Easter Day or as soon after Easter as possible? We want to put the money to work as soon as we can.

Guild of All Souls

The Annual Festival Service of the Guild of All Souls, and the annual business meeting, will be held this year on Tuesday after Low Sunday at S. James' Church, Cleveland. It is pretty far away this time for many people from the Eastern Coast to reach, but it seems only fair to move the annual meeting from place to place, so that different groups can feel it and touch it from year to year. The Sermon at the Solemn Mass will be preached by the Reverend Father Stoskopf, Rector of the Church of the Ascension in Chicago. Because of my office in the Guild, I am hoping to be present at the Annual Meeting.

Addresses

Several times a year letters are sent to all the members of the parish, notifying them of special services, and enclosing the envelopes for the special offerings. Many of these letters are returned to me after every mailing because of incorrect or insufficient addresses. It would be a very simple thing to notify the Clergy, by postal card, of your changed address, and then our records would always be correct. As it is I now have some fifty names of persons attached to the Communicant list for whom I have no street address. So if any of you do not receive one of the Easter notices, you will know the reason.

Fr. Ward and S. Elisabeth's

We extend our sympathy to Fr. Ward of S. Elisabeth's in his continued ill health. He has just resigned the Rectorship, which he has held so faithfully for many years, and which he assumed after a long residence in our Parish, where he has so many friends. Fr. Ward is going to Colorado, to teach in S. John's College at Greeley. I know you all join with me in the good wishes and the assurance of our prayers, which I have already conveyed to him. S. Elisabeth's Church will be taken over by the Diocese, and made a center for the Diocesan work amongst the Italians. The neighborhood about S. Elisabeth's has become a little Italy, and the need for a Church in their midst can well be met by S. Elisabeth's. An Italian Priest will be put in charge, and the Bishop has assured me that the work will always be carried on with the same devotion to the Catholic Religion as has characterized the life and work at S. Elisabeth's in the past. This is an important venture for the Church, and I bespeak your earnest prayers for the future of this work.

Easter Hymns

During the processions on Easter Day we will sing the familiar Easter Carols and Hymns from the Hymnal. Many of the familiar hymns are too short to use acceptably in the Mass, so by using them all in the Processions every one hears and sings all the hymns they know and love; and then, too, it gives greater variety than singing just the one hymn, "Hail, Festal Day," which we will sing for the Offertory on Low Sunday.

Money!

The Accounting Warden has sent me some figures with which I am able to make some interesting comparisons. The total sum received in the Duplex Envelopes for Parish Expenses for the month of March amounted to $481.25, as compared to $362.60 for the same month in 1927. The loose cash on the plates amounted to $226.81 in the same month this year, and to $394.17 last year. Making a total for March, 1928, of $708.06, as against $756.77 for last year. For Missions we received this past month $176.26, and last year in March we received $295.48. These monthly comparisons do not mean much, but a three months' comparison shows a bit more accurately how we stand. For the first three months this year we have received in toto for Parish Expenses $2,475.97. Last year for the same period we had $2,229.66. While the Missionary offerings for this period amount to $721.46 this year, while last year they amounted to $730.38. We show a gain this year in the monies received through the envelopes, but a very considerable falling off in the loose collections. This may be accounted for by the extra number of persons using the envelopes this year. We just about make ends meet with our expenses, and for this we are thankful but we are not content with this "bare" meeting. It would be a comfort to feel that we had a few hundred dollars in the bank.

A Visitor

Fr. Roseboro, who is now at S. Paul's, Brooklyn, with the Cowley Fathers, made us a very nice visit over a week-end. His many friends here were happy to see him after Vespers in the evening.

New Devotional Book

A new edition of the Anglo-Catholic Prayer Book, with the Mass from the American Book of Common Prayer, has just been published, and the Catholic Literature Association has a number of copies. They may be had from the Cope Room before or after any of the services, and the price is $1.00. They would make admirable Easter presents. On several Friday evenings in Lent the form of prayers for the Stations of the Cross was taken from this book.

The Lessons of Lent

Lent has been very well kept in the Parish. I hope the lessons you have learned will not be forgotten with the relaxation that so often follows upon Easter. I have always liked the little reference in the Easter story to the angel that rolled away the stone from the tomb and sat upon it. So you all who have spent the Lenten season in conquering sinful impulses and learning how by God's power sin is to be resisted, keep intact these lessons you have learned. You have, so to speak, rolled away a stone from your heart so that our Lord may enter in and dwell there. Keep this door open, sit tight on the stone that you have labored during Lent to roll away, and make your Lenten discipline bear permanent fruit in your life.

A Memorial to Fr. Quin.

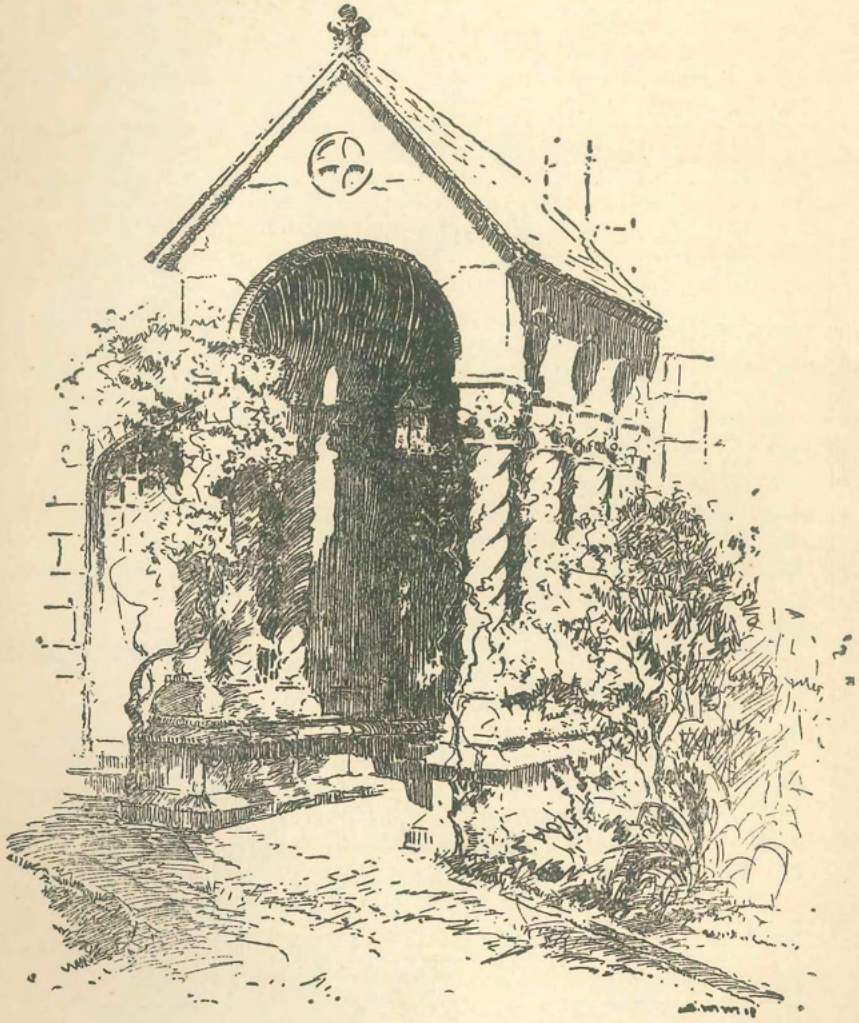
Several years ago it was suggested that some memorial to Fr. Quin should be undertaken, while many people who knew him and loved him were still in the Parish. The matter was never pushed, and I assume whatever blame there may be, but several people made offerings towards such a fund. The fund has now been drawn on for the purchase of six collection plates. The old ones have been very inadequate for a long time, especially on some of the festival Sundays, when there would be a great many envelopes, and sometimes packages of envelopes. A little later on an effort will be made to raise a considerable sum of money to buy a sterling silver alms basin to receive the collection plates, and this will be suitably inscribed with a proper memorial inscription. Any who wish now to make an offering for such a memorial to Fr. Quin may hand it to Mr. Ritter, or to any of the Clergy, who will gladly pass it on to the Accounting Warden.

Servers

I want to thus publicly thank the Servers for their faithfulness in serving and for the excellence of their work. We have rather a small band of Acolytes just now, but their devotion to their work and to their spiritual duties is most gratifying. A number of new boys are now being prepared for Servers' duties, and will soon be making their appearance in the Sanctuary. They usually spend one evening a week in the Clergy House, when other young men who may happen not to be Servers often join them. We may be justly proud of our young men.

A New Pall

A very handsome lace pall has just been given to Saint Clement's by Judge and Mrs. Joline, in memory of their daughter, Mrs. Powell, who died somewhat over a year ago. It is made of a bit of lace that belonged to Mrs. Powell, which was hand-made, with a very delicate design running through it in rose color. The pall was used on Mid-Lent Sunday with the Rose Vestments, and will only be used with these vestments. Judge and Mrs. Joline are also giving Bier Lights to be used in the Crypt Chapel, as a further memorial to Mrs. Powell.



Our Easter Ideal

May we all, in our Easter Communions, realize, in unity of love, the joy of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, as He confirms in us the fruit of His Passion, and exalts us in the power of His Risen Life.

Faithfully, and very affectionately,

Franklin Joiner

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

Easter was, indeed, the glorious Feast that it should be in the Parish. It was a beautiful day in the weather line, and the number of Communions and the Easter Offering were both up to the standards of other years. Holy Week was unusually well kept, with increasing numbers each evening for the Stations of the Cross. It is a disappointment that so few, comparatively speaking, avail themselves of the great privilege of assisting at all the Ceremonies of Holy Week. They all fit in together, and taken by bits can mean but little devotionally. Especially is this true on Good Friday where the Church is crowded for the Preaching of the Passion in the Three Hours' Service, but where there are not more than a hundred for the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, the Veneration of the Cross and the Reproaches.

Statistics

There were 367 Communions on Easter Day and the offering amounted to $2,100.00. The total number of Communions from Ash Wednesday to Easter Day, inclusive, was 2,166.

Feasts of May

The month of May this year brings with it two of the Church's major Feasts, Ascension Day and the Feast of Pentecost. They come earlier than usual this year, before many people have left town for the summer, so they should be more faithfully kept than often happens when they come so late in June.

Eve of the Ascension

There will be a Sermon, followed by Benediction, on the Eve of the Ascension, and on the Feast Day itself there will be an additional Low Mass at 6, and a Solemn Mass at 11. The Mothers' Meeting will meet as usual in the evening.

Novena of the Holy Ghost

The customary Novena for the Coming of the Holy Ghost will be kept from the first day in the Octave to the Eve of Pentecost, in special commemoration of the Apostles and Our Lady and the Disciples who waited in the Upper Room in Jerusalem during this same period for the Coming of the Holy Ghost. The special Novena Prayers and Intentions, as printed elsewhere in the magazine, will be said after the Masses, all kneeling, and after Vespers each evening in the Chapel.

Last Illustrated Lecture

On the Monday evening in the Octave I will give the last of my illustrated talks for the season. The subject this time will be the great Basilica Churches in the City of Rome, and the slides will be borrowed from the Metropolitan Museum in New York City. The silver offering at this time will be for the Missionary Quota of the Parish.

Pentecost

On the Feast of Pentecost, Whitsunday, there will also be an additional Low Mass at 6, and a Procession before the Solemn Mass. There will be a Solemn Procession after Vespers in the evening, closing with a Solemn Te Deum.

Music for the Feasts

On Whitsunday and Trinity Sunday when we have Processions before the Solemn Mass the music on the one will be Schubert in G and on the other Mozart's Seventh. On the Sunday in the Octave of the Ascension we will sing one of Gounod's Masses, possibly S. Cecelia, with Handel's Hallelujah Chorus for the Sequence, and on the Sunday in the Octave of Corpus Christi, the Mass will undoubtedly be Gounod's Mass of the Sacred Heart. The Special Offering on Whitsunday, for which envelopes will be distributed amongst the members of the congregation, will be for the summer expenses of the Parish. During this period there is a tremendous falling off in the Sunday offerings, and they have to be augmented by this offering on Pentecost, for which I beg your usual generosity.

Women's Auxiliary

The Women's Auxiliary will meet as usual on the first Wednesday. This is the closing meeting for the season, and the occasion for the annual election of officers. The special speaker at the meeting will be Miss Julia Williamson, and her subject will be Porto Rica. Miss Williamson has just returned from Porto Rica, and brings a very fresh and accurate message from this field. All the women of the congregation are urged to attend these meetings. They are intensely interesting, and then it affords a most excellent opportunity for newcomers in the Parish to make the acquaintance of many of our people who regularly attend these meetings.

W. U. T. O.

At this moment the sums for the Women's United Thank-Offering have not been assembled, but the total sum presented for the three years will be announced in the next issue of the magazine.

Widening of Twentieth Street

For a long time we have all been concerned about the proposed widening of Twentieth Street, so as to make a wider boulevard to feed the ever-increasing traffic into the Parkway. This has been talked about for years, and all of us have tried to delude ourselves into believing that we would never see this change and that it would thus be a problem for a later generation to face. But in the past year developments have been making rapid progress. The new subway to connect the new West Philadelphia Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad is now under construction, and in another year we will be seeing the removal of the great stone elevation that has carried the trains into Broad Street Station. With these changes, and the plans for the Boulevard that is to replace the old railroad elevation, the city authorities have felt that it was the proper time to make certain other improvements in this part of the city. So the grade of Twentieth Street will be raised, running from the present elevation to the corner of Appletree Street. So, with the raising of grades will come also the widening of the street, from its present width of fifty feet to a new width of ninety feet.

City Acts

The city has already acquired the necessary property from Market Street to Arch Street, and the occupants of the War Veterans' Bureau have been given three months' notice to vacate.

This is drawing down very close upon S. Clement's, and we have need now to be very anxious about what will happen here. For, maybe, within two years the city will want to continue this widening of Twentieth Street on to the Parkway.

Forty Feet

The forty feet which the city will take from the West side of Twentieth Street will bring the new street line through the center of our Lady Chapel, Choir and Organ Loft. It is a tragedy, and none of us can bear to contemplate it, yet it is a very imminent issue that we must face with boldness and confidence in Almighty GOD, Who has watched over us faithfully for so many years, and will not, if we are faithful, desert us now.

Vestry Acts

The matter has been under discussion in the meetings of the Vestry for a long time, and a special Committee has been working on the problem. The Committee has found the situation a very difficult one, and it has been complicated by unexpected obstacles in connection with additional real estate desired for the expansion of the property to the West. The Committee expects to ask the Vestry to call a special meeting of the congregation before the close of the Church Year, to consider the situation and the possible solution of the problems involved.

Certain Benefits

Our situation here at this corner is a most strategic one, and one of greatly increased value as these many changes are accomplished about us. In a few years the Church will face a Boulevard (Twentieth Street), with the Pennsylvania Boulevard but one block South, and the Parkway but two blocks North. The removal of the stone elevation will make the approach from the South much pleasanter and safer, especially in the evenings, and the increased traffic on the Twentieth Street Boulevard will bring the Church into much greater prominence, and make us more accessible from all parts of the city.

Let Us Pray

I hope you all will make this matter the subject of your prayers and the intention of your Communions. We can be guided aright only by the power of the Holy Spirit.

Choir Concert

Mr. Fry is preparing for the annual Choir Concert for the benefit of the Choir Summer Outing Fund. The Choir will be assisted this year by the Camden Choral Society, who sang so beautifully with our Choir in the winter, when Canon Fellowes of Windsor lectured on Tudor Music. The Concert this year will consist entirely of sacred numbers, and will be given in the Church. No tickets of admission will be sold, but a silver offering will be taken for the Choir Fund. The exact date will be announced in the special notices that will be sent out in Ascension-tide. From those who will not be able to make a contribution at the Concert, Mr. Fry will be glad to receive cheques for the Choir Outing Fund.

Summer Outings

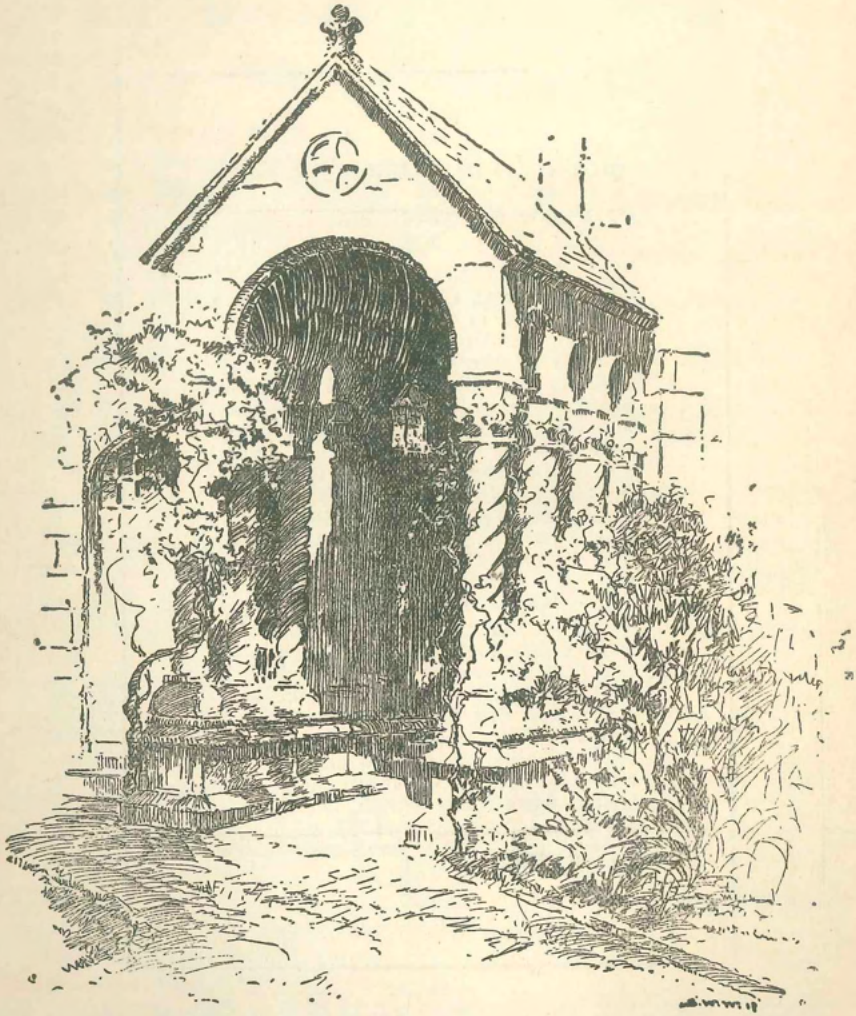
Plans for the summer have to be made early in the season, so the Sisters will be glad to receive, as early as convenient for you, your contributions to the Summer Outing Fund for the Poor of the Parish. The only outing these people have in the summer, the only relief from the city heat, is what our Sisters are able to arrange for them. Boat trips, day picnics, excursions into the parks, bus rides to Valley Forge and summer camps for the children provide the outings for our people. No matter how small a sum you are able to give, please do not hesitate to hand it to one of the Sisters, for it is the many small sums that make the "grand total." While the sums we collect are not large, they represent the gifts of many people, and that counts most of all.

Diocesan Convention

The Annual Diocesan Convention will be meeting in Holy Trinity Church the first week in May. Several important matters are to come before the Convention. The most important of these is the election of a Bishop Co-adjutor. A Bishop Co-adjutor is one who succeeds the Bishop of the Diocese upon his death or his resignation. A Bishop Suffragan is an Assistant Bishop, who does not succeed, nor even have a vote in the House of Bishops. There are several very good men "being talked about," who are good Churchmen, and who would be very pleasing to Catholics. I ask your prayers, especially during the week of the Convention, for God's special guidance at all the meetings and discussions in connection with this great step.

XXXIX Articles

Another matter before the Diocesan Convention will be the discussion of certain matters about which the Convention will instruct the Diocesan delegates to the General Convention, which will meet in Washington in October. One of these is whether or not "The Thirty-Nine Articles" are to be printed in the appendix of the revised Prayer Book? There has been much heated argument and debate on this subject. The Articles are obsolete, and as they stand now in the Prayer Book commit neither the Church nor any member of it. They are little more than an historic relic of a controversy long past, yet they do stand as the only Anglican interpretation of Nicene Theology, and a very definite Catholic interpretation they give. The matter has been made by the Broad and Liberal Party into a Party issue, but the Catholics have repudiated the charge and at the last meeting of the Catholic Club a resolution was passed urging the Convention to retain the Articles in their present position.



Open Convention

The Diocesan Convention is open to all, and laymen and women are admitted to the galleries of Holy Trinity Church during its sessions. It would be well if the laity acquainted themselves more thoroughly with these deliberations of the Church, and I am sure that many of the sessions of the coming Convention will be both interesting and instructive.

Pray at Mass

There are always serious matters before the Church that need your faithful prayers. There is never a time when your prayers

Prayer for S. Clement's Church Philadelphia

BLESS, O Lord, this Parish, and grant that Thy Name may be worshipped here in truth and purity, to all generations. Give Thy grace and wisdom to all the Clergy, that they may exercise holy discipline, and be themselves patterns of holiness, simplicity and self-denial. Bless all who worship here; take from them all pride, vanity and self-conceit, and give them true humility and self-abasement. Enlighten their minds, subdue their wills, purify their hearts, and so penetrate them with Thy Spirit and fill them with Thy love that they may go forth animated with earnest zeal for Thy glory; and may Thy ever living Word so dwell within their hearts that they may speak with that resistless energy of love which shall melt the hearts of sinners to the love of Thee. Open, O Lord, the hearts and hands of Thy people, that they may be ready to give and glad to distribute to our necessities. Bless the founders and benefactors of this Parish, and recompense them with the riches of Thine everlasting Kingdom, for Jesus Christ's sake. A-men.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

As usual, this number of the Parish Magazine, being the Summer number, is delayed until the middle of the month in order to give in full the plans for the summer, and to give a full report of the Great Feasts that close the Church Year. These closing feasts fell earlier in the Kalendar year this season, so more people than usual have been able to keep the Days with us before leaving for their holidays. The feasts, with special Masses each Sunday, have been most devoutly kept, and the Feast of Corpus Christi with unusual solemnity, since we had the Bishop of Liberia with us during this week. He officiated at Pontifical Benediction on the Eve of the Feast, and the Solemn Mass on the Feast Day was sung in his presence. Trinity Sunday marked the tenth anniversary of my ordination, and the following week the tenth anniversary of my coming to S. Clement's.

The Bishop of Liberia

The Bishop of Liberia came to Philadelphia to speak to the Catholic Club, which met at S. John's in Norristown. He was our guest at the Clergy House, and it was a great joy to have him and to hear many more of his experiences than he was able to tell in his public addresses. He also addressed about sixty women of the congregation on Wednesday afternoon, and at the close of his address the Sisters served tea. He hopes to stay in this country until after the General Convention in October, when he returns to his See City in Africa.

Summer Schedule

The schedule of services will be maintained as usual during the summer with no curtailment. I know you all appreciate this, and while it is difficult to arrange, yet I would not allow any curtailment. The full privileges at S. Clement's during the summer mean much to many people who have to remain in the city, and whose parish churches are practically closed until autumn. There are the three Masses every day and a High Mass every Sunday, followed by a sermon. Vespers is said in the evening at six and at eight in the Church there is a sermon again, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. There is a similar service every Friday evening and the Holy Hour will continue to be kept on the First Fridays.

Mass

I hope this paragraph may be superfluous, and yet I feel I must include it. It is about the importance of hearing Mass on Sundays during your holidays. There is no excuse if you deliberately plan your holiday for a place where Mass cannot be heard. It is the Mass that matters, not the Priest who says it, nor the place where it is said, nor even the vestments nor the absence of vestments. The Mass is the Mass, and every faithful Catholic will be at Mass on Sunday, in August as well as in December. I long and pray for the day when all Anglo Catholics will realize this obligation. Then, and not until them, can this paragraph be omitted from the Summer Magazine.

Summer Staff

During the holiday season the clergy staff will be augmented by the Reverend Alfred Q. Plank, who is already in residence. Fr. Plank has been at S. Mary's-by-the-Sea, Point Pleasant, New Jersey, for several years. It is a real joy to welcome him to S. Clement's. Fr. Ewing, Fr. Smith and Fr. Plank will be at the Clergy House during July. Fr. Smith will preach Friday evenings and sing the High Mass on Sundays. Fr. Ewing will preach after the High Mass on Sundays, and Fr. Plank will preach Sunday evenings. I expect to be here during August with Fr. Wagenseller and Fr. Plank. Fr. Plank will preach Friday evenings and sing the High Mass on Sundays. Fr. Wagenseller will preach after the High Mass on Sundays, and I will preach in the evening on Sundays in August. Plans for September are not as yet completed. Fr. Underhill has gone to Rutherfordton, North Carolina, where he hopes to spend the entire summer. He is very comfortably situated, with an Altar, and finds that the climate is very agreeable to his throat. I hope you will all pray that he may be restored to his former good health.

Choir Recital

The Choir, assisted by the Camden Choral Art Society, gave a most beautiful recital in the Church in May. The collection was given to the Outing Fund for the Choir Boys. We are most deeply indebted to the several Organists who assisted in the program, and to our friends from Camden. The Camden Choral Society is under Mr. Fry's direction, and shows the finish of his art. Our own Choir was in fine voice, and the evening was given a very fine press notice in all the morning papers on the following day. Mr. Fry and the Accounting Warden will be glad to have any further gifts for this Fund.

Catholic Congress

It is not too early for us to be thinking about the next Catholic Congress, which will be meeting in New York City early in November, on the 13th, 14th and 15th, to be exact. We must all be praying very hard about it. It will come right after the meeting of the General Convention, and maybe some of the Western Clergy and Bishops will stay over for it. The subject will be, "The Catholic and the Catholic Life." A most important subject to consider, and a most important matter for every Catholic to consider in relation to himself. It is not what we say that counts as much as what we do. It is not what we profess that counts, it is what we practice. When the Catholic Life is evidenced in our midst by holy men and women and devout, then will our true Catholicity be established beyond all doubt. On the last Thursday in each month the Masses will be offered with this special intention, and I trust that many of you will assist on these days, and if possible make your Communions for God's blessing on yourselves and the Catholic movement in our Church.

Moving of S. Clement's

I have been authorized by our Special Building Committee to announce that they have been able to acquire for the Parish the two houses adjoining the Church Property on Cherry Street, numbers 2028 and 2030. These two lots run all the way through to AppleTree Street, the exact width of the Church property. The Architects have advised the Committee that it is both possible and feasible to move the entire plant, as it now stands, back on the newly-possessed property. The Germantown Hospital was recently moved in this way without disturbing any of the patients. So the Church, Parish House and Rectory can be moved, without any interruption in our life and services. It may be a long time, however, before these changes will be made, as the actual widening of Twentieth Street to the contemplated ninety feet has not been ordered by the city. The city has this plan very definitely on its arrangements for the improvement of this part of the city, and has already issued the orders for the opening of the street to the new width of ninety feet from Market Street to Arch Street. It is a matter of gratification and satisfaction to all to know that we have these properties in our own possession, and that when the time to make the changes comes, we can preserve the identity and integrity of our plant, without any architectural alteration whatsoever. Carrying these properties will involve extra expense, but I am sure you will all be ready to bear your share in this.

C. B. S.

On the afternoon of Corpus Christi Day we held our annual meeting of S. Saviour's Ward of the Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament. The Secretary, Mr. Ward, reported eighty-eight active members, and offerings to the National Society amounting to about a hundred dollars above the dues that are regularly sent. This extra money is used in providing poor Churches and Missions with the proper Vestments and Vessels for a more reverent offering of the Mass. Perhaps others in the Congregation would be glad to be identified with this Confraternity, whose object is to promote the honour due our Blessed Lord in the Most Holy Sacrament of the Altar. There are daily prayers to say, and certain obligations about hearing Mass and receiving Holy Communion, but nothing more than every faithful and devout Catholic should be doing anyway. The Annual National Meeting will be held on the Octave Day of Corpus Christi, at Trinity Church, Bridgeport, Connecticut. I have been invited to address the afternoon meeting, and Fr. McCune is preaching at the Solemn Mass.

Summer Outings

May I remind you again of the Summer Outing Fund. Owing to my forgetfulness, no notice was made in advance that the offering on Ascension Day would be for this fund, so smaller sums than usual have been received up to this time. None of you can have so happy a time on your own holidays unless you have left behind some sum for the unfortunate ones who are dependent on your generosity for a day at the sea or an afternoon of good country air. You can put your offering, marked, "Summer Outing Fund," on the collection plates, and it will reach the proper Treasurer.

Altar Flowers

One more note of begging. Flowers for the Altar and the Shrines. Many of you have lovely garden flowers. Do send them to the Clergy House whenever you have them, and we can always find place for them in the Church. Especially do we like to have flowers sent on Friday and Saturday, so that the Altars may be decorated for Benediction, and the Altar in the Lady Chapel, the Altar of Reservation, should have fresh flowers several times a week. We have little or no funds with which to buy flowers, so we are quite dependent upon you and your gardens to decorate our Church during the summer. When the Vestments are green there will be no flowers on the High Altar on Sunday, and the Sundays that are other than "After Trinity" and in Octaves will need flowers. We are always very glad to have flowers for the Church, and hope you will feel free to send them at any time.

Fr. Caine

We extend our sympathy to Fr. Caine, whose mother has died since the last issue of our Magazine. She has been remembered at our Altars, and we have not been unmindful of Fr. Caine in our prayers. Several of us were present at the Requiem Mass in S. Timothy's Church, Roxborough, and Fr. Caine went on to Boston with his sister for the burial. May she rest in peace.

Happy Summer

From now on we all will be scattering to different parts of the world for the summer, to find rest and recreation and change of scene. And in a short while, if GOD spares us, we shall be returning to take up our work with new zeal and earnestness. Unless our holiday refreshes us for new service for GOD, it will be in vain. Unless our holidays are spent with GOD, they will be in vain. May He watch between me and thee when we are absent one from another.

Faithfully and affectionately your Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

Once again we are ready to take up a winter's work together. Many of you are already home and in your accustomed places in the Parish. Having had my own holiday early in the season, for the first time in many years I am here to greet you as you return. Of late I have been the last one to come back. This cool, crisp weather makes us eager for the winter's round, and with the first of October it will begin at S. Clement's.

The Staff

The most conspicuous change will be in the Clergy Staff, and the one that will affect every one of us, but no one more than it affects me personally. Fr. Smith, after a residence in the Clergy House of about eight years, has assumed the position of Head Master at The Valley Forge Military Academy in Devon. The Superintendent of the school, Major Baker, has been a frequent worshipper at S. Clement's for many years. The Rev. Charles Harrison, one of our boys who has just been ordained to the Diaconate, is also on the School Staff, so S. Clement's has quite a share in its work. Fr. Smith has won a very warm place in our hearts by his kind geniality, and drawn many souls by his very helpful spiritual ministry. For years he has sung the Mass on Sundays, where his beautiful voice has been both a joy and an inspiration. We shall hope to have him with us at the Altar on many occasions.

Fr. Ewing has been on the Staff for five years, having come to us from the Cathedral in Detroit, where he had served for a similar period. He has returned to the General Theological Seminary in New York to study for his degree, and to complete some further work. He leaves many friends behind, who will always follow him with their interest and their prayers.

Fr. Plank came to us in June, and has been a most acceptable member of the Staff. He has just been called back to his old Parish, S. Mary's-by-the-Sea, in Point Pleasant, New Jersey, and feels it is God's will for him to return, so after so brief sojourn amongst us he goes, with our prayers, to this former work so dear to his heart.

At this writing I have no one in mind to take his place, so I beg your most earnest prayers that I may find a suitable Priest for our very important work.

Fr. Underhill has returned from a long outing in North Carolina, very much invigorated and benefited, and is in residence in the Clergy House. Fr. Arnold has returned from his summer in Maine, and will be with us again for the winter.

The Sisters

Changes in personnel are not restricted to the Clergy. The Sisters too have been moving and are still being moved. We were just beginning to feel somewhat appeased for Sister Agatha's transfer to Los Angeles last year by our acquaintance with Sister Mary Kathleen and our appreciation of her work, when she was sent to Bay Shore, Long Island, to assume important duties there. This vacancy in the Sisters' Staff has been filled by Sister Mary Gabriel and just now by Sister Bernardine, but soon after All Saints' we are expecting Sister Faith to be with us for the balance of the winter, and hope that early in the year the Staff may be permanently completed.

Moving the Church.

There are no new developments to report under this heading. The two properties to the west of us have been secured, and the titles are now in our hands. Mr. Sellers has returned from abroad and is working out certain details that will evolve from the moving. We are now ready for the City's edict, and are prepared to become more "Western" whenever the City commands. It is not likely that anything will be done before next summer.

The Election of a Bishop

On Tuesday, October second, there will be a special meeting of the Diocesan Convention for the election of a Bishop Coadjutor. Dr. Sherril of Boston, who was elected to this post at the May meeting of the Convention, declined the office. Prayers are being offered daily for the guidance of the Holy Spirit, and special remembrances are being made at all the Masses. The election falls on the Feast of the Holy Guardian Angels, and I hope that many of you will assist at Mass that morning and make your communions with this special intention in your hearts and minds.

The General Convention

The Diocesan Convention will be followed shortly by the General Convention of the American Church. This Convention meets every three years, and will gather this year in Washington. Many matters of deep concern to all Churchmen, in regard to liturgical development and the missionary program of the Church, will come before these bodies. Novena Devotions for the Intention of the Convention will begin on Monday, October the eighth, and continue until the sixteenth, which is the day of its opening. Our Masses on the sixteenth will be Votive of the Holy Ghost, and I would urge as many as possible to be at the Altar that day, to assist at Mass and, if possible, to make their communions for God's blessing and guidance upon the deliberations of the Convention. It will be widely reported in the daily newspapers, and I hope you all will follow it with an intelligent interest and your prayers.

The Catholic Congress

The next Catholic Congress, and last one for a few years, will be held in New York City in November. All Catholics are urged to be Members of the Congress, whether they will be able to attend its sessions or not. The annual membership is one dollar. Already one hundred and fifty members of our congregation are Members of the Congress. We should have double that number. Mrs. Pendleton is the Parish Secretary of the Congress. Life Memberships cost twenty-five dollars. The Masses on the last Thursday in each month are offered for this intention.

Magazine Plans

I am expecting to print occasionally in the Parish Magazine some sermon that has been preached in our pulpit. I am beginning with the series that I preached during last Lent, and the first one is appearing in this issue. This increased size in the publication will mean an increase in the printer's bill. This can be easily met if you put increased offerings in the Tract Case box when you take your copy.

May Almighty God direct us in our work by His Holy Spirit, and guard us by His Holy Angels.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner –

Parish Notes

THE CHOIR returned on the second Sunday in September. Many of the boys had long holidays in camp, but the official Choir Camp was at S. James' Parish Farm in Quakertown.

THE SOLEMN MASS at 11, the High Mass at 9.15, and Solemn Vespers in the evening, will be resumed on Sunday, October 7th.

S. MARY'S GUILD opens for the winter on Monday evening, October 1st. The Guild has about eighty members. Many new ones are seeking its privileges. Every woman in the Parish, who lives the full Sacramental life, is eligible. Speak to the Rector or to Sister Katharine.

THE MOTHERS' MEETING resumes its winter work on the first Thursday evening with a Rummage Sale. The Devotional Service in the Chapel will be led by Fr. Plank.

FIRST VESPERS OF ALL SAINTS will be solemnly sung in the Church with the Choir, followed by a Sermon and Benediction. Vespers of the Dead will be said in S. John's Chapel the following evening at eight.

NAMES OF THE DEPARTED to be Commemorated on November 2nd should be given to the Rector promptly. Departed members of the Parish who have been buried from the Church are on the permanent list, and their names should not be included on the lists. Designate the Mass at which you wish the names read. At the Solemn Mass only the names of Benefactors and Communicant Members of S. Clement's will be remembered.

THE RECTOR will be the speaker at the opening meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary on Wednesday afternoon, October 3rd, at three o'clock.

THERE WILL BE A SERMON and Benediction on all Friday evenings during the winter, with a special observance of the Holy Hour on all first Fridays.

HOLY COMMUNION was given to 767 persons in June, to 652 in July, and to 613 in August. Holy Communion was carried to 25 sick persons in June, to 17 sick persons in July, and to 24 sick persons in August.

THE RECTOR'S DISCRETIONARY FUND has been completely exhausted by the many demands from deserving and needy members of the Parish. This is a very important part of our pastoral work, and all such funds are bestowed with the greatest care, and only in such cases where the need is actually known. There is no indiscretion in its administration.

THE ACCOUNTING WARDEN would be glad to have as soon as possible the remaining envelopes for the summer months that are still outstanding. They have been returned with unusual promptness this year.

FATHER ROSEBORO, Father Campbell and Father Joseph, O. S. F., have been visitors in the Clergy House during the summer.

CATHOLIC CONGRESS MEMBERSHIPS may be had from Mrs. Pendleton for one dollar apiece. Every Parishioner a member!

✠ A Sermon ✠

Preached in S. Clement's by the Rector

The First Sunday in Lent, 1928

Aside from being good, bad or indifferent, sermons may be classified as expositional; that is, dealing with the exact meaning of a text or passage of Scripture, going into the fine use of words and inquiring into the circumstances which prompted its composition. Sermons may be classified in another group, as hortatory or of the invitation to religion type—dwelling on the call, the appeal, the offers of our Lord, and urging the hearers to accept the Lord's blessings. Again, some may be dogmatic, dealing with the doctrines of the Church, the meaning of the Creeds and their application to the needs of men today; or they may be what we familiarly call "Gospel" sermons, dealing with miracles or parables or stories, and drawing therefrom lessons for daily life and living; and finally, there may be sermons of instruction, sermons in which laws and precepts and customs of the Church and her Services may be explained, the meaning lying behind them pointed out, the authority and antiquity of their practice shown, and all this in the way of simple instruction, without any effort or thought of making a moral or even giving a "golden text."

It is this latter style that I hope to follow these Sundays in Lent. I have no definite scheme in mind nor list of subjects ready at hand on which to offer instruction. Whatever I give will be familiar to many of you and I know you will be glad to hear it again framed in language from a newer tongue; but to others it will be new and fresh and come as new knowledge. Whatever I say will be drawn from the history and experience of the Church. No one has so little opportunity to be novel and individualistic as a Catholic Priest. All that he may say, he must be able to prove from Holy Scripture and the Church's interpretation of it. All that he may do must have the precedent and sanction of the Church in which he holds his commission. There is no one so bound by the precedent and prejudices of the Catholic Church as the Priest. These will not always be identical with the precedents and prejudices of the Parish in which he ministers, as he may discover and not always to his joy! Nevertheless, he must proclaim the Church's truth and teach the Church's ways—he dare not do less than that!

My subject for today's "Teaching Sermon" is the "Propers of the Mass." These include all the variable parts of the Rite which are distinctively and exclusively peculiar to one occasion or feast—the Collect, Epistle, Gospel, some of the secret prayers and the Post Communion, which change each day and each week and each season. These belong to what the Liturgy calls "The Propers." But it is not about these I would instruct today, but the rest of the "Propers," the Introit, the Gradual, Tract and Sequence, the Offertory and the Communion. The Introit comes at the very beginning of the Mass and means entrance. The Gradual, Tract and Sequence come between the Epistle and Gospel. The Gradual is so called because it was sung from the top step of the ambo or pulpit. The Tract, which really means a protraction or prolonging, is so called because it was introduced to give more time to prepare for the Gospel and is peculiar to penitential Masses, while the Sequence is usually a hymn or metrical psalm, following the Gradual or Tract, sung during the Gospel Procession. The Offertory comes at the point where the Priest offers the Oblation at the Altar and the people are offering their Alms, and the Communion is so named because originally it occupied the time the Priest was giving Holy Communion, and has now been shortened to the Antiphon only and is no more than a Communion ejaculation after the Sacrament has been received.

The earlier forms of the ceremonies and ritual of the Liturgy were as you are seeing them at this Solemn Mass. The Mass was held in such awful reverence that none save those in Holy Orders could assist, and possibly for a long time in the early days of the Church was celebrated only by the Bishop. As the Liturgy grew and developed, it became necessary to introduce hymns to cover the censing of the Altar at the beginning, so the Introit. Another hymn was needed to cover the space between the Epistle and Gospel, where certain ceremonies had to be performed, and likwise at the Offertory and Communion. They were introduced primarily to cover up gaps that were awkward to the people, yet necessary to the Rite, and later were adapted and rearranged to give special character to the occasion of their use. In the earliest days of Liturgical development, nothing was used in the Liturgy but words of Scripture, so it was natural that these parts were all taken from the Bible, and since the Psalter was the Church's book of poetry and hymnology, it is easy to see why the Psalter was used exclusively for these "Propers," especially for the longer parts. The Gospels are sometimes drawn upon for the Offertory and Communion, and only on a very few occasions, I believe, are the Psalms not used for the Introit.

As a general rule, the scope of the Introit is a key to the entire Mass of the day. If the occasion be one of great solemnity and the Introit be taken from the Psalter, it is generally from those Psalms that are most expressive of joy and exultation. On occasions of great sorrow, it is generally from those Psalms known as the Penitentials, especially where the Church puts on Her mourning garments and earnestly exhorts Her children to prepare themselves by fasting and penance for the sorrowful tragedy that is to be enacted the last week of Lent. For the Feasts of particular Saints, they are generally found to favor some special feature in the Saint's career.

The Introits are made up of a few verses from some of the Psalms, followed by a minor doxology. Formerly, the entire psalm used to be repeated at this place. After the Introit has been read or sung, it is reiterated as far as the Psalm. Taken in a mystic point of view, this initiatory prayer recalls to mind the clamorous and anxious expectations of the Patriarchs and Prophets of old for the coming of the Messias, and its double repetition signifies the renewed earnestness with which this great event was watched. In many of the Psalms we find examples of this holy importunity where we see the more important verses recited sometimes twice and three times over. So, the Introit has been lengthened out by this repetition, quite evidently to cover the time of the censing of the Altar and while the Priest finds the place for the beginning of the Mass in the Missal. The Eastern Church has two Introits, really more of a minor and major procession, and it is during the latter, with a gorgeous display of ritual, the unconsecrated elements are borne to the Altar amid fumes of incense and a multitude of blazing torches.

The whole procession prostrates itself before the unconsecrated elements in silent adoration, in what is termed an anticipatory reverence, in view of what the elements will be changed into in the course of the Holy Sacrifice, the Body and Blood of Christ.

After the Epistle comes the Gradual, so called, not, as some suppose, from the steps of the Altar, for it was never read from these, but rather from the steps of the ambo, which was the place always assigned it. The ambo was a kind of pulpit in the Church and there was usually one for the Epistle on the south and one for the Gospel on the north of the Altar. The Gradual is a kind of responsory or reply to the Epistle, after which it is sung, to stir up the hearts of the people to the salutary truths contained in the Lesson. The principal literal reason for introducing singing at this place was to keep the attention of the people from flagging in the interval that elapsed while the procession for the chanting of the Gospel was being formed. The Gradual is made up of two verses taken from the Psalms or some other part of the Bible, followed by an Alleluia repeated twice, to which is added another verse with an Alleluia at the end of it. The Alleluias are omitted in the seasons of Penitence. Where the Alleluia is not said, what is known as the Tract is added to the Gradual in its place. The Tract, which is made up of three or four verses taken from the Psalms, though sometimes the entire Psalm is recited, as on Palm Sunday and Good Friday, derives its name from a Latin word meaning "to draw," agreeably to which Liturgical writers inform us that in ancient times it used to be drawn out in a slow, measured tone on the part of the choir without any interruption whatever.

On particular occasions of the year there are added immediately after the Gradual certain rhythmical pieces of composition called by the several names of Proses, Jubilations and Sequences. They are denominated Proses because, though written like verse, yet they are destitute of the qualifications that are looked for in regular metrical compositions, for they are formed more with a view of accent than quantity—a very striking characteristic of the poetry of the early ages of the Christian Church. The name Jubilations was given them from their having been for the most part employed on occasions of great solemnity and rejoicing; and that of Sequence from their following the Alleluia. Formerly it was the custom to prolong the singing after the last note of the Alleluia for quite a considerable time, without using any words whatever. This was what received the name of pneuma or breathing, and strictly speaking is the origin of what we now call the Sequence. Every Sunday used to have a Sequence, but a great deal of abuse crept in through having such a multiplicity of Sequences, and as many were carelessly written, the Church thought it wise to subject them to a rigid examination and retain only those of rare excellence. But five of the ancient hymns were retained. Those for Easter, Pentecost, Corpus Christi, Seven Sorrows of Our Lady, and the Hymn proper to Masses for the Dead. One other was allowed to a certain congregation for the Feast of the Holy Name. Of these six ancient hymns, five are in our Hymns Ancient and Modern, and are always used on the days for which they were anciently assigned. The Easter Sequence is the only one we do not have. "Come, Thou Holy Spirit, Come," for Pentecost; "Lo, the Angels' Food is Given," for Corpus Christi; "At the Cross Her Station Keeping," for the Compassion of Our Lady; "O Day of Wrath, O Day of Mourning," for Requiems; and "To the Name of Our Salvation," for the Feast of the Holy Name.

For the Offertory, all that remains today is the Antiphon that was used formerly for the Psalm that was sung while the Collection was being taken up from the Congregation and while the Priest was offering the Bread and Wine at the Altar that was to become the Body and Blood of Our Lord. The word Offertory applies to two things—either this Antiphon or what we sometimes call the Offertory Sentence, or the Music that may be sung in its place. The Offertory is also what the Priest does at this point. But the Offertory is never the money collection—that may be an Offering, or Alms, or the Collection, but never the Offertory. The only way you can "take up the Offertory" is to hand the music for it to the Organist and Choir, or to give the Bread and Wine to the Priest for preparing the Oblation.

Up to the Fourth Century the presentation of gifts took place in silence, but after this period the custom of singing psalms at this point was introduced in order to relieve the tedium of the people. S. Augustine alludes particularly to this custom in his works, and a precedent for it may be seen in the Old Law where the Sons of Aaron, while the High Priest was offering the blood of the grape, sounded their silver trumpets and the singers lifted up their voices and caused the great house to resound with sweet melody. It is the general custom now to sing a hymn at this point, preceded by the Offertory Antiphon—you will see what I mean immediately following the Sermon.

Following the Communion, we have a short Antiphon, bearing upon the lesson and character of the day and generally taken from the Psalter. This is called the Communio or Communion. In former times it was customary to sing this Antiphon together with some portions of a Psalm or, if necessary, the entire Psalm, while the Priest was communicating the people. Since Holy Communion is seldom given at a Sung or Solemn Mass, the use for this feature has disappeared, so there is nothing but the Antiphon remaining. If sung, it would follow the Agnus Dei, while the Ablutions would be in the making, but strange to say, while it has been the custom here since the days of the Fathers to sing the proper Introit and Gradual, Tract and Sequence, the proper Offertory and Communion have never been introduced at the High Mass.

Let me point out these points by reading you the Propers for today. The keynote of the Collect, Epistle and Gospel for this First Sunday in Lent is faithful consecration to the cause of our Lord Jesus Christ, of self-discipline to subdue the flesh and exalt the Spirit of God within us, and to assure us of God's protecting care and watchfulness over us in all our temptations and His readiness and anxiety to deliver us from evil. In the Epistle, we have S. Paul's picture of the true Christian Life, a disclosure undoubtedly of his own spiritual experiences, of how every deprivation and act of suffering and self-denial is ever met by newer and richer mercies of God. The Gospel pictures our Lord's temptation after His long retreat in the wilderness, to warn us that when we are in the state of highest spiritual exaltation we are most apt to be tempted, and to assure us that God is ready to send legions of angels to help us and save us in that hour.

The Introit is: "He shall call upon Me and I will hear him. I will deliver him and bring him to honour: with long life will I satisfy him. Whosoever dwelleth under the defense of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." For the Gradual: "God shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. They shall bear thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone. Whosoever dwelleth under the defense of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say unto the Lord, Thou art my hope and my stronghold, my God, in Him will I trust." The Offertory and Communion are identical today: "The Lord shall defend thee under His wings: and thou shalt be safe under His feathers. His faithfulness and truth shall be thy shield and buckler."

Do you not see how greatly enriched the Service is by these pertinent and beautiful passages from the Psalms and the Old Testament that so perfectly touch the point of the day and season—dependence on God and loyal devotion to Him brings His protection and the guardianship of His Angels. As we see our Lord meet the tempter and conquer him, so we look unto Him in the hour of our temptation and say with confidence and trust, "Thou art my hope and my stronghold, my God, in Him will I trust."

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

This is the month to which we look forward with great eagerness, because it brings our Patronal Feast. In fact, it is the month of Saints for us, beginning as it does with the happy feast of All Saints and its Octave, the Feast of S. Martin, which is becoming a National and International Holiday in commemoration of the Armistice, the Feast of our Lady's Presentation in the Temple, the Feast of S. Clement with its Octave, and then closing with S. Andrew's Day, the great Apostle missionary.

In addition to all these special commemorations, we keep two Novenas this month, one for the Catholic Congress, and the other for the Parish, and at the end of the month a Triduum or three days of prayer, for the missionary work of the Church.

As you look over the Kalendar you will think that there will be little time for work or anything else if you should attempt to keep all the services provided, but on further reflection you will realize that the first two Masses are said every day before the work-a-day world begins, and the evening sermons and devotions follow after it closes. Try to share in as much of it as you can. This is one of the few years when we can keep the Sunday after the Patronal Feast Day as a part of the Feast. Since this year is the centenary of the composer Schubert, we will be singing his Mass in G on this Sunday.

As this is not only the month of the Saints but also the Month of the Holy Souls, we shall be saying Requiem Masses on all the unhindered days, having in remembrance at each Mass a number of those who have been Commemorated on the second day in the Octave.

Fr. Plank will be leaving the Staff about the time this letter reaches your hand. I hope you all will follow him with your prayers. Fr. Byron-Curtiss, a Seminary classmate of Fr. Hutchinson's, comes to join us for the balance of the year. I am in touch with several Priests, and think I will be able to secure a permanent one for the work before Christmas. Fr. Smith continues to say Mass occasionally through the week.

There are many prayers to be said this month for both the Catholic Congress and the Parish Feast. At Mass is the best place to say them. I expect to see you at the Altar often. Our Lord longs to see more of you early on Sundays.

May God's Saints pray for you! May His holy angels guard and defend you! May God bless you richly in your worship and work for Him.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Parish Notes

THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL will begin on Armistice Day, Sunday, November 11th. Mrs. Mowry will be in the Cope Room before and after the Solemn Mass and Solemn Vespers to receive your subscriptions. The hurricane devastation in the Southern States and in Central America demands your generous support.

AN APPEAL FROM MENA, ARKANSAS, for articles for a Christmas Sale reaches us every year, and the help that goes from S. Clement's is greatly appreciated. Send your articles by parcel post to Mrs. F. E. DeLongy, Box 229, Mena.

THE SALE OF CHRISTMAS CARDS has begun. Mrs. Pendleton has the first of a new stock, and will be glad to show them to you in the Cope Room. The proceeds of these sales go to the Sisters of the Holy Nativity for their Mission House in the Parish.

CATHOLIC CONGRESS MEMBERSHIPS and Tickets for the Congress Dinner should be secured from the Parish Secretary.

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS during this month include the following. On All Saints' Day for S. Anna's Home; on All Souls' Day for the Guild of All Souls; on S. Clement's Day and the Sunday in the Octave for Parish Expenses; on Thanksgiving Day for the Episcopal Hospital.

AN ENTERTAINMENT at the Parish Tea will be provided by the young men and young women of the Parish, who are preparing a program under the direction of Father Wagenseller.

FATHER FLEMING of S. Stephen's Church, Providence, spent the night with us at the Clergy House on his way to the General Convention.

MISS MARION MONROE, of our Parish, was clothed as a Novice on S. Matthew's Day in the Order of S. Anne, taking the name of Sister Rita. Please remember her in your prayers. And do not forget our Novice Fidelia at All Saints and our Novice Mary Martha at S. Margaret's.

SEVERAL DESERVING FAMILIES in the Parish are in need of regular assistance with money. Sister Katharine would be glad to tell any one about them, in the hope of finding regular contributors to their support. We need eighty-five dollars a month.

FATHER HUTCHINSON'S visit with us was a great joy. We are grateful to him for preaching for us on October 28th, the Feast of Christ the King. We were glad to hear his voice again at Mass. We are all the better for his visit. He was returning to Milwaukee from the General Convention in Washington, to which he was a delegate from the Diocese of Milwaukee.

CONFESSIONS before the Patronal Feast will be heard in the Church Wednesday evening, Thursday afternoon, and Thursday evening before the Festival Vespers.

The Purchase of the Cherry Street Houses

A Statement by the Accounting Warden

You are all more or less familiar with the matter of our purchase of 2028 and 2030 Cherry Street. Now that the properties are definitely in the hands of the Church and the Corporation, every one will want to know the "how" and the "why."

We were obliged to pay $35,000 for each house. Their assessed value is $8,000. At one time it seemed likely that this whole project would have to be abandoned, and that we would have to either move to another site or merge with some other parish, because of the high prices asked for these properties. However, we have borrowed by mortgage and from banks the entire sum necessary to complete the purchase.

The cost of carrying the properties in interest and taxes will amount to about $5,000 a year. We hope to keep both of the houses rented, but cannot hope for more than $1,900 in rent from both of them. This will leave about $3,000 a year to be borrowed to meet the interest and taxes. We hope to be reimbursed eventually by the City for our whole outlay, which by the time all is completed will likely reach $150,000.

While S. Clement's is able to meet its very carefully prepared annual budget, it has no funds in excess to put into this situation. The purchase and carrying charges on these properties must be financed by funds secured from without the parish. Thus far we have been able to do this through the courtesy of one of the City's banks. When we have reached the point where we can obtain a Mandamus from the City, we will have a security that can be pledged for the loans. At the present there is nothing to indicate when this happy event will arrive.

Your generous financial support to the General Expenses of the Parish is especially needed during this period of waiting and the eventual moving.

The Catholic Congress

The Fourth Catholic Congress will be held in New York City, beginning Tuesday evening, November 13th, and closing Thursday evening, November 15th, with headquarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania. All of the sessions of the Congress, with the exception of the Masses, will be in the Ball Room of the Hotel Pennsylvania.

There are to be Solemn Pontifical Masses at half-past ten o'clock, Wednesday morning, November 14th, at the following churches: S. Mary the Virgin, S. Ignatius, The Transfiguration, and S. Paul's Chapel.

A feature of the Congress will be a Dinner, Wednesday evening, November 14th, at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Tickets may be obtained through out Parish Secretary, Mrs. Pendleton, or from Fr. Caine at 5720 Ridge Avenue. The cost per plate is $3.

The Committee is depending upon you, not only to keep the Congress in your prayers and commend it to your friends, but to urge all Catholic Church people to support the Congress Movement by becoming members if they have not already done so, and to contribute towards the Missionary Offering, which is to be given to the Convent Building Fund of the Sisters of S. Anne in the Virgin Islands, and to the Liberian Mission of the Order of the Holy Cross.

The following is the program of the sessions, subject to possible modification:

Tuesday Evening, November 13th.

Address of Welcome.....The Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, D.D., Bishop of New York, introducing the Rt. Rev. Benjamin F. P. Ivins, D.D., Bishop Coadjutor of Milwaukee, Chairman of the Congress.

Address.....The Most Rev. John G. Murray, D.D., Presiding Bishop

Papers: Subject, The Catholic Life

The Catholic and His Creed.....The Rev. Frank Gavin, Th.D., General Theological Seminary

The Catholic and His Worship.....The Rev. Richard H. Gushee Ontario, Calif.

Wednesday Afternoon, November 14th.

The Catholic and His Prayers.....The Rev. George P. Christian Orange, N. J.

The Catholic and His Communions.....The Rev. F. W. Fitts Roxborough, Mass.

Thursday Morning, November 15th.

The Catholic and His Neighbor.....The Rev. Frederick O. Musser Easton, Pa.

The Catholic in His Parish.....The Rev. James M. Niblo Norristown, Pa.

Thursday Afternoon, November 15th.

The Catholic and Penitence...The Rev. Granville M. Williams, S.S.J.E. Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Catholic and the Interior Life....The Rt. Rev. S. M. Griswold, D.D. Bishop Coadjutor of Chicago

Thursday Evening, November 15th.

The Catholic and the Priesthood.....The Rev. Robert J. Murphy Versailles, Ky.

The Catholic and Religious Life.....The Rev. William B. Stoskopf Chicago, Ill.

Closing Address by the Chairman.

An Invocation of the Nine Choirs of Angels

O Holy Angels, watch over us at all times during this perilous life; O Holy Archangels, be our guides on the way to Heaven; O heavenly Choirs of the Principalities, govern us in soul and body; O mighty Powers, preserve us against the wiles of the demons; O celestial Virtues, give us strength and courage in the battle of life; O powerful Dominations, obtain for us dominion over the rebellion of our flesh; O sacred Thrones, grant us peace with God and man; O brilliant Cherubim, illume our minds with heavenly knowledge; O burning Seraphim, enkindle in our hearts the fire of Charity.

You shall trust the Lord God from the start
With your life and your mind and your heart;
Till you come, in His strength,
To know fully at length
Him whom now you know only in part.

HOPE

This world is a very good place
For learning to run the straight race;
For the fasting, oppressed,
And downcast shall be blessed,
And the poor shall praise God to His face.

CHARITY

Loving God must be quite understood
To mean doing as Jesus Christ would;
And because He loves man
You must do all you can
To make every one happy and good.

✠ A Sermon ✠

Preached in S. Clement's by the Rector on the Eve of S. Clement's Day, 1927.

"Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve." These words are written in the fourth chapter of the Gospel according to Saint Matthew, at the tenth verse. In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. A-men.

No doubt many of you here this evening are of that large group of people who think of this Church as one where Ritual prevails, where Ceremonial is elaborate, and who think of these things simply as the expression of an artistic temperament. Many people think that we just prefer this sort of thing, much as we might choose a plaid tweed rather than a dark blue serge for our newest suit; that there is something peculiar in us that hankers after lights and incense and colour, much as one prefers the Opera to the more popular types of music. I want to use this opportunity to disabuse your minds of any such conception. The Ceremonial, with all its accompaniments, appealing to the senses of sight, hearing and smell, is but the outward expression of our attempt to fulfil our Lord's command stated in the text, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God."

The great central fact in our holy religion is the Incarnation of the Son of God. That is, in point of time God sent forth His Son, our Lord, to take human flesh of the Virgin Mary, and to live our life, to express in human terms the Love of God; dying for us and our sins on the Cross, thus redeeming us from our fallen state. Rising again on the third day, not to the old life, but a new and glorified life, in which He now lives and reigns with His Father and the Holy Ghost from that illimitable place we call His Throne of Glory in Heaven. And the merits of His life, His death, His resurrection, and His ascended and glorified life, are still available for us—not simply the memory of them, not simply the stimulating example of them, but the very merits of His actual life and sacrifice are still available for us in the Sacraments of the Church, which we call the Extension of the Incarnation.

Thus, when we are baptized, we are actually grafted into His Body; we are made living members of His Church. Not because we have joined a society, but because we have been united to a living and glorified Christ. He raises our natural lives by virtue of the life which He infuses into us, unto a supernatural life—not an unnatural existence, but a supernatural one. This life is not bestowed and then allowed to drift along by itself, but is nourished and strengthened in the Holy Communion, our Lord's Gift of Himself in the Mass. As our physical bodies sustain the natural life by physical food, so the spiritual body is fed by our Lord's own Body and Blood. God's gift of His only-begotten Son in the Holy Eucharist, and the Offering of His Body on our Altars as the sacrifice for our own and the sins of the world, is the one acceptable worship in the sight of God, and the only one He commanded us to make. "Do this in remembrance of Me."

Tomorrow we will be gathered here at six, seven, eight, half-past nine and eleven o'clock, to offer this Holy Sacrifice, to receive our Blessed Lord in Holy Communion, to have this spiritual life given in Baptism nourished and strengthened by the Heavenly Food. To have our Christian lives quickened by this Sacramental Gift of Christ Himself, and to offer ourselves unto God this supreme act of worship which the Catholic Church, following our Lord's command, has offered for twenty centuries, and will continue to offer until all have come into the Presence of the unveiled glory of Christ.

Thus our service this evening, this singing of Vespers, this solemn procession about the Church, this great act of thanksgiving in offering our Te Deum, is not an isolated, unrelated incident of worship, but simply our preparation for tomorrow. In the offering of our Eucharist at the Altar, and in the receiving of our Holy Communion, we honor and worship God not only in prayers and praises, but by offering ourselves in union with our Lord, to our Heavenly Father, for His service and glory.

The great central act of our worship this evening has been the singing of the Magnificat, S. Mary's hymn. After she had received the promise of the Saviour by the message of the angel, she gave herself into God's hand, and "the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us." We have heard God's promise, and with Blessed Mary, we put ourselves in His hand. Tomorrow will find us here, awaiting the fulfillment of that same promise, for by the power of the Holy Ghost, God will come down and indwell our offerings of bread and wine as truly as He indwelt Mary's offering of her flesh and blood. In this Holy Sacrament we receive our Lord Jesus Christ. We dwell in Him. He dwells in us. We are in heaven, here and now, for we are with Him. So we surround our worship with all the accompaniments of Heaven's worship—songs and hymns, incense and trumpets, processions and banners, not because it is our peculiar fancy, but because it is God's way.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

It is difficult in a way to pause in the midst of the Patronal Festivities and write an appropriate message for Advent and the Christmas Season. But this necessity reminds me that the Christian Year and the Christian Life itself are both full of such sharp contrasts. In the Church Year seasons of joy follow on those of penitence, as joys and sorrows are intermingled in all lives. Yet whatever the season, whatever the individual state, God is ever sharing, comforting, forgiving, blessing!

The Patronal Feast was a brilliant one this year. With a Sunday in the Octave, the observances were more than usual. The music was exceptionally fine, the congregations well sustained throughout the feast, and the offerings above those of former years. And behind and above all this, many communions and confessions, and a spirit of reverent worship and thankfulness to God.

The preachers have given us much to think about. They have reminded us afresh of old truths by clothing them in new phrases. They have cleared the vision for us. They have told us how we can and must strengthen ourselves and the Cause for which we contend. I can only add A-men to all they have said, and promise myself to lead you in following their timely injunctions.

S. Clement's-tide should fit all for a holy and careful Advent. We need no more opportunities for worship or prayer in Church. Use those now established. The way to prepare for Mass is by coming to Mass. The way to offer your thanks for the blessings you have received at Mass is by coming to Mass. So prepare for your Christ-Mass by coming to Mass more frequently during this preparatory season. And then prepare for the New Year in grace by coming to Mass during the Christmas Octave. It may take some effort to do this, but the effort will soon be forgotten in the consciousness of the blessings gained.

Please read the Parish Notes carefully this month. It is a month of appeals. In response to the needs about you, you can find one way of showing your gratefulness to God for your blessings. There are also several suggestions for memorials which I hope some of you may be moved to accept.

"Prepare ye the Way of the Lord; make His paths straight."

Faithfully and affectionately your Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Moonbeams

What are the silent, mystic moonbeams seeking,
  That turn the cobwebs into silver lace
In that old stable where the roof is leaking,
  That straw-strewn, squalid place?
Ah, can it be their radiance is finding
  The end for which their God created them,
That shines about a little Mother minding
  A Babe in Bethlehem?

Parish Notes

THE S. CLEMENT'S DAY COLLECTION was $1,431.95. Last year it was $1,336.

THE POOR FUND COLLECTION has been postponed from the Second Sunday in Advent to the Sunday after the Epiphany. There are so many demands at this season it seemed wise to defer this special collection until after Christmas.

OFFERINGS FOR THE CHRISTMAS BASKETS and for the Christmas parties are now due, and may be sent or handed to the Sisters, marked for Sister Katharine. The Sister writes a number of personal letters, usually to those who have contributed in former years, soliciting for these funds. But we want all to have a share in this work. Do not hesitate to give because your offering must be small.

OFFERINGS FOR THE CHRISTMAS GREENS may be handed to the Rector. Any surplus there may be in this fund will be used to offset a heavy deficit in the Altar Flower Fund. The Parish makes no provision for flowers for the Altar of the Blessed Sacrament or for the Shrine. The Flower Fund provided only for the High Altar on Sundays. Twenty-five dollars will take care of the Lady Altar and Shrine for a month. A fine memorial.

NEW PRAYER BOOKS will be needed for the Church as soon as the Revised Edition is published. Five hundred copies for the pews will cost $125.00. Eight copies of a larger size, and suitable for the Clergy Stalls and for the Officiant at Offices, will cost about $50.00. Here are two more ideas for small memorials.

ON THE LAST EVENING OF THE YEAR there will be a Quiet Hour kept in the Church, followed by Benediction, for Self-examination and New Year resolutions.

A VERY HANDSOME SILVER ALMS BASIN has been given to S. Clement's by Mrs. Thomas Williams, and was used for the first time on S. Clement's Day. It was made by The Gorham Company, and is a very lovely piece of work. One of its great beauties is the medallion of S. Clement, which pictures the Saint contemplating the Lamb of God. It is a great addition to our list of treasures, and we are most grateful and appreciative of this exquisite gift.

A PAIR OF THREE-BRANCH CANDLESTICKS are being made for use in the Crypt Chapel as Bier Lights. They are the gift of Judge and Mrs. Charles VanDyke Joline and in memory of their daughter, Alice Powell. They are being made by one of our boys, Henry Schell Hagert, whose iron work is attracting wide attention.

THE CRYPT CHAPEL has been used three times during the past month for the housing of the dead before burial. We are thankful that this practice is growing amongst our people. It is a most fitting thing to do.

THE SERVICES OF THIS MONTH are as in former years. Solemn Masses on the Feasts of the Conception, S. Stephen, S. John, and The Holy Innocents, in addition to Christmas Day. The usual devotions will be observed on Christmas Eve.

The Great O's

THESE ADVENT ANTIPHONS, called The Great O's, used before and after the Magnificat at Vespers, immediately preceding Christmas, are so called because each begins with the ejaculation O. O Sapientia, the first one, and used on December 16th, is found in the Kalendar of the Prayer Book of the Church of England.

They are as follows: December 16th, O SAPIENTIA. O Wisdom, Which camest forth out of the mouth of the Most High, and reachest from one end to the other, mightily and sweetly ordering all things: Come, and teach us the way of prudence.

December 17th, O ADONAI. O Lord and Ruler of the house of Israel, Who appearedst unto Moses in a flame of fire in the bush, and gavest unto him the law in Sinai: Come, and redeem us with a stretched-out arm.

December 18th, O RADIX JESSE. O Root of Jesse, Who standest for an Ensign of the people, at Whom kings shall shut their mouths, unto Whom the Gentiles shall pray: Come, and deliver us and tarry not.

December 19th, O CLAVIS DAVID. O Key of David, and Sceptre of the house of Israel, Thou that openest, and no man shutteth, and shuttest, and no man openeth: Come, and loose the prisoner from the prison-house, and him that sitteth in darkness, and in the shadow of death.

December 20th, O ORIENS. O Orient, Brightness of the Eternal Light, and Sun of Righteousness: Come, and lighten them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death.

December 21st, O REX GENTIUM. O King of the Gentiles, and their Desire, the Corner-Stone, Who madest both one: Come, and save man, whom Thou hast made out of the dust of the earth.

December 22nd, O EMMANUEL. O Emmanuel, our King and Law-giver, the Desire of all nations, and their Saviour: Come, and save us, O Lord our God.

December 23rd, O VIRGO VIRGINUM. O Virgin of virgins, how shall this be? For neither before thee was any like thee, nor shall there be after. Daughters of Jerusalem, why marvel ye at me? The thing which ye behold is a divine mystery.

THE 1929 DUPLEX ENVELOPES will be ready for distribution Sunday, December 16th.

✠ A Sermon ✠

Preached in S. Clement's by the Rector

The Second Sunday in Lent, 1928

Last week I told you that on these Sunday mornings in Lent I would follow a type of sermon that I seldom use at the Solemn Mass—the informatory type—a sermon of instruction and information. There are many details of the Service, perfectly familiar to you, but about whose origin, meaning and use you may know but little. The way of arranging some details of the Mass were not mere happenings, but have some purpose—so the whole Service moves along smoothly, working up to its climax and leading us off then to the Blessing and its close. These sermons must needs be, of course, technical, but I will endeavor as best I can to relieve this and to make them interesting as well. I would not have any strangers with us today think that, because I am speaking about what we call acts of ceremonial and matters of ritual, that this is all we stand for or that it is any more than a mere incident in our life and practice. The Catholic Religion is something more than rites and ceremonials; it is the Faith resting upon Our Lord's Incarnate Life imparted to His Church and built upon the foundation of His Apostles and Prophets, and extended to us in the Sacraments of the Church. But these Sacraments involve certain acts and ceremonies, the use of certain material elements, the saying of official and historic prayers. There must be some proper way in which to perform these ceremonies and rites, and because they are holy things, the acts must be done carefully and reverently. The most solemn and sacred of these rites is the Mass. Along with the growth of the Liturgy have sprung up very definite ways of performing the Rite, every one of which is founded first on common sense, being the easiest and the most direct way, and they have through the ages often acquired some mystic and devotional meaning. So what I am setting out to do on these Sunday mornings is to inform and instruct and to explain the meaning of some of these points in the Mass.

Last week we considered those variable and movable parts of the Mass which are peculiar to particular days and seasons and which are called the Propers, because they are "proper" to the occasion of their use. Aside from the Collect, Epistle and Gospel to be considered later, they include the Introit, the Gradual, Tract and Sequence, the Offertory and the Communion. We saw their meaning, their origin, and their great devotional value to the Mass.

On Monday morning I received several questions in the mail, and thinking some of them might also be in the minds of others, I am incorporating the answers into this morning's sermon. I am not setting myself up to be another Dr. Cadman, to edit a question box every week; still, I would be glad to receive from members of the congregation questions pertinent to my intention, that I might have definite leads as to the things you want to know about.

The first question was about the opening of the Mass. "Why do we go directly, or seemingly so, from the Introit into the Kyries, without hearing the Summary of the Law?" If you will look in your Prayer Books at the Office for Holy Communion, you will see there are two ways in which the Rite may be opened. The newer way is that of the rehearsal of the Ten Commandments with a congregational response; while the other, reciting the passage of Scripture known as the Summary of the Law, and followed by the Kyries, is in accord with the Ancient Rites. This Summary of the Law is not meant to be a condensed form of the Ten Commandments and the Kyries a composite response to them, but it is a sort of Fixed Introit and the Kyries follow at once, as they do in all the ancient forms and in all the present Mass Rites both in East and West. But with us at S. Clement's, where the Proper Introits are sung every Sunday, it is an unnecessary and vain repetition to say the Fixed Introit after having sung the Proper one, so the Priest says it at the Altar, to satisfy the Prayer Book direction, but not loud enough to obtrude on the smoothness of the Service. Then, too, this arrangement has an opportunity for greater musical smoothness and the better covers up things that must be done. A processional hymn of such length is chosen as will not only bring the choir into their seats but will suffice unto the end of the Preparation by the Sacred Ministers at the foot of the Altar. When the hymn is finished, the Officiant is ready to cense the Altar, and it is time for the Introit to begin—at the end of the Introit the Organist plays and modulates into the Kyrie without any musical break, and during this time the music covers up the noise and confusion of the choir and congregation changing from a standing to a kneeling position. So you see this manner has both liturgical and practical value, and you will find it to be the established custom in all Catholic Parishes where attention is paid to such details. The Kyries are a very ancient part of the Mass, and no doubt antedate the Introits and seem to be a sort of shortened form of Litany of Petition. They appear in our own Prayer Book Litany. They are a separate and distinct feature of the Mass, and bear no relation to the Summary of the Law beyond that of following immediately after it.

The next question I am asked is, "Why the Holy Gospel is announced as written in the fifteenth chapter of Matthew, rather than in St. Matthew?" The Rubric says the Gospel shall be announced, "The Holy Gospel is written in the ..... chapter of ....., beginning at the ..... verse."

The official title of the first Gospel is "The Gospel according to St. Matthew." But where we refer to the Gospel in ordinary speech we refer to it as just Matthew. St. Matthew means a person, one of the Apostles, whom Our Lord called from the receipt of custom. But Matthew means the manuscript, the document, the writing which we call the Gospel. To use the full title of the Gospel as given in the Bible in announcing the Holy Gospel, one would have to announce it thus: "The Holy Gospel is written in the fifteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, beginning at the twenty-first verse." That is very awkward and redundant in the repetition of the word Gospel and not expected apparently from the wording of the Rubric and the arrangement of the blank spaces. We cannot say accurately that the Holy Gospel is written in the fifteenth chapter of Saint Matthew, for that means an individual, but Matthew alone means the Gospel St. Matthew has written. This, too, is the common practice of the Church and is the express direction in all books of ceremonial and ritual.

The history of the Creed in the Mass reads like a romance. Long before it was known as the Creed, its predecessor, known as the Apostles' Creed, was called "The Symbol," because it was supposed to be the joint composition of all the Apostles, each having contributed a phrase, beginning with St. Peter and ending with St. Matthias. In its earliest days, the Creed was a sort of "pass-word" that admitted the elect to the Christian gatherings for the Mass and corporate acts of worship in the Early Church. The Creed was not committed to writing, so that there could be no danger of its falling into pagan hands. But when the fundamental truths of the Faith were being assaulted and the Arian heresy began to gather numbers, the Council of Nicaea was called in 325. Arius held that there was an intermediate being, who was less than God, yet the divine organ of the creation of the world, more like the gods of Plato. What really condemned him was the fact that from logical necessity his theory precluded the possibility of the Son being co-eternal with the Father. The Nicene Creed was formed from the Apostles' Creed as a basis and a starting point, and if you will compare the two you will readily see how the former is an elaboration of the latter, except for the addition of the phrase, which forever refutes Arianism and proclaims the only begotten Son to be of one substance with the Father.

The Nicene Creed immediately became a part of the Divine Liturgy in the East, where these innumerable speculative heresies were arising and where it was necessary for the Church to definitely proclaim Her Faith. It was fully 150 years later before a Creed appeared in the Western Church's use at Mass, and then it was the Creed of Constantine. Its need in the West was not felt, for there were never evident in the West the intellectual and theological attacks on the Faith of the Church as there were in the East. It was first sung as a hymn in the Mass about the eleventh century, and has since that period been considered a hymn of praise of victory in the Mass rather than a formula of Faith. So great a veneration has the Russian Church for the Creed that the great bell of the Kremlin tolls the entire time of its chanting. In the Masses which are said in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem, which are always Masses of the Resurrection, instead of saying simply, "was crucified, dead, and buried," it is of obligation to add the adverb "here" and say "was buried here," by way of specification of place.

The Creed is said on all Sundays in the year in memory of Our Lord's Resurrection on that day, and also out of deference to the Adorable Trinity, to whom Sunday, as being the principal liturgical day, is dedicated. During the rest of the week, as a rule, the Creed is not said. It is of interest to know that St. Mary Magdalene is the only female Saint in Heaven—Blessed Mary alone excepted—who enjoys the privilege of having the Creed in her Mass, and this because, in the language of the Church, she is styled "the Apostle of Apostles," for it was to her, as the Scriptures testify, that Our Lord first appeared after His Resurrection. The Creed is always said on all Feasts of Our Lord, the Apostles, the Blessed Virgin Mary, and on the days commemorating the Doctor Theologians of the Church who gave their lives to the defense and exposition of the Church's Faith as it is defined in the historic Creeds.

The Prayer Book rubric for the Creed in the Mass is a curious one, for it does not even require its use on Sunday. It demands the Nicene Creed on five days only—Christmas, Easter, Ascension, Pentecost and the Sunday following, known with us as Trinity Sunday. On all other days, if the Apostles' Creed has been said immediately before in Morning Prayer, the Creed may be omitted in the Mass. At S. Clement's we use the Creed in the Mass on all days required by the ancient custom and age-long use in the Church which includes all the Prayer Book requirements. The Prayer Book is really a wonderful book in the way all Catholic precedents and essentials are included in it, and as one studies it, he is surprised and impressed to find how thoroughly and essentially Catholic it is! With the Creed considered as a hymn of praise, it would be inappropriate at all Masses of penitence and mourning, so it is not said on Ash Wednesday for the same reason that it is not said at Requiem Masses, and it is not said at the weekday Masses in Lent for the same reason that it is not said on weekdays outside of Lent, except when the nature of the day requires the joyful and triumphant note of the Ancient Creed.

The Gloria-in-Excelsis is another variable part of the Mass; it, too, is a hymn of praise to the Adorable Trinity, and is called the Major Doxology, while the Glory Be to the Father is known as the Minor Doxology. The Gloria-in-Excelsis is used always when the vestments are white or red, except at Votive Masses, and then it is used only at Votive Masses of the Angels, since it is the Angelic Chorus, and at Masses of the Blessed Virgin Mary on Saturday which the Church has ever used as a special day for special commemoration of the Holy Mother of God.

The Gloria is also used on Sundays when the Vestments are green. The Gloria seems to have been known exactly as it is now by the time of the Council of Nicaea in 325. For a long time it was used only at a Bishop's Mass, and then after that was allowed to Priests only by a special faculty. It never appears in the Liturgy of the East, even today. There was a time when the Bishop of Bethlehem insisted on using it at all times, even at Masses for the Dead, and this he insisted for the reason that an exception should be made in case of the City where the Sacred Anthem had first been heard.

The Prayer Book does not require it at any time, not even on Christmas. A hymn may be substituted at the discretion of the Priest. But here again we take the Prayer Book's all-inclusiveness and follow the ancient custom and age-long use of the Church. With the deferred Ablutions in the general practice of the English Church and the Episcopal Church in America, the Gloria-in-Excelsis has acquired a false value. This can best be shown by the fact that the only other place where it appears in the Prayer Book is in the Office of Evening Prayer, where, according to the rubric, it may be sung instead of the Gloria Patri at the end of the whole selection of the Psalms. Here we see the age-long tradition and practice of the Church continued in preserving the designation of the Gloria-in-Excelsis as a Major Doxology and the Gloria Patri as the Minor.

As I said last Sunday, there is no opportunity for a Catholic Priest to be individualistic and self-pleasing—he has the tradition and custom of the Church to follow, and this must be his precedent and his prejudice as well. In times past many customs and practices have been introduced to conciliate people in order to confirm them in the more important and essential elements of the Faith, and it is only in recent years that any thorough study of Liturgics has been made with an eye to adapting the ancient customs to the English Rite. These casual and thoughtless customs of the past have become to many minds the law of the Medes and the Persians, so any one who attempts to restore what is really ancient and historic and Catholic must suffer patiently the charges of innovator and of being the victim of whims and fancies.

For all that I have said last Sunday and today and for whatever I may say on the following Sundays in Lent, I can point to all authoritative books on the Mass, its history and customs, that have ever been written, in the East or in the West, by Greek, Roman or Anglican, as my sole authority. When once you understand these things and learn to really love the Mass as the center of your devotional life and the meeting place with your Lord, you will appreciate how all these points, large and small, are the results of the spiritual and devotional life and experience of the Church and Her Saints throughout the ages, and never the passing whims and fancies of any Parish or Priest.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:

Let my first word to you in the new year be one of sincerest wish that the months of 1929 may be filled with spiritual joy and happiness for you all. What the year may have in store for us, we do not know. Yet we do know where we may always find our Blessed Lord, and how we may ever keep close to Him. With Him, we can be confident and bold in stepping into the uncertainties of the new year.

There have been mistakes and lapses in the past year. We have confessed them and received Absolution. I would remind you that you show your sorrow for all that is past not only by confessing your sins, but also by the eagerness and zeal with which you take the Grace of Absolution and try to do better in the future. The New Year affords a time for a new beginning. It is an occasion for conversion. We are not converted once. We should be converted every day. We are converted every time we approach the Sacraments. We are converted every time we resolve to do better. Let this new year be one dedicated to more earnest prayer, to more faithful meditation, to more intelligent reading of the Bible, for more regular attendance at Mass, for greater frequency at Holy Communion. It will, then, be a New Year. A year of new spiritual joy and experience in the Lord. So few know what the Catholic Religion and the Sacramental Life is capable of, because so few have really tested it.

The Season of Epiphany is very short this year. The last Sunday in January is Septuagesima. Lent comes very early this year. There is no time to dawdle. Improve each opportunity. Seek God's grace, so that now knowing the Incarnation of His Son by the message of an Angel, by the worship of Bethlehem, by the testimony of Blessed Mary and S. Joseph, you may be prepared by His Cross and Passion for a joyful Resurrection in the happy feast of Easter.

May God bless you and keep you. May S. Mary, S. Joseph and all God's holy Saints pray for you. May His Angels guard and defend you.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Prayer for the Church Unity Octave

Ant.—One Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God and Father of all, Who is above all, and through all, and in you all.

V.—In that day there shall be one Lord:

R.—And His Name One.

O Lord Jesus Christ, Who saidst unto Thine Apostles, Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you; regard not our sins, but the faith of Thy Church, and grant her that peace and unity which is agreeable to Thy will, Who livest and reignest for ever and ever. Amen.

Parish Notes

THE MASSES ON FRIDAY after the first Wednesday in each month are offered for the members of the Women's Auxiliary and the Missionary work of the Church. It should be a day of corporate communion for the women of the Parish.

DEAN NUTTER of Nashotah House will be the preacher at the Solemn Mass on Sunday the 20th. He comes this year, not to beg, but to tell of the work that is being done in preparing men for Holy Orders. Of course he will not refuse any offerings that may be made! The Parish is giving seven hundred dollars this year from the Yarnall Fund towards the support of three young men at Nashotah.

THE ANNUAL COLLECTION FOR THE POOR FUND will be received on the Sunday after the Epiphany, which happens this year to be the Octave Day. All the loose offerings of this collection will be for the Poor Fund. Your most generous participation is urged.

THE CHURCH UNITY OCTAVE begins on January 18th and closes on the Feast of the Conversion of S. Paul. Church Unity will be the intention of all the Masses during this period, and the special prayers for Unity will be recited after Vespers every evening.

THE CATHOLIC CLUB will meet at S. Clement's on Tuesday, January 8th. There will be a Low Mass with Carols at eleven in the Chapel. The Bishop will be the guest of honor at the luncheon. There will be an election of officers at the business meeting.

THE MASSES on Monday, January 28th, will be Requiems, commemorating the sixth anniversary of Father Quin's burial. The Masses on the 30th will be Month's Mind Requiems for Katharine Ashton Taylor, Emily Thompson Penrose and Elisabeth Livingston Kelley.

THE ANNUAL PROCESSION OF ACOLYTES and the Festival Vespers in the Octave of S. Vincent will be on Septuagesima Night. The Servers and a number of the young men of the Parish will be entertained in the Clergy House at supper before the service.

AT THE SOLEMN MASS on Christmas Day, the three days following, the Sunday in the Octave, the Feast of the Circumcision, and on the Epiphany, the Deacon and Sub-Deacon were both S. Clement's young men in Deacon's Orders. Capt. Harrison is Headmaster of The Valley Forge Military Academy, and the Reverend Mr. Edwards is completing his course at Nashotah. Both hope to receive Priest's Orders in June, and it is hoped that the Reverend Mr. Edwards will join the staff at S. Clement's.

THE REVEREND HENRY J. SAUNDERS, who spent some time with the Holy Cross Mission in Liberia, is in residence at the Clergy House between Sundays, to assist in the Parish work until June. Fr. Saunders has Sunday duties on Long Island, but will give his week days to S. Clement's, and be in charge of the Choir Boys and this year's Confirmation Class.

THE BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE has appointed Wednesday evening, February 20th, for his annual visitation to administer the Sacrament of Holy Confirmation. Any persons looking forward to this Sacrament should communicate at once with either one of the Priests or one of the Sisters.

THE CHRISTMAS BASKETS were a joy to behold. How gratified the members of the Parish would have been, not only to see the baskets, but to have seen the happy faces and grateful hearts that received them. The only real joy in many homes was that brought by the baskets and the presents that came from the Parish. Small baskets of fruit and dainties were sent to all the shut-ins.

FATHER ALLEN, Chaplain of the City Institutions at Byberry, will be the speaker at the Women's Auxiliary on the first Wednesday afternoon. Again it is called to your attention that all baptized women are members of the Auxiliary, and the attendance at these monthly meetings should be three or four times what it is. There are no "drives" for money at these meetings. They are informative and inspirational.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB, composed of the members of the Girls' Club and the Servers' Guild, are rehearsing for several one-act plays, which they hope to present some time before Lent. The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the Parish Quota for Missions.

THE RECTOR has been appointed by the Bishop to membership in the Field Department. This Department arranges ways and means to assist the Parishes in meeting their Missionary Quota. He will have to work harder with his own Parish!

The Manner of Assisting at Low Mass

According to the Rubrics of the Missal, all assisting at Low Mass should kneel during the whole service, except at the Gospel. Custom, however, has modified the law as follows:

1. When the Celebrant enters the sanctuary, at the ringing of the Sacristy bell, all should rise. They remain standing until the Priest descends from the Altar to begin Mass, at the Preparation, when all should kneel.
2. They remain kneeling until the Gospel. As the Server ascends to place the Missal on the left side of the Altar, all should rise and remain standing during the Gospel (and during the Creed, should it be said), until the Celebrant says, "The Lord be with you."
3. While the Priest is making the announcements, or preaching, the people should be seated.
4. Should the Creed be said, the congregation genuflect with the Priest at the words, "and was incarnate, * * * * and was made man."

5. After "The Lord be with you," all sit or kneel until the Sanctus, when all should kneel and thus remain during the Priest's Communion and also during the Communion of the Faithful, should there be any to receive.
6. When the Priest receives the first ablution, any may sit who care to do so.
7. All kneel, however, as soon as the Priest goes to the Missal.
8. After the Blessing, all rise and stand during the last Gospel, genuflecting at "And the Word was made flesh."
9. Not until the Priest has retired from the Sanctuary should any person leave the Church or his place therein. The extinguishing of the candles is not a part of the Mass.

How to Use the Bible

When in sorrow, read John 14.
When men fail you, read Psalm 27.
When you have sinned, read Psalm 51.
When you worry, read Matthew 6: 19-34.
Before church service, read Psalm 84.
When you are in danger, read Psalm 91.
When you have the blues, read Psalm 34.
When God seems far away, read Psalm 139.
When you are discouraged, read Isaiah 40.
If you want to be fruitful, read John 15.
When doubts come upon you, try John 7: 17.
When you are lonely or fearful, read Psalm 23.
When you forget your blessings, read Psalm 103.
For Jesus' idea of a Christian, read Matthew 5.
For Jesus' idea of religion, read James 1: 19-27.
When your faith needs stirring, read Hebrews 11.
When you feel down and out, read Romans 8: 31-39.
When you want courage for your task, read Joshua 1.
When the world seems bigger than God, read Psalm 90.
When you want rest and peace, read Matthew 11: 25-30.
When you want Christian assurance, read Romans 8: 1-30.
For Paul's secret of happiness, read Colossians 3: 12-17.
When you leave home for labor or travel, read Psalm 121.
When you grow bitter or critical, read 1 Corinthians 13.
When your prayers grow narrow or selfish, read Psalm 67.
For Paul's idea of Christianity, read 2 Corinthians 5: 15-19.
For Paul's rules on how to get along with men, Romans 12.
When you think of investments and returns, Mark 10: 17-31.
For a great invitation and a great opportunity, Isaiah 55.
For Jesus' idea of prayer, Luke 11: 1-13; Matthew 6: 5-15.
For the prophet's picture of worship that counts, Isaiah 58: 1-12.
For the prophet's idea of religion, Isaiah 1: 10-18; Micah 6: 6-8.
Why not follow Psalm 119: 11, and hide some of these in your memory?—Prof. Harris Franklin Rall.

Epiphany Devotions

VISITS TO THE CRECHE

Christ's Crib

Lord Jesus Christ, to Thee I give
This narrow heart. O canst Thou live
Within its mean and straitened bound,
And in its shallowness be found?

* * * * *

O heart, I love, be not afraid,
Within a Manger I was laid.

* * * * *

Come, then, Thou meek and gentle Lord,
Dwell in me, O Eternal Word.

—Fr. Hollings.

A Visit to the New-Born Jesus, to Thank Him for All His Love

SWEET BABE OF BETHLEHEM, I offer Thee my poor heart to be Thy home. I know, dear Lord, how unfit it is for Thy royal abode; but sanctify my whole being for Thyself; and, since Thou hast come, as it were, once more to die for me, grant that I may be born anew to live for Thee. Amen.

A Visit to Jesus for Those With Whom We Live

O DIVINE INFANT JESUS, our great Example and our Strength, give me grace so to follow Thy example of holy living that I may help all those with whom I live on their path to heaven. Pardon me all the harm I have done by my bad example, and help me truly to amend. O sweet Infant Jesus, bless the household in which I live, bless every member of it, and grant that we may all live in sanctity and love, like Jesus, Mary, and Joseph, in the holy home of Nazareth. Amen.

A Visit to the Infant Jesus in Company with the Shepherds

O SWEET INFANT JESUS, Who didst choose poverty for Thyself and for Thy Holy Mother, teach me to love it and to practice it according to my condition in life. Help the poor to value the treasure of their poverty, and help the rich to render themselves poor as far as Thou dost require such sacrifices from them. O most poor Jesus, may we desire only what Thou givest, and use it only for Thy glory. Amen.

A Visit to the Infant Jesus in Company with the Kings

O SWEET INFANT JESUS, Who hast been so generous to us, help us to be generous to Thee. Help us to give, lovingly and freely, all that we can. Ah, Lord, we shall never regret in heaven having done too much for Thee on earth. Give us grace no longer to act as if we feared doing too much for Thee. Oh, speak to our hearts, and change our hearts, and warm our hearts, in these visits to the Crib, until they become like Thine. Amen.

✠ A Sermon ✠

Preached in S. Clement's by the Rector
The Third Sunday in Lent, 1928

It has been in my mind for a long time to give such a series of sermons as I am presenting this Lent. Both last Sunday and the Sunday before I began with an apologetic note, for I have been deterred in carrying out this purpose because I felt it was not quite appropriate and congruous with the Mass to interject a sermon of instruction and explanation. But now so many people have spoken appreciatively of my intention and efforts and have been led to understand the Mass better and approach it with greater devotion and reverence, that I am bold to carry on the series throughout the balance of Lent.

The past two Sundays we have thought about various aspects of the Mass as a Rite, and of the Altar Ritual. Today I am going to explain some of the things that you are to do in connection with your Church attendance and your worship of Almighty God, for when you come here on the Lord's Day, you come to the Lord's Service, and I trust you come to perform it in the Lord's way.

As you enter the doors of the Church, you see small stoups or basins of holy water in the corner. Into these you dip your fingers and sign yourself with the sign of the Cross in the name of the Holy Trinity. Water is a cleanser and a purifier, and its first symbolism is that of cleansing your mind and heart of all worldly thoughts and making them pure and worthy to approach God. It is also reminiscent of your baptism, which marked your entrance into the Church and the family of God; so now when you re-enter from time to time the building which stands as the visible evidence of His Church on earth, the water with which you bless yourself reminds you of your baptism, whereby you have been saved, like Noah and his family from perishing, by water.

This use of water at the entrance to the temple is pagan in origin. It may be a survival of a day when worshippers cleansed their hands before entering the presence of their God to offer their gifts in sacrifice. The use of water with the pagans was very general, for water to them was a symbol of life, as it bubbled out of the earth in springs, and the Druids always used such spots on which to build their temples. The Cathedral of Salisbury in England is built over an old Druid temple, and the ancient spring is still gurgling in the Cathedral Crypt. Blessed water is used quite generally for blessings—the candles on Candlemas, the ashes on Ash Wednesday, the palms on Palm Sunday, the new fire on Holy Saturday, and for the blessing of all articles used at the Altar and as objects of devotion. So, if thus used, why should we not use it to bless ourselves? There is nothing imperative in its use, nor would I say there was any perceptible loss of grace in not using it. It is no test of Catholicity, but a helpful aid in the devotion of mind and heart to a spirit of worship.

When you have entered the church and blessed yourself, you should come at once to your seat in the pew. Conversation in the corridors before Mass is not conducive to reverence and recollection—it annoys people who are already in Church trying to say their prayers, and it is very distracting to the Clergy, who are intent upon the Service they are about to perform. There will be ample opportunity to see your friends and talk to the Clergy after the Mass, when all are free.

As you come into the Church, there will be some mark of reverence for you to offer Him whom you come to worship. The Altar whereon the holy gifts are offered and from which the Holy Communion is given, is God's Throne. It is the Altar you will reverence, not the Cross upon it. Women and girls make their reverence by slightly bending the right knee and lowering the body a little—a sort of "bob" or courtsey. Men and boys do not bend the knee, but with knees perfectly rigid make a slight bow. These two ways are peculiar to the two sexes, and are never used interchangeably. Women must never bow, men must never bob. But when the Blessed Sacrament is on the Altar, then all alike, both men and women, bend the right knee to touch the floor, as they genuflect to the Sacred Presence—not now to the Altar, for the Gift which is greater than the Altar and which sanctifies the Altar, is there. You reverence Jesus really present, at whose Name every knee shall bow. But when you genuflect, do not bend the body or incline the head—keep the head and body erect. The act of reverence is in the bending of the knee.

You now enter your pew and, if you are the first to come into it, go up to the end, so that those who come later do not have to crowd and pile over you. You know what name is applied to people who insist on occupying aisle seats in public conveyances!

As soon as you are settled in your seat, you are ready to say your private prayers. I would suggest the Our Father, Hail Mary, and the Collect for Purity at the beginning of the Mass. After this rise again to your seat and use the time until the Mass begins by reading Psalms or thoughtfully and reverently going over the hymns that are to be sung in the Service. Here are a few minutes which are wasted by the majority of people. There is no devotional value in gazing around to see who is here, nor in the repeated acts of adjusting the hair and arranging cravats. But the Psalms, the Collect, Epistle and Gospel for the Day will keep you in that attitude of devotion which was begun in the blessing with holy water and the saying of your prayers. When people say they have no time for prayer and meditation, I always suggest coming early to Church and using this period of waiting in acts of devotion. It would be an excellent time to make a weekly visit to the Blessed Sacrament and spend fifteen minutes there before Mass begins. During Christmastide one is touched by the great numbers who visit the Creche before and after Mass. If this devotion before a mere symbol of our Lord's Presence, why not at least the same deference to His Real Presence?

In the Mass we stand for hymns of praise while the Altar is censed, at the Offertory while the Priest presents the mystic gifts which are to become the Body and Blood of Christ, and when our Lord Himself speaks to us in the words of His Holy Gospels. It is for this reason that it is appropriate to stand for the Last Gospel, which some few of you do and which I would be happy to see become a Parish custom. The congregation sits for the reading of the Epistle. It is sung, without any modulation of the voice save at the end, by the Sub-Deacon, facing the Altar. This act of the congregation sitting and the Sub-Deacon facing the Altar are simply to emphasize the subordination of the Old Testament and the Epistles to the Gospels, which are the very words of our Lord Himself—for at the Gospel the congregation all stand to hear our Lord speak, and the Deacon reads the Gospel towards the North. Mystically this reading of the Gospel at the North is to remind us of the translation of the Word of God from the Jews represented by the Epistle side, to the Gentiles represented by the Gospel side, in accordance with what is said by Ss. Paul and Barnabas in the Book of the Acts of the Apostles: "To you it behooved us first to speak the Word of God: but because you reject it and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, behold, we turn to the Gentiles," and towards the North to show that the preaching of our Lord was especially directed against the Devil who says in the Book of Isaiah, "I will establish my seat in the north and will be like the Most High." You stand for the Holy Gospel, not only out of respect for the sacred words of our Divine Lord, but also to testify to your readiness to follow out all that the Gospel teaches. Before the Holy Gospel, at its announcement, all sign themselves three times with the sign of the Cross—using the thumb, on the forehead, the lips and the breast. When the Deacon kneels to receive the Officiant's blessing before the procession leaves the Altar, the Officiant says, "The Lord be in thy heart and upon thy lips, that thou mayest worthily proclaim the Gospel in the Name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost." So you, when the Holy Gospel is announced, must be prepared to hear and receive the words of the Holy Gospel in the same manner as the Deacon proclaims them. So you say:

"On my forehead, lips and breast,
Thrice I mark the Holy Sign:
Father, Son and Spirit blest,
Thoughts and words and deeds be Thine."

In the Creed all kneel at the phrase that proclaims the Incarnation: "And was incarnate by the Holy Ghost of the Virgin Mary, and was made man." This is to call more intimately to mind the profound humility of our Divine Lord in coming upon earth for our sakes and taking our nature upon Him. At Low Mass where the Creed is said and at High Mass when the Creed is sung to a short and simple musical setting, all should stand. But when the music is prolonged and the singing of the Creed takes on the nature and character of an anthem, then I should say any who wanted to sit down were perfectly free to do so, and as reverent as those who remain standing. The Sacred Ministers finish the Creed immediately after the "Incarnatus est" and take their seats. When they sit, others who have said the remainder of the Creed may sit also. I certainly think no one should feel bound to stand—the aged, the infirm, the unwell, I would suggest that they sit. To the rest, I would say, do whatever is most conducive to your own reverence and devotion. I would not say that to sit was more than Protestant, nor to stand less than Catholic. In this, as in all similar matters, a legalistic formalism I consider Protestant—it is the freedom of the spirit that makes for true Catholicity.

At the end of the Creed all sign themselves with the Cross. As I told you last Sunday, the Creed, in ancient days, was known as the Symbol. So after thus reciting publicly the formal Symbol of the Church's Faith, we make it our own, we appropriate it to ourselves, we give public testimony to our acceptance of its truths, by marking ourselves with the Sacred Symbol and sign of our Redemption, the Cross of our Lord Jesus Christ.

The sign of the Cross is made by touching the forehead, breast, left and right shoulder, and saying, "In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, Amen." When you touch the forehead, you say, "In the name of the Father"; when you touch the breast, "Of the Son"; and as you pass the hand from the left to the right shoulder, you conclude by saying, "And of the Holy Ghost, Amen." The right hand is always used, and after touching the right shoulder is dropped and not used to touch the breast again, as many do incorrectly.

This brings us about to the point where we are now in the Mass today, and where I must close the instruction for today.

Next Sunday, God willing, we will begin at this point and carry on to the end of the Rite—and I will have something to say then about the manner of receiving Holy Communion. I hope this simple explanation of the meaning behind the use of these several acts and signs of devotion may intensify your reverence as you follow them in the Mass and make them a part of your worship, for it is only the devotion and worship in your heart that makes them an expression of your love for God and an acceptable offering to Him. The High Churchman is one who follows these customs because they are pretty and because he wants to be "outre," but to the Catholic Christian they are but the outward and visible signs of the inward and spiritual grace which is his by virtue of his Sacramental union with his Divine Lord.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

The Church and her members are always very much in need of Lent. Each year brings special problems to call forth your prayer, fasting and alms-giving. The problem of world peace, the Missionary program of the Church, the moving of our buildings, call forth our renewed sense of dependence on Almighty God. Let there be no chafing at the thought of the restrictions of the season and the gravity of the weeks before you. We need that right judgment on the problems before us which God alone can give; and as soon as you dispose yourself in body, mind and spirit to await Him you already begin to rejoice in His holy comfort.

It is time you began to feel your corporate life more than in the past. Resolve to be "all with one accord in one place." That ideal is more easily realized in S. Clement's than in most places. This is not a Church of a locality, but a company drawn together from many localities by the possession of a common mind. S. Clement's is the most convenient church for hardly anybody; most people have passed several churches before they come in sight of our Church-yard.

Our voluntary union here then means a common faith in an uncommon degree, and that is a great power; the possession of a common faith in an uncommon degree is plainly one of the greatest powers in the world. I am hoping that you will exercise this power during Lent in common thanksgiving, common worship and common prayer. In doing so you will come to see things in true proportion, find yourselves putting first things first, and make the contribution to the present situation in the world and in the Church which God desires you to make.

If you are going to do this your Lent must be a real sacrifice. If your Lent is to be a help to the Church it must cost a good deal. You must fast in a variety of ways. You must keep the Church's rule in this matter. Fasting and Abstinence on Wednesdays and Fridays, and such fasting on other days as may be within your strength is the very least you must aim for.

You can well discipline your reading. Determine what you will try to read with profit in Lent. This does not involve confining yourself to the "Whole Duty of Man" or to Harvey's "Meditations among the Tombs." But it does mean avoiding the books which Lucy hid under Lydia Languish's sofa cushions on the approach of Mrs. Malaprop, Prebendy Mackay quaintly quotes in a Parish Letter. It does mean reading fewer magazines and newspapers, and it does mean reading big books instead of little ones, and books which are first-rate ones of their kind.

To every one who asks me to recommend a book for Lenten reading, I shall suggest the Bible. And you must do more than skim over a page of the Gospels. You hear the Gospels read in the Church so often without any comment, that you need to study and ponder them until the stories come to life in your heart and brain. For this you will need some help, and Bishop Gore's new one volume Commentary is what you need.

Then comes the difficulty of "finding the time." The people who have the greatest difficulty in "finding the time" are always the people who have the whole of their time at their disposal. I suggest that you bring your books to Church, to the Chapel, and spend a half hour here working away at the Gospels. You might get back the habit of meditation, or learn it if you have never had it.

A sacrificial Lent will be a Lent in which trouble is taken to make such devout engagements, a Lent for which a rule has been made and in which generous alms are given. Such a Lent will certainly be a Lent of increased communions, and there will be no further progress of the Catholic revival until the men and women who sympathize with it have learned to be regular and frequent communicants.

A Lenten Rule? Make your confessions. Increase your communions. Be present at Mass as often as possible. Attend a Sunday and a week-day series of Sermons. Secure regular times of prayer and Bible study. Add private self-discipline to your observance of the Church's rule of Lenten abstinence. Discipline your reading and your recreation. Give alms. Do acts of kindness.

And may this be a holy Lent, and a profitable Lent for us all, Priests and people together.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

A Mass Note

Before the blessing, when the Gloria in Excelsis has not been said, the Priest says, "Let us bless the Lord;" and when the Gloria and Excelsis has been said, the Priest says, "Depart in peace." The response of the congregation to these salutations is the same, "Thanks be to God."

While the Offertory is introduced by "The Lord be with you" and "Let us pray," the congregation should remain standing while the Offertory is said, and this is especially so at a High Mass, when a hymn is sung and the Altar is censed.

The responses at the beginning of the Last Gospel are the same as for the Holy Gospel in the Mass. At the end is said, "Thanks be to God."

Father Field, S.S.J.E.

The Reverend Charles Neale Field, a Mission Priest of the Society of St. John the Evangelist, and for many years attached to S. Clement's Church, died in Boston on Monday evening, January 14th.

Father Field was born in Reading, England, in 1849, and was ordained to a curacy in Plymton, a suburb of Plymouth. After he had completed his novitiate with the Cowley Fathers at Oxford, he came to America with Father Maturin to join Father Prescott, who was the Rector of this Parish. Father Field was here at S. Clement's from 1880 to 1891. When Father Maturin returned to England in 1887, Father Convers was made Rector. His poor health forced his early return to England, and so during these last four years of the Cowley Fathers tenure at S. Clement's Father Field was the Priest-in-Charge.

Father Field was especially well known in his early days here in Philadelphia for his famous Guild of the Iron Cross. Members flocked into the Guild from all over the country, and for many years Father Field published a small paper for the Guild. He was a great lover of souls, and he labored hard to secure ease and comfort and rights for men's bodies. He was one of the pioneers in this city to secure the Saturday half-holiday, and after his return to Boston he gave his life work to the colored race. Father Field's great work was in the human touch, the gentle sympathetic feeling and spirit, which more nearly approaches the Love of God than any other earthly quality.

Father Joiner went on to Boston for the Burial Requiem in St. John's Church and for the interment in Mount Vernon Cemetery. The Bishops of Massachusetts were present in S. John's for the Solemn Mass, and said the Offices for the Dead.

The Monday after the burial a Solemn Requiem Mass was sung in S. Clement's Church, followed by the Absolutions at the Catafalque. A large congregation assisted at this Mass, practically all of whom had known Father Field during his long past ministry in Philadelphia.

Of your Charity pray for the Repose of his Soul.
May he rest in peace.

PREFACE

These rhymes are designed by a priest
To affect your religion like yeast:
If they help it to grow,
Like the yeast in the dough,
There'll be one better Christian at least.

PRAYER

There was a wise man who said, "Prayer
Is as simple as breathing the air,
If you always recall
Whatsoever befall,
That your Heavenly Father is there."

Parish Notes

FATHER WAGENSELLER has returned from the Hospital and is staying with his family in Sunbury. He hopes to be able to resume his duties by Ash Wednesday.

OUR SYMPATHY goes out to Father Smith and our many other friends at the Valley Forge Military Academy, which was recently destroyed by fire. No one was injured. The school has already reconvened at Wayne, where they will finish the school year. The Reverend Charles H. Harrison has resigned as Head Master and has resumed his studies at the Divinity School. He will continue to assist us on Sundays.

SOME SIXTY OF THE MEN of the parish were guests of the Rector at a Buffet Supper in the Clergy House before the Festival Vespers in honor of S. Vincent on Septuagesima night.

THE ANNUAL RETREAT for Men has been moved ahead this year from the eve of Passion Sunday to the eve of the First Sunday in Lent. We are very happy in announcing that Father Gavin, Professor of Ecclesiastical History at the General Theological Seminary in New York, will give the meditations. His subject will be "Temptation." The Quiet Evening opens with Vespers at five, and closes with Compline at nine. A light supper will be served in the Parish House.

FATHER EWING has returned for several week-ends to help us in the Sunday Masses during the shortage in the Clergy Staff. His many friends always give him a hearty welcome.

FATHER KELLOGG, OF BRISTOL, RHODE ISLAND, and Dean Nutter, of Nashotah, have been recent guests in the Clergy House. Over three hundred dollars has been sent to Nashotah since the Dean's sermon.

PLANS FOR THE MOVING OF THE CHURCH, Parish House and Clergy House are well under way. It is expected that this work will be transacted this summer. There will be no architectural change in any of the buildings. They will be moved west about thirty-six feet. The whole operation may not last more than four months.

THE RECTOR went to Boston for the funeral of Father Field of the Society of S. John the Evangelist. Father McDonald of the Society represented the Society at the Solemn Requiem in S. Clement's the Monday after Father Field's burial.

And not spending any on God."

Parish Notes

THE CANDLEMAS PROCESSION will follow First Vespers of the Purification on Friday evening, closing with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Blessed Candles will be available after all the services during the week. There will be a Solemn Mass on the Feast Day.

S. BLASE'S DAY falls on Sexagesima Sunday this year. Throats will be blessed after all the Masses at the High Altar, and after Vespers in the evening at the Lady Altar.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB, made up of members of the Girls' Club and the Servers' Guild, will give several one-act plays in the Parish House on Wednesday evening, the sixth, at a quarter past eight o'clock. The proceeds of the evening's entertainment will be given as an offering to Missions.

THE CONFESSION HOURS ON SHROVE TUESDAY will be as usual, from ten to twelve in the morning, three to five in the afternoon, and from seven to nine in the evening.

IN ADDITION TO THE REGULAR DAILY MASSES there will be a Low Mass at six on Ash Wednesday, and a Solemn Mass at eleven. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given at four, and Solemn Vespers will be sung at eight in the evening. There will be preaching at eleven, four and at eight.

THE WEDNESDAY EVENING service will not be resumed this Lent. Instead Benediction will follow the Stations, after a short sermon on Friday evening.

THE RECTOR will conduct a devotional hour Tuesdays in Lent, beginning at half-past three o'clock. This service will be in S. John's Chapel.

THE BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE will visit the Parish Wednesday evening, the twentieth, for the Sacrament of Confirmation. It is hoped that a large congregation will show their interest in the Confirmands and their respect for the Bishop by being present at this Visitation.

A Sermon

Preached in S. Clement's by the Rector, Mid-Lent Sunday, 1928

S. Clement's is noted for its ritual and ceremonial. As soon as its name is mentioned, eyebrows are lifted with knowing expression and in an audible whisper we hear "high church." The term "high church" has come to describe those who use forms and ceremonies without understanding their meaning and without practicing the sacramental life of which they are but an outward expression. While S. Clement's as a Parish may have to suffer the designation of "high church," I would have none who belong here deserving of that title. To this end I am devoting my Sunday morning sermons in Lent to these matters of ritual and ceremonial practice, that you all may know their origin and meaning—the more important things that lie behind them and give them their devotional value.

This is the Fourth Sunday on which I have followed the type of sermon we may call explanatory, informational or instructive. We have during the series thought of the Mass Rite and its constituent parts, the ceremonies of the Altar and of the various devotional acts of the Worshipper. It was with this latter that we dealt last Sunday, and when the sermon had finished we had brought the worshipper to just this point, where we are now in the Ceremonies of the Mass.

The Offertory follows immediately upon the Sermon—The Priest at the Altar turns to salute the people with the "Dominus vobiscum" or "The Lord be with you," words taken from the Old Testament where we see them employed on various occasions. It was used by Gabriel when he came to the Blessed Virgin Mary as the angel of the Annunciation, "Hail, thou that art highly favored, the Lord is with thee." This form of salutation is used in the Mass at those points where the people are to be called especially to the attention of what is about to be done and to draw them to an active participation in the Service of the Altar, and, is, technically, a call for the congregation to stand. It occurs before the Collect of the Day, to which all should attend. Before the announcing of the Holy Gospel, which being the very words of our Blessed Lord, demands our strict attention; before the Offertory, when you, as well as the Priest, are to make your offering before God; before the Sursum Corda, which marks the beginning of the Canon and leads one immediately into the Sanctus, with which you join Angels and Archangels and all the Company of Heaven in singing; then again the Dominus is used before the Post Communion prayers, which embody your thanks for the offering now consummated and for the Holy Communion received; and before the final blessing, when you are to be alert to receive God's special blessing of peace, pronounced by His Priest. The final use of "The Lord be with you" is before the Last Gospel, where its use is the same as before the Holy Gospel in the Mass.

After the people's response "And with thy spirit," the Priest proceeds with the Proper Offertory and the Offertory Hymn is sung while the Priest makes the oblation at the Altar and the collection or offering of the people is received. During this period the Altar and oblation are both censed, the Priest, the Choir and the Congregation. The mystical meaning and spiritual value of incense lies in the fact that by its burning we are reminded how our hearts should burn with the fires of divine charity; it represents the good odor of Christ our Lord, in accordance with that verse in the Canticle of Canticles, "We run in the odor of thy ointments." Therefore, as incense spreads its odor through the entire Church and refreshes our bodies by its agreeable scent, so also does our Lord spread His graces to refresh and nourish our souls. Thirdly, incense has, both in the Old and New Law, been ever looked upon as symbolic of the virtue of prayer, agreeably to that saying of the royal Psalmist, "Let my prayer be set forth in Thy sight as the incense," and that of S. John in the Apocolypse, "And another angel came and stood before the Altar, having a golden censer, and there was given unto him much incense, that he should offer of the prayers of all the Saints." When incease is offered to a person it is always indicative of the highest respect. Thus, the Wise Men offered incense in their gifts to the Infant King when they came to worship Christ the Lord.

The famous Fr. Stanton of S. Alban's, Holborn, once said to some people who objected to the use of incense in the Church—"There are but two smells mentioned in the Bible, incense and brimstone—make your choice!" When the thurifer offers the incense to the congregation at this point, he bows first and then censes the people. The congregation return the bow with a slight inclination of the body as they receive the incense. When Holy Water is offered somewhat in this fashion at the Asperges, it is received with the same inclination of the body and the Sign of the Cross is made. This is not done when receiving the incense.

After the Offertory has been completed by the presenting of the Alms and the Priest has washed his fingers, so as to have clean hands as well as a pure heart as he enters into the Holy of Holies, he bids the prayers of the congregation, for which they kneel, and passes on at once to the Sursum Corde, which introduces the Preface, so called because it is, as it were, a preparation for the most solemn part of the whole Mass, the Canon. The reason why the Priest does not turn round to the people at this place when he says "Dominus vobiscum" is founded on the ancient custom, which once prevailed in the West and now continues in the East, of drawing together the Sanctuary curtains so as to hide the Altar from the congregation the moment the Preface began. As there were no persons then in sight to salute, it was not deemed necessary to turn round and a vestige of this ancient practice is here kept up—then, too, it has the practical value that the Priest has his eyes on the words and music of the special preface which follows at once. It is most important for the people to make these responses. One reads so many letters in the Church papers from earnest laymen and women who complain about the Priest mumbling the Mass. What letters I could write, and many other Priests as well, of the mumbling congregations and of the dead silence that often returns your salutation of "The Lord be with you." The bell rings three times at the beginning of the Sanctus—this was to call the congregation to rise to their feet for the singing of this triumphal hymn sometimes called the Serephic, which is recorded for us in the visions both of Isaiah and S. John. It is the general custom, both in the East and West, to stand for the Sanctus, but at S. Clement's we ring the bell and remain on our knees. I fear this smacks just a bit of being "high church."

The Priest now enters upon the most solemn and sacred part of the Rite—the prayer of consecration. As we believe the change in the elements to take place during the recitation of the words used by our Divine Lord at the Institution of the Holy Eucharist the night in which He was betrayed, they are recited with the greatest possible care and deliberation and reverence and should be so attended to by all the congregation—to this end the bell is rung at their beginning, so that all may pay strict attention. There should be absolute silence at this point—no coughing, no moving, scarcely any breathing—for at this moment the Almighty Word leaps down from Heaven and tabernacles amongst men in the Sacred gifts upon the Altar. The Priest genuflects twice and elevates the sacrament once after each consecration and the bell rings three times for each—the first bell rings to tell the people that the Sacrament is about to be elevated, and when the second bell rings every head and every eye in the congregation should be raised to see the elevated Sacrament; at the third ring the eyes and head are to be lowered, until called to raise them again for the elevation of the Chalice. There is no other point to the three bells. Seeing the Sacrament at the moment of consecration has always been a most significant feature of assisting at Mass, and in the early ages the Priest would sometimes have to elevate several times as people in the congregation who had been unable to see would call out Higher! Higher! This attention to the bells should be observed also at Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The first bell means that the Blessing has begun, at the second bell every eye should be on the Sacred Presence in the Sacrament to receive the Divine Blessing, and at the third bell the eyes may again be lowered to meditate upon the goodness and mercy of the Lord.

At the end of the Canon the Our Father is sung, and this is followed by the fracture or breaking a piece of the consecrated Host into the consecrated Chalice. The Host is broken in memory of what our Lord Himself did at the Last Supper and on those occasions afterwards which are recorded in Holy Scriptures, and the casting in of this Sacred Particle to unite with the Precious Blood forcibly recalls to mind the union of our Lord's Soul and Body after His Resurrection. The Priest says, "The Peace of the Lord be always with you," and the people respond, "And with thy spirit." It was at this point that the Kiss of Peace was given and transmitted from the Officiant through the Priests to the Congregation. The people respond to the Agnus Dei, and when the Priest is about to make his Communion, he says three times, "Lord, I am not worthy to come under Thy roof, but speak the word only and Thy servant shall be healed," and the bell is rung here—the signal of the Priest's Communion, and at Low Mass the call for the people to approach Holy Communion.

People coming to Holy Communion should genuflect when leaving the pew and when returning into it. It is not necessary to genuflect upon reaching the Communion Rail and when leaving it, although it is not wrong to do so. Communicants should kneel at the rail in an erect position. Women receiving the Sacrament in their hands should remove their gloves and raise their veils and move their hats back so as not to interfere with the Chalice. Those who receive in their hands should cross them, the right one over the left, palm side up and the hand as flat and fully opened as possible and placed as high as the breast. Hands should not rest on the rail, but be cupped, nor held slanting, but flat, and the Sacrament should be consumed as soon as placed on the palm by the Priest. The Rubric in the Prayer Book directs that the Sacrament shall be given into the hands. This is simply a direction and does not preclude any other way that is reverent and expedient. To communicate direct on the tongue is much the easier for the Priest and insures greater reverence and safety for the Communicant. Those who wish to communicate this way should open the mouth slightly, extend the tongue and close the eyes. Within the week one good woman dropped the Sacred Host from her hands and found It on the floor in her pew when she returned to her seat, where It must have been carried in the folds of her dress. While a longer time ago a man who supposed he had received the Host had carried it about all day inside his waistcoat, where it had dropped, and only discovered it at night when he came to undress.

The Rubrical direction to deliver the Sacrament into the hands has never been followed at S. Clement's in connection with the Chalice. The Priest never releases his hold upon it. The communicant may touch its base and so help in guiding it to the lips, or not touching it at all, may leave the guiding to the Priest. This is a time when the minds of both Priest and Communicant should be upon the sacredness and solemnity of the occasion, so do what best ministers to your reverence and devotion and avoid anything that savours of affectation or that detracts you from the spirit of recollection. As soon as the person after you has received the Chalice, rise from your place to make room for others who follow, and return to your pew, basking in our Lord's Presence and coming with Him whom you have just received until the Priest calls you to the Post Communion and to the blessing. If you have received Holy Communion at the Mass, loiter a bit afterwards for an extra thanksgiving of your own, saying the Benedicite from the Prayer Book, the Anima Christi and the Divine Praises as well. Leaving God's Home, you once more bless yourself with Holy Water, that the purity and blessings of the gifts you have received from our Lord may keep you in that holy state throughout that day and always.

I hope these simple directions and explanations may increase your spirit of devotion to our Blessed Lord in the Mass and in the Holy Sacrament of His ordaining, and make your approach to Him not only more intelligent, but more recollected and reverential.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

The greater part of Lent is packed into the month of March this year, ending on the last day with the great Feast of the Resurrection. Let that be your objective as you enter into the month, and keep ever before you the goal of a Holy Easter.

On Sunday mornings I am following the same type of sermon that I used last year, the final one of the series appearing in this number of the magazine. This year my subjects are: Vestments and Their Meaning, Vessels and Their Use, Rubrics and Their Interpretations, Sacramentals and Their Significance, and Familiar Devotions and Their Value. On Friday evenings I am following a course suggested by a column called "Some Problems" that appears from time to time in The Church Times and edited by The. Rev. Francis G. Belton. The subjects will be, The Life of Penitence, Frequent Communions, Mortal and Venial Sin, Religion and Morality, The Difficulty of Prayer, and The Use of Meditation. On Tuesday afternoons I shall be taking various Parables from the Old Testament as the subjects for my meditations.

The services for the balance of Lent are about as usual, except in Holy Week. There will be a Solemn Mass at eleven on each of the first three days. Tenebrae, described and explained on another page, will be sung at eight on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. The Mass of the Pre-Sanctified and the Liturgy of Good Friday is moved ahead to seven o'clock, to afford opportunity for a larger number of people to assist on this important day, and the earlier hour makes the schedule uniform with the rest of the year, as well as leaving the latter part of the morning free for Confessions. I hope to preach The Passion as usual. The use of Carols at the eight o'clock Mass on Christmas met with such general approval that I am following the same custom for Easter.

I urge you all to draw in closer to our Lord and His Church for this Holy Season, so that all of us, Priests and People, may in our Easter Communion, as Fr. Jesse Brett expresses it, realize in the unity of Love, the Joy of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, as He confirms in us the fruit of His Passion, and exalts us in the power of His Risen Life.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

Parish Notes

SIXTY MEN were in attendance at the MEN'S QUIET EVENING on the Saturday before the First Sunday in Lent. Fr. Gavin has accepted our invitation to come for the Men's Retreat at the same time next year.

THE ANNUAL MID-LENT RETREAT for Women will be conducted by the Rector. Cards have been mailed to all the names on our Retreat mailing list. Any others will be welcomed, and are asked to send their names to the Sister in Charge at 110 North Woodstock Street. A definite charge of 25 cents for breakfast and of 50 cents for dinner is made this year, in order to meet the expenses more nearly. Since so many books are thoughtlessly taken away from the Parish House on these occasions, and never returned, Retreatants are asked to bring their own reading material.

STATISTICS for 1928 show that 1,358 Masses were offered at the Altars of S. Clement's Church; 12,504 Communions were made; and the Blessed Sacrament was carried to 235 sick persons.

SIXTEEN MEMBERS OF THE PARISH have agreed to give $5.00 a month for the Church's Missionary work amongst the Oneida Indians in the Diocese of Fond du Lac, and another sixteen have agreed to give a similar sum each month for the work at Bontoc in the Philippine Islands. These gifts are in addition to their present offerings for Missions. The present giving capacity of the Parish seems to be about $4,500. With this additional pledge we will have $2,000 more. Our quota for this year is $7,500.

THE LITTLE LIMERICK RHYMES that have been interjected facetiously in recent numbers of the magazine are taken from a leaflet published in England, "Catholic Rhymes for Catholic Children." The editor is flattered with being considered their author, but he must disclaim any bent for rhyming.

IF THIS MAGAZINE is worth anything at all to you, it is worth five cents. It costs about five cents to print it. The papers are placed in the Tract Case each month, where there is a convenient box in which to place your money. Will you please be more careful and pay for the magazines that you take.

FR. WAGENSELLER has returned safely and in good health from his recent hospital experience. Fr. Byron-Curtiss leaves us with the beginning of this month. He has been a great help in our time of need. Fr. Saunders will continue with us until the early summer.

Lenten Occupations

PRAYER—

Intense, earnest—both public and private—expressive of the deepest desire of your heart for a better life. Learn systematic and regular habits of prayer.

MEDITATION—

In the quiet of your own room and in the House of God, that you may think of your life and its duties; that you may understand better the lesson of the Cross of Christ and what it teaches of sin and holiness, of guilt and forgiveness.

SELF-EXAMINATION—

To find out your besetting sins, your sinful habits, your failings, temptations, dangers, to ascertain your actual spiritual condition, that you may strengthen the good and conquer the evil.

REPENTANCE—

Whereby you forsake sin that dishonors and offends God, violates His law and pollutes your soul—a genuine hatred of that which makes your Saviour mourn and drives Him from your heart.

CONFESSION—

To free yourself from the burden of the sin repented of, and to receive God's absolving grace for their remission, and His gift of new life for the amendment of your ways.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE—

A punctual, regular and systematic attendance upon the regular services of the Church. Attend as many as possible. Acquire a habit that will persist throughout the year. Give special attention to the Daily Mass, assist at the Altar as often as you can, and receive Holy Communion more frequently.

GOOD WORKS—

That by abundant labors you may serve humanity for the dear Lord's sake, and use your influence to bring others into the knowledge of the Catholic Faith.

ALMSGIVING—

To relieve distress. To advance the interests of the Church. To help spread the Gospel. To accumulate an Easter offering worthy of your devotion.

LENT is a blessing; but blessings come only to those who seek them.

Tenebrae

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Holy Week, Tenebrae is sung. "Tenebrae" means "darkness" and the service is thus poetically named because, as the reading of the Psalms proceeds, the lights are put out, one by one, until at the end the church is in total darkness.

Matins and Lauds

Tenebrae consists of the Matins and Lauds of the regular Office said by all priests. Originally Matins were said before daybreak; in some religious orders the monks still rise in the midnight to say them; but always they form the first part of the priest's daily Office.

Now the Church, wishing to allow all the people to recite these beautiful, heart-stirring prayers during the mournful days of Holy Week, has arranged that the Matins of Thursday, and its Lauds, be said the evening before—on Wednesday. Those of Friday are said on Thursday, and those of Saturday are said on Friday.

The Candles

The custom of putting out the lights is very ancient; we know that it was followed in the fifth century. Today fifteen candles are used. After each Psalm a candle is extinguished, to symbolize the gradual desertion of Christ by His followers. One last candle is left burning, but is carried away out of sight. Mysterious darkness fills the church, and a sense of desolation creeps over us. Christ is dead. In the stillness the Miserere is read in a hushed voice.

A noise is made, a clattering sound, to represent the convulsion of the earth at the death of Jesus, and then the one lighted candle is brought back—to signify that He is not dead indeed, but lives to triumph over the grave in His Resurrection.

The Psalms of Tenebrae

We shall the better understand the Service of Terebrae if we know the theme that runs through the Psalms used in this ancient Breviary Office. The Psalms are the words addressed to God by various great figures of the Old Testament, chiefly by David, the brilliant King and poetic genius of the Hebrew race. In these prayers is revealed the spirit which pervaded all the great heroic characters of the Chosen People. This spirit was an unswerving, unmeasured trust in God and absolute fidelity to His Will.

Abraham, Job, David, each trusts God when put to the severest tests that can be conceived in the experience of man. And because of this sublime loyalty, each is regarded as a type of Christ, the Redeemer, Whose whole life was one perfect act of fulfillment of the Father's Will.

This theme, of man's total dependence on God, was passionately and fervently proclaimed over and over again by David and the Prophets, in the Psalms, in language of unsurpassed beauty and painful intensity. There is a cry in these Psalms which pierces to the very heart of man.

And we must remember that these wonderful verses were used by Christ Himself, Who, like other Jews, went up to the Temple to pray. The first Christians, having been Jews, likewise used the Psalms as prayers. The early Church of the Apostles did likewise. The Catholic Church still in her official prayers follows their example; and the people at Vespers, and occasionally as at Tenebrae, are introduced to these wonderful words.

In reading a Psalm, we may, if we are familiar with the biblical history, think of David's sorrow or of the tribulations of the Chosen People. We may trace the prophetic parallel between the troubled life of the king and the sufferings of our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom the prophet is a type and forerunner. Or we may see a picture of our own deepest griefs, and the attitude of the soul of man towards God in life and in death.

On each of the three nights, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of Holy Week, we shall be singing, unaccompanied, the First Nocturn only from Matins, followed by the full office of Lauds. Printed forms, with the full text, will be prepared for the people to use in following the Office.

✠ A Sermon ✠

Preached in St. Clement's by the Rector,
Passion Sunday, 1928

This will be the last Sunday, for the present, for the sermons of information and explanation about the services, the Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, and the individual acts of devotion which deepen the reverence of the worshipper. I began these sermons the First Sunday in Lent, fearing they would seem out of place in the Mass, but since it is the only time I have of addressing many of you, I made bold to undertake the series which had been in my mind for a long time. Immediately I began to receive so many letters of appreciation and to have so many thank me for telling them about matters that they wanted to know about, but did not know whom to ask or where to look for the answers, that I felt the idea was a real inspiration. Nothing that I have said, no answer to any question, no reason for any ceremony, no explaining of any detail, has been original with me. The matter of these sermons has all been drawn from authoritative books on the Mass, its Rites and ceremonies. I have simply done the searching for you and arranged my findings in some logical and understandable order.

I have been asked many questions and the answers to all but one I have already incorporated in former sermons. I have very studiously avoided anything that might partake of a controversial character, but this one question has come from at least a half dozen persons, so I must answer it. It is about receiving Communion in one kind! About receiving the Sacred Host only and refusing the Chalice! It is quite the accepted practice in some of our larger Broad Churches where the Chalice is refused on sanitary grounds, but it is about the growing custom in Catholic Parishes that the question is asked. Doctrinally, liturgically and historically there is nothing to be said against it. To receive Holy Communion in one kind is a perfectly valid and whole Communion, for we believe that the smallest particle of the Consecrated Species contains the "whole of Christ." Where the Blessed Sacrament is Reserved, it is reserved in one kind only. Where the sick are communicated out of Mass, they are communicated in one kind only. When Army Chaplains go into battle line with their forces, they carry the Blessed Sacrament in one kind only to communicate the wounded and dying men at the front, and where the whole are communicated from the Tabernacle it is in one kind only. It is the practice of the whole Western Church, except for ourselves, and we are almost a negligible part of it, but it was not the custom and law of the Western Church until the twelfth century. After this time it began to be restricted to the Celebrant, but the restriction did not become a universal law of the Church until the Council of Constance in 1414 declared it such. It is worth observing that whenever any of the Church's adversaries taught as a matter of dogma what she herself only considered a matter of discipline, to confound their impiety, she either dropped the practice altogether or strenuously exerted herself in an entirely opposite direction. John Huss held such fanatical views about the necessity of Communion under both kinds that the whole land was disturbed by his teaching. According to him, the Church could not dispense with the obligation of receiving both species, for Communion under one kind was no Communion at all, and that all who received in that way were damned. Huss was supported in these views by his disciples, Jerome of Prague, Jacobellus of Misnia, and Peter of Dresden. To confound these heretics and for other very wise reasons, the Council of Constance declared that Communion under one species was as true a participation of the Body and Blood of the Lord, in virtue of what theologians call concomitance, as if both species were received. Four principal reasons, aside from the heresy of Huss, induced the Church to abandon Communion of the laity under the species of wine. First, the great danger the Precious Blood was exposed to in communicating so many; second, the scarcity of wine in certain regions and the difficulty in procuring genuine wine in northern climates; third, the nausea that this species creates in some people; and, fourth, the great difficulty of reserving the Holy Eucharist under this kind in warm climates.

Some of the ablest commentators see in the "breaking of bread from house to house" and in other similar expressions of the New Testament, Communion under one kind only, and it is admitted by all that in this way did the two disciples communicate whom our Lord met on the way to Emmaus on Easter Sunday after His Resurrection, for, as the narrative has it, "they knew Him in the breaking of bread." So much for Communion in one kind. You see it is a matter of discipline and not of doctrine. Last summer, at a great field Mass in the Coliseum in Rome, Holy Communion was given to some 5,000 persons at one time; think how impossible it would be physically to communicate so many from the Chalice.

As for Communion in two kinds, it was in this way our Divine Lord instituted the Sacred Mystery and gave to His Apostles the Cup as well as His Sacred Body. This was the universal custom until the twelfth century, when Communion in one kind became general in the West and became an established law of the Western Church in 1414. It is still the custom in the Eastern Churches to give Holy Communion in both species. This practice is common with the Eastern schismatics as well as with Catholics. This is done in three ways—in exactly the same way as we of the English and Episcopal Church do, then by the Priest administering the Sacred Host and the Deacon, the Chalice by means of a small spoon with which he conveys the Precious Blood to the communicant and by the process we call intinction, dipping the Host in the Chalice and laying the Holy Sop on the tongue. Outside of the Mass the Orientals communicate as we do, in one kind, and the Greeks reserve the intinctured Host, which they moisten with unconsecrated wine when they give Holy Communion from the reservation.

It is our great privilege to receive the Chalice in Holy Communion, along with the ancient practice of the Church and in common with our Catholic brethren in the East. It is purely a matter of expediency in the Western Church and has no concern with doctrine. As long as our communicants are no greater in numbers than at present, we can continue the Chalice. No Catholic would presume to refuse the Chalice for any fear of infection from a common cup, nor need any Catholic fear that he is hindering and impeding Catholic Unity by receiving the Chalice, for it is the recognized privilege of countless Catholics in communion with the Holy See. While any one receiving the Holy Communion in one kind only makes a perfectly valid and whole Communion, yet I would feel that such an one refusing to receive of the Chalice offered would, in that refusal, suffer some loss of grace.

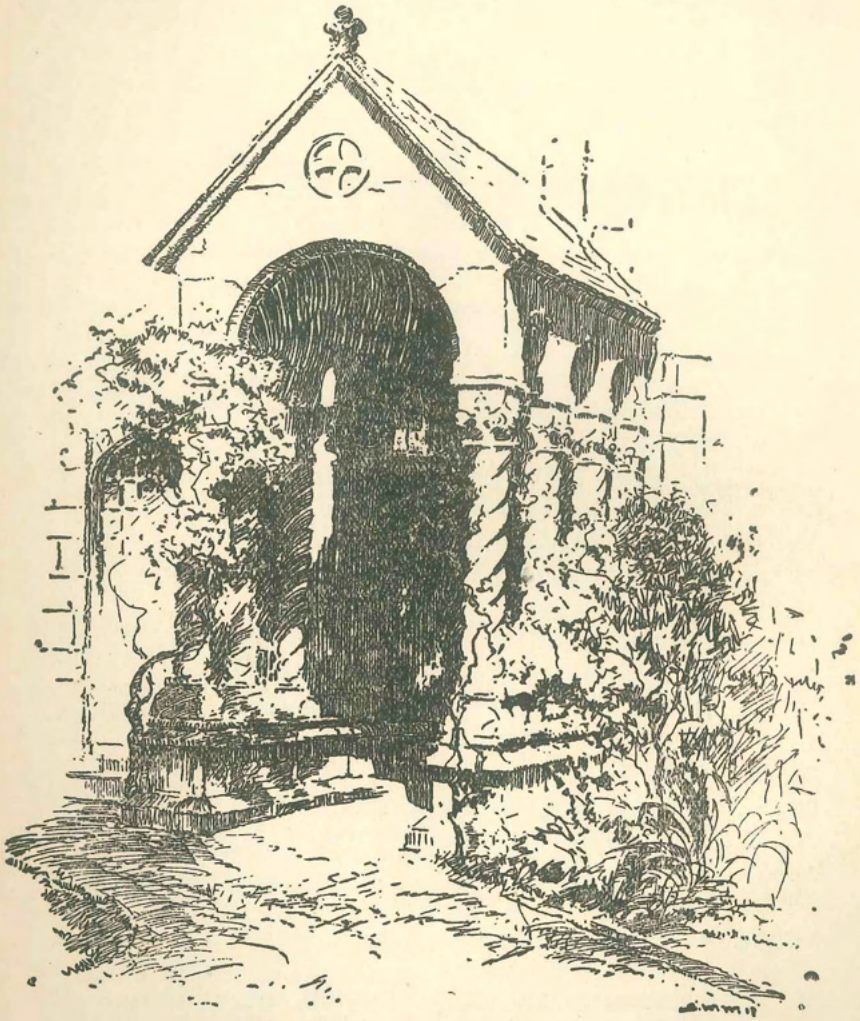
The Rite of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament out of Mass is based simply upon the Doctrine that our Lord is really Present under the veil of the Sacred Host. There is no method or doctrine of the Presence involved beyond that which we all believe in regard to the Presence for the purpose of Holy Communion. In the Mass the Priest turns to the congregation and lifting the Sacred Host aloft says, "Behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the World." It is the same Host that he lifts aloft a few hours later and with which he blesses the people in the Rite of Benediction. There is a difference of a few hours in time and in the manner of the blessing. In the Mass he holds the Host in his fingers; in the Rite of Benediction he holds the Host exposed in the Monstrance, but in those few hours and in the new manner of exposition, no new principle has entered into the doctrine of the Real Presence.

If we believe the Holy Eucharist consecrated upon our Altars to be verily and truly the Body and Blood of Christ, and if we reserve that same Holy Eucharist in our Tabernacles, paying to that Sacred Presence the same marks of reverence and devotion in the Tabernacle that we pay to Him in the Mass, how can we greatly err in receiving His Sacramental Blessing or by paying our Corporate Acts of devotion to Him in public prayer and praise as we do our private worship in our prayers and meditations before the Altar of the Reservation? True, it may be a more or less modern Roman Catholic devotion, but if it stimulates devotion to our Lord's Sacramental Presence, and draws the faithful to receive Him more frequently in Holy Communion, why should we not appropriate it and profit by its benefits? Last year we had here at S. Clement's 12,387 communions, as large a number as that in any Parish Church in America, and I am sure that the privilege of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is the main reason for this growing devotion in our midst to the Holy Communion.

I cannot close this series of sermons without a word or two about Vespers, that very much neglected office of the Church with which every day begins, for the Church has always kept to the Creator's division of time in that "the Evening and the Morning" make the day. Vespers is fast falling into disintegration, although we do everything in our power to make it inspiring and attractive, and the daily Vespers has long been no more than an Office for the Clergy. I would like to see more people at Vespers on Saturdays in preparation for your Sunday Communion and on the eves of the great feasts, and to end the Lord's Day with Vespers, why nothing could be more fitting!



We begin the Office with an appropriate sentence from Holy Scripture which is a relic of the ancient antiphons, used with the Psalms, and after Our Father the Office proper opens with the versicle and response, "O Lord, open Thou our lips." After the Gloria we go at once to the Psalms. We sit for the Psalms, for it follows the Old Monastic custom and Vespers is really a Monastic Office and as it stands in the Prayer Book combines with it the old office of Compline. The Psalms are long and often the tones are difficult for the congregation to use, so sitting is both more comfortable and conducive to reverent and profitable listening. The Prayer Book gives no direction for posture. The two lessons prescribed are from the Old Testament and New Testament and are pertinent to the Season—usually the Old Testament refers to some bit of prophecy or fore-shadowing and in the New Testament lesson we read of its fulfillment. After the first lesson is sung the Magnificat, the Hymn our Blessed Lady sang as she communed with S. Elizabeth after sharing with her the prophesy of the Incarnation. After the second lesson is sung the Nunc Dimittis, the Song of Simeon after he had seen the Lord's promise fulfilled and his eyes had beheld the Word made Flesh. As the Magnificat was sung before the Manifestation of our Lord in the flesh, so in Vespers it is sung after the Old Testament lesson before the Lesson of the New Covenant, while the Nunc Dimittis is sung after we have read of God's full revelation to man, accomplished in the God-Man, Christ Jesus our Lord. Before the Magnificat we sing the Office hymn, the ancient hymn assigned to each feast and season which was introduced here to cover up the space while preparations were being made to cense the Altar at the Magnificat. This hymn of the Blessed Virgin Mary has always been held to be the greatest hymn of the Incarnation and has always been sung with the accompaniment of much ceremony. When a Bishop sings Vespers, he censes the Altar of Reservation as well as the Altar before which he is singing Vespers, if they happen not to be the same. The Creed follows and stands in Vespers neither as a profession of faith nor as a hymn of praise. It is a relic of the preparation for the Monastic Office, when it was said silently together with the Our Father and Hail Mary, before the Office began. Then comes the versicles and responses, a kind of short Litany with the proper collects for the day and the Compline Collect for preservation during the night, added at the end. And after a prayer for the faithful departed the Church closes her daily round of prayer and praise.

May God richly bless each and every one as we strive to learn more about His Holy Church and His Holy Ways that we may be able to Love Him more dearly,

To know Him more clearly,
To serve Him more nearly.

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR PEOPLE:—

Did we not have a beautiful and inspiring Easter Festival? And it was because we had kept a good Lent and Holy Week, and, following the precepts of the Church, had made a proper preparation for the Queen of Feasts.

Never have I seen a more faithfully kept Holy Week at S. Clement's than this year. The Solemn Masses early in the week were attended by unusual numbers. Tenebrae on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings was the crowning and completing touch to our Holy Week Ceremonies. We are indebted deeply to Mr. Fry and the men of the Choir for their painstaking work in preparing the Offices. Tenebrae was beautifully sung each evening, and we all were deeply moved by the solemnity and tragedy of the music and the ceremony, and filled with hope in our ever-living Lord, when the lighted candle was brought from behind the Altar and restored to its place on the Hearse.

The earlier hour for the Mass of the pre-Sanctified on Good Friday was an improvement in the arrangement of our services, but perhaps on another year we will endeavor to have something more of a service at eleven, such as the Litany and the Penitential Office, as well as the Stations, for those who can come for that hour only. So many shops and offices being closed for Good Friday this year gave more people an opportunity to stay for the entire preaching of the Passion. It was the eighth time I have preached the Passion in S. Clement's, and this year's was the largest congregation.

The Easter-Even ceremonies were greatly enhanced by the presence of the Lord Bishop of Algoma, who pontificated from the Throne, and gave us his Episcopal Blessing. Vested in Cope and Mitre, carrying his Pastoral Staff, and wearing the most gorgeous gold-embroidered violet episcopal gloves, he radiated the joy of Easter and lent a great burst of color to the scene and service, which, in contrast to the sombreness of Holy Week, made us really feel that "The winter is over and gone, the time of the singing of birds is come." The Lord Bishop returned to us for Vespers of Easter Day, when before the festival procession, and after Solemn Pontifical Vespers, he preached a most helpful sermon on "The Evidences of the Resurrection."

This month falls within the period of the great forty days, with the Feast of the Ascension falling on the first Thursday in May. It will be a quiet month, as far as extra services are concerned, but a most excellent time in which to cultivate regular habits of Mass attendance and Communion and prayer. It was during this time that our Lord was instructing His disciples in the things pertaining to the Kingdom of Heaven, so we can spend them in no better way than in learning from Him of these same heavenly things.

May our dear Lord's Easter Peace be ever with you.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

Parish Notes

FROM ASH WEDNESDAY TO EASTER DAY, inclusive, there were 187 Masses, 1,809 Communions, and the Sacrament was carried to 28 persons ill in their homes.

THE PASCHAL CANDLE was painted this year by Mrs. Speakman. We are most grateful to her for the beautiful work she has done.

WE EXTEND OUR HEARTIEST CONGRATULATIONS to Dr. Floyd Tomkins, of Holy Trinity Church, who this week completes a Rectorship in that Parish of Thirty Years.

THE BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE has called a special Convention to meet on Ascension Day for the election of a Bishop Coadjutor for the Diocese. This election will be preceded by a special novena here at S. Clement's for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in His choice. There will be a remembrance of the Intention at all Masses for nine days before the election.

THE EASTER OFFERING amounted to $2,551.60. Of this $1,397.10 is for the Parish, and $1,154.50 was allocated by the givers for the Missionary Work of the Church. The collections for January, February and March in 1928 amounted to $4,663.06, and over the same period in 1929 amounted to $3,793.02. There is a falling off this year of $873. The Accounting Warden says that half of this sum is due in unpaid duplex envelope pledges. Are yours all paid up?

AT THE VESTRY ELECTION ON EASTER MONDAY, one ballot being cast, Mr. Casey, Mr. Lukens, Mr. Homan and Mr. Tyson were elected to serve for the ensuing three years.

ON EASTER TUESDAY, the Vestry convened and organized for the new year. Mr. Ritter was elected Accounting Warden, Mr. Clay was re-elected Secretary, and the Rector appointed Mr. Casey as his Warden. The Finance Committee was elected as follows: Mr. Bayard, Mr. Clay and Mr. Homan. The Property Committee, Mr. Mayer, Mr. Sellers and Mr. Casey. The Insurance Committee, Mr. Bayard, Mr. Ritter and Mr. Homan. The Rector appointed the Music Committee, Mr. Woodruff, Mr. Ritter and Mr. Tyson. Mr. Woodruff, Mr. Ritter and Mr. Sellers were elected as Delegates to the Diocesan Convention, with Mr. Tyson as an Alternate.

LADY DAY, The Feast of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, falling this year in Holy Week, had to be transferred to the first free day after Low Sunday, so we will be keeping the feast on Monday the eighth. First Vespers will be sung in the Church Sunday evening, and there will be a Solemn Mass on Monday at eleven o'clock.

THE RECTOR will be the preacher at Vespers, Low Sunday afternoon at 4, at the Church of the Annunciation, the occasion being the First Vespers of their Patronal Feast.

A LETTER IS BEING PREPARED, setting forth the plans for the moving of the Church, Parish House and Rectory buildings this summer, in connection with the widening to Twentieth Street. This letter will be mailed to all the members of the congregation, so that they may know what the Committee is doing, and have the latest information in regard to the matter.

TWO BLACK DAMASK COPES, for the use of the Cantors at Requiem Masses, have been given to the Parish by the Altar Guild. They were made by Mowbray in London, who has also supplied the new cottas and linen "ruffs" for the choristers.

THE RECTOR will give an Illustrated Lecture on the city of "Florence" before the Churchwomen's Club, in their rooms in S. James's Parish House, Wednesday evening, April 24th.

WORD HAS BEEN RECEIVED from The Liberian Mission in Africa of the death of Father Allen of the Order of the Holy Cross. Of your Charity pray for the repose of his soul.

NO ONE, AS YET, HAS RESPONDED to the invitation in a recent issue of the MAGAZINE, to present the Parish with 500 copies of the New Prayer Book. They will cost $125. The Rector expected at least a half a dozen offers to make this gift! The copies for the Sedillia and Clergy Stalls have been given by Miss Unitt.

THE WOMEN'S UNITED THANK OFFERING is now due for the current year and subscriptions may be sent to Miss Hoffman at 2118 DeLancey Street.

The Easter Festival in S. Clement's, 1890

Anyone who has ever visited S. Clement's on a great festival, during the time of the Fathers, has seen something which he will never forget, wrote Wilton Tournier in an appreciation of Father Field and published just after the withdrawal of the Cowley Father from the Parish in 1891.

On Easter Day, as I approached the Church at the corner of Twentieth and Cherry Streets, about an hour before service, I saw a great crowd standing outside the doors and waiting for admission. There were all kinds of people there; rich, finely dressed women and poor girls, waiting for the opening of the doors. The moment came, and there was a rush, as each wanted to get in first, but there came a backward movement as, on looking over the heads of the people, I saw a crowd of children pouring out of the great doors, and someone told me they were coming from the children's service, which was just over.

As there was no chance for me, I went round to a side door of the Parish building, and asked to see one of the Clergy, but was told that they were all engaged, and would not be able to see me for some time. A place was shown me on a wooden bench, in a large passage, under a staircase, where I might sit and wait; so I did as I was told, and took notes.

The scene was very strange, as I wondered, as one after another passed me. Boys and men, in black cassocks and white cottas, came and looked at me and retired. Young men, some of them six feet high, and boys, half that size, passed me, and entering a chapel knelt for a few moments before the Altar and then returned to some place of meeting. A great many people ascended the staircase, which led to a gallery, where sick and infirm people, by special permission, might attend the services. A tall Priest came up to me, and, smiling, said that he was afraid that I should be cold there, and I stammered something about not being in the way, but he quietly asked me to follow him, and speaking to a great, burly man, in a long gown, asked if there was a seat. No seat could be had, and hundreds were lining the way, held back by cords on each side of the centre aisle. The Priest then gave me a card, and told me to go into the gallery, and as I went up the steps I heard the sound of a prayer, and just caught sight of the Cross-bearer and a great number of acolytes coming out into the passage. Then there was another sound of prayer, and a loud A-men sung by the Choir, and I entered the gallery. The Church presented a most curious scene; the walls were highly decorated, and on the slanting roof was a stately row of sun-flowers, painted the whole length of the Church. But the Altar attracted my gaze at once. It was clothed in white and gold, and was bright with lights and flowers. At the back of the Altar was a carved wood tryptych, and in the centre, under a canopy, a carving of the Blessed Virgin Mary, with the Christ in her arms.

On the screen or tryptych were ranged six large brass candlesticks, and in the centre a very beautiful brass Cross, several feet in height, and of elaborate workmanship. Behind this screen again, and reaching almost to the roof, was a richly embroidered dossil and canopy with life-size figures of Christ upon the Cross, His Mother and S. John. The figures and the flowers were embroidered, and though I had seen many Altars in the large Churches abroad, I had seen nothing more beautiful than this.

The Choir now came into the Church from the west end, while a march was played on the large organ, and, as the Cross-bearer reached the steps of the sanctuary, I saw another procession moving from a low door at the side, and six acolytes in scarlet entered, each bearing a lighted torch, and then came the Incense-bearer, with his attendants; and last came the deacon and sub-deacon in dalmatic and tunicle, and finally the Celebrant in a magnificent cope of white and gold and red, embroidered. All knelt for a minute in silent prayer, and at this moment a whisper might have been heard in the Church. Then the Priest ascended the Altar steps and the Censer was brought, and after being filled was blessed by him. He then turned to the people and sang "Let us proceed in peace," and the Choir answered, "in the name of the Lord." Several young men had by this time taken the banners which hung in the Choir and sanctuary, and were standing with them before the Altar, but now all turned, and as a grand hymn was sung the boys and men of the Choir began to wind out of their seats toward the Altar, and each making a bow, turned to follow the Cross-bearer and the young man with the incense. The banners were borne at intervals in the procession, and first came a banner of S. Clement, then some boys, then a banner of the Blessed Sacrament, and S. John, and the Annunciation and the Blessed Virgin. What struck me was that there was such perfect order, and all seemed to know their work, and I noticed that no one seemed to think of it as a performance; and the Priests joined in heartily with the people in the singing. When they had passed all round the Church and up the centre aisle again to the sanctuary, the Priests retired for a few moments to the Vestry, and then appeared again in the same order, the Celebrant now wearing a chasuble. After standing a few moments in prayer, a short Psalm was sung, while the Priest blessed the incense, and with the deacon and sub-deacon waved it toward the Cross three times, and then passing along waved it on each side of the Altar to the end. He then gave the censer to the deacon, who bowed to him and waved it toward him three times, and then bowing again, gave the censer to the acolyte.

After this they stood the one behind the other as the Priest said the first prayers, only moving as he turned to speak toward the people. An acolyte then brought the Book of the Epistles to the sub-deacon, and he read the Epistle while the deacon stood beside the Priest on the upper step. Then he who had read the Epistle came and knelt, and the Priest put his hand on the Book and he kissed it, and gave the Book to the young man on his right hand. After this he took the great Book, which was on the Altar and the desk, and walking with the Priest to the northern end, they read silently together. During this time I saw that the deacon had received a Book from an acolyte, and he took the Book and laid it open on the middle of the Altar, and knelt down on the step before it. Then incense was brought and the Priest blessed it, and the deacon took the Book from the Altar and knelt down before the Priest and was blessed; after which he followed the acolyte and sub-deacon in procession, as they walked slowly around to the north end of the lowest step, and the sub-deacon standing before the deacon held the Book of the Gospels for the deacon to read the Gospel for the day. He then took the incense and waved it on each side of the Book and to the middle, and then the Gospel was sung in a loud clear voice, as soon as it was finished the sub-deacon took it to the Priest, who kissed it and gave it back; and the deacon standing where he had read the Gospel, but turning to the Priest, waved the incense toward him. All three now went to the highest step, and standing before the Cross, said the Creed. At the part of the Creed where they sang of the Incarnation, there was a great rustling, a whirr, as of a thousand wings, and I saw that all were kneeling. A small boy then sang the words by himself, and a deep bass voice repeated them. Then all the Priests and acolytes, and people arose and seemed to break into a loud shout of praise, as they sang the remainder of the Creed. At this time a case was brought and given to the deason, who took from it a white linen cloth, and spread it upon the Altar, and then I looked and he had disappeared, but as the last words of the Creed were sung, I saw him come from a small door, clothed in white with a rich stole of gold and green crossing his breast, and a girdle. On reaching the pulpit he crossed himself, and gave out, as it seemed to me, a volume of notices about services and meetings for the week, and then he preached a sermon twelve minutes long. At first the words were quiet and gentle, a welcome to the people and a praise of Easter, but suddenly as he described the way in which some had kept the season of Lent in luxury and amusements, his voice was thunder. I could see that his words reached the people, for though I could not see their faces, I saw that some moved uncomfortably in their seats, and I saw that many, and especially the poor people, fixed their eyes on the preacher and looked glad and happy.

Several times in his sermon he looked at the large crucifix, hanging upon the wall by his side, as though he drew his inspiration from it, and once he paused and touched the nails, and called them sins. Just then I was asked by a young man by my side: "Who is that?" I answered, "Father Field." Now all the people rose, and some acolytes brought plates of silver, and six men came forward, and each took one, and collected money from the people. I could see each one, and what they gave, and the manner of it, and there was great variety. Some seemed very loath to part with their money, and some seemed afraid to give, and others gave, but covered what they gave; and as I looked at the Altar I saw that the three ministers were there again, and one brought wine and water, and one poured wine into the golden cup, and the other took the water to the Priest, who blessed it, and then some was poured into the cup and the Priest offered it and incense with it. And incense was waved toward the Priest and the other ministers, and in turn to the choir, and all the people, and as it was waved toward them all the people bowed. "Why do they bow?" I asked a man near me, and he said, "for acknowledgment." The money was now brought, and the silver plates were put on one large plate, and it was passed to the Priest, who offered this also.

Then a silver bowl was brought, and water was poured upon the hands of the Priest by one of the attendant acolytes, and he went to the centre of the Altar and the deacon and sub-deacon stood behind, each on his own step. As he turned after a long prayer, each moved aside, and a brief exhortation was said; and then in a low voice the deacon and all the choir made confession, and the Priest turning again made the sign of the cross as he absolved the people. He sang also, appointed texts of Scripture, and turned again to the Altar.

As he said some prayers, the two ministers ascended and stood by him, and the six young men I had seen before came in with large lighted candles and knelt before the Altar on the lowest step, and as the words "Holy," "Holy," "Holy," were sung and all the people bowed, these young men raised the lights, and there was the solemn sound of a bell, but where it came from I could not understand, and could not ask, for all around me had their heads bowed down in adoration. Then the sub-deacon descended and knelt on his own step behind the Priest, and there was silence, only broken by the low tones of the Priest, which I could not hear distinctly, but each time as he said the words of consecration the lights were again raised and the bell tolled, and the incense rose, and all the people seemed to sink lower on their knees in worship. Then the young men arose and filed out with their lights burning; and as the three ministers stood together they turned, and as the Priest held up the sacrament the people bowed and worshipped. Then the three ministers knelt down, and rose and took their places one behind the other, and sang the Lord's Prayer with the Choir. After this the Priest said a prayer by himself alone, and then all the Choir arose, both men and boys, and sang aloud the Gloria in Excelsis, and at this time the three ministers stood together before the Altar as I had seen them do in the Creed, and at the end all crossed themselves and then all knelt except the Priest, who made a low obeisance, and turning to the people raised his hand and making the sign of the Cross, blessed them as they knelt low before him.

Then the Priest knelt down and there was silence, and I heard a woman whisper to the young man by me, "Is God there still?" but he was silent and his eyes were closed, and as I looked again, I saw that the ministers had washed the golden cup and plate and veiled them; then one held a Book at the north end, and the Priest read, and all knelt on one knee and rose again and crossed themselves, and going to the midst of the Altar bowed low and turned and came down the steps, and as the Choir sang, the acolytes came forward and bowing to the Altar, all went out.

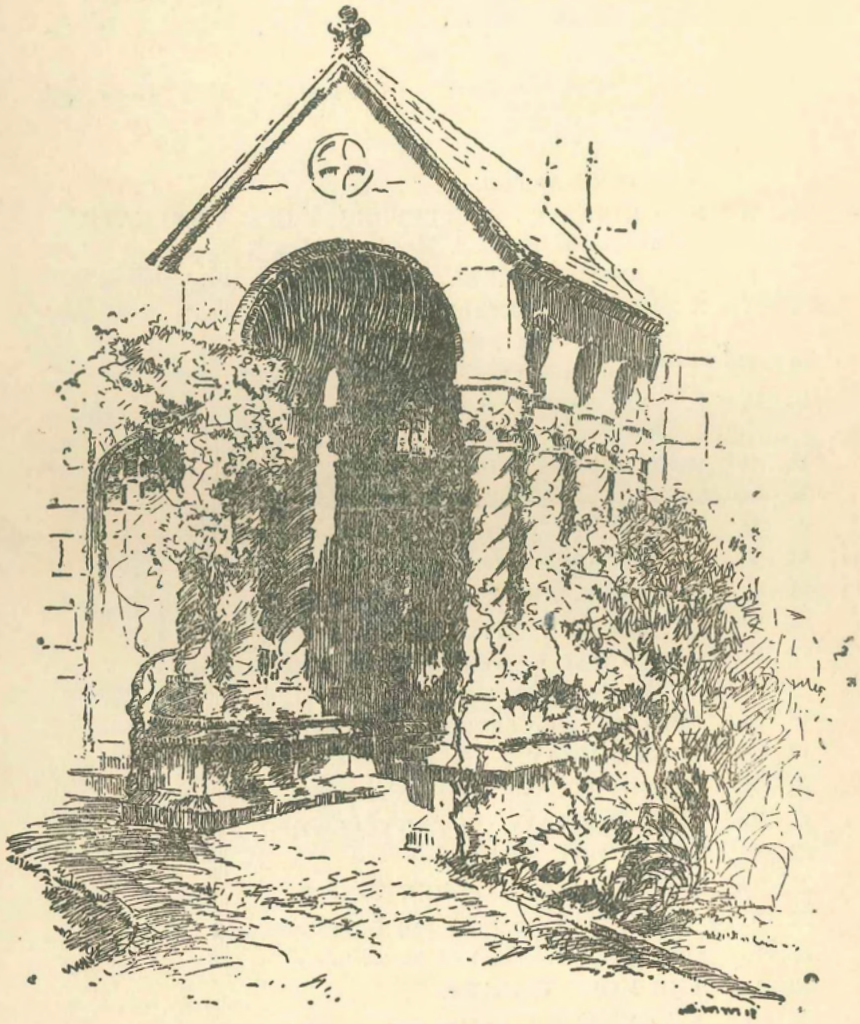
The Cross-bearer with his acolytes now turned from the Altar, and all the Choir followed down the Church, and I felt as if I had seen a vision, and I knelt again and thought, "these people know their God."

A Eucharistic Hymn

BY CANON SCOTT OF S. MATTHEW'S, QUEBEC

We hail Thee now, O Jesu,
  Upon Thine Altar-throne,
Though sight and touch have failed us,
  And faith perceives alone;
Thy love has veiled Thy Godhead,
  And hid Thy power divine,
In mercy to our weakness,
  Beneath an earthly sign.

We hail Thee now, O Jesu,
  In silence hast Thou come,
For all the hosts of Heaven
  With wonderment are dumb—
So great the condescension,
  So marvelous the love,
Which for our sakes, O Saviour,
  Have drawn Thee from above.



We hail Thee now, O Jesu,
  For law and type have ceased,
And Thou in each Communion
  Art Sacrifice and Priest;
We make this great memorial
  In union, Lord, with Thee,
And plead Thy death and Passion,
  To cleanse and set us free.

We hail Thee now, O Jesu,
  For death is drawing near,
And in Thy presence only
  Its terrors disappear;
Dwell with us, sweetest Saviour,
  And guide us through the night,
Till shadows end in glory,
  And faith be lost in sight.

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

Before this copy of the Magazine is in your hands you will have received a letter from the Parish Building Committee telling you that the work for the removing of the Church, Parish House and Rectory has begun. We have been hearing a great deal about the widening of Twentieth Street, and we have been trying to delude ourselves that "we would never see it." But often after long and tedious delays the City acts suddenly, and so the project is upon us. We had been forewarned, so for several months a competent committee has been at work, consulting with architects and other experts; so while the City did act quickly, it did not find us unprepared. It has been a great comfort to all who know and love S. Clement's to be assured that there would be no material alteration in the fabric. The three buildings will be moved back about forty feet, and when settled on the new foundations the garden and fence will be rebuilt, and the situation will be exactly as it is now, except that we will face on a ninety foot boulevard instead of on a forty foot street.

Moving the Church

The work is well under way. Trenches have been dug about the entire plant. The new foundations are well under way. Everything that connects the ground floor with the basement is being disconnected. A part of the organ motor will be moved to the Upper Sacristy, so half of the organ will be available. The water and gas supply have already been cut off from the Parish House, so it has been necessary to eliminate the Guild activities earlier than usual this year. Because of the dust and dirt, the Vestments, Banners and Vessels have all been sent to a storage company for safe keeping until autumn. This will mean some modification in the Festival Services at the end of the month, but otherwise we hope to carry on the full schedule throughout the month of May. After the first of June we will have to introduce a "summer schedule," but it will be for this year only, and is introduced not because it is "summer," but because there is an "emergency." I think I shall refer to it hereafter as the "emergency schedule," for I do not like any phrase that suggests the possibility of a difference between winter and summer religion. S. Clement's is an "all the year, just the same" Church!

May Feasts

The month of May is rich in Feasts this year. Closing with the Feast of Corpus Christi on Memorial Day, it will enable more people than usual to keep the Great Feasts in their Parish Church. At S. Clement's the summer exodus does not begin so early, so I hope to see all our "regulars" throughout the month. And please be as generous as possible with your Whitsunday offering. For while the Parish will have no special expense in connection with this building operation that is now going on, there is bound to be a falling off in the congregations because of the work, and this will mean a falling off in the collections. The regular running expenses will "run on" just as usual, and it will add greatly to my peace of mind to know that there is no anxiety about Parish bills.

Father Convers, S.S.J.E.

The death of Father Convers of the Society of St. John the Evangelist followed very quickly on that of Father Field. They worked together for many years here in S. Clement's. Father Convers followed Father Maturin as Rector, but owing to ill health really never entered fully into his duties, and Father Field was the acting Rector until the Fathers left for Boston in 1891. Father Convers was born in Zanesville, Ohio, in 1851, and as a young man went to England and was professed in the Society of S. John the Evangelist, in Oxford, in 1885. He had singular gifts as a preacher and mission priest, as his many spiritual children in this country and in Canada bear witness. The old magazines abound with his sermons, and many of them were published in tract form during the "days of the Fathers." He was buried by the side of Father Field in the Society's burial ground at S. Augustine's, Foxboro. A Solemn Requiem, followed by the Absolutions at the Catafalque, will be sung in the Church Thursday morning, May 2nd, at eleven o'clock. Of your charity, pray for his soul.

A Memorial

The Superior of the Cowley Fathers in this country is anxious to erect a memorial to the lives and works of these two great Priests. He is appealing to all their friends to make some thank offering to this Memorial. There will be no "drive," but informal appeals like this one. The sum will be closed at the end of the year, and will be divided into two amounts. One will be used to develop the work amongst the colored people at S. Augustine's, so dearly loved by these Fathers, and the other will be used to build a suitable and more worthy Altar for the Reservation of the Blessed Sacrament in S. John's Church, Boston. If you forward any cheques to the Father Superior, please mention S. Clement's in your letter.

The Rectors of S. Clement's

I thought it might be interesting to give you a list of the Rectors of S. Clement's, together with the dates of their office:

1. The Rev. H. S. Spackman, January, 1856, to January, 1863.
2. The Rev. Treadwell Waldron, April, 1863 to 1868.
3. The Rev. H. G. Batterson, March, 1869, to April, 1872.
4. The Rev. Oliver S. Prescott, Feb., 1876, to Nov., 1881.
5. The Rev. B. W. Maturin, November, 1881, to March, 1889.
6. The Rev. Duncan Convers, October, 1889, to March, 1891.
7. The Rev. J. M. Davenport, October, 1891, to November, 1893.
8. The Rev. A. B. Sharpe, November, 1893, to March, 1895.
9. The Rev. G. H. Moffett, March, 1895, to November, 1904.
10. The Rev. Chas. S. Hutchinson, June, 1905, to October, 1920.
11. The Rev. Franklin Joiner, November, 1920.

O. H. C. and S. S. J. E.

Friday, the 3rd of May, is one of the special Feasts of the Order of the Holy Cross, and Monday, May 6th, is the Patronal Feast of the Cowley Fathers and their Church. Masses for these orders will be offered on their special days. On the evening before Ascension Day and on the evening before the Feast of Corpus Christi there will be a Sermon in the Church, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, and the Clergy will be available before the services for Confessions. There will be a Solemn Mass at eleven o'clock on both Feasts.

Another Bishop

We are now in the midst of another Novena for the Guidance of the Holy Spirit in the choice of a Bishop Co-adjutor for the Diocese. There have been four elections and four declinations. It is rather a new thing for this high office to be so persistently declined, but can be best explained perhaps by the fact that all the men elected, while men of national reputation, godly and pious men, belonged to the school of "broad" or "liberal" churchmanship, who would regard such an election as the "call of men" rather than the "call of God and His Church." These refusals can mean only that we have not as yet found God's choice, and when he is found, he will be elected and he will accept. We must believe this. The next election will be on Monday, May 6th. Please say your prayers very earnestly for this great cause, and do not forget it Mass.

Another Novena

We shall be keeping our usual Novena between the Ascension and the Feast of Pentecost. This Novena has been kept here since before the memory of man! A Novena is a devotion covering nine days, with the object of obtaining some definite favor or grace from God. The first Novena in the Catholic Church was that one kept by Our Lady and the Apostles as they waited in the Upper Room in Jerusalem after the Ascension of Jesus Christ our Lord. They waited, with one accord, in prayer, for the Comforter Whom our Lord promised to send, and on Pentecost they were all filled with the Holy Ghost and with power. So we shall be following their pious example if we say these prayers every day, but we shall be following them more worthily if we keep the Novena in "The Upper Room," that means the Altar and Mass every day. A good confession before the Feast of the Ascension, Holy Communion every day until Pentecost—that would be the best possible way of keeping the Novena. The Church needs a new demonstration of the Holy Ghost, and it can come only when we are ready and willing to have Him work in and through us.

End of Easter

Easter-tide ends with None on the day before Trinity Sunday, and the Angelus is resumed in the evening.

R. D. F.

It is so long since I have made an appeal for my Discretionary Fund that I fear some of you have forgotten all about it. I have a great many calls to help the poor and indigent, and several cases that call for regular assistance. No offering is too small, and none can be too large!

G. A. S.

I have written a number of letters through the Parish lately asking people to join the Guild of All Souls. You all know the objects of the Guild: To pray for the Departed, to insure prayers for yourself, to provide poor parishes and priests with the proper vestments and vessels for Requiem Masses, and to protest against the paganism of the modern funeral and burial. These are all objects that appeal to every Catholic Christian. There is a weekly prayer to say, with the memorials, and the annual dues are seventy-five cents with any additional offering a member may care to make. If I have inadvertently missed any one in my letters, I hope they will consider this personal enough, and ask to join the Guild.

A Banquet

The Parish House was the scene of gay festivities Saturday evening, April 27th, when the Provincial Meeting of The Young People's Fellowship gave their banquet. Dr. Percy Silver, of New York City, and Bishop Garland were the principal speakers, and local caterers served supper to about three hundred and seventy-five. We were very pleased to have a share in the entertainment of these young people, who had gathered in Philadelphia from all the Dioceses in this Province, for their annual convention.

The Last of the Crypt

Tuesday morning, April 23rd, the last Mass was said in the old Crypt Chapel. It was a Requiem, offered for all those whose bodies had rested in the Chapel, and for all those who had been remembered at its Altar. By evening the Chapel was completely dismantled, and is now about destroyed. It will be rebuilt in the new basement after the Church is placed on its new foundations, and like the old one, will be directly under the High Altar. The entrance from the garden will be reinstalled. During the period of moving S. John's Chapel will be used for Requiems, and as a Mortuary Chapel, if the need arises.

Mr. Downing

Within the past week Mr. Lewis T. P. Downing has died, and been buried in S. James' Kingsessing Graveyard. Mr. Downing was an active figure here in the days of the Fathers, acting as Sacristan and Warden of the Acolytes' Guild. He had many devoted friends among the older members of the Parish, and some of the lads he trained to serve at the Altar are still active in the life of the Parish. May he rest in peace.

Our Boys

Four of our young men, Candidates for Holy Orders, will reach mile-stones in their progress to that end during this month. Mr. Edward Hawkins will graduate from S. Stephen's College, and will teach next year in the Choir School at the Cathedral of S. John the Divine in New York City. Mr. Alexander Lukens, whose father and oldest brother are both members of the Vestry, will be graduating from The General Theological Seminary in New York, and will be ordered Deacon. The Rev. Charles Harold Harrison, Deacon, who has been assisting at the Solemn Masses since his ordination, will be advanced to the Priesthood on the Monday after Trinity Sunday, and will be saying his first Mass here at S. Clement's. The Rev. William Ivan Edwards, Deacon, will be graduating from Nashotah House this month, and will be advanced to the Priesthood in June. He will be coming East after his ordination, and is joining the Staff here at S. Clement's. It will be a great joy to have one of our own boys in this Holy Office serving in his own Church. Please give these young men a very generous place in your prayers.

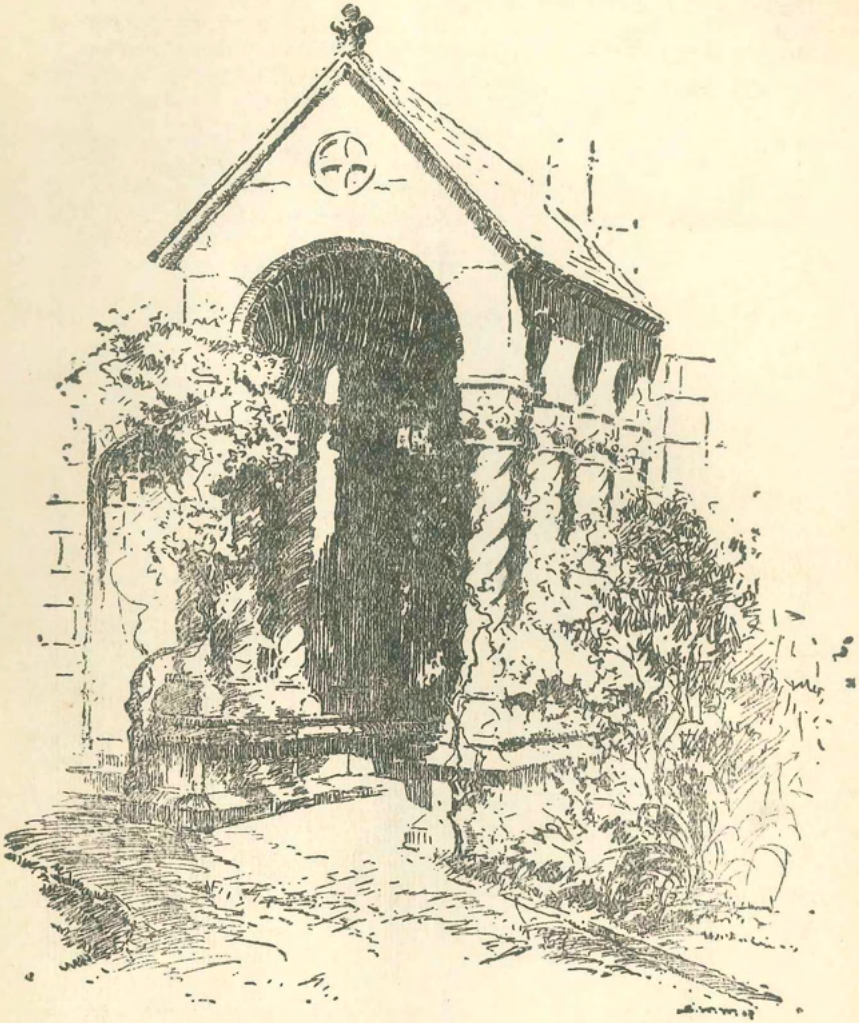
Algoma Writes

The Lord Bishop of Algoma has written: "I must write just a line to tell you how very much I enjoyed my two visits to your glorious Church. And yet it is not merely the Church that leaves so pleasant a remembrance in my mind—beautiful and inspiring though it is—but chiefly the spirit of the place as seen in the Acolytes, Choir and Congregation. I am myself particularly sensitive—as some people are and others are not (I often wish I were not, as there are more narrow and bigotted congregations in the world than the other sort)—to "atmosphere" and the spirit, the ethos of a place makes an impression upon my mind very quickly. Well, S. Clement's reminded me at once of my old Parish of the Annunciation at Brighton, where I was brought up as a boy, and I felt at home at once. I very much hope that I may meet S. Clement's again some day." Wasn't that a charming thing for him to say? I was delighted, and know you will be as well. I am going to invite the Lord Bishop for a week's preaching next winter.

Apologies

When I began this letter I meant to fill my usual first page, and here I have covered the whole magazine. This will make it very easy for the Editor, for he will need no more copy, but I am afraid it will be a little disappointing to you to have had me monopolize the whole sheet!

A Prayer



May Blessed Mary's prayers, in answer to our invocations, help us in our work and service for our Lord and His Church, through this Our Lady's Month, and in the great Feasts we are about to celebrate.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Rector's Letter

MY DEAR FRIENDS:—

This letter will complete the ninth volume of the PARISH MAGAZINE, of which I have been the Editor. The years run by very quickly, and with the years come and go many changes. The great cause for which we stand remains unmoved, more firmly entrenched in all your hearts, I hope, and commanding your increasing devotion and loyalty. This month of June is dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and should be an occasion for deeper love to God, evidenced in deeper devotion to His Holy Church and Sacraments.

The Moving

The workmen are making rapid strides in preparing to move the Church. It is hard to convey to those who have not seen the building any impression of the complete disarrangement of the site. Yet with the increasing commotion we are more able to see what the outcome is to be, and with it comes a sense of security and satisfaction. The contractors are somewhat ahead of their schedule, so the actual moving may come in June or early in July. The actual moving will create a great sensation in the city, as the project is even now the main topic of conversation amongst architects and engineers. The moving will take place within a very few days, and then will begin the work of replacing the buildings on new foundations. The workmen should be completed with their task by the first of November, but I fear it will be a long time before the city will have finished with the rest of the houses on the street and before the repaving and reorganizing of Twentieth Street can be undertaken. But we will be very thankful to be settled on the foundations, from which we pray S. Clement's will never have to be disturbed, and ready to show our thankfulness in patience about the dilatoriness of the external improvements.

Temporary Flat for the Clergy

Conditions in the Clergy House have become such that it is uncomfortable and unwise to continue living in it. And our living here is a hindrance to the workmen as well. We are now looking for some flat which we can sublet for the summer months. The Clergy House telephone will be transferred to our new quarters wherever they may be, and the Priests will be available every evening after Vespers, which will be said as usual in the Church at six o'clock. Matins and the Offices will be said after the first Mass.

Emergency Schedule

The eight o'clock Mass has been discontinued on weekdays, and the half-past nine Mass will be said in the Chapel of the All Saints' Sisters at 2016 Race Street. This latter Mass is in no sense a "private" Mass, and every one is welcome to come to the Sisters' House, men and women. The Friday evening service will continue, and there will be no change in the services for Sunday. Low Mass at seven, eight and a quarter-past nine o'clock, and a High Mass at eleven. The Sermon will follow the last Mass, and there will be a Sermon and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the evening. There will be a High Mass on the Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Thursday, August 15th, and a Sermon and Benediction on the evening before the Feast.

Flowers for the Altar

It is hoped that every one who has garden flowers will share them with our Lord and His Church. We can always use flowers in the Church. We cannot have too many. There is always room for more about the Altar of the Blessed Sacrament and the Shrines of our Lady. So please, whenever you have flowers to spare, please bring or send them to the Church, and we will be most grateful for them. They can be offered as a prayer in the same way that a votive candle is offered, and as long as the flowers remain before the Tabernacle, so the remembrance of the prayer offered will be fragrant before the Lord. Especially are flowers needed on the days when Benediction is being given.

The Choir Outing Fund

It has long been the custom in the Parish for the congregation to show their appreciation of the work that the Choir boys do, and it is good work, by subscribing to a fund to send the boys off to a Camp for two weeks or more in the summer. Subscriptions to this Fund will now be thankfully received by Mr. Fry, or they may be sent to the Accounting Warden. For the past few years the boys have been going to the summer camp maintained by S. James' Church at Quakertown.

The Summer Outing Fund

There are still a great number of people in the Parish who would have no break from the city heat and drabness in the summer if such a change were not made possible for them by the Parish. People are sent to either the seashore or to the mountains, as their particular case may suggest, and the children are sent off to camps for longer periods. Here is a splendid opportunity to help worthy people, and to give your money into hands that will use it carefully, and where all of it will go to the objects for which it is given. These offerings may be handed to either Sister Katharine or to Mr. Ritter, or, if properly marked, they may be placed on the collection plates.

The Confraternity of the Blessed Sacrament

The annual meeting of the C. B. S. was held after the Devotional Service Friday evening following Corpus Christi. The Secretary-Treasurer made his report. There are now eighty-four members in the Parish Ward, dedicated to S. Saviour. During the past year four members died, and one membership was dropped. There were no new members. The Confraternity is largely a Prayer Guild. The monthly intercession paper contains petitions from all over the American Church. The Offerings are used to supply poor parishes and Priests with vessels and vestments for the Mass. There are prayers to be said every day. More people in this Parish should be members, and I will be glad to talk with any to whom this notice may come as a challenge calling out their greater devotion to our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament of the Altar. Mr. Ward was re-elected Secretary-Treasurer for the coming year. We are most indebted to him for his faithful service. The dues, amounting to forty-two dollars, have been sent to the National Treasurer, with an additional offering of about fifty-nine dollars, and the pledge of twenty dollars to the Diocesan Campaign Fund has been paid.

The Guild of All Souls

There has been a very good response to the call for members for the Guild of All Souls. I knew the objects of the Guild would appeal to you when once they were brought to your attention. The annual meeting was held at Grace Church in Newark last month, and Fr. Baldwin, O.H.C., was the preacher. Great emphasis was stressed at this meeting on the importance of Catholic Christians making plain directions for their burial, and leaving them with some responsible person who would be sure to carry them through. Many Catholic Christians are buried by well-meaning Protestant relatives in a way that is a great distress and disappointment to their Catholic friends. That may easily happen to many of you. Please write your directions now.

The Clergy

Because of the work going on in connection with the moving of the Church, I feel I cannot be away for any protracted holiday just now. I am expecting to be away from time to time during the week, and occasionally over a Sunday. I hope to be able to be away for the month of September. Fr. Wagenseller will be away from the middle of July until the first of September. Fr. Saunders will be in residence all summer, and goes to the Valley Forge Military Academy in the autumn. Fr. Edwards will come into residence in July, and Fr. Smith will be in and out until he leaves for the Reserve Officers' Camp and for his holiday. We hope to return to normal living conditions and to our usual schedule of services by the first of October.

Drudgery

So many people complain about the monotony and drudgery of their lives that they lose the opportunities in that simplicity for closer union with God. I cannot refrain, for the encouragement of such, from reprinting here a few extracts from a little brochure that has recently come into my hands. "When the Lord Jesus was told that His Blessed Mother stood without, He said that whosoever did the will of God was His Mother. Spiritual relationships are nobler than physical ones. Jesus honored His Mother more because she did God's will than because she had borne Him as her Child. He loved her more than all His Creatures, not because she was nearest Him in the flesh, but because she was closest to Him in the spirit. Because she first conceived Him in her heart, therefore she was counted worthy to conceive Him in her womb." Every one can thus draw near to God, even in the simplest and most menial tasks of the daily round.

When first of work I light the fire,
  JESUS, first of thoughts inspire;
When I wash each cup and plate,
  JESUS, wash the sins I hate;
When I clear the kitchen neat,
  JESUS, clear me from deceit;
When I watch and stir the pot,
  JESUS, watch me, slumber not;
When the rooms I sweep and clean,
  JESUS, sweep ill-thoughts unseen;
When I set the mid-day meal,
  JESUS, set on me Thy seal.
When I clean each dish and knife,
  JESUS, clean from sin my life.
When I spread the supper, tea,
  JESUS, spread Thy love on me.
When at last my work is o'er,
  JESUS, last Thy blessing pour
On me, sleeping in my bed,
On all I've done, and all I've said. A-men.

Ordinations

The Reverend Charles Harold Harrison, who has acted as Sub-Deacon at the Solemn Masses for the past two years, was ordained to the Priesthood in S. Andrew's Chapel of the Philadelphia Divinity School by Bishop Garland on the Monday after Trinity Sunday. I had the privilege of presenting him for Ordination, since he was a Candidate from this Parish. He said his first Mass on Corpus Christi Day and gave Holy Communion and his blessing to a goodly number of his friends. He will continue his studies next year, since he hopes eventually to be a Master in a boys' school.

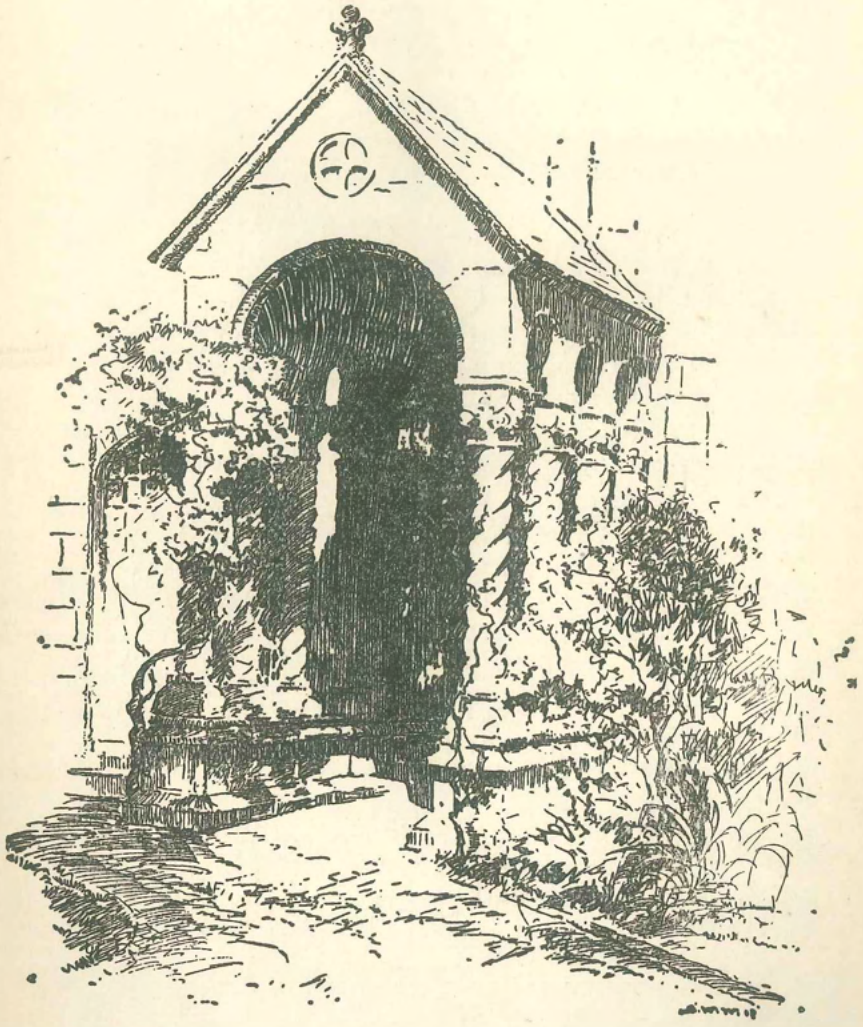
The Reverend William Ivan Edwards, also a Candidate from this Parish, was graduated with honors from Nashotah House, and will join our Staff here in July. He will be ordained to the Priesthood here in S. Clement's early in July by Bishop Webb of Milwaukee. The date has not as yet been set, but I will announce it as soon as possible and post it on the bulletin board in the Church porch. He, too, will say his first Mass here.

Mr. Edward Wallace Hawkins, also one of our Candidates for Orders, graduates with honors this year from S. Stephen's College, and will teach next year in the Choir School of the Cathedral of S. John the Divine in New York, and pursue his theological studies in New York at the same time.

Vacations

Many of you will soon be going off for your holidays, and I do wish for you all a season of real recreation and rest. There is a great benefit in a change of scene, a change of occupation, a change of companionship, a change in the routine of life. But do not forget that God is the center of it all, play or work. Do not forget that the Mass is as important in the summer as in the winter. It is as important when you are in a place where no one knows you as it is when you are in a place where every one knows you. You all love S. Clement's, but you should love the things and principles that S. Clement's stands for more than you love the fabric and the atmosphere of your parish church. It is your Sunday business to hear Mass. Let nothing interfere with this. Then play, have a good time, and it will be a good time, for it will have the blessing of God.

Mizpah



And may the Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from another.

Faithfully and affectionately,

Franklin Joiner –

The Rector's Letter

My dear People:—

What seemed like an impossibility at the writing of the last issue of the Magazine is now an accomplished fact, the Church Parish Building and Rectory have been moved safely and settled on their new foundations some thirty-six feet west of their former situation. It has been fascinating to watch the operation from the very beginning in May when the engineers began to insert the steel needles under the foundations until the middle of July when the three buildings finally slid into their proper position with perfect precision, just like the last piece fits into a jig-saw puzzle. The actual moving took place within three days; the preparation for the moving covered a period of about two months; the workmen are still engaged in readjusting the buildings to their new environment. When all the work is finished the group will appear as it did before, with the garden and fence and brick walks, so that any person who had not seen S. Clement's since early in May will find it hard to believe that any change has been made.

Because of the noise of the machinery and the dirt in connection with the building it was necessary for the Clergy to vacate the Rectory. We hope to return to the House on the 14th of October, and will be very happy to be in our own home once more. Living in a flat all summer, and free from the cares of housekeeping, has been in itself a sort of holiday, and while I have not been away for any long period, yet this change in living has been a "vacation at home."

The full winter schedule will be resumed with the first Sunday in October, which also marks the beginning of my tenth year as your Rector. The arrangement of services and guilds is the same as in past years. There are no changes. The present roster seems to fit our needs very well. The eight o'clock daily Mass will begin with October, and the half-past nine o'clock Mass will be resumed in the Church. We are very grateful to the All Saints' Sisters for the use of the Chapel in S. Anna's Home for this last Mass every day since June, and for their thoughtfulness in caring for the Priests and for our friends. It has brought many of you into closer touch with S. Anna's Home, and I hope you will continue your interest in the Sisters' splendid work there.

The Rector's Letter

Changes in the Staff of Clergy ministering in the Parish have become an annual event. When one of the Assistant Priests is chosen for another work we cannot help feeling proud of him, and glad to see him advance, even though we may be very sorrowful at parting with him. We all feel like this in Father Wagenseller's resignation. He goes to Washington to assist the Rector at S. James' Church, and will be leaving us at once. I am sure you all will follow him with your prayers. His place on the Staff has not as yet been filled.

Father Edwards was ordained to the Priesthood in July. The Bishop of Milwaukee came on from his summer place in New Hampshire for the occasion. I preached the sermon and presented this son of S. Clement's to the Bishop for Ordination. On the following day, the Feast of S. Vincent de Paul, Fr. Edwards said his First Mass and gave his blessing to a goodly congregation. His appointment to the Staff has been approved, and he is already in residence. It will be impossible to apportion the work for the winter until the new Priest has been appointed.

Some time ago I appealed in the Magazine for fifty dollars a month to help a particular and worthy person. This may seem like a large sum to give to one indivldual, but were I free to explain the circumstances, I am sure you would think the expenditure justifiable. Some two hundred and fifty dollars was given in response to this appeal. This sum is now exhausted, and I appeal again. I must also appeal for another as worthy a case, for which I would like to have twenty-five dollars a month. If any members of the congregation would like to be wholly responsible for either of these, I would be glad to give them all the particulars of these deserving needs.

October is the month when we set ourselves in order for the more intensive work of the winter. I hope it will be for you all a time of new beginnings, new consecration, new resolution to love our Blessed Lord more perfectly, to receive Him more frequently in Holy Communion, and to serve Him more lovingly in your contact with your fellow-men.

Faithfully and affectionately,

Franklin Joiner—

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY DOLLARS have been given by the following subscribers for the purchase of new cottas and collars for the Choristers. These have been received from England, and are now paid for. Another dozen cottas would be appreciated, and another set of collars, so further subscriptions will be welcomed. We are indebted to Miss Newman and Mrs. Pendleton for making the collection. The contributors include: Miss Arnold, Miss Ball, Miss Barrett, Mrs. Borden, Miss Boyde, Mrs. Carlisle, Mrs. Comby, Mrs. Connelly, Miss Connelly, Mr. Corning, Miss Cox, Mrs. Decker, Miss Decker, Mr. Downey, Miss Elliott, Miss Franz, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz, Mrs. Hall, Miss Harnish, Miss Harris, Miss Hart, Dr. Holroyd, Mr. Hoyer, Mrs. Huckey, Miss Jenkins, Mr. Kelley, Mr. Kenworthy, Mrs. Krauter, Miss Lamb, Miss Lee, Mrs. McCusker, Miss Merriman, Miss Miller, Mr. Moore, Mr. Morris, Mrs. Mowry, Miss Newman, Miss Noble, Miss Offer, Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Pryor, Miss Ramage, Mrs. Rex, Miss Reynolds, Miss Sanford, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Speakman, Miss Sprecher, Mr. Swenson, Mr. Tyson, Mr. VanRoden, Miss White and Miss Williams.

PREBENDARY MACKAY, of London, writes in a recent issue of The All Saints' Parish Magazine: "A member of our congregation complained to me the other day of being subjected to a stream, a muddy stream, of Roman Catholic controversy through the post, although the victim had never shown any sign of wishing to join the Church of Rome. I replied that for many years I had received many such missives, and had made a rule to tear them all up unread for fear that they might tempt me to join the Particular Baptists. However, a few days ago, a message from the Seven Hills really reached me, for it was a picture which caught my eye when I opened the envelope. It was a picture of a very nice looking clergyman, accompanied by a very nice looking son and two very pretty little daughters. and on it my correspondent had blazed the challenge, 'Can the Church of England be Catholic?' But I was not shaken. My belief that the Church of Rome is Catholic would not be disturbed if I saw a snapshot of one of the Holy Father's Greek Uniat priests walking with his wife and family. It may be replied that the nice looking clergyman and his children were too well dressed to be Catholic. But the Catholic character can survive this—and even more than this; I feel sure that if Pinturicchio had left us a picture of Alexander VI walking in the Vatican gardens with Caesar, Lucrezia and Juan, they would all have been beautifully dressed."

DURING THE MOVING OF THE CHURCH some small silver pieces were pressed on the steel rails under the rollers. These have been blessed and put in small envelopes on which is printed a short account of the event. They may be had for a dollar apiece, and the proceeds from their sale is being added to the Missionary quota. There are also Post Cards, with a view of the apparatus in position for the moving. These are but ten cents apiece, and their sale price is also added to the Missionary Gifts.

FATHER SAUNDERS, who has assisted on the Staff so acceptably for the past six months, is now in residence at The Valley Forge Military Academy, where he will be one of the Masters for the next year. He will be at S. Clement's frequently during the winter, and will in all probability be singing the Children's Mass on Sundays in the renovated S. John's Chapel. There will be a Low Mass at the same hour in the Church for those who wish to make their Communions at the simpler service.

THE GUILD OF ALL SOULS, S. Clement's Ward, in its annual report to the Secretary General, shows a membership numbering eighty-nine individuals, four of whom are Life Members. $63.75 was the amount of the dues paid to the Guild last year, and there were additional gifts for the work of the society, amounting to $77.50. This is a very creditable record for the year. It is hoped that the membership may reach the one hundred mark. Are there any others in the Parish who would like to know about the Guild and its objects?

TOO FEW PEOPLE HAVE RESPONDED to our invitation to send garden flowers for the Altars and Shrines in the Church. It is a great expense to keep the Altars and Shrines properly furnished with flowers from a hot-house, and during the summer there is no fund available for this purpose. The autumn flowers in your gardens are most suitable for the Church, so do please send any that you can spare, and we will be most grateful for your offering.

DEAN HUTCHINSON has resigned his Deanship in the Cathedral at Milwaukee and has accepted the Rectorship of the Church of S. John the Evangelist in Newport, R. I. We are glad to have Father Hutchinson back in the East, and hope we will be seeing him more frequently at S. Clement's.

THE EIGHT O'CLOCK MASS will be resumed on weekdays, Monday, October 14th, when the Clergy will be returning to the Rectory.

A Sermon

Preached by the Rector

The Sunday following the Moving of the Church

July 14th, 1929

You sometimes hear people say that the age of miracles is gone, but we all know better, for we have seen a miracle here during this week past. When I said recently that I was sure that in a couple of generations there would be a well established legend that the Church had been moved by the Angels, I did not mean to be unmindful now of the part Almighty God, with His Angels and His Holy Saints, has played in this great undertaking. One of the workmen said in the very early part of the proceedings that nothing could happen to harm any place of worship where so many people were coming and going all the time at their prayers.

We are appalled at the mechanical and scientific knowledge that planned such a feat. Of all human hands in the process, those I admire and revere the most are the ones that drew the plans as they evolved in his mind for the arrangement and execution of the moving; but in and through that, even though the engineer be unconscious of it, was the mind and the hand of God.

So as we thank Almighty God today for His great goodness to us and our congregation, we must remember that God does not bestow His goodness and manifest His power simply for the sake of exhibiting His own Nature and Property, but for the good of His creatures, the delight of His children, and the upbuilding of His Kingdom. So while we may all be, rightly and properly thankful, yet it is not for us to sit back idly and contemplate the goodness of Almighty God, but rather to use ourselves these Heavenly Pledges of God's Love, for the deepening of our spiritual lives and for the salvation of Souls. For with the joy and the blessing of every heavenly gift comes also an added responsibility and obligation, so to us who have received this very evident blessing and mercy from God, comes as evident a way in which we are to show our thankfulness to Him.

We are known as a praying Church and a praying congregation. Calls and letters come from unknown people asking for our prayers for their sick and for their departed. That seems to be becoming more and more our sphere of real work. God means us to continue this, He means us to increase and extend this, and that is our task, that is our responsibility, that is our privilege—to live a life of prayer—to make our Altars and our Shrines spots from which there may be a never ceasing offering of prayer and worship.

A Sermon

I have felt this to be our particular mission for a long time, and as the days go on, and God's further manifestations are shown forth to us, I am the more convinced. To this end we have been affording more opportunities for Mass and Holy Communion. We have tried to make the Sacrament of Penance more accessible. We have increased the occasions for instruction. We have tried to teach the truths of the Holy Catholic Church not only from the Pulpit in Sermon and Address, but also in our Liturgical development and in the mere general use of Sacramentals. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament is not only an opportunity to worship our dear Lord in the Sacrament of His Love, but is also an opportunity to express in an unmistakable and overt way our belief in the Incarnate Son of God's Real Presence under the Sacramental Veils. The Holy Rosary is not only a series of prayers addressed to Almighty God, but it is also a way of receiving instruction and instilling in our hearts and minds the Truths of the Holy Gospels, the Joyful Mysteries of our Blessed Lord's birth and Infancy, the Sorrowful Mysteries of His Suffering Life and Passion whereby we have been redeemed from our sins, and the Glorious Mysteries of His Risen and Glorified Life extended to us through the Sacraments of His One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church.

The Daily Round of Mass and Offices and Intercession form a unified and consistent Life of Prayer at S. Clement's in which too few of you have a part. Many of you are very loud in your protestations of devotion to S. Clement's, but very weak in your devotion to the Religion for which S. Clement's has always stood. Some people who were shedding tears as the building moved securely on its way seem to have no tears for their unconfessed and unrepented sins. I have spoken to people during the past few days as they leaned over the wooden rails along the Church whom I have not seen at the Communion Rails for many a season.

Devotion to the High Altar and its inspiring beauty is commendable, but to instill and increase devotion to the Blessed Sacrament is the end for which the Altar was built. A love of the Church fabric is not to be deprecated, but the purpose of the fabric is to afford a setting for a fitting worship of Almighty God, and to mark a spot where He may always be found.

Membership in S. Clement's will not insure your salvation, but a faithful use of the Sacraments as they are ministered here will insure it. Loyalty to a particular Priest and his personal interpretation of the Truth is not to be mistaken for

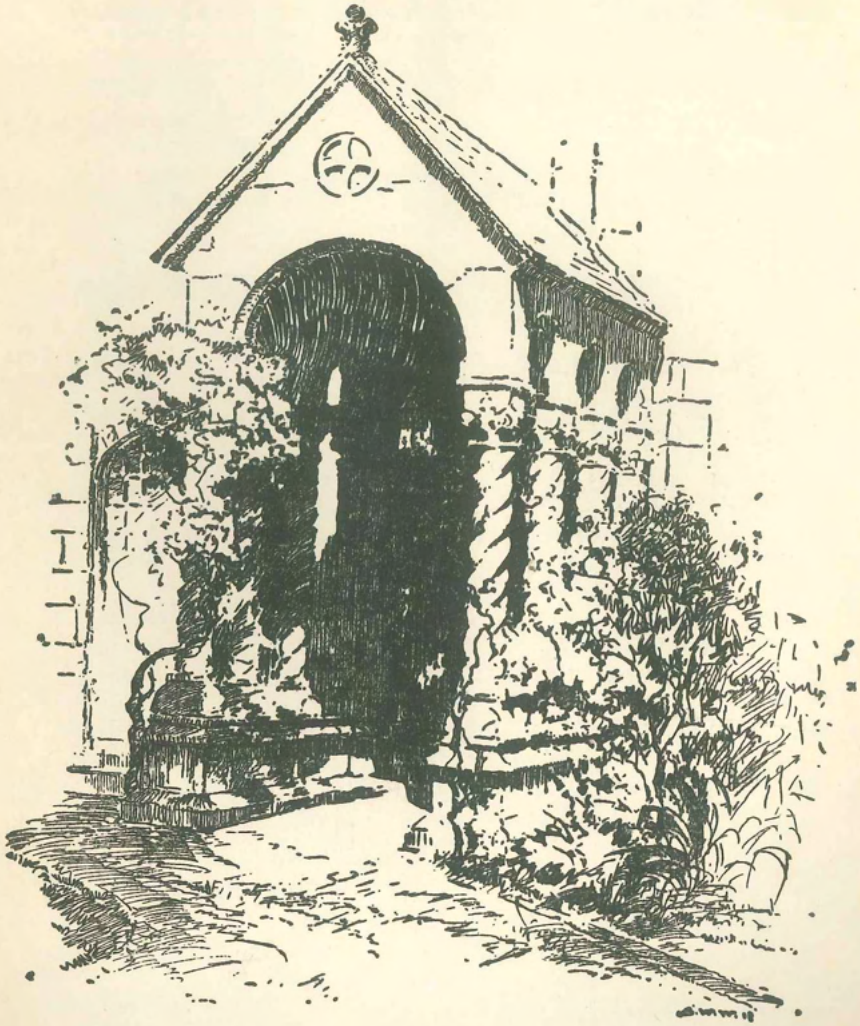
Loyalty to our Blessed Lord, who is alone the Way, the Truth and the Life. We are sincere in wanting to show our thankfulness to God, and how better can we show it than by taking an inventory of our spiritual lives, correcting our mistakes, and rededicating ourselves to a more faithful following of the precepts of Holy Church.

Our Church is moved to make way for the progress of the Twentieth Century, and the Century that calls for the move also provides, by its knowledge and skill, for that which it demands. The same Church, with the same fabric, but in a new situation. So, too, is it with our Holy Faith. Each age makes its demands and calls for its particular interpretation, and each age raises up its scholars and theologians who re-interpret the Faith and re-express it in terms to fit the age, but it is the same Faith, once for all delivered to the Saints. It is the same Faith in the same Lord Jesus Who is the same yesterday, today and forever, and all that it accomplished in the Saints of old it can and will accomplish in us if only we give ourselves up to it with the same abandon that they did. Their Lord was their Life, their All, and so they forsook all and followed Him alone. We believe this to be the Truth, but we are reluctant to let go entirely our hold on the world—we try so hard to carry the two, but it cannot be done. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon. Choose ye this day whom ye will serve. You have chosen and are enlisted under the banner of the Cross. Let there be no looking backward. Let there be no hesitation in duty. Let there be no lack in will to cooperate with the Holy Graces of God. Let your life be a prayer—a continuous offering before God, in thought and word and deed, of a life lived according to His will, that that which you profess with your lips may be expressed daily in your life, to the glory of His Holy Name, and the drawing of other souls by the power of your example, into the Kingdom of His Church.

When we say we are grateful to God for His many and great mercies, let us mean in very truth just what we say, and give evidence of it in the renewed earnestness of our endeavor to use the means of Grace and to make them efficacious in our daily life and living.

A Hymn

To be sung after Benediction



Holy God, we praise Thy Name!
Lord of all, we bow before Thee!
All on earth Thy sceptre claim,
All in heaven above adore Thee:
Infinite Thy vast domain,
Everlasting is Thy reign.

Hark! the loud celestial hymn
Angel choirs above are raising:
Cherubim and Seraphim,
In unceasing chorus praising,
Fill the heavens with sweet accord;
Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord!

Holy Father, Holy Son,
Holy Spirit, Three we name Thee,
While in essence only One,
Undivided God we claim Thee:
And adoring bend the knee,
While we own the mystery.

The Rector's Letter

My dear Friends:—

The work of restoring the Church and the grounds is moving along very rapidly, and by the next issue of the Magazine should have been completed. I am writing this letter on my first evening in the Rectory, after an absence of about fifteen weeks. The house has been refurnished in some quarters, and is much more home-like than ever before. We are delighted to be in our own House once more.

The Reverend William Tudor Bulkeley has joined the Staff to fill the vacancy caused by Father Wagenseller's resignation. Fr. Bulkeley, like Fr. Edwards, is one of "Our Boys," since he, too, went to the Seminary from our Parish. He was ordained to the Priesthood last Christmas. I believe it is unique for two Parish Boys to return as Priests and assist at the same time in their home Church. I know you all will give them a hearty welcome, and it is with no small sense of pride that I look forward to my winter's work with them.

I want to publish a word of thanks for the generous and prompt response to my appeal for two special cases in last month's Magazine. Sufficient money has been given or promised to carry the two cases for twelve months. I am most grateful. There are always other cases for temporary help coming up, so I will be in need always of help for my Discretionary Fund.

The last Sunday in October will be kept as the Feast of Our Lord Jesus Christ, the King, by special permission of the Bishop of the Diocese, who will also allow the Propers for Any Saint's Day in the New Prayer Book to be used on the Sunday in the Octave of the Patronal Festival. On the last Sunday evening in October, the 27th, we will have the great privilege of entertaining the Missionary Bishop of Liberia, who has returned from Africa to attend the special meetings of the House of Bishops. He will tell us about his work, and that of the Order of the Holy Cross, and will be happy to greet his many friends after the Service. Bishop Campbell will be returning to his Diocese later in November.

At the last session of the Diocesan Convention, I was elected a member of the Provincial Synod. This meeting has just been held in Harrisburg. There are eleven Dioceses in this Province. The Bishop, with four Priests and four Laymen, attends from each Diocese. The object of the Synod is to relieve the General Convention in much the same way that the Convocation relieves the Diocesan Convention. There were several interesting speakers and returned missionaries, and the fellowship with one's brother Priests and friends from neighboring Dioceses is of great value. On Columbus Day I was the Preacher at the Annual Acolytes' Festival for the Diocese of New Jersey at Christ Church, Elizabeth. On Saturday afternoon, November 2nd, I am expecting to conduct a Devotional Hour in the little Chapel at Wrightstown.

The Rector's Letter

The sudden death of our Presiding Bishop has been both a great shock to the Church and a great loss to the National Council of which he was the President. Requiem Masses have been offered at our Altars, and there will be a Nation-wide commemoration on the Sunday in the Octave of All Saints. We must not let the death of our Leader impair our Missionary zeal or offerings. Better than a Monument will it be to carry out his great vision for the Church and make some sacrifice for the cause of Missions.

There is but one hundred dollars available for the replanting of the Church Garden on the AppleTree Street side. I am sure there are members of the Congregation who will want to supplement this sum. We want to plant the garden with evergreens. Some very beautiful effects can be obtained without a great expenditure. While we are replanting we want to do the job well. Your offerings may be placed in the Collection Plates, if plainly marked, "Garden."

The Catholic Congress Committee is planning a series of one-day Conferences throughout the country during the coming winter. The first one will be at S. John's Church, Norristown, on Wednesday, November 20th. There will be a Solemn Mass in the late morning, a Luncheon, Conference with Speakers in the afternoon, and Solemn Vespers with a Sermon in the evening. Mrs. Pendleton will have tickets in plenty of time, and she will be glad also to have your memberships for the ensuing year in The Catholic Congress.

Red Cross subscriptions will be due on Armistice Day. Mrs. Mowry will be in the Cope Room after the Solemn Mass on Sundays, November 10th and 17th, to receive your offerings.

Some of the members of the congregation have in past years aided a small Parish in Mena, Arkansas, with articles for their annual Christmas Bazaar. It is a struggling work, and if any one has something salable that they want to give away, please send it to Mrs. F. E. DeLongy, Mena, Arkansas.

There will be a Solemn Mass at eleven on All Saints' Day, All Souls' Day, S. Clement's Day, Thanksgiving Day, and S. Andrew's Day. First Vespers of All Saints' will be Solemn in the Church, with the full Choir, with a Sermon, and followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On All Saints' Day evening Vespers of the Dead will be sung by the Cantors, and there will be a Sermon. The Holy Hour will be postponed this month until the Second Friday.

November is one of our busiest months, and it is also one of our happiest months. Holy Church bids us spend much of it together before the Altar of God. It is here that true joy is to be found, in fellowship with His Saints.

Faithfully and Affectionately,

Your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner

The Novena Prayers for the Parish

To be said every day, from November 14th to November 22nd inclusive—Pater Noster, Ave Maria, Veni Creator.

ANTIPHON.—I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground; I will pour My Spirit upon thy seed, and My blessing on thine offspring.

V.—Turn Thee again, O Lord God of Hosts.

R.—Look down from Heaven, behold and visit this vine.

LET US PRAY.—ALMIGHTY GOD, Who dost govern all things in heaven and earth, mercifully hear our supplications, and grant unto this Parish all things that are needful for its spiritual welfare. Bless and sanctify the Rector and his Assistant Priests; strengthen and confirm the faithful; visit and relieve the sick; turn and soften the wicked; restore the penitent; remove all hindrances and hurtful things; and make us all, we pray Thee, to be of one heart and one mind in the Fold of Thy Holy Church, to the honour and the glory of Thy Son, Jesus Christ our Lord. Who liveth and reigneth with Thee in the unity of the Holy Ghost, ever One God, world without end. A-men.

The Rector's Letter

My Dear Friends:—

This month begins with Advent Sunday. It means the beginning of a new year. I hope it will mean a definite conversion for all of you. A turning from all that is past. A facing of the new year in the Church with confidence and trust. The Sacrament of Penance will free you from your sins and give you God's gift of grace for the amendment of your ways. When God forgives your sin, He puts it away, and so you too must put it away, remembering it only in so far as the remembrance of it will prevent your falling into the same sin again. Then take His gift of absolving grace and use it for the new life in the new year. You show your real sorrow for sin not only by your Confession, but also by the eagerness and earnestness with which you take this gift of God and use it for the building up of your life in Him.

Advent is a season for stock taking. That will mean the elimination of much that is dead or a hindrance in your life. It will mean the taking on of new helps, or the return to old ones that have been neglected. The Church is a treasure house out of which come helps old and new. You must realize that without God's help you can do nothing. Begin the new year with a deeper sense of dependence on God. With a resolution for more frequent attendance at Mass. For more carefully prepared Communions. For more time given to prayer, Bible reading and meditation. Spend your Advent forming such habits. Bind yourself as a slave to your Lord, for only in His service will you find perfect freedom.

The regular prayer and Mass life of the Parish will afford you every opportunity for the deepening and developing of your Christian life. The Friday evening devotions are well attended, but many more in the Congregation should be regular Friday-nighters. It is at these services that instructions are given in the Faith, in the Prayer Life, in Liturgical Development, and in all the other points in which you should be informed. These instructions cannot be given Sunday mornings, for they are not fitting at the Solemn Mass. There is another kind of message to give then. Of course the most important thing of all is the Mass. Can you not come at least once between Sundays? If you already come once, can you not come twice? Think on these things.

If you keep such an Advent as I have suggested, you will find the real meaning in the Christmas Feast and experience the joy that the Angels heralded, that our Lady, S. Joseph, the Shepherds and the Magi felt and kept ever after as an abiding Presence within them. When you have come to the Nativity with such a preparation, you will never let go the things that have helped you to understand, for their continuance will reveal new joys and new truths in the Light of the Incarnation.

All of our visiting preachers during the Patronal Festival have told us of our being known as a praying Church, as a congregation devoted to our Lord's Sacramental Presence. Many people are looking to us for our prayers and our devotion to help them in their trials and difficulties, and we must not fail them. Those who come to see our worship must not be disappointed. But above all we must not fail God, not disappoint our Heavenly Father, for He, more than any, is depending on us.

May the Holy Feast of Christmas find you, cleansed from all sin, storming Bethlehem, the House of Bread, to worthily adore your Lord and Saviour, and receive Him in Holy Communion.

Affectionately your Friend and Pastor,

Franklin Joiner—

The Catholic Congresses

The Reverend Clark C. Kennedy, of New Haven, Connecticut, has just been appointed permanent Secretary of the Catholic Congress Movement to succeed Father Caine, who recently resigned, and who has now gone to Boston to be senior Curate to Fr. Hamlin.

This appointment of Fr. Kennedy to give his entire time to this important work will mean a renewed interest in the Movement. There are some 5000 members of the Congress. These members must be kept informed of all that the Committee is doing. Many of these members are in isolated parts of the country, or alone in Protestant parishes. It is hoped that there may be a circulating library to keep people informed, and to afford them an opportunity to read the newer books. There may be established a bureau for distributing Catholic literature, as well as handing on old magazines and Church papers. Fr. Kennedy will be attending meetings of Catholic Clubs, Conferences, and any other meetings to which he may be invited.

The Committee will endeavor, through Father Kennedy, to keep in close personal touch with every member, and render each member the sort of service that he needs. There will be not only an executive and organizing character to his work, but it will have a very definite pastoral phase, and he solicits the suggestions of the friends of the Movement, and begs their prayers for God's blessing on his labours.

Parish Notes

THE CORPORATE COMMUNION FOR MEN on Advent Sunday is to be nation-wide. It is being arranged by The Brotherhood of S. Andrew. Cards have been sent to all the men of the congregation.

THE TRIDUUM FOR MISSIONS, beginning on S. Andrew's Day, concludes on the Feast of S. Francis Xavier. It is hoped that many will keep it by assisting at Mass every day, and receiving Holy Communion as well.

THE RECTOR is giving a Quiet Day for the Associates of S. Margaret's Community and their friends on Tuesday, December 3rd, beginning with the Mass at 8. Any women wishing to keep this day will be welcomed by the Sister, if they telephone before Tuesday to the Sister-in-charge.

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY meets as usual on the first Wednesday of the month. There is always a Missionary speaker. A plate is placed at the door for voluntary offerings. No money is solicited at the meetings. All women of the congregation are really members of the Auxiliary. Do come to the meetings. They are instructive. They are inspiring. They are sociable.

THE CYCLE OF PRAYER for the Catholic Congress and the Conversion of the Church to the Catholic Faith will be kept at S. Clement's on the Tuesday in the Octave of the Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, December 12. There will be leaflets in the Church to guide you in your prayers, and the Cycle will be the intention at the Masses that day.

THE USUAL DEVOTIONAL SERVICE on Christmas Eve will begin at 9 o'clock with Carols. This will be followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the Procession to the Creche, and its blessing.

YOUR CONTRIBUTIONS FOR THE CHRISTMAS CHARITIES are to be sent to Sister Katherine of the Sisters of the Holy Nativity, at the Mission House, 110 North Woodstock Street. All the Christmas cheer in the home that many of our people have is what the Church provides. The Sisters fill the baskets, and we know they go to worthy and deserving folk. Please be generous with the poor of your own parish.

OFFERINGS FOR THE GREENS in the Church for over the Christmas Season may be handed to the Rector. If there should be more given to him than is needed, the surplus will be added to the Flower Fund. It will be a great help to the Priests and to the Sisters if these offerings are sent early in the month.

THERE IS AN ADDITIONAL LOW MASS at 6 on Christmas Day. There will be Carols at the 8 o'clock Mass. Carols will be sung in Procession before the Solemn Mass at 11.

SOLEMN MASS AT 11 on the Feast of S. Stephen, S. John and The Holy Innocents, the three days following Christmas.

MOTHERS' MEETING CHRISTMAS PARTY will be held on Thursday evening at 8. The Children's Party will be on Saturday afternoon from 3 to 5. There will be a Christmas Tree at each party, with presents, refreshments, and entertainment.

THE OLD YEAR will be ushered out with a Meditation and a Quiet Hour before the Blessed Sacrament at 8 o'clock on the last night of the year.

ON WEDNESDAY, the 1st of January, The Feast of the Circumcision, there will be a Solemn Mass at 11.

OFFERINGS FOR THE WORK OF THE CATHOLIC CONGRESS COMMITTEE may be handed to the Priests or to Mrs. Pendleton. More annual subscriptions of $1.00 are wanted in S. Clement's. There will be a Meeting of the Congress in the autumn of 1930.

CHRISTMAS CARDS are for sale in the Cope Room, every Sunday both before and after the Solemn Mass, and at the Sisters' House in Woodstock Street. There are also post-cards of the Church, taken during the moving, and there are still a few of the coins that were pressed under the rollers.

HOLLAND'S RESTAURANT on 19th Street, between Cherry and Arch Streets, is now open on Sunday afternoons for dinner from half-past four until eight o'clock. It is suggested that S. Clement's people who dine out on Sunday night might come here for their dinner in the evening and then come on to S. Clement's for Vespers and the Sermon at 8. Holland's is also a very convenient place to go for your breakfast after any of the early Masses during the week. You will find good food and very courteous service.

THE COLLECTION ON CHRISTMAS DAY will be for the Clergy Pension Fund Premiums.

FR. CAINE leaves S. Timothy's Church, in Roxborough, on December 1st, to go to The Church of the Advent, in Boston, and Fr. Gavitt leaves his work at S. Luke's Chapel, in Germantown, to go to S. Mary Magdalene's, in Toronto. We shall miss these two Priests very much. They have been frequent guests at our Board, and have often helped us in the services of the Church. Please remember them in your prayers.

FATHER CAMPBELL and Father Ewing, both former members of the Staff, have visited us during the past month. Fr. Campbell's second novel, "Ole Miss," is now in the book stalls.

COPIES OF THE NEW PRAYER BOOK have been ordered and should be in the pews very shortly. Very handsome copies have been given for the Clergy Stalls. A copy for the Officiant at Vespers, and one for S. John's Chapel would be acceptable. They would cost about $10 apiece.

The Restoration of the Church

A few days before S. Clement's Day the last of the contracting workmen finished their work about the Church, the sound of the hammer ceased, and we were able to appreciate how beautifully we had been moved and settled. The cellars are a real joy to behold. The walls are freshly white-washed, the halls newly painted, and everything is fresh and clean.

The Crypt Chapel will be in order in a short while. There will be new chairs for this Chapel, and new hangings for the Altar.

The painters are beginning work in S. John's Chapel, and we are looking forward with real longing to the completion of this shrine, and to the occasions for use which it will afford. The walls are to be repainted and decorated in colour, a new Altar and Baldichino to be erected, and a Confessional Box installed. This will make the Chapel a complete little Church in itself. It is hoped that it will be all ready for use by the Feast of S. John, December 27th.

The matter of money damages with the City is under consideration now, and a satisfactory adjustment is expected.

There have been numerous improvements in the Rectory, which was open for the members of the congregation to inspect on the evening of the Parish Tea and Reception.

The Patronal Festival

The keeping of the Patronal Festival was a particularly happy time this year. There was no effort made for publicity or extraordinary accessories in the special services. There was no Gounod music. There were no orchestral pieces. There was no conspicuous advertising in the daily press. But there were a goodly number of Communions. There were large Congregations at all the Services. There was a very generous offering. There was a spirit of loyalty and devotion to the Parish and to the Faith for which she stands. It was a real home festival. It was a family party.

Triduum for Missions

BEGINS NOVEMBER 30TH. ENDS DECEMBER 3RD.

Antiphon: Enlarge the place of thy tent: and let them stretch forth the curtains of Thy habitations.

Versicle: Spare not, lengthen thy cords.

Response: And strengthen thy stakes.

Prayer: O God, the Father of all the families of the earth; Bless, we pray Thee, our efforts to bring the message of Thy Love to our brethren, and to build them up in Thee; through Jesus Christ our Lord.

To be said Daily with the Pater Noster and Ave Maria.
